Governor Brown Steps Into Marincello Road Issue

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Gov. Edmund G. Brown has entered the Marincello dispute, but his stand did not seem to impress the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Peter Whitney, executive director of the Scenic Roads Assn., presented a letter to him from the governor dated Dec. 27, in which Brown wrote that he supported the division of highways opposition to additional access between Waldo Tunnel and the Golden Gate Bridge.

The commission, however, in a 6-0 vote with Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz absent, expressed "our convtction" that a low level access to Marincello is required and that the route of Bunker Hill Road seems obviously the best solution.

This would mean an interchange near the bridge head.

Commissioners generally agreed that such a road, with required tunneling, would probably have to be part of the state highway system and thus would become the southern end of Scenic Highway 1.

Governor Brown's letter to Whitney said:

"We definitely do not propose to have future park roads in the Headlands (state park) used as shortcut commuter roads to the Golden Gate Bridge; and we do not propose to have these roads used as prestige approaches to enhance private development.

"Furthermore, I question the advisability of State Route 1 being routed through the park to the Golden Gate Bridge. We hope to reserve all roads in the Marin Headlands state park as leisurely roads strictly for those who want to enjoy the magnificent view. To open this area to through and commuter traffic I most definitely feel would tend to destroy the very values for which the park is intended."

David Van Pelt of the county planning staff suggested the road could be mostly within the Marincello property line, with feeder routes of controlled traffic into the park. The commission seemed to like this idea and

Northern State Residents Flee Ahead Of Floods

Storm Brings Deep Snow To Area; More Rain Is Expected To Fall

EUREKA (UPI) — For the second winter in a row, residents along several streams in Northern California and southwestern Oregon were fleeing today ahead of floodwaters.

In the Sierra Nevada and Siskiyou mountains of Northern California and east of the Cascades in Oregon and Washington, the storm brought deep snow and was blamed indirectly for one death.

Despite the evacuation of an estimated 350 people, it was regarded as unlikely the flooding would approach the disaster of last winter, when 43 persons died and damage was estimated at $300 million.

For one thing, most of the areas devastated last winter have not been rebuilt.

Weather forecasters were hoping the rain would stop and the freezing level would remain at low elevations. If heavy snow in the mountains begins to melt, "things could get rough," in the words of a forecaster in Portland.

Forecasters said most streams would crest by this afternoon. But they added that a front from southern portions of the Pacific promised a slightly warmer air mass with a greater capacity for moisture. This meant an increase in the precipitation rate could be expected in the Northwest.

About 100 people were evacuated when Redwood Creek rose ated during the night when the

More Winds, New Soaking For Marin

Drenching rain and high winds came with the dawn to Marin County today as the area caught the fringe of the worst storm to hit Northern California this winter.

By midmorning, the county was being buffeted by the full force of the storm, which the Weather Bureau predicted will last at least another 24 hours. More rain is forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

By mid-day there was no reports of serious storm damage.

Other parts of the state were less fortunate. There was some flooding in northwest California, which suffered extreme damage from the same cause a year ago.

The heaviest rain in Marin fell at Ross, where 2.61 inches were recorded in the 24 hours to 8 a.m. today. Well over an inch fell at Woodacre and San Anselmo during the same period.

In the 24 hours up to noon today, 1.89 inches fell in San Rafael. Other rainfall figures up to 8 a.m. ranged from an inch at Manor Hill, Fairfax, down to .2 of an inch at Novato.

Gusty winds accompanied the downpour. At 10:30 a.m. today the gauge of the 666th Radar Squadron atop Mount Tamalpais showed a wind of 40-45 knots.

All along the coast, warning of high winds were out. Forty-mile-an-hour winds were predicted from Point Arena to Bodega Bay, and winds reaching 25 miles an hour as far south as Half Moon Bay.

Next Budget Predicted As $110 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House predicted today the new federal budget will be $110 billion to $115 billion—certainly not less than $110 billion.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said original requests from government agencies of about $125 billion for fiscal 1967, which starts July 1, have been pared to slightly less than $115 billion up to this point.

He said he does not want to suggest the figure is final because several items of several hundred million dollars each are still in question. He did not specify any of these items, but said they range across the board—through national defense and domestic programs.

Work on the budget, Moyers told reporters, has moved ahead in the past few weeks to the point where the administration no longer is actively thinking of asking Congress to extend the deadline for its submission.

Cars To Park Parallel Along Fourth Street

In an unexpected move last night, the San Rafael City Council voted to install parallel parking on Fourth Street, from Lincoln Avenue to E Street.

The vote to abolish diagonal parking along the city's busiest downtown street was 3-2, with Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilman Louis H. Baar dissenting.

The parking matter, not on the agenda, came up at the close of the meeting when Bettini asked councilmen if they had any "miscellaneous items" to bring up.

Councilman Charles W. Aby said it was time to have parallel parking on Fourth Street, which has often been discussed over the past several years.

"What are you going to do for parking spaces?" Baar said.

Proponents of the change said drivers would use the city's double-deck parking lot at Third and Cijos streets.

Councilman Harry Barbier said: "They won't let you out of these angle spaces. They show you no mercy."

Silverthorne Trial Jury Nearly Ready

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jury selection was expected to be completed today from a panel tentatively selected to try banker Don C. Silverthorne, former president of the defunct San Francisco National Bank, and an associate, William S. Bennett.

Silverthorne and Bennett were accused on 27 counts connected with the collapse of the bank one year ago. Charges ranged from conspiracy to misapplying bank funds, making false entries in bank records and bank larceny.

Transit Walkout Chiefs Arrested

Estimate Of Cost Raised

NEW YORK (AP) — Sheriff's officers arrested Michael J. Quill and eight other leaders of two unions today for contemptously defying a court order forbidding the strike of this city's subways and buses.

A judge last night directed that they be jailed until they order "in good faith" their 34,400 men back to work.

Quill and his associates waited with packed handbags for an hour after the arrest order took effect at 11 a.m. until the order was served.

DRAMATIC POSE

Striking a dramatic pose, Quill deliberately examined the badge of the officer approaching him and, turning toward television cameras, announced:

"The sheriff is here and have (sic) properly identified himself. The dragging arrest from the collective bargaining table is typical of collective bargaining a la Mayor Lindsay and the editorial writers of the New York Times."

'DROP DEAD'

"The judge can drop dead in his black robes," the 60-year-old leader of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union declared. "We will not stop the strike."

Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller last night found the union leaders guilty of civil contempt for flaunting the court injunction the city had obtained to block the walkout of 34,400 bus and subway workers.

Justice Geller, after eight hours of hearing and deliberation, said the union leaders would stay behind bars until "in good faith" they ordered their men back to work.

Quill had declared he would "rot in jail" before ordering an end to the crippling strike.

Meantime, the Commerce and Industry Assn. revised its $40 million-a-day estimate of the strike's economic impact.

Body Hints China Advising Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. paratroopers chasing two battalions of Communist troops toward the Cambodian frontier in waist-deep mud and water of the Mekong Delta today discovered the body of what appeared to be a Chinese Communist adviser to the Viet Cong.

A Vietnamese intelligence agent assigned to the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade said the slain Communist wore a tailored uniform of much higher quality than that issued to the Viet Cong.

The allied operation in the delta about 35 miles west of Saigon was in its fifth day and had accounted for at least 236 Viet Cong killed. The number of Americans killed was not disclosed but it was learned the 173rd suffered an unknown number of casualties when hit by artillery from their own lines.

A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said only that some of the paratroopers were killed when caught in an artillery barrage from "friendly" forces. He said the accident apparently was the result of a "lack of coordination" between the paratroopers and the rear guard.

The pause in air attacks against Communist North Viet Nam completed its 11th day and sources in Washington said the lull might continue for another two weeks. There have been no air raids in the North since 6 p.m., Christmas Eve.

There were reports that the allied force in the Mekong Delta—Americans, South Vietnamese, Australians and New Zealanders—were being authorized to chase the Viet Cong across the Plain of Reeds into Cambodia if necessary. American commanders declined to discuss the reports.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson received a personal message from Pope Paul VI today voicing "fervent prayers" Johnson's recent moves will result in permanent peace. And the Pontiff said that "we shall not cease in our efforts to help in whatever way possible."

The message was delivered by Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, who was rushed to the Vatican early last week in one phase of the administration's peace offensive. Goldberg had delivered to the Pope a message from Johnson voicing the President's desires for a peaceful solution to the Vietnamese conflict.

Johnson, meanwhile, is expected to continue the peace offensive, including a respite in bombing of the North, long enough for North Viet Nam to decide for or against negotiations.

Ohio City Seats Negro Mayor

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI)—This city of 88,000 persons moved into the national spotlight today as the largest in the country with a Negro mayor.

The historic event showed the world a citizen who is qualified and accepts his responsibilities can assume any office, Mayor Robert E. Henry said with great emotion as he took the oath of office.

Henry

Henry was chosen unanimously by the five city commissioners last night because he had polled more votes than any other candidate when three commissioners were elected last November.

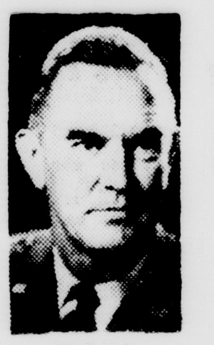
The 44-year-old mayor denounced extremists in race relations as he outlined his views on race and city problems. White civic leaders crowded around, stretching their hands out to congratulate him and pledge their support.

Henry said he felt "Springfield made two tremendous historic movements.

The first, he said, was in seating its first female commissioner and the second "of great importance throughout the United States, is that I became the first Negro mayor of a city of this size."

General's Jet Plane Sought

SEATTLE (UPI)—Maj. Gen. Irving L. Branch, a veterans pilot and commander of one phase of the U.S. space program, was killed yesterday in the mysterious crash of his jet aircraft in Puget Sound just a minute before he was to have landed.



Branch

"It appeared to be a routine landing approach," the control tower at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport said. "We had no indication anything was wrong."

Branch, 53, had acknowledged radio landing instructions and had completed a procedural turn toward the field when his T-38A Talon supersonic jet trainer disappeared from the radarscope. He was at an altitude of 2,100 feet.

The Coast Guard, Navy and Air Force searched the Sound for several hours afterward but found only an oil slick in the area of where the plane disappeared.

Ousted African Supports Coup

OUAGADOUGOU, Upper Volta (AP)—The army deposed President Maurice Yameogo today after four days of demonstrations against government austerity measures. Yameogo said the coup had his full support.

Yameogo

Lt. Col. Sangoule Lamizana, the chief of staff, announced in a broadcast that he had taken over the powers of chief of state.

He was quickly followed on the radio by Yameogo, who said: "Contrary to what one would think, my ministers and I are the first to rejoice with the way things were settled."

Yameogo's chief austerity measure was a 20 per cent cut in the salaries of government employees.

Horse Race Plot Brings Sentence

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—John (The Bat) Battaglia, former associate of mobster Mickey Cohen, today began a 10-year federal prison sentence for his part in bilking Las Vegas legal racebooks of $28,000.

U.S. District Judge William Byrne passed sentence yesterday on the 46-year - old Battaglia, whose conviction was affirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Battaglia and a co-defendant, Harold Tenner, 39, were convicted Aug. 19, 1964, of using a "past post-time scheme" to defraud the Las Vegas racebooks.

Salamanders are distinguished from other amphibians by the possession of a tail throughout their lives.

'Mohole' Drilling Gets Go-Ahead

To Probe Earth's Mantle

WASHINGTON (AP) — A full-speed-ahead order has been given to start building the huge ocean-going drill platform for "Project Mohole," it was learned today.

"Mohole" is a $108-million venture by the American government to drill a hole six miles deep through ocean and earth in man's deepest penetration of the planet.

The assault — expected to have a rich scientific pay-off — is scheduled to begin in late 1968 or early 1969, and take about three years.

The project is aimed at getting new knowledge of the earth's origin, structure and minerals — and of how Mother Earth brews her devastating earthquakes and volcanoes.

Geophysicist Gordon Lill, Mohole project manager for the National Science Foundation, told a reporter a go-ahead order, effective today, has been given the National Steel & Ship Building Co. of San Diego.

Lill said preliminary work on actual construction would include driving some huge pilings into the ocean floor, and tearing away part of a pier to make way for erection of the drill platform. Construction itself will take about two years.

Beginning around May 1, 1968, preliminary experimental drilling to intermediate depths—but with potential scientific importance—will begin at some of the following sites in the Pacific:

The Mendocino Scarp, northwest of San Francisco; an area known as Cobb Seamount, west of Seattle, Wash.; the Cascadia Abyssal Plain, also west of Seattle; the San Diego Trough off the coast between Los Angeles and San Diego; the Cocos Ridge area, west of Panama; and an area north of Maui in the Hawaiian Islands.

At the Mohole assault point, the idea will be to lower 10-inch diameter drill pipe — section by section — through water more than 2½ miles deep and then actually drill another 3½ miles into the earth, fully penetrating the planet's crust for the first time in history.

30 Are Feared Dead In France Explosion

LYON, France (AP) — An estimated 30 persons were feared dead or missing today after five big butane gas tanks exploded at a refinery and storage farm 12 miles south of Lyon.

At least 75 persons with burns were admitted to Lyon hospitals.

Officials evacuated residents of the area, fearing that three other nearby storage tanks would be set off by the searing heat.

The Ministry of Interior in Paris said two engineers and five firemen were reported missing.

A Lyon photographer said he had been about 100 yards from the first tank when it exploded. He was severely burned about the face and hands. He said that a number of firemen and employees of the plant had been ahead of him when the explosion occurred.

The Ministry of Interior in Paris said that the fire was apparently under control, but officials said that the remaining three storage tanks were endangered by heat and flames that could pass along underground pipes.

Taft's Hat Again Tossed Into Ring

CINCINNATI (UPI) —Robert Taft Jr. plans to put his political career on the line by seeking to represent Ohio's 1st district in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The former congressman-at-large from Ohio will seek the Republican nomination in the May primary and probably will oppose Rep. John G. Gilligan, first-term Democrat, in the November election.

Taft, 48, formally announced his candidacy yesterday, setting the stage for a test of the Johnson administration's policies in a district which has been represented by the GOP for 60 of the past 65 years.

G.I. Insurance Dividend Reset

WASHINGTON (AP) — GI life insurance dividends will be paid on the anniversary date of the policy, the Veterans Administration announced today.

This means a departure from a speedup system initiated in the Kennedy administration to stimulate the economy.

This year, 4,606,000 veterans will receive $224.2 million, the payments varying on the basis of type and amount of insurance and the policyholder's age.

Grape Strike Case To Stay With State

FRESNO (UPI) — The U.S. District Court here ruled yesterday that state courts can keep jurisdiction in an injunctive suit which seeks to prohibit picketing at San Francisco Bay Area ports in support of the grape strike in Delano.

The suit was originally filed last month by Di Giorgio Corp., a large landowner in the strike zone. On Dec. 14, a Visalia court granted Di Giorgio a temporary injunction to bar strike supporters from interfering with the loading of grapes aboard ships in San Francisco, Oakland and Stockton ports.

Last week the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union asked that the case be transferred to federal jurisdiction.

Di Giorgio's attorney told Judge M.D. Crocker Monday that the longshoremen's union had withdrawn its request because not all of the suit's defendants had agreed to transfer the case to a federal court.

Crocker then ruled that the case will remain in the state courts.

Santo Domingo Puts Military Chiefs In Exile

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Thirty military leaders being forced into exile "for the good of the country" left the Dominican Republic in the early hours today, unofficial reports said.

This strife-torn city was tensely quiet, with reinforced patrols of U.S. paratroopers and Dominican policemen on guard in the streets. Informed sources said publication of the names of the men who are being forced into exile might touch off a new storm of violence later today.

There were unconfirmed reports that the list included both regular officers and army men who deserted to the rebels in the April revolt.

Provisional President Hector Garcia Godoy announced in a 20-minute broadcast last night that the men were being exiled because of the part they played in the fighting Dec. 19 in Santiago, where at least 28 persons were killed in a clash between airmen and rebel leaders.

Garcia said some of the exiles "have been invited to Israel to study." Others, he said, "will be assigned to diplomatic posts abroad."

Garcia said the Santiago clash could not be blamed exclusively on either side. He added, however, that the government felt itself obliged to prevent any similar incident in future.

CHP Aides Face Theft Sentences

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two former California Highway Patrol employees will be sentenced Jan. 21 on charges resulting from the disappearance of $16,000 worth of patrol ammunition.

Frank Kawai, 49, a former storekeeper in the CHP's Sacramento supply depot pleaded guilty yesterday in superior court to two counts of grand theft.

Wolfrum Joffee, 49, a former patrolman assigned to the Madera station, previously pleaded guilty in municipal court to two counts of receiving stolen property.

No Decision Yet On Tiburon School Urgings

Tamalpais High School District trustees heard last night that the district's attorney is ready to go to court to acquire a school site on the Tiburon Peninsula, but left unresolved whether the district's next bond issue request should include funds to build on it.

Attorney Richard Clarke said he planned to start condemnation proceedings Jan. 15 for 47.75 acres above Belveron Gardens if agreement is not reached by then with the owners.

The trustees, discussing failure of a $5,750,000 bond issure last November, wondered whether the next try at a bond issue should include a school on the Tiburon site, as urged by Reed School District representatives.

They wondered, also, whether it should include expansion of Redwood High School to capacity of 3,000 students, or whether that might be too big.

Representatives of Reed, Larkspur, Lagunitas, Fairfax and Kentfield School Districts were on hand to participate in the discussion. Fairfax and Lagunitas representatives thought a problem may arise in bussing students to the new high school proposed for the San Geronimo Valley.

The board accepted the resignation of Horton Scioneaux, Redwood High School Spanish teacher, effective at the end of the school year.

Door Opened, Nothing Taken

He said entry was by prying a back door while he was in Fairfax about 3 p.m., and the burglars apparently sought only cash.

Wesley J. Gilbert, 300 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, told deputies that burglars broke a rear window and pried another window and two doors in an unsuccessful attempt to enter his home.

Meeting Postponed

The meeting of the Loma Verde Homeowerns Assn., scheduled for 8 p.m. yesterday in the Loma Verde School, was postponed to 8 p.m. next Monday at the school.

Police Discover Cache Of Stolen Car Parts

San Rafael police, checking yesterday on some men seen working on a car with no license plates, glanced behind the men into an open garage on Bay Way and saw it filled with auto parts, including a motor, seats and a transmission.

Recalling that the fire department the night before had put out a fire in a stripped 1964 auto about a half block away, police questioned further, then arrested Patrick M. Daniels, 20, of 5 Hooper Lane, San Anselmo, on a charge of possession of stolen goods.

Daniels told police he rented the garage, between 15 and 31 Bay Way, but said he knew nothing of the parts. He was able to produce witnesses who said he was in Las Vegas at the time of the fire. He was released on $1,250 bail, to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

The car which was burned had been taken from the used car lot of Scripture Oldsmobile Co., 740 Francisco Boulevard. The parts were definitely identified as coming from that car when missing license plates were also found.

Parts included the motor, transmission, wheels, seats, radio, dash board, heater, carburetor, generator, battery and radiator, all of which were taken to the police station to be held as evidence.

FLOOD

Van Duzen River surged out of its banks near Hydesville and Starvation Flat in California.

The community of Orick, devastated last winter, was evacumore than two feet above flood stage early today. Water was running through the Lumberjack Bar, the Palms Motel and a few other buildings. Work on a multimillion dollar levee to hold back the creek is scheduled to start this spring.

Residents of the lush farmland along the Eel River 20 miles south of here began moving out as the stream rose toward a predicted crest of six feet above flood stage this afternoon.

In Oregon, about 100 families were evacuated yesterday from a housing development west of Roseburg.

Observation Set In Morals Case

James John McElhinney, 43, who pleaded guilty earlier to having carnal relations with a 14-year-old girl, today was ordered by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court to a 90-day observation period at Atascadero State Hospital prior to sentencing.

McElhinney, of 108 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, was accused of four counts from Sept. 15 to Nov. 4.

Slot Car Missing

The operation, begun four days ago, has accounted for at least 218 Viet Cong killed and 10 captured. It was disclosed that non-lethal tear gas was used by the allied forces in the delta and in the Tuy Hoa battle.

Communist troops attacked a Vietnamese outpost in Quang Ngai Province, 325 miles north of Saigon, for five hours in the early morning darkness today but were driven back with the help of air strikes by government planes.

It was the second consecutive day the Viet Cong had attacked the Cong Hoa garrison, whose defenders were outnumbered at least 4 to 1.

It is also widely believed in Washington that Communist China is putting heavy pressure on the Hanoi government to continue the fight while Soviet policy, so far as it can be brought to bear in Hanoi, is believed to favor a negotiated solution.

Meanwhile, roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman was to confer today in Cairo with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdul Nasser, while G. They have been carrying the U.S. peace drive to several capitals.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson has appealed to Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to help get the conflict over Viet Nam to a peace conference, British officials reported today.

The Wilson appeal was delivered yesterday to the Kremlin by Sir Goeffrey Harrison, British ambassador to Moscow, the officials reported.

He further declared that motions would not be made until he requested them, and that all discussion should be addressed through him as chairman.

Leydecker said that the public has "been put on edge" in the past through fear that a motion would be made and acted upon before all comments could be heard.

The new chairman further declared that he wants the layout of the supervisor table changed so that board members can see each other better. He has contended that the supervisors' talent for interrupting each other has developed because it is tough to see who is talking.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, frequently at odds with Leydecker recently, was elected vice chairman. Both elections were on motion of Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Behr received praise from each of his fellow supervisors as he and Leydecker changed seats. Supervisor William A. Gnoss praised Behr for his courtesy to the public and Leydecker praised Behr specifically for his work for passage of the Hall of Justice bonds and encouraging creation of an agricultural preserve on the Green Gulch Ranch.

As part of its reorganization today, supervisors named Kettenhofen and Behr to the executive salary commission, replacing Leydecker and Storer. Leydecker asked that Behr replace him, and Kettenhofen requested that he either be appointed or be invited to attend the meetings, because he has disagreed with some recommendations. Storer volunteered to step down in favor of Kettenhofen.

Burglar Gets Nothing

Actor Reagan Ready To Enter The Arena

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Film star Ronald Reagan was ready to step onto California's hectic political stage today with the announcement that he will seek the Republican nomination for governor.

Reagan, at a news conference, was expected to spell out publicly what his aides have been saying privately — that he has decided to enter what is likely to be a bitter GOP primary race.

Time has been purchased on 16 television stations throughout California for a showing tonight of a half-hour film in which the 54-year-old star of the television series "Death Valley Days" will disclose his intentions.

His decision to run would pit Reagan against former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco and Laughlin E. Waters, who has served in the Assembly and as U.S. attorney for Southern California. A San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer, William Patrick, who also has announced his candidacy, is little known in party circles.

Republicans who class themselves as moderates are backing Christopher and Waters. Reagan, 1964 cochairman of California Citizens for Goldater-Miller, has the support of GOP conservatives.

Reagan, in using Hollyood fame to launch a political career, would be the second show business personality to try for high office in California. George Murphy, another Republican, was elected U.S. senator in 1964.

Shortly after dawn, with the high winds still whipping the ridges, heavy snow began to fall in Tahoe Basin and to the north.

Marin County rainfall figures in the 24 hours up to 8 a.m. today included: Ross 2.61, Woodacre 1.30, San Anselmo 1.17, Manor Hill (Fairfax) 1, Hamilton AFB .88, Inverness, 8, Fairfax .7, Larkspur .68, Chevy Chase (Larkspur) .54, Point Reyes Station .48, Tamalpais Valley .46, Mill Valley and Terra Linda .4, Sausalito .36, Novato .2.

resolved that reservation of Marincello land for the route be required, if necessary.

The commission also agreed to removal of garden apartments from the Tennessee Valley portion of the plan, and reduction of a regional shopping center proposed there to a neighborhood shopping center. Still up in the air, however, was the means by which the density lost from Tennessee Valley would be reapportioned in the rest of the plan.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty suggested that one or two more high-rise apartments be allowed. There are 19 in the plan approved last November by county supervisors. Other commissioners did not give this general approval, and the matter was left undecided.

Commissioners agreed that the commercial hotel planned at the top of Wolfback Ridge should remain in the plan, but that there be no buffer strip and no access along Wolfback Ridge Road and Alto Avenue.

The commission reached no decision on the business and profession and light industrial uses proposed in the southern portion of Marincello, adjacent to the proposed Headlands Park.

This and other changes proposed in the Marincello master plan will be discussed again by the commission Feb. 14.

The commission added one proposed amendment yesterday, calling for development plans to be subject to review by a design review board if such a board is created.

and how many stores close early or restaurants which don't open at all, then the figure could run up to $100 million," a spokesman said.

The city obtained the injunction under both the common law and the state's Condon-Wadlin Act forbidding strikes by public employees.

Mayor John V. Lindsay again walked to his office today, a 60-block hike he started before dawn, then broadcast another appeal to the metropolitan area's 15 million residents to stay away from the city unless absolutely necessary.

The auto rush had built up long before, however. By 5 a.m., some two hours before daylight, traffic was heavy on the Queens approaches to Manhattan. Within two hours, Bronx and Queens stations of the New York Central and Long Island railroads were jammed with persons who normally use city transportation to get to work.

New Novato Rec Chairman Voted

William Keener was elected chairman and John D. Kassenbrock, vice chairman of the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night.

Keener replaces Mrs. Helen Greving as chairman, and Kassenbrock replaces Keener as vice chairman.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission also:

1. Took under study a proposal to operate a farm league for Little League of 16 teams for 225 boys from nine to 11 years of age next summer. The program would cost the city $3,000.
2. Turned down a proposition of Top Properties to sell 33 acres for the proposed Canyon Lake Park at $173,000.
3. Took under study a proposed map for a Little League ball diamond and play facilities at the Rancho School park site, which would be composed both of the school playground and additional land on Arroyo Avichi Creek.
4. Heard from Edward W. Adams, director, that total daily recreation attendance in December was 9,968, compared to 4,945 in December, 1964.

OBITUARIES

John J. Roche Dies At 61

John J. Roche, 61, of 523 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, died in a San Francisco hospital yesterday after a long illness.

A native of Hyde Park, N.Y., he had lived in Marin County for 40 years. He worked for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for 35 years, retiring as a carpenter-foreman a year ago due to his illness.

Surviving are his wife, Ella Roche; a son, Edward J. Roche, and a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Castamagna, all of San Rafael.

Private funeral will be held tomorrow.

EDNA ACKERMAN

Funeral will be held in Healdsburg tomorrow for Mrs. Edna T. Ackerman, 74, of Knights Valley, Sonoma County, mother of three San Anselmo residents.

Mrs. Ackerman died Sunday in a Santa Rosa hospital. The funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Fred Young and Co. in Healdsburg, with burial in Oak Mound Cemetery.

Mrs. Ackerman resided at the St. Helena trout farm in Knights Valley. She was born in Colorado, but had lived in California for 50 years and in Sonoma County for 23 years.

She leaves her husband, Charles Ackerman; two daughters and four sons: Mrs. Zelpha V. Compton of Benecia, Mrs. Dorothea M. Fenwick of Marysville, Jesse B. Odell of Loma Linda, San Bernardino County, and John, Albert and Earl Loew of San Anselmo; a sister and brother, Mrs. Mary Brown and Earl Fraker of Washington; 21 grandchildren, and many great-grandchildren.

MRS. TOMASSONE

Private funeral was held today for Giovanna Tomassone, 86-year-old widowed mother of Mrs. Rose Giorgi, 118 Meadowcroft Drive, San Anselmo.

A native of Italy, Mrs. Tomassone died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

For the past 11 years, she had made her home with her daughter. Her husband, Remigio Tomassone, died more than 40 years ago.

She is survived by her daughter, two grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

ANNA J. RECTOR

Graveside funeral will be held for Mrs. Anna J. Rector of San Rafael at 12:30 p.m., Thursday, at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m., tomorrow, at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Friends may call at the Mortuary after 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Rector, 56, died last Thursday at a local hospital following a long illness.

Born in Germany, she had lived in Marin County 12 years, last residing at 14 Sentinel Court, Mill Valley. Mrs. Rector had managed the Three Swiss Motel at Bijou on Lake Tahoe for three years.

GRACE PHILLIPS

Grace E. Phillips, a 36-year-old dental assistant, died unexpectedly at her home, 206 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, yesterday. Cause of death was bronchial pneumonia aggravated by a fall at home, said Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley.

Mrs. Phillips was found yesterday by a neighbor at the foot of a flight of stairs at home, after apparently falling and lying there overnight.

She lived alone, said Bradley, and had been ill with influenza for three days.

A native of California, she resided in Marin 15 years and was assistant to a San Francisco dentist.

She is survived by a son, Richard H. Phillips, serving in the Navy, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Soldavini of San Anselmo.

Actor Reagan Ready To Enter The Arena

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Film star Ronald Reagan was ready to step onto California's hectic political stage today with the announcement that he will seek the Republican nomination for governor.

Reagan, at a news conference, was expected to spell out publicly what his aides have been saying privately — that he has decided to enter what is likely to be a bitter GOP primary race.

Time has been purchased on 16 television stations throughout California for a showing tonight of a half-hour film in which the 54-year-old star of the television series "Death Valley Days" will disclose his intentions.

His decision to run would pit Reagan against former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco and Laughlin E. Waters, who has served in the Assembly and as U.S. attorney for Southern California. A San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer, William Patrick, who also has announced his candidacy, is little known in party circles.

Republicans who class themselves as moderates are backing Christopher and Waters. Reagan, 1964 cochairman of California Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, has the support of GOP conservatives.

Reagan, in using Hollyood fame to launch a political career, would be the second show business personality to try for high office in California. George Murphy, another Republican, was elected U.S. senator in 1964.

RAIN

lashed the Sierra, blowing snow from the last storm into drifts 10 feet high.

Shortly after dawn, with the high winds still whipping the ridges, heavy snow began to fall in Tahoe Basin and to the north.

Marin County rainfall figures in the 24 hours up to 8 a.m. today included: Ross 2.61, Woodacre 1.30, San Anselmo 1.17, Manor Hill (Fairfax) 1, Hamilton AFB .88, Inverness. 8, Fairfax .7, Larkspur .68, Chevy Chase (Larkspur) .54, Point Reyes Station .48, Tamalpais Valley .46, Mill Valley and Terra Linda .4, Sausalito .36, Novato .2.

PLANNERS

resolved that reservation of Marincello land for the route be required, if necessary.

The commission also agreed to removal of garden apartments from the Tennessee Valley portion of the plan, and reduction of a regional shopping center proposed there to a neighborhood shopping center. Still up in the air, however, was the means by which the density lost from Tennessee Valley would be reapportioned in the rest of the plan.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty suggested that one or two more high-rise apartments be allowed. There are 19 in the plan approved last November by county supervisors. Other commissioners did not give this general approval, and the matter was left undecided.

Commissioners agreed that the commercial hotel planned at the top of Wolfback Ridge should remain in the plan, but that there be no buffer strip and no access along Wolfback Ridge Road and Alto Avenue.

The commission reached no decision on the business and profession and light industrial uses proposed in the southern portion of Marincello, adjacent to the proposed Headlands Park.

This and other changes proposed in the Marincello master plan will be discussed again by the commission Feb. 14.

The commission added one proposed amendment yesterday, calling for development plans to be subject to review by a design review board if such a board is created.

Berkeleyan Injured

Louise M. Kraut, 67, of Berkeley was cut on her head when the northbound car she was driving crashed into a ditch on Shoreline Highway at the entrance to Muir Woods park at 10:30 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported. She was to see her own doctor.

STRIKE

and how many stores close early or restaurants which don't open at all, then the figure could run up to $100 million," a spokesman said.

The city obtained the injunction under both the common law and the state's Condon-Wadlin Act forbidding strikes by public employees.

Mayor John V. Lindsay again walked to his office today, a 60-block hike he started before dawn, then broadcast another appeal to the metropolitan area's 15 million residents to stay away from the city unless absolutely necessary.

The auto rush had built up long before, however. By 5 a.m., some two hours before daylight, traffic was heavy on the Queens approaches to Manhattan. Within two hours, Bronx and Queens stations of the New York Central and Long Island railroads were jammed with persons who normally use city transportation to get to work.

New Novato Rec Chairman Voted

William Keener was elected chairman and John D. Kassenbrock, vice chairman of the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night.

Keener replaces Mrs. Helen Greving as chairman, and Kassenbrock replaces Keener as vice chairman.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission also:

1. Took under study a proposal to operate a farm league for Little League of 16 teams for 225 boys from nine to 11 years of age next summer. The program would cost the city $3,000.
2. Turned down a proposition of Top Properties to sell 33 acres for the proposed Canyon Lake Park at $173,000.
3. Took under study a proposed map for a Little League ball diamond and play facilities at the Rancho School park site, which would be composed both of the school playground and additional land on Arroyo Avichi Creek.
4. Heard from Edward W. Adams, director, that total daily recreation attendance in December was 9,968, compared to 4,945 in December, 1964.

OBITUARIES

John J. Roche Dies At 61

John J. Roche, 61, of 523 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, died in a San Francisco hospital yesterday after a long illness.

A native of Hyde Park, N.Y., he had lived in Marin County for 40 years. He worked for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for 35 years, retiring as a carpenter-foreman a year ago due to his illness.

Surviving are his wife, Ella Roche; a son, Edward J. Roche, and a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Castamagna, all of San Rafael.

Private funeral will be held tomorrow.

EDNA ACKERMAN

Funeral will be held in Healdsburg tomorrow for Mrs. Edna T. Ackerman, 74, of Knights Valley, Sonoma County, mother of three San Anselmo residents.

Mrs. Ackerman died Sunday in a Santa Rosa hospital. The funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Fred Young and Co. in Healdsburg, with burial in Oak Mound Cemetery.

Mrs. Ackerman resided at the St. Helena trout farm in Knights Valley. She was born in Colorado, but had lived in California for 50 years and in Sonoma County for 23 years.

She leaves her husband, Charles Ackerman; two daughters and four sons: Mrs. Zelpha V. Compton of Benecia, Mrs. Dorothea M. Fenwick of Marysville, Jesse B. Odell of Loma Linda, San Bernardino County, and John, Albert and Earl Loew of San Anselmo; a sister and brother, Mrs. Mary Brown and Earl Fraker of Washington; 21 grandchildren, and many great-grandchildren.

MRS. TOMASSONE

Private funeral was held today for Giovanna Tomassone, 86-year-old widowed mother of Mrs. Rose Giorgi, 118 Meadowcroft Drive, San Anselmo.

A native of Italy, Mrs. Tomassone died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

For the past 11 years, she had made her home with her daughter. Her husband, Remigio Tomassone, died more than 40 years ago.

She is survived by her daughter, two grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

ANNA J. RECTOR

Graveside funeral will be held for Mrs. Anna J. Rector of San Rafael at 12:30 p.m., Thursday, at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m., tomorrow, at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Friends may call at the Mortuary after 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Rector, 56, died last Thursday at a local hospital following a long illness.

Born in Germany, she had lived in Marin County 12 years, last residing at 14 Sentinel Court, Mill Valley. Mrs. Rector had managed the Three Swiss Motel at Bijou on Lake Tahoe for three years.

Her only immediate survivor is her husband, Ernest T. Rector, a welder.

GRACE PHILLIPS

Grace E. Phillips, a 36-year-old dental assistant, died unexpectedly at her home, 206 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, yesterday. Cause of death was bronchial pneumonia aggravated by a fall at home, said Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley.

Mrs. Phillips was found yesterday by a neighbor at the foot of a flight of stairs at home, after apparently falling and lying there overnight.

She lived alone, said Bradley, and had been ill with influenza for three days.

A native of California, she resided in Marin 15 years and was assistant to a San Francisco dentist.

She is survived by a son, Richard H. Phillips, serving in the Navy, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Soldavini of San Anselmo.

Bitter Cold, Snow Lashing Northwest

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Biting cold hung on in Montana.

Rain doused an area from north central California into Washington and snow swept across the higher elevations through Idaho and Montana. Southern Montana was to get from 3 to 5 inches of snow during the day.

East of the Continental Divide in Montana the mercury remained below zero for more than 24 hours. The temperature ranged from 15 to 20 below zero in Cut Bank, Mont., since noon yesterday. Great Fall, Mont., recorded 19 below this morning, while in Missoula—200 miles to the west—the reading was 39 degrees.

A storm which loosed rain, sleet and snow on many sections of New England yesterday, eased off and only a few snow flurries drifted across the area.

Showers were scattered along the Gulf Coast from Texas to Florida, but sunny skies prevailed from Southern California to the Ohio Valley.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Montana and Idaho, with three to six inches from northern Idaho across most of western and southern Montana. Snow was indicated across northern sections of New England.

Oregon was hit by rain and snow which caused small floods and the evacuation of at least a dozen families. Heavy snow fell on the Cascade Mountains east of the Willamette Valley. The series of recent snow storms has increased the snow pack rapidly in the Cascades. The depth at Stampede Pass, east of Seattle, measured more than six feet.

Long Distance Call Victimizes Charity

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Officials said someone broke into the Salvation army office here early yesterday and used the telephone for an 82-minute, $166 call to Fairbanks, Alaska. Authorities declined to say how they discovered the call.

Capt. Everett Leonard, Salvation Army commander, said, "As far as I can tell, absolutely nothing is gone or tampered with."

Senator Smathers Plans To Retire

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George A. Smather's decision to retire on doctor's orders at the end of 1968 points up a new Senate trend—go with grace, and by choice.

The Democratic lawmaker's announcement in Florida yesterday that he would not seek reelection after his present term expires followed similar statements by two other senators plus the unexpected spot resignation late last year of veteran Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr., D-Va.

A fourth senator, Pat McNamara, D, Mich., 71 and ailing, has hinted strongly that he may bow out this year, too.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R, Mass., who was 73 last September but could probably outwrestle some of his younger colleagues, announced last Thursday that he would not run for re-election this year.

Saltonstall said he decided it would be difficult for him to serve another six-year term "with the zeal, ability and conscientiousness that I would want to serve."

Shortly after Congress adjourned last October, Sen. Maurine B. Neuberg, R, Ore., announced she would not bid for another six years in the senate.

Smathers, 52, told a news conference in Miami he is suffering from an ailment he would describe only as "serious, complex but not incurable." Friends said he had been troubled much during the past year by a hernia of the diaphragm.

India, Pakistan Offer Mutual Peace Accords

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The leaders of India and Pakistan offered each other a no-war pact today but there appeared to be no prospect either offer would be accepted.

The stumbling block was the two nations' bitter quarrel over possession of Kashmir, the Himalayan state which has had the two nations at war twice since 1949.

President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan offered a no-war pact "once the basic problems facing us are resolved." That was his way of saying Kashmir must be settled first.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India, whose government has repeatedly refused to countenance anything but Indian control of Kashmir repeated his offer of a no-war pact "to improve the totality" of relations with Pakistan. He made no reference to Kashmir.

Vice Raid Finds 'Hobby Shop' For Obscenity

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) —A "hobby shop" dealing in barbiturates and pornographic pictures of teen-agers was discovered yesterday in the same neighborhood where a torture-for-thrills operation was found recently, police said.

Agents of the Essex County sheriff's office arrested Joseph Benny Pezzino, 35 and charged him with breaking and entering, larceny, impersonating a female, possession of pornography, barbiturates and stolen goods.

Sheriff Leroy D'Aloia said several thousand obscene slides, negatives and pictures were found in Pezzino's hobby shop in the fashionable Forest Hills section of Newark. He said many of the models were teen-agers, whom authorities were trying to identify.

Meeting Put Off

Last night's meeting of the San Rafael Library Board was postponed to 7:45 p.m. today at the library, according to Mrs. Vivian Smith, librarian.

Noisy New Year Stunt Jolts Jail

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Booms reveberated through the Cincinnati Workhouse yesterday. Police rushed to the scene in force.

They checked out the cell-blocks where the explosions were heard.

Contract For Fish Grounds Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Award of a $1,446,513 reclamation bureau contract for construction of fish facilities on the Tehama-Colusa Canal in California was announced today.

The work will be done by Purtzer and Dutton, Reno, Nev., the low bidder among 11 firms.

NEW LOOK FOR TOWN HALL—This is architect George Banning's conception of how Corte Madera Town Hall will look after $78,125 remodeling job for which contract was awarded by the town council last night. Contractor Joseph E. Redmond Co. of San Rafael is to complete the remodeling by May 15.

Town Hall's Contract Let Despite Cost

Corte Madera Town Council last night awarded a contract for remodeling the town hall, despite the fact that the lowest bid exceeded by more than $13,000 the amount budgeted for the job.

The contract went to Joseph E. Redmond Co. of San Rafael at $78,125. The council had budgeted $65,000. Councilmen voted to make up the difference out of the unappropriated surplus fund.

"As far as I am concerned, this is a job with the highest of priorities," said Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Architect for the building, George Banning of Crawford and Banning of San Rafael, told the councilmen the project is costing just less than $14 a square foot, about half the cost of erecting a new building on the site.

Until completion of the project, all town council and commission meetings will be held in the recreation room of the new Public Safety Building, said Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher.

The engineer's office, normally in Town Hall, will be moved temporarily to the vacant portion of the fire department's sleepers quarters, upstairs in the public safety building. All planning commission files will be moved into the Town Hall annex.

Completion date of the remodeling has been set for May 15, so the building will be complete for the town's 50th anniversary celebration in June.

Councilmen agreed last night that if the costs are running too high, they can postpone landscaping and razing of the annex for up to six months after the initial project is complete.

Klan Papers Burned To Foil 'Communists'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A witness before the House Committee on un-American Activities testified today that he burned records and documents so they wouldn't fall into the hands of the enemy.

John D. Swenson of Bossier City, La., was called as a witness in the committee's probe of the Ku Klux Klan.

Swenson refused to reply to questions as to whether he was a member of the Klan, citing constitutional protection against self-incrimination. He was identified in other testimony as grand dragon of the old, original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

When asked whether he had brought records and documents as requested by the committee, he consulted for some time with his attorney, then told the committee:

"Sir, the records you're referring to I don't know what you... but any records or documents that I had...this all was burned, destroyed completely."

Asked who burned them, Swenson replied, "I did."

"Why?"

"So they wouldn't get into the hands of the enemy."

"Who is the enemy?"

"The Communists."

In subsequent testimony, Swenson said the records were burned in March of 1964. That would have been before the House committee, headed by Rep. Edwin E. Willis, undertook its investigation of the Klan.

Swenson was identified as a Klan official in testimony taken in closed session last July and released today. The witness was Royal B. Young, who also named himself as a Klan official.

Two Point Reyes Positions Filled

A pair of new jobs have been filled at the Point Reyes National Seashore, Supt. Leslie P. Arnberger announced yesterday. Charles C. Schmid will become administrative officer and Donald H. Cameron will be maintenance foreman.

Schmid will come from Mount McKinley National Park, where he has worked since 1963. Before that for 10 years he worked for the Nebraska State Tax Commission.

Cameron, who grew up in Mendocino County, has been carpenter foreman at Yosemite National Park, but has been on loan to Point Reyes to supervise rebuilding of shop and storage buildings.

Studio Plan Is Rejected

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night refused John Hieb a permit for a studio apartment in a garage at 396 Tiburon Boulevard, in a single family residential zone.

Henry E. Carter Corp. received architectural approval for the Harbor Oaks development on Red Hill. Triangle Builders' tentative map for Tiburon Knolls Unit 3 on Steward Drive above Little Reed Heights was also approved.

A study session on the downtown master plan, set for tomorrow, was postponed to Jan. 12.

Commissioner Erik Rettig was absent.

High Density Apartments Turned Down

Commissioners told applicant Monty Connery of Bay Counties Realty Corp., that the city's regular apartment zoning (R-3) offers a high enough density, and said they would consider placing more density restrictions on the R-4 zone.

Connery argued that the city's master plan shows R-4 zoning in the area immediately adjacent to the commercial zone. He said his company's lot is just two parcels away from the commercial section.

Commissioners scheduled a special meeting to discuss the city's town center plan — particularly the proposed pedestrian mall and construction of a new thoroughfare to replace San Anselmo Avenue — for 8 p.m. Monday in the city council chamber.

The famous Venus de Milo statue was found armless in the ruins of the Greek island of Melos (Milo) in 1820.

Marinite's Theory On Heart Attacks

What causes a fatal blood clot, or thrombus, to form in the heart arteries?

After two years of research, a Sausalito heart specialist and his colleague developed a theory: That "abscesses" containing cholesterol, other fats, calcium, dead tissue and scavenger cells form inside the artery walls and eventually burst into the artery.

The rupture, or fracture in the artery wall permits the material in the abscess to mix with blood in the artery, and this acts to start the formation of the clot that forms in the presence of flowing blood.

The report on the investigation by Dr. Meyer Friedman of Sausalito, heart specialist at Mount Zion Hospital and Medical Center, and Dr. G. J. Van den Bovenkamp, appears in the current issues of the American Journal of Pathology.

"It sounds strange," said Dr. Friedman, "that for 50 years we knew that a thrombus was there, but didn't find out what caused it."

As to when, how and why the cholesterol, other fats and calcium collect in the arteries, Dr. Friedman commented: "I think the process starts in the first years of life."

Dr. Friedman has done much research into the matter of stress as a big factor in heart attacks. "I am beginning to think more and more that the stress factor has to do with early deposit of cholesterol and fat," he said. "All I know is the association is there."

The doctors believe the formation of the abscesses, their rupture, and formation of clots is part of a "normal repair process' in the arteries.

Whether a heart attack follows a rupture depends on the size of the abscess which, in turn, determines the size of the clot.

Library Board Spokesman Mum On Hub Decision

The San Anselmo Library Board, at its public meeting last night, reached a decision on a proposal that San Anselmo join the county library cooperative system, then today refused to reveal what the decision was.

Louis Yates, designated spokesman for the board, said members voted on a recommendation to the city council, but he was instructed by the board not to reveal the decision.

The board has been under pressure from some San Anselmo residents since October to join the county system, thus making it possible for San Anselmo residents to borrow books from the county library at no charge.

Corte Madera Sets Paradise Drive Repairs

The councilmen signed a resolution releasing the contractor from liability for damages to the road after receipt of the company's check for $14,030, a sum Town Engineer Phillip B. Lygren said should cover all repairs "and then some."

The company undermined the road, causing deep cracks and chuck holes, while placing a 15-foot deep sewer line down the middle of the roadway for the Corte Madera Sanitary District.

Engineer Lygren said the immediate repairs would only smooth the road and return it to its normal width before Ghillotti Brothers of San Rafael begins in early February on a $39,000 project to widen the road to four lanes.

Lygren said the town will expand the contract to have Ghillotti Brothers completely restore the road when the widening is done.

NEW LOOK FOR TOWN HALL—This is architect George Banning's conception of how Corte Madera Town Hall will look after $78,125 remodeling job for which contract was awarded by the town council last night. Contractor Joseph E. Redmond Co. of San Rafael is to complete the remodeling by May 15.

Town Hall's Contract Let Despite Cost

Corte Madera Town Council last night awarded a contract for remodeling the town hall, despite the fact that the lowest bid exceeded by more than $13,000 the amount budgeted for the job.

The contract went to Joseph E. Redmond Co. of San Rafael at $78,125. The council had budgeted $65,000. Councilmen voted to make up the difference out of the unappropriated surplus fund.

"As far as I am concerned, this is a job with the highest of priorities," said Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Architect for the building, George Banning of Crawford and Banning of San Rafael, told the councilmen the project is costing just less than $14 a square foot, about half the cost of erecting a new building on the site.

Until completion of the project, all town council and commission meetings will be held in the recreation room of the new Public Safety Building, said Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher.

The engineer's office, normally in Town Hall, will be moved temporarily to the vacant portion of the fire department's sleepers quarters, upstairs in the public safety building. All planning commission files will be moved into the Town Hall annex.

Completion date of the remodeling has been set for May 15, so the building will be complete for the town's 50th anniversary celebration in June.

Councilmen agreed last night that if the costs are running too high, they can postpone landscaping and razing of the annex for up to six months after the initial project is complete.

POT ROAST a la SIVOREE

Use a 4 lb. boneless beef roast, cross rib, rump, medallion or Scotch roast.

3 tbls. flour	1 cup red dinner wine
3 tbls. olive oil	½ tsp. oregano
1½ tsp. salt	½ tsp. rosemary
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce	½ tsp. black pepper
1½ cups chicken consomme

Dredge meat with salt, pepper and flour, brown on all side in heated olive oil. Pour in consomme, wine, tomato sauce and herbs. Place cover and simmer slowly approximately 3 hours or until meat is fork tender. Thicken gravy if desired, and serve with meat which is carved cross grain. Serve with noodles or boiled rice. Serves 5 to 7 people.

Corte Madera Council Gets Gutter Complaint

In Corte Madera are 4,027 feet of residential district gutters in which drainage is so poor that January's rain water and mud still stand in mid-August.

This fact, reported by Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to the town council last night, prefaced an hour of complaints by residents who live behind the gutters, and of promises by councilmen.

Spearheading the complaints was William P. Campana of 19 Mohawk Avenue, who said he has complained to town officials of the "unsanitary and disgraceful gutter conditions" for 10 years.

Campana said he decided to bring his problem to the council after a house guest slipped and fell in the water and muck in front of his home on a rainless day. He was accompanied by 15 neighbors and a petition signed by 23 residents on his block.

Following the complaints, councilmen promised to make a field trip the morning of Feb. 5 to view the problem gutters.

Acting Town Engineer Phillip B. Lygren estimated repairs would cost $5 a foot. Usher reminded the council that to repair a block with 320 feet of curb ponds, the town might have to regrade the entire 820-foot block of gutter.

Mrs. Kathleen L. Walsh of 33 Mohawk Avenue told councilmen that during the summer the curb pond in front of her home attracts insects. "The smell is so intolerable," she said.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton told the audience that since the people of Mohawk Avenue have probably suffered the curb ponds longer than most other residents "I think this area should be placed at the top of our list of priorities."

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Called bids for Feb. 3 on channelization of Tamalpais Drive from Highway 101 to Madera Boulevard. Cost is estimated at $6,000.

2. Agreed to give playground equipment at the northeast corner of the San Clemente School play yard to the Larkspur School District so it may be moved closer to the school's primary grade class rooms.

3. Adopted an ordinance reducing the speed limit on Paradise Drive between Tamalpais Drive and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks from 35 to 25 miles per hour and prohibiting parking on the west side of Paradise Drive from Tamalpais Drive for a distance of 710 feet.

4. Agreed to pay $206 of a $412 outstanding bill of the late Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission.

5. Agreed to hire Town Treasurer and investment counselor John Vance as director of finance. The council abolished the position of investment counselor, for which Vance was paid $300 a month, and set his salary in his new job, beginning Jan. 19, at $700 a month.

6. Agreed to purchase the town manager's car for $1,761.24 from the state cooperative purchasing service.

7. Agreed to pay $190 in expenses for Usher to attend the spring meeting of the city managers department of the League of California Cities in Coronado, Feb. 23-25.

Councilman William W. Collier was absent.

Sleepy Hollow Boy Injured In Accident

Jeffrey W. Galbraith, 14, of 1425 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, suffered a possible concussion at 4:15 p.m. yesterday when he ran in front of a car on Butterfield Road. He was in good condition today in Marin General Hospital.

Library Head Cautioned Over Jobs Conflict

The president of the Mill Valley Library Board has taken a job with the firm that designed the new library building, and Mill Valley city councilmen last night raised the question of possible conflict of interest.

Mrs. John P. Farnham is president of the library board. Her new job is with Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons, architects of the library building now under construction.

Mayor Michael Wornum suggested to City Councilman William M. Secor, the council's liaison to the library board, that Mrs. Farnham should not authorize change orders on the library building in view of her new employment.

Secor said, however, that the library board felt there was no conflict of interest since the contract had already been let.

"It looks like a definite case where some conflict could arise," insisted Councilman George E. Wickham. "We could be subject to quite a bit of criticism."

Mayor Wornum's suggestion was left just that—a suggestion.

San Rafael Tots Signups Open

Sign-up for the latest "Tiny Tots" program sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation Department started today and will continue from 9:30 to 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said there will be two groups, one meeting on Tuesday, the other on Wednesday. Each will meet from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the city recreation center, Second and Brooks streets.

Mrs. Frances Traina will conduct the classes, for youngsters 3 to 5 years old. They will last six weeks. Fee is $4.

Mill Valley Aparment Zone Proposal Deadlocks Council

The controversial "Kipling Corner" at the entrance to Mill Valley continued to flummox the Mill Valley City Council last night, councilmen reaching a 2-2 stalemate on a proposal to rezone it from single family residential to apartments.

Richard Dunn seeks the rezoning at Kipling and East Blithedale avenues for an area of 29,000 square feet surrounded, except for three small adjoining lots, by apartment zoning.

Councilman Albert E. White said he had changed his opinion from an earlier vote and no longer supported rezoning. He said the location, at Mill Valley's entrance, is not suitable for apartments considering traffic. Councilman William M. Secor termed it "zoning by default" and moved denial.

Mayor Michael Wornum and Councilman George E. Wickham voted contrary, and Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks abstained. The council then voted 3-1, Sheeks abstaining, to continue the subject to Feb. 7, on request of Paul Crowley, a real estate broker, who suggested the difficulties might still be resolved.

Dr. Willard H. Pennell, president of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Assn., told the council the association feels apartments desirable at the Kipling Corner.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Voted to construct a sidewalk at 467 Miller Avenue, overruling protest of attorney Albert Bianchi for his client, Francis M. Gelardi. Bianchi said Gelardi had installed a sidewalk to city standards but the city had changed the standards. Council action means Gelardi must install the walk within 60 days or the city will build it and place it on his tax bill.

2. Adopted an ordinance to annex the 60-acre Cascade annexation, south of Cascade Drive and west of Monte Vista Avenue.

3. During citizens question period, told John de Becker that files will be checked to see whether one apartment in the two-unit building of Lynn Jensen at 54 West Blithedale Avenue is illegal. Councilman Sheeks asked for a report on the findings.

4. By 4-1 vote, Councilman Sheeks voting "no," introduced an ordinance establishing a 25-mile speed limit on Camino Alto between Miller and East Blithedale avenues, wher the limit now is 35. Sheeks said, "we can't even enforce the 25-mile per hour zones we have now."

5. Authorized out of court settlement whereby A. E. Mullin Co. will pay the city $8,500 for damage the city suffered when contractor Mullin caused a earth slide on Ethel Avenue in March, 1963, costing the city $11,000 to repair.

6. Voted to buy a 5,600 square foot parcel of land from C. O. Sollom for about $1,126 to use in constructing Lomita Avenue.

7. Reappointed Harold Henry to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board. Mayor Wornum invited Henry to attend a council meeting to tell what the district does.

8. Welcomed Councilman Wickham back to the council following a business trip to New Zealand. Wickham, an engineer with Jacobs Associates in San Rafael, was in New Zealand working on an hydroelectric project.

Fairfax Man Mends After Pill Overdose

Chester Laws, 40, of 83 Cypress Drive, Fairfax, was reported in good condition at San Rafael General Hospital today after being found about 9 p.m. yesterday unconscious from an overdose of barbiturates.

San Rafael police, responding to a call from Betty Lou Culver, found Laws unconscious on the floor at 21A Warner Court, San Rafael, and were told the man had threatened to take his own life.

First 1966 Span Death

A 36-year-old civilian employee at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday became the first person to jump to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge in 1966.

The Coast Guard recovered the body of George F. Pendleton of San Francisco at 1:35 p.m., less than half an hour after his leap was reported.

He was the 291st person known to have taken his life by jumping from the span.

The California Highway Patrol said Pendleton parked his car in the lot at the south end of the bridge just after 1 p.m. then walked to the south tower, where he climbed over the railning and jumped. A passerby called officers.

He left his valuables and a note to his wife, Ruth, saying, "I feel rotten and everything has come to an end for me except my love for you."

MARIN FIRE CALLS

White House Watchfully Waits Steel's Next Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Johnson administration appeared today to be gearing up for a major showdown over steel price hikes, though officials still held out hope for voluntary rollback of the increases.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer, held the key. If it decided to follow the lead of Bethlehem and Inland Steel and raise the price of structural steel $5 a ton, the battle would be on. If not, a rollback appeared likely.

U.S. Steel was saying nothing other than that it was "carefully" considering the matter "and it will be some time before a conclusion is reached." Steel industry sources in Pittsburgh believed the giant company would raise its prices, however.

"I just cannot see U.S. Steel not going along with Bethlehem," a leading steel distributor said yesterday. "I'm surprised they have not acted before this."

An announcement by Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp., a relative midget among producers, that it would boost structural steel prices by $3 a ton—$2 less than Inland and Bethlehem — raised yet another possibility.

If U.S. Steel were to follow Colorado's lead, would the administration consider the raise a compromise figure? A White House spokesman refused to comment on the Colorado action last night.

Mill Valley Harbor Hits A Minor Snag

Creation of Mill Valley's small craft yacht harbor has hit a minor snag, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer informed city councilmen last night.

Paul B. Fischer, Corona Del Mar developer who has a six-month option to lease the harbor, has told the city that, for him to seek private financing, he must have clarification regarding a parcel of state-owned land at the harbor's mouth.

Balmer said the city has a 49-year use permit on the state land. He said he has discussed changing the permit to a lease, and the state lands commission is to consider this at a meeting this month in Los Angeles.

Balmer said he will ask Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R., San Rafael, to introduce a bill in the next legislature giving this land in trust to Marin County.

Mayor Michael Wornum asked Balmer to keep the council informed, because "the most embarrassing question I get is 'what is happening to the harbor?' "

Balmer also reported he has asked the Mill Valley Refuse Co. for nine or 10 types of information to properly do an audit of the company's books in relation to a request for increased rates.

Balmer also reported he has written Alto, Almonte, Kay Park and Homestead Valley sanitary district boards suggesting scrapping present agreements with the districts to process their sewage in the city treatment plant and writing new contracts "relating to present conditions."

He proposes a new cost formula, either based on unit connections or by installing flow meters, for sharing costs of the city's plant, he said. He also will request a new cost sharing formula for sharing cost of the city's trunk lines. The city now pays 76 per cent of cost of replacing a trunk line, Balmer noted.

The manager said he is exploring a condition, also, that will give the city a veto right over serving an area, such as the Dias Ranch, at any time.

Planners Ask County Use Of Own Rules

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday wondered why the county in its construction programs does not follow the planning procedures it sets down for private developers.

Wesley Wilkes of the county planning staff told the commission that a shed and gasoline pump was put on the Civic Center parking lot without consulting with the planning department.

Commission Chairman Felix M. Warburg wondered if the shed and pump were designed by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Wilkes said it would be pointless to make an issue of the small pumping station, but he suggested that the commission ask it be allowed to review all capital projects of the future.

This the commission did.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Scheduled discussion of a design review board for the county on Jan. 31 at the Civic Center. Study of such a board was asked by the board of supervisors several weeks ago.

2. Continued until Feb. 14 the issue of density of housing in a planned community zone. The delay will permit the county's new planning director, Paul Zucker, who will arrive Jan. 24, to have a part in the discussion.

3. Put off until Jan. 17 appeal on denial of a subdivision asked by Walter Conner Jr., seeking to make two lots, each a third of an acre, on Paradise Road across from Paradise Beach County Park near Tiburon. Conner is to have soil percolation tests run prior to the next commission meeting.

4. Approved location of a branch sales office at 633 Redwood Highway, Alto, for Edgewater Yacht Co.

5. Denied Charles Tijerina's request for architectural supervision to allow medical and dental offices on the second floor of the Alto branch of the Tiburon National Bank, 100 Tiburon Boulevard, Alto. Main objection was lack of parking area.

6. Adjourned at 5:15 p.m.

Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz was absent.

Belvedere Will Resurface Beach Road, Repair Wall

The Belvedere City Council last night instructed City Engineer Albert H. Siemer to go ahead with resurfacing Beach Road and reinforcing its retaining wall on a day labor basis.

On Dec. 6 the council rejected a low bid of $52,989 by Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael on the job. Siemer said he felt he could keep the job at $47,000.

The Belvedere City Council also:

1. Introduced an ordinance to require developers to get a permit from the city for any bay fill project on city tidelands.

2. Reintroduced a television antenna service ordinance, changing from $1,200 to $900 the minimum fee to be paid to the city yearly by any firm that contracts for an antenna service.

3. Learned from City Atty. William H. MacKay that reducing the speed limit on Bayview Avenue from 25 to 15 MPH would be in violation of the California vehicle code.

4. Rejected a suggestion by County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley Fontez that Belvedere adopt a hotel-motel tax ordinance.

5. Agreed to contribute $1,400 for a joint study with the Richardson Bay Sanitary District of sewage problems in Richardson Bay.

6. Heard from Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel on the Dec. 11 human rights commission symposium and agreed to contribute $25 to the human rights commission.

7. Instructed City Mgr. William L. Cavalli to contract with the state department of finance for a $190 population study of the city.

The last population study was made in 1963, and put Belvedere's population at 2,350.

State Park Aide Due For Parley

State recreation official Russell W. Porter, who once was San Rafael recreation director, will arrive in San Rafael tomorrow to meet with the city park and recreation commission and discuss chances of a state grant for a city aquatic park.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at city hall.

City Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said Porter probably will stay in town Thursday to meet with other city officials on the same topic. Porter is coordinator of the state division of recreation's grant program.

MacCarthy To Talk To Novato Chamber

Reapportionment and other problems facing the last session of the state legislature will be discussed by State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, at a public luncheon Thursday noon at Nero's restaurant in Novato, sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Regular board meeting of the Chamber of Commerce has been postponed until noon, Jan. 13, at Nero's, according to Richard Nave, president.

Contractor's License

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) Unless written protest is filed, the contractors state license board announced today it will issue a license Jan. 19 to Maurice D. Worley, 54 Sunny Oaks Drive, San Rafael, for general contracting.

Novato Policemen Elect New Officers

Sgt. Perry J. Haley was elected president of the Novato Police Assn. at its meeting last night at the home of Sgt. Walter W. Weidauer at 71 Lambert Way, Novato.

Officer Louis Robinette was named secretary-treasurer. Elected directors were Detective Sgt. Otto C. Haiungs, Sgt. Maurice Lafferty, and Patrolman Joseph O. Fitzgerald.

NAACP Reports Difficult Times

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People has a new president and a report that it is losing members and money.

Kevie Kaplan, 61, a retired Boston industrialist, was elected unanimously Monday night by the NAACP board of directors. He succeeds Arthur B. Spingarn, 87, a New York lawyer, who had held the post for 26 years.

Kaplan is white, as have been all the NAACP presidents befor him.

Dixie GOP Winner

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — The first Republican to serve in the Mississippi Senate since Reconstruction Days received the oath of office today. He is Sen. William E. Corr Jr., 29, of Sardis.

Corte Madera Council Gets Gutter Complaint

In Corte Madera are 4,027 feet of residential district gutters in which drainage is so poor that January's rain water and mud still stand in mid-August.

This fact, reported by Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to the town council last night, prefaced an hour of complaints by residents who live behind the gutters, and of promises by councilmen.

Spearheading the complaints was William P. Campana of 19 Mohawk Avenue, who said he has complained to town officials of the "unsanitary and disgraceful gutter conditions" for 10 years.

Campana said he decided to bring his problem to the council after a house guest slipped and fell in the water and muck in front of his home on a rainless day. He was accompanied by 15 neighbors and a petition signed by 23 residents on his block.

Following the complaints, councilmen promised to make a field trip the morning of Feb. 5 to view the problem gutters.

Acting Town Engineer Phillip B. Lygren estimated repairs would cost $5 a foot. Usher reminded the council that to repair a block with 320 feet of curb ponds, the town might have to regrade the entire 820-foot block of gutter.

Mrs. Kathleen L. Walsh of 33 Mohawk Avenue told councilmen that during the summer the curb pond in front of her home attracts insects. "The smell is so intolerable," she said.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton told the audience that since the people of Mohawk Avenue have probably suffered the curb ponds longer than most other residents "I think this area should be placed at the top of our list of priorities."

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Called bids for Feb. 3 on channelization of Tamalpais Drive from Highway 101 to Madera Boulevard. Cost is estimated at $6,000.
2. Agreed to give playground equipment at the northeast corner of the San Clemente School play yard to the Larkspur School District so it may be moved closer to the school's primary grade class rooms.
3. Adopted an ordinance reducing the speed limit on Paradise Drive between Tamalpais Drive and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks from 35 to 25 miles per hour and prohibiting parking on the west side of Paradise Drive from Tamalpais Drive for a distance of 710 feet.
4. Agreed to pay $206 of a $412 outstanding bill of the late Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission.
5. Agreed to hire Town Treasurer and investment counselor John Vance as director of finance. The council abolished the position of investment counselor, for which Vance was paid $300 a month, and set his salary in his new job, beginning Jan. 19, at $700 a month.
6. Agreed to purchase the town manager's car for $1,761.24 from the state cooperative purchasing service.
7. Agreed to pay $190 in expenses for Usher to attend the spring meeting of the city managers department of the League of California Cities in Coronado, Feb. 23-25.

Councilman William W. Collier was absent.

Sleepy Hollow Boy Injured In Accident

Jeffrey W. Galbraith, 14, of 1425 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, suffered a possible concussion at 4:15 p.m. yesterday when he ran in front of a car on Butterfield Road. He was in good condition today in Marin General Hospital.

Library Head Cautioned Over Jobs Conflict

The president of the Mill Valley Library Board has taken a job with the firm that designed the new library building, and Mill Valley city councilmen last night raised the question of possible conflict of interest.

Mrs. John P. Farnham is president of the library board. Her new job is with Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons, architects of the library building now under construction.

Mayor Michael Wornum suggested to City Councilman William M. Secor, the council's liaison to the library board, that Mrs. Farnham should not authorize change orders on the library building in view of her new employment.

Secor said, however, that the library board felt there was no conflict of interest since the contract had already been let.

"It looks like a definite case where some conflict could arise," insisted Councilman George E. Wickham. "We could be subject to quite a bit of criticism."

Mayor Wornum's suggestion was left just that—a suggestion.

San Rafael Tots Signups Open

Sign-up for the latest "Tiny Tots" program sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation Department started today and will continue from 9:30 to 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said there will be two groups, one meeting on Tuesday, the other on Wednesday. Each will meet from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the city recreation center, Second and Brooks streets.

Mrs. Frances Traina will conduct the classes, for youngsters 3 to 5 years old. They will last six weeks. Fee is $4.

Mill Valley Aparment Zone Proposal Deadlocks Council

The controversial "Kipling Corner" at the entrance to Mill Valley continued to flummox the Mill Valley City Council last night, councilmen reaching a 2-2 stalemate on a proposal to rezone it from single family residential to apartments.

Richard Dunn seeks the rezoning at Kipling and East Blithedale avenues for an area of 29,000 square feet surrounded, except for three small adjoining lots, by apartment zoning.

Councilman Albert E. White said he had changed his opinion from an earlier vote and no longer supported rezoning. He said the location, at Mill Valley's entrance, is not suitable for apartments considering traffic. Councilman William M. Secor termed it "zoning by default" and moved denial.

Mayor Michael Wornum and Councilman George E. Wickham voted contrary, and Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks abstained. The council then voted 3-1, Sheeks abstaining, to continue the subject to Feb. 7, on request of Paul Crowley, a real estate broker, who suggested the difficulties might still be resolved.

Dr. Willard H. Pennell, president of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Assn., told the council the association feels apartments desirable at the Kipling Corner.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Voted to construct a sidewalk at 467 Miller Avenue, overruling protest of attorney Albert Bianchi for his client, Francis M. Gelardi. Bianchi said Gelardi had installed a sidewalk to city standards but the city had changed the standards. Council action means Gelardi must install the walk within 60 days or the city will build it and place it on his tax bill.
2. Adopted an ordinance to annex the 60-acre Cascade annexation, south of Cascade Drive and west of Monte Vista Avenue.
3. During citizens question period, told John de Becker that files will be checked to see whether one apartment in the two-unit building of Lynn Jensen at 54 West Blithedale Avenue is illegal. Councilman Sheeks asked for a report on the findings.
4. By 4-1 vote, Councilman Sheeks voting "no," introduced an ordinance establishing a 25-mile speed limit on Camino Alto between Miller and East Blithedale avenues, wher the limit now is 35. Sheeks said, "we can't even enforce the 25-mile per hour zones we have now."
5. Authorized out of court settlement whereby A. E. Mullin Co. will pay the city $8,500 for damage the city suffered when contractor Mullin caused a earth slide on Ethel Avenue in March, 1963, costing the city $11,000 to repair.
6. Voted to buy a 5,600 square foot parcel of land from C. O. Sollom for about $1,126 to use in constructing Lomita Avenue.
7. Reappointed Harold Henry to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board. Mayor Wornum invited Henry to attend a council meeting to tell what the district does.
8. Welcomed Councilman Wickham back to the council following a business trip to New Zealand. Wickham, an engineer with Jacobs Associates in San Rafael, was in New Zealand working on an hydroelectric project.

Fairfax Man Mends After Pill Overdose

Chester Laws, 40, of 83 Cypress Drive, Fairfax, was reported in good condition at San Rafael General Hospital today after being found about 9 p.m. yesterday unconscious from an overdose of barbiturates.

San Rafael police, responding to a call from Betty Lou Culver, found Laws unconscious on the floor at 21A Warner Court, San Rafael, and were told the man had threatened to take his own life.

First 1966 Span Death

A 36-year-old civilian employee at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday became the first person to jump to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge in 1966.

The Coast Guard recovered the body of George F. Pendleton of San Francisco at 1:35 p.m., less than half an hour after his leap was reported.

He was the 291st person known to have taken his life by jumping from the span.

The California Highway Patrol said Pendleton parked his car in the lot at the south end of the bridge just after 1 p.m. then walked to the south tower, where he climbed over the railning and jumped. A passerby called officers.

He left his valuables and a note to his wife, Ruth, saying, "I feel rotten and everything has come to an end for me except my love for you."

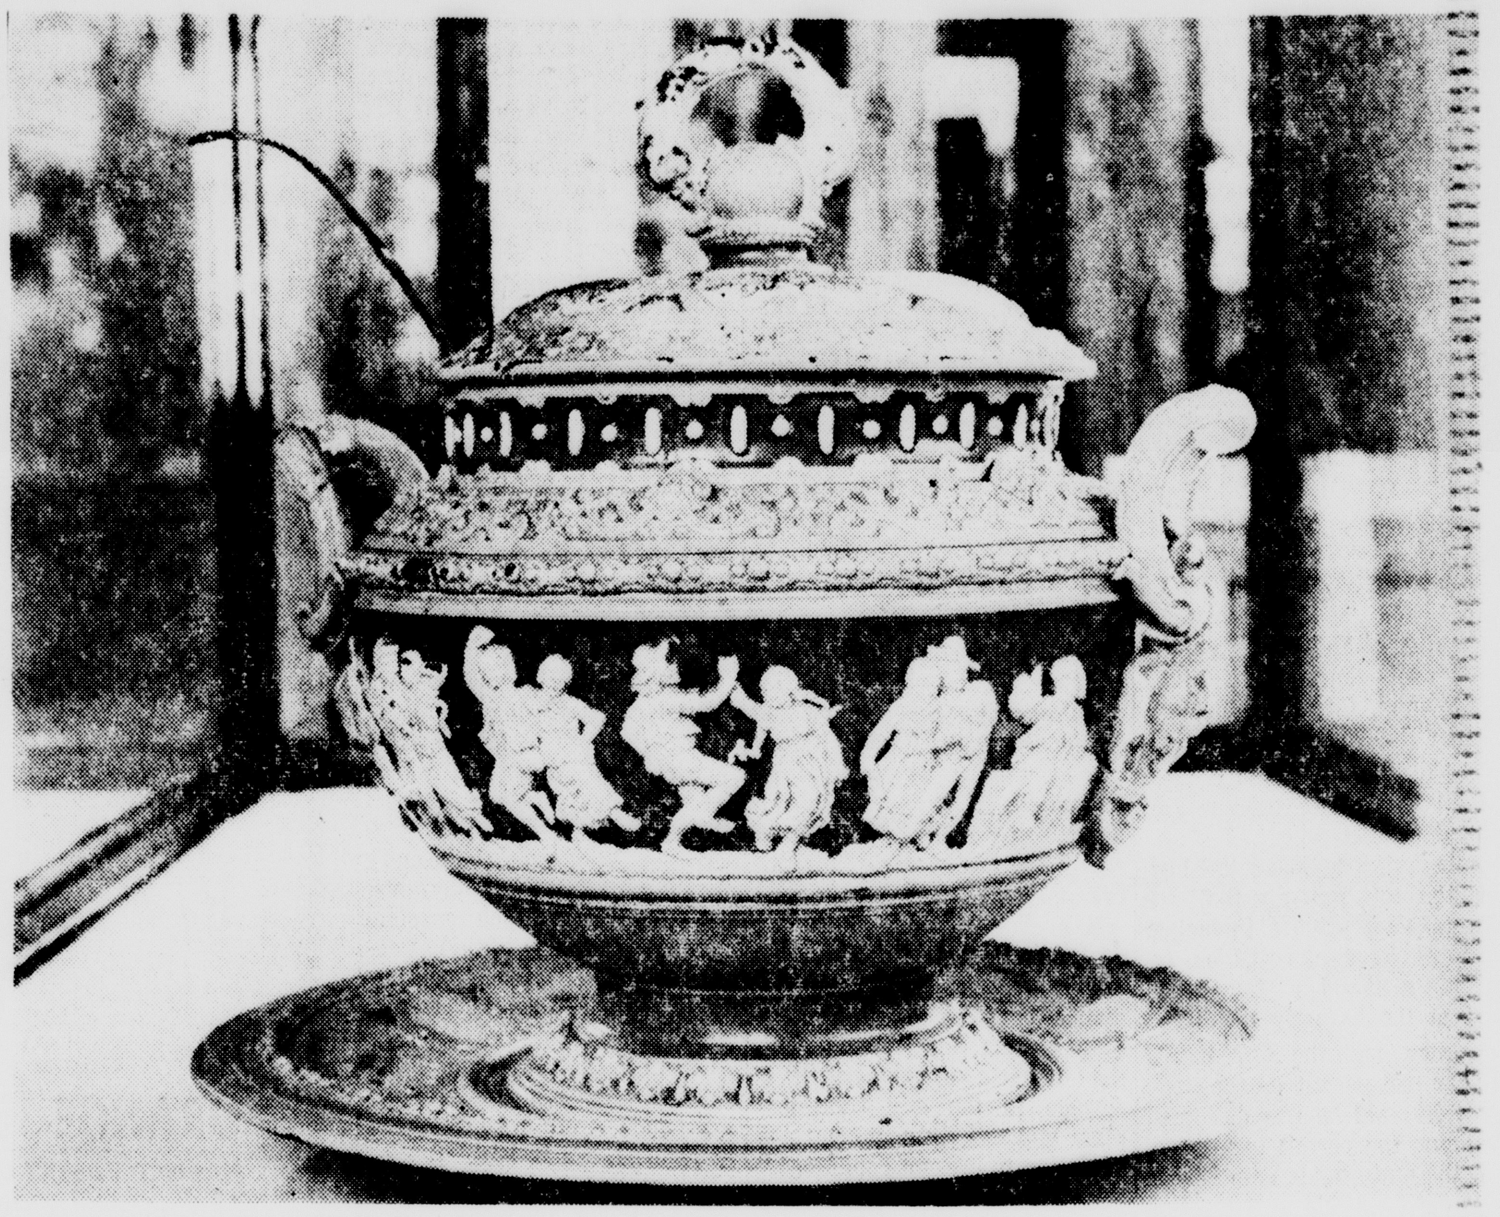
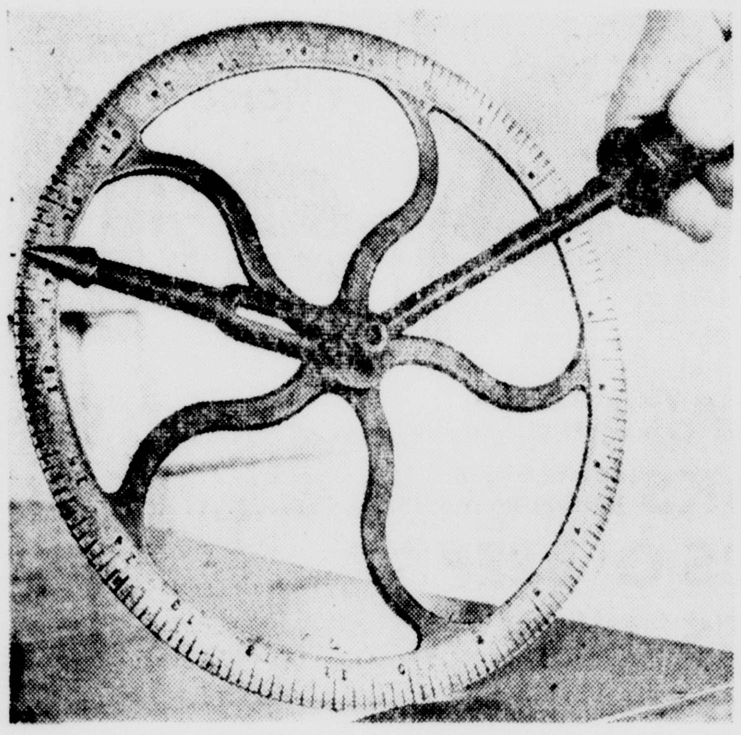
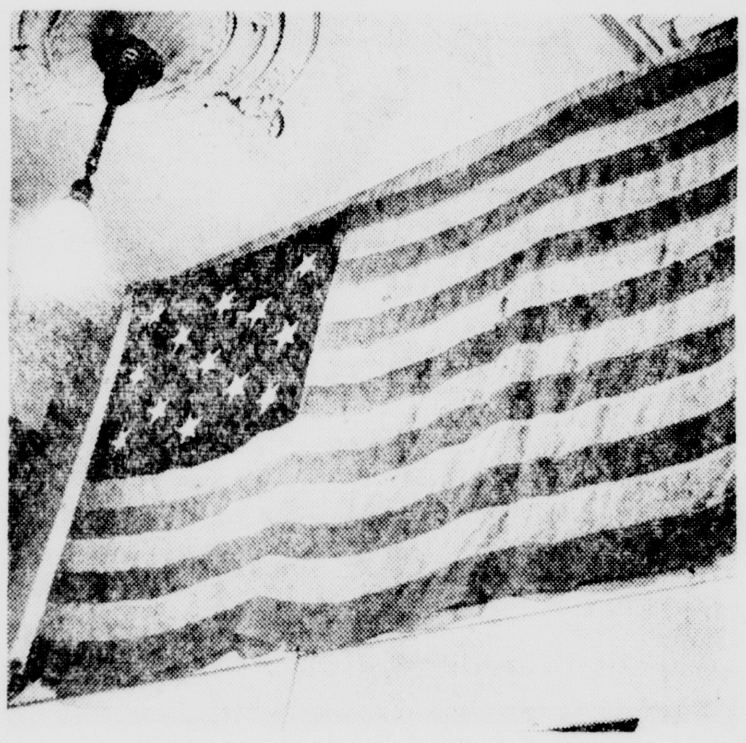
ENTRANCE TO THE PAST—Parker Wood, curator of the Marin Historical Society Museum at Boyd Park in San Rafael, sits in the entranceway of the museum, a former gatehouse of the Boyd estate which has become the depository for many mementoes of Marin County's past. The museum is open to the public on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.



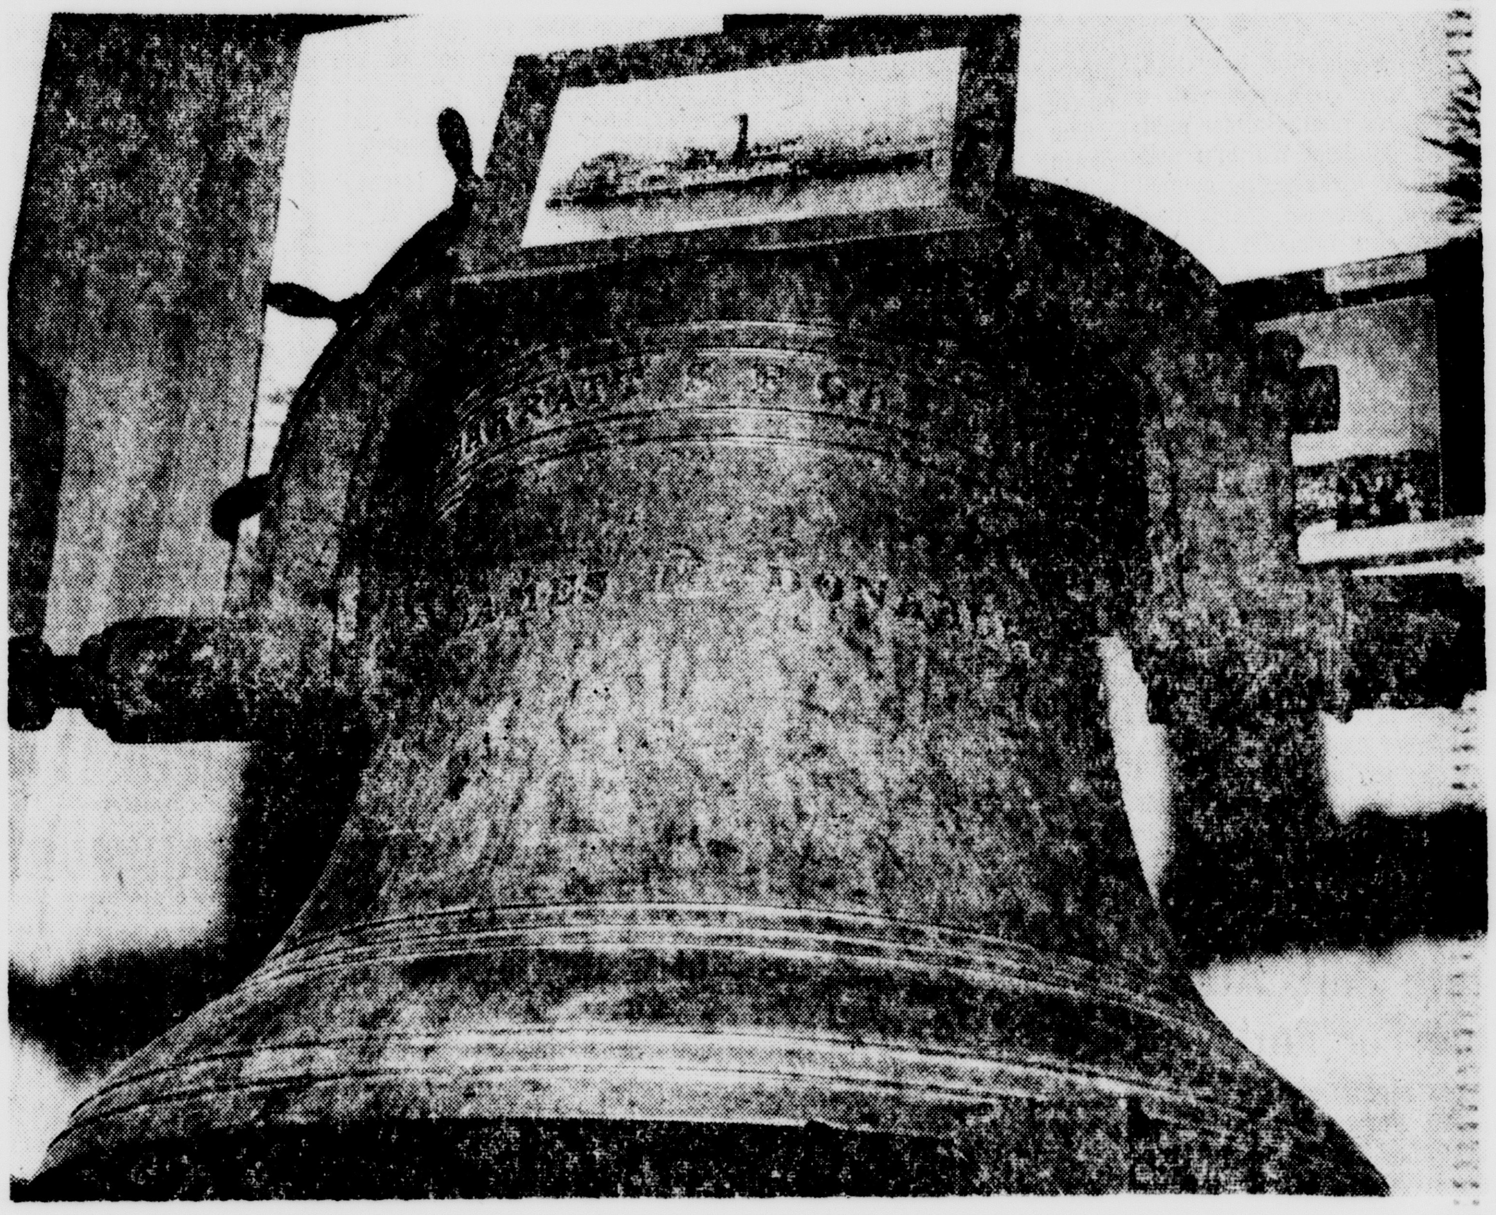
WORLD WAR I MEMENTO—Some doughboy of the A.E.F. brought back this ornate punch bowl from Germany after the first World War. Tamalpais Post 72, Veterans of Foreign Wars, donated it to the Marin Historical Society Museum. The inscription says "Deutsche Wafen Und Munitions, Frabriken, Berlin, 1917."



WHEEL RULER—Among the unusual items in the museum is this circular ruler with pointer. Curator Wood says it was used by blacksmiths to measure wagon wheels.



THIRTEEN STARS—This version of the 13-star flag which flew in the original United States does not date back that far. It was authorized by President William Howard Taft in 1912.



FERRY BOAT BELL — Dear to the hearts of Marinites are the ferries that provided transportation across the Bay and the Golden Gate before the days of bridges. This bell in the museum is from the James M. Donahue, a single-end side-wheel ferry boat that ran between Tiburon and San Francisco. She burned on the mud flats near San Quentin.

BREWERY WHISTLE—Once upon a time, San Rafael had a brewery — Boyen's Brewery at Fourth and F streets. It is memorialized in this whistle, one of the unusual items in the Marin Historical Society Museum.

White House Watchfully Waits Steel's Next Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Johnson administration appeared today to be gearing up for a major showdown over steel price hikes, though officials still held out hope for voluntary rollback of the increases.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer, held the key. If it decided to follow the lead of Bethlehem and Inland Steel and raise the price of structural steel $5 a ton, the battle would be on. If not, a rollback appeared likely.

U.S. Steel was saying nothing other than that it was "carefully" considering the matter "and it will be some time before a conclusion is reached." Steel industry sources in Pittsburgh believed the giant company would raise its prices, however.

"I just cannot see U.S. Steel not going along with Bethlehem," a leading steel distributor said yesterday. "I'm surprised they have not acted before this."

An announcement by Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp., a relative midget among producers, that it would boost structural steel prices by $3 a ton—$2 less than Inland and Bethlehem — raised yet another possibility.

If U.S. Steel were to follow Colorado's lead, would the administration consider the raise a compromise figure? A White House spokesman refused to comment on the Colorado action last night.

Mill Valley Harbor Hits A Minor Snag

Creation of Mill Valley's small craft yacht harbor has hit a minor snag, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer informed city councilmen last night.

Paul B. Fischer, Corona Del Mar developer who has a six-month option to lease the harbor, has told the city that, for him to seek private financing, he must have clarification regarding a parcel of state-owned land at the harbor's mouth.

Balmer said the city has a 49-year use permit on the state land. He said he has discussed changing the permit to a lease, and the state lands commission is to consider this at a meeting this month in Los Angeles.

Balmer said he will ask Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R., San Rafael, to introduce a bill in the next legislature giving this land in trust to Marin County.

Mayor Michael Wornum asked Balmer to keep the council informed, because "the most embarrassing question I get is 'what is happening to the harbor?' "

Balmer also reported he has asked the Mill Valley Refuse Co. for nine or 10 types of information to properly do an audit of the company's books in relation to a request for increased rates.

Balmer also reported he has written Alto, Almonte, Kay Park and Homestead Valley sanitary district boards suggesting scrapping present agreements with the districts to process their sewage in the city treatment plant and writing new contracts "relating to present conditions."

He proposes a new cost formula, either based on unit connections or by installing flow meters, for sharing costs of the city's plant, he said. He also will request a new cost sharing formula for sharing cost of the city's trunk lines. The city now pays 76 per cent of cost of replacing a trunk line, Balmer noted.

The manager said he is exploring a condition, also, that will give the city a veto right over serving an area, such as the Dias Ranch, at any time.

Planners Ask County Use Of Own Rules

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday wondered why the county in its construction programs does not follow the planning procedures it sets down for private developers.

Wesley Wilkes of the county planning staff told the commission that a shed and gasoline pump was put on the Civic Center parking lot without consulting with the planning department.

Commission Chairman Felix M. Warburg wondered if the shed and pump were designed by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Wilkes said it would be pointless to make an issue of the small pumping station, but he suggested that the commission ask it be allowed to review all capital projects of the future.

This the commission did.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Scheduled discussion of a design review board for the county on Jan. 31 at the Civic Center. Study of such a board was asked by the board of supervisors several weeks ago.

2. Continued until Feb. 14 the issue of density of housing in a planned community zone. The delay will permit the county's new planning director, Paul Zucker, who will arrive Jan. 24, to have a part in the discussion.

3. Put off until Jan. 17 appeal on denial of a subdivision asked by Walter Conner Jr., seeking to make two lots, each a third of an acre, on Paradise Road across from Paradise Beach County Park near Tiburon. Conner is to have soil percolation tests run prior to the next commission meeting.

4. Approved location of a branch sales office at 633 Redwood Highway, Alto, for Edgewater Yacht Co.

5. Denied Charles Tijerina's request for architectural supervision to allow medical and dental offices on the second floor of the Alto branch of the Tiburon National Bank, 100 Tiburon Boulevard, Alto. Main objection was lack of parking area.

6. Adjourned at 5:15 p.m.

Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz was absent.

Belvedere Will Resurface Beach Road, Repair Wall

The Belvedere City Council last night instructed City Engineer Albert H. Siemer to go ahead with resurfacing Beach Road and reinforcing its retaining wall on a day labor basis.

On Dec. 6 the council rejected a low bid of $52,989 by Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael on the job. Siemer said he felt he could keep the job at $47,000.

The Belvedere City Council also:

1. Introduced an ordinance to require developers to get a permit from the city for any bay fill project on city tidelands.

2. Reintroduced a television antenna service ordinance, changing from $1,200 to $900 the minimum fee to be paid to the city yearly by any firm that contracts for an antenna service.

3. Learned from City Atty. William H. MacKay that reducing the speed limit on Bayview Avenue from 25 to 15 MPH would be in violation of the California vehicle code.

4. Rejected a suggestion by County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley Fontez that Belvedere adopt a hotel-motel tax ordinance.

5. Agreed to contribute $1,400 for a joint study with the Richardson Bay Sanitary District of sewage problems in Richardson Bay.

6. Heard from Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel on the Dec. 11 human rights commission symposium and agreed to contribute $25 to the human rights commission.

7. Instructed City Mgr. William L. Cavalli to contract with the state department of finance for a $190 population study of the city.

The last population study was made in 1963, and put Belvedere's population at 2,350.

State Park Aide Due For Parley

State recreation official Russell W. Porter, who once was San Rafael recreation director, will arrive in San Rafael tomorrow to meet with the city park and recreation commission and discuss chances of a state grant for a city aquatic park.

Commissioners will meet at 3 p.m. at city hall.

City Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said Porter probably will stay in town Thursday to meet with other city officials on the same topic. Porter is coordinator of the state division of recreation's grant program.

Novato Policemen Elect New Officers

Sgt. Perry J. Haley was elected president of the Novato Police Assn. at its meeting last night at the home of Sgt. Walter W. Weidauer at 71 Lambert Way, Novato.

Officer Louis Robinette was named secretary-treasurer. Elected directors were Detective Sgt. Otto C. Haiungs, Sgt. Maurice Lafferty, and Patrolman Joseph O. Fitzgerald.

NAACP Reports Difficult Times

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People has a new president and a report that it is losing members and money.

Kevie Kaplan, 61, a retired Boston industrialist, was elected unanimously Monday night by the NAACP board of directors. He succeeds Arthur B. Spingarn, 87, a New York lawyer, who had held the post for 26 years.

Kaplan is white, as have been all the NAACP presidents befor him.

Dixie GOP Winner

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — The first Republican to serve in the Mississippi Senate since Reconstruction Days received the oath of office today. He is Sen. William E. Corr Jr., 29, of Sardis.

MacCarthy To Talk To Novato Chamber

Reapportionment and other problems facing the last session of the state legislature will be discussed by State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, at a public luncheon Thursday noon at Nero's restaurant in Novato, sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Regular board meeting of the Chamber of Commerce has been postponed until noon, Jan. 13, at Nero's, according to Richard Nave, president.

Contractor's License

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) Unless written protest is filed, the contractors state license board announced today it will issue a license Jan. 19 to Maurice D. Worley, 54 Sunny Oaks Drive, San Rafael, for general contracting.

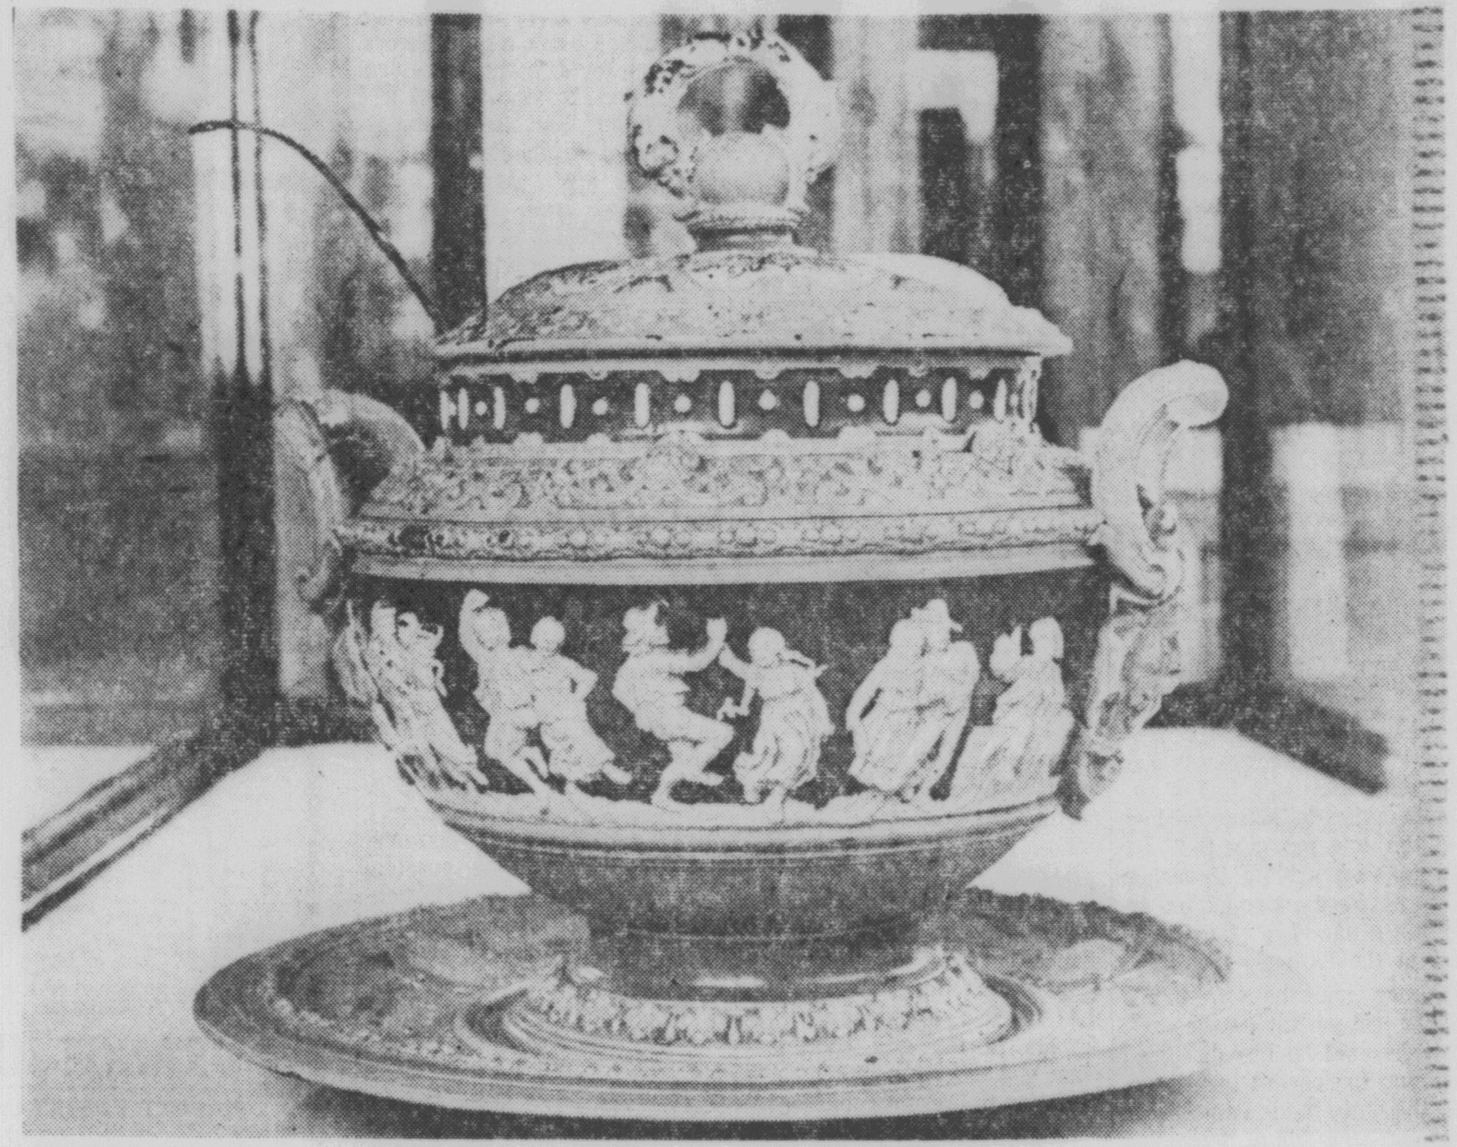
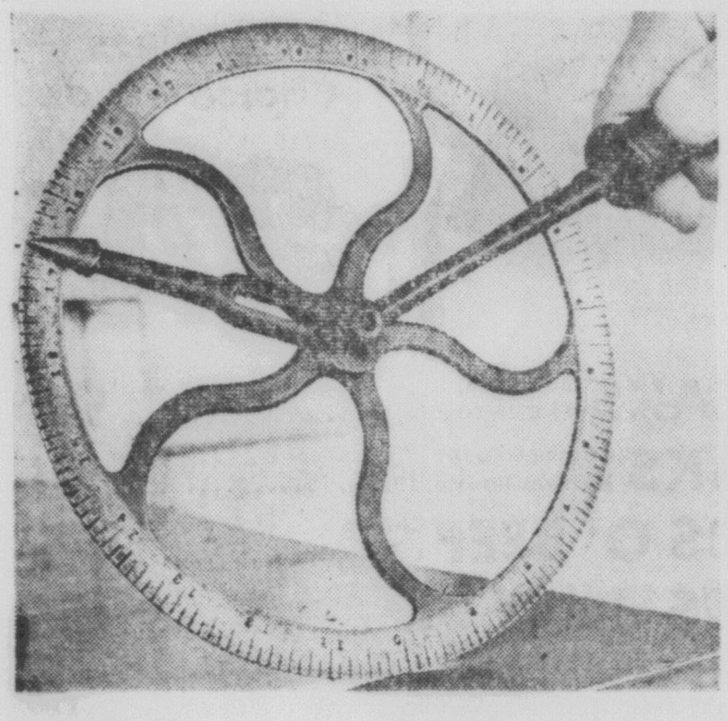
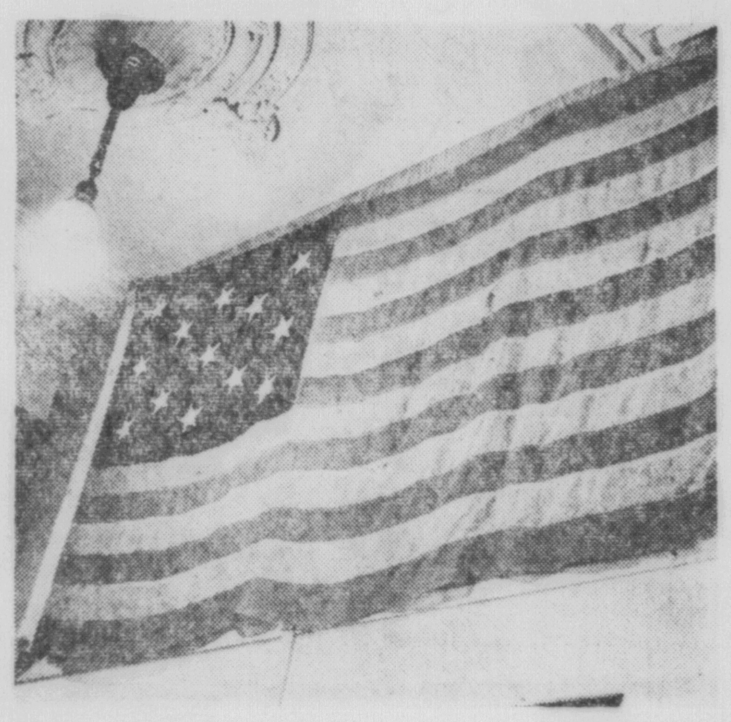
ENTRANCE TO THE PAST—Parker Wood, curator of the Marin Historical Society Museum at Boyd Park in San Rafael, sits in the entranceway of the museum, a former gatehouse of the Boyd estate which has become the depository for many mementoes of Marin County's past. The museum is open to the public on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.



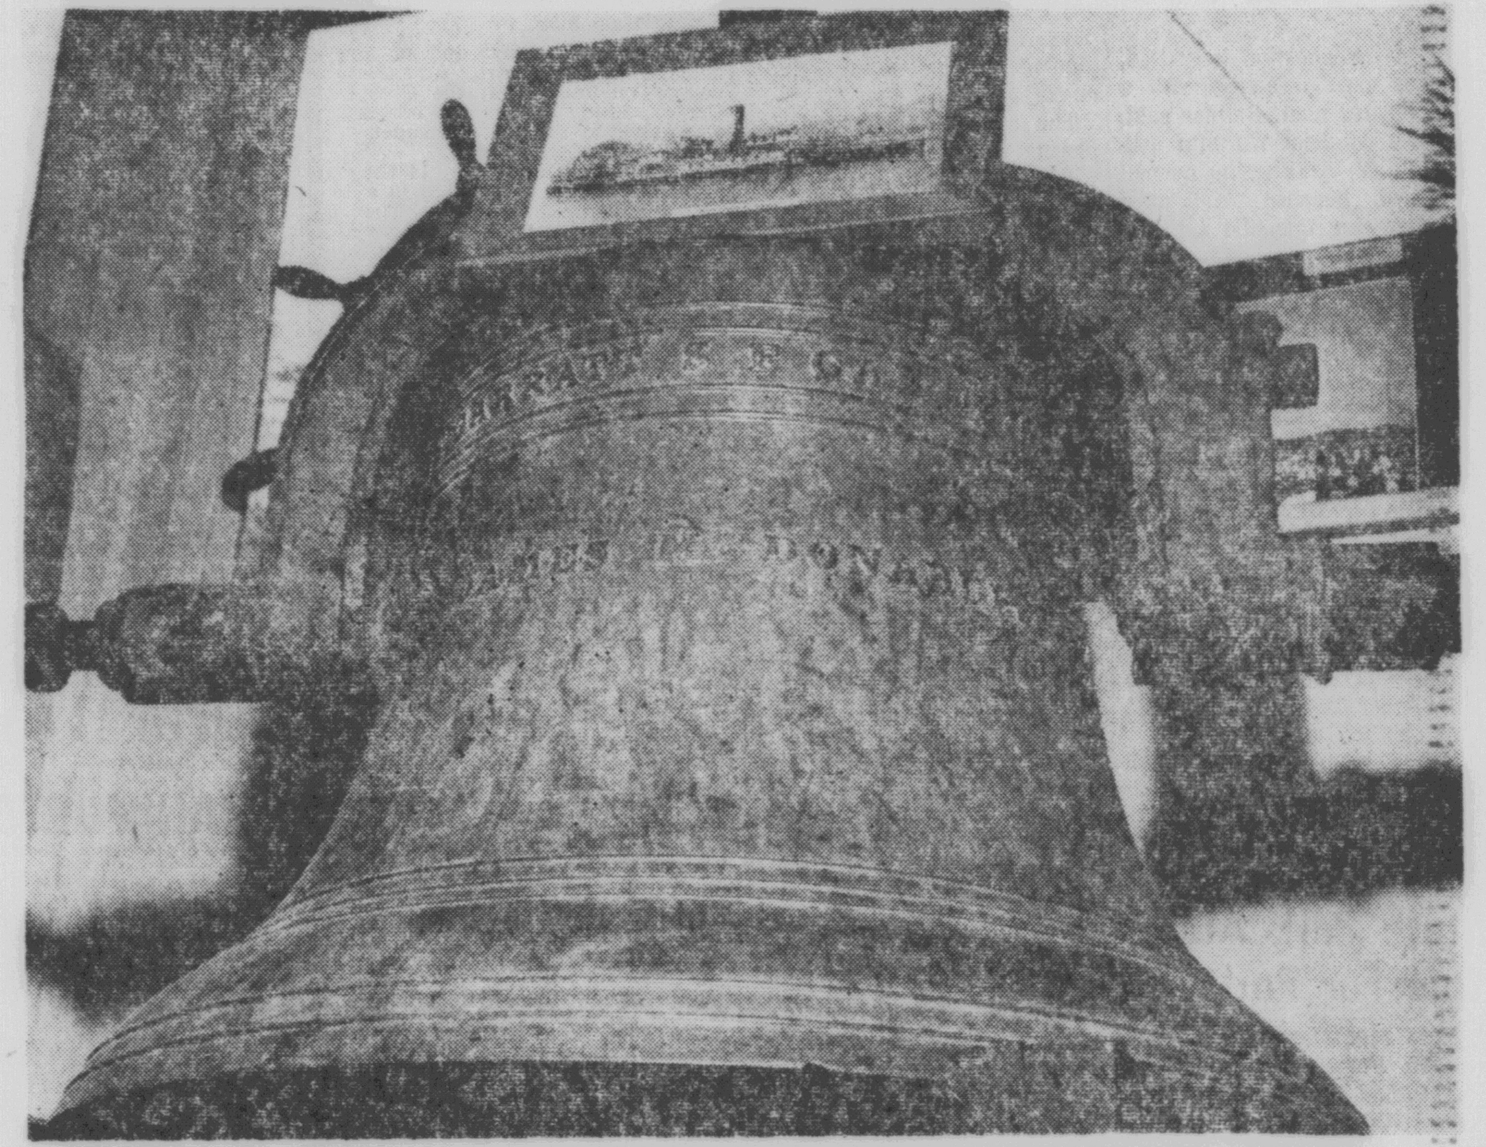
WORLD WAR I MEMENTO—Some doughboy of the A.E.F. brought back this ornate punch bowl from Germany after the first World War. Tamalpais Post 72, Veterans of Foreign Wars, donated it to the Marin Historical Society Museum. The inscription says "Deutsche Wafen Und Munitions, Frabriken, Berlin, 1917."



WHEEL RULER—Among the unusual items in the museum is this circular ruler with pointer. Curator Wood says it was used by blacksmiths to measure wagon wheels.



THIRTEEN STARS—This version of the 13-star flag which flew in the original United States does not date back that far. It was authorized by President William Howard Taft in 1912.



FERRY BOAT BELL — Dear to the hearts of Marinites are the ferries that provided transportation across the Bay and the Golden Gate before the days of bridges. This bell in the museum is from the James M. Donahue, a single-end side-wheel ferry boat that ran between Tiburon and San Francisco. She burned on the mud flats near San Quentin.

BREWERY WHISTLE—Once upon a time, San Rafael had a brewery — Boyen's Brewery at Fourth and F streets. It is memorialized in this whistle, one of the unusual items in the Marin Historical Society Museum.

Negro Youth Slain, White Man Held

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — A Negro college student and civil rights leader was found shot to death today and a white man was taken into custody by police.

The youth was identified as Samuel Younge Jr., 22, a Tuskegee Institute student and field secretary for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Fellow students said Younge took part last week in erection of tents in Lowndes County for Negroes who said they were evicted by white landowners for voter registration work.

A white man from nearby Shorter, Ala., was held by police for questioning. His name was withheld and no charges had been placed against him while an investigation was under way.

The Tuskegee students marched from the nearby campus to the downtown area. They went to the spot where Younge's body was found and then to the town square facing the courthouse for songs and prayer.

Younge's mother is a school teacher in Tuskegee. Friends of the family said his father was a former Veterans Administration employe here and now works for the job corps in North Carolina.

Fellow students said that Younge belonged to the Tuskegee Institute Advancement League, a civil rights group, and had been a leader in unsuccessful attempts to integrate white churches here and the city-owned swimming pool last summer.

The death brought a call from John Lewis, the SNCC national chairman in Atlanta, for President Lyndon B. Johnson to send federal marshals into Macon County (Tuskegee) and 10 other Alabama counties to protect Negroes and civil rights workers.

Tiburon Girl Jailed On Narcotics Charge

In addition, four new counts—three of them involving marijuana and narcotics allegations—were filed against a male companion already in county jail for two felony counts of use of stolen credit cards.

The girl, Karen Lee Ames of Apt. C-19 of the housing project, was booked on a felony complaint charging possession of a device for smoking a narcotic, possession of three liquid narcotics, and possession of marijuana.

Her companion, Marc Torvend Ford, 18, of Sausalito, faces those charges on the joint complaint, plus a fourth count charging concealing four stolen credit cards.

Both remained in jail at noon today in lieu of $5.500 bail each. Ford also was held in lieu of $5.500 on two earlier counts of using stolen credit cards.

Sheriff's Inspector Arthur V. Menjou said he and San Rafael and Sausalito police questioned Miss Ames at her apartment last Wednesday.

He said a search of Ford's belongings there revealed a brown saddle bag containing what appeared to be 4.6 grams of marijuana, a few vials with apparent traces of morphine, and other narcotics, and two dozen syringes and hypodermic needles.

All were taken to a state narcotics bureau laboratory in San Francisco for analysis.

Menjou said three allegedly stolen credit cards were also found in the bag.

The apartment is a known gathering place for young adult parties, according to the report.

Yule Ornament Starts Blaze In San Anselmo

Fire, which started with a Christmas ornament, swept quickly through the Richard G. Lucchesi home at 61 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, last evening, gutting a hallway and three rooms and doing damage estimated by Fire Chief Frank Sousa at $17,000.

Mrs. Anna Lucchesi saw the fire break out in the living room at 5:46 p.m. When firemen arrived minutes later, the flames had swept across draperies and a highly flammable wall coating through that room, a hallway, the dining room and a bedroom.

"It was really a fast fire," said fireman William Rawlings.

Chief Sousa attributed the speed of the blaze to the substance with which the walls were painted. "I would like to find out what that was," he said.

The fire started at a light with a rotating, multi-colored plastic covering, which was used to shine on the Christmas tree.

Chief Sousa said the plastic evidently caught fire, and set the nearby draperies ablaze. "Mrs. Lucchesi said that from there, the flames just exploded across the ceiling," he said.

The chief estimated damage to the interior of the building at $10,000, and to the contents at $7,000.

Evening Class Signups Heavy

First session of San Rafael High School District's adult evening school for the spring semester saw 113 persons enrolling in six courses last night.

Of these, 70 enrolled in three classes at Terra Linda High School, while 43 signed up for those at San Rafael High School, according to Jerald L. Gill, director of the program. Most popular single course was painting, which attracted 40 persons at Terra Linda High School.

Three more classes will start tonight at Terra Linda, while one more will start at each school tomorrow and Thursday.

Stabbing, Beating Trial Set To Start

A jury has been selected and testimony was expected to begin this afternoon in the Marin Superior Court trial of three San Quentin inmates charged with stabbing and beating of a fourth prisoner last Jan. 21.

James and John Schreckengost, brothers, and Russell Dillard are accused of injuring Myford G. Duncan, 24. Conviction of the trio, all lifers, could result in death penalties.

Planning Talks Set On Schools In Mill Valley

Following the closed session, the board agreed to next meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Edna Maguire School. Trustees will devote 30 minutes to business, then will hear a presentation on school planning by Dr. James D. MacConnell, director of the school planning laboratory at Stanford University.

Mrs. Miriam Swett, consultant to the Laguna Salada Elementary School District in Pacifica, will also discuss school planning at a board meeting at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 17, at Edna Maguire School.

Trustees will hold an all-day session Jan. 22 at Park School to study the building program, and a regular business meeting Jan. 24.

Greeks Aid Watts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pledges from about 17 University of Southern California fraternities yesterday left about 500 fraternity members hungry by stealing their evening meals and distributing them to needy persons in the Watts riot area.

More Bidders Rap Hall Of Justice Bids

Three more protests by contractors over the short list of subcontractors on the low bid for the Marin County Civic Center addition reached county officials yesterday.

John R. Kunst, San Rafael painting contractor, wrote that award of the Hall of Justice contract to Haas and Haynie of San Francisco, the low bidder, would "establish a precedent that would justify future abuses of the fair practices act and thereby render it useless."

Donald M. Drake Co., one of five general contractors that bid on the job, said in a letter that Haas and Haynie's bid was "irregular and not responsive" to the call for bids.

W. J. Kubon, san Rafael general contractor, also wrote protesting award to Haas and Haynie because of the "short list" of subcontractors.

Haas and Haynie listed only 11 subcontractors, compared to 21 on the bid of Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick in joint venture with Williams and Burrows, the second lowest bid.

Girl Survives Fall Into Glass Door

An 8-year-old girl was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with cuts over her body after she was accidentally pushed through a glass door while playing with a friend at the friend's house.

Helena Isabel Tamayo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Tamayo, 108 Surry Lane, San Rafael, was treated at Terra Linda Valley Hospital about 5:15 p.m. yesterday and transferred to Marin General, according to San Rafael police.

She had been playing at the home of Dr. R. E. Moeller, at 120 Lane, with the Moellers' daughter when the mishap occurred.

Novato Employs New Recreation Supervisor

Thomas Manasco has been hired as recreation supervisor for the City of Novato, Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, announced last night.

Manasco, 22, a graduate in recreation from Sacramento State College, will start Jan. 22 at $530 per month. He will assist Adams in the city's recreation program.

New Unified Plan Favored

The proposal, presented to the boad by Trustee Bruce E. Woelfel, was approved unanimously by a full board.

Trustees held a lengthy discussion on the possibility of Sausalito and Mill Valley school districts working together on a proposed building study, and agreed to ask Mill Valley for more information.

The Sausalito School District trustees also:

1. Heard that two new buses had been received and put in use yesterday, replacing two old buses.
2. Heard a report from Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato on his methods of obtaining the proper 70-30 income balance in the preschool program.
3. Hired Mrs. Mitzi Erickson of Tiburon as counselor for two days a week at $2,084 for the remainder of the fiscal year.
4. Accepted settlement of $1,500 from Lang Construction Co. for destruction of several eucalyptus trees on Bayside School property.
5. Adopted a policy to permit distribution of advertisements "which have significant educational value," such as flyers to be sent home with pupils.
6. Set for Feb. 21 a closed meeting to review the hiring of employees.

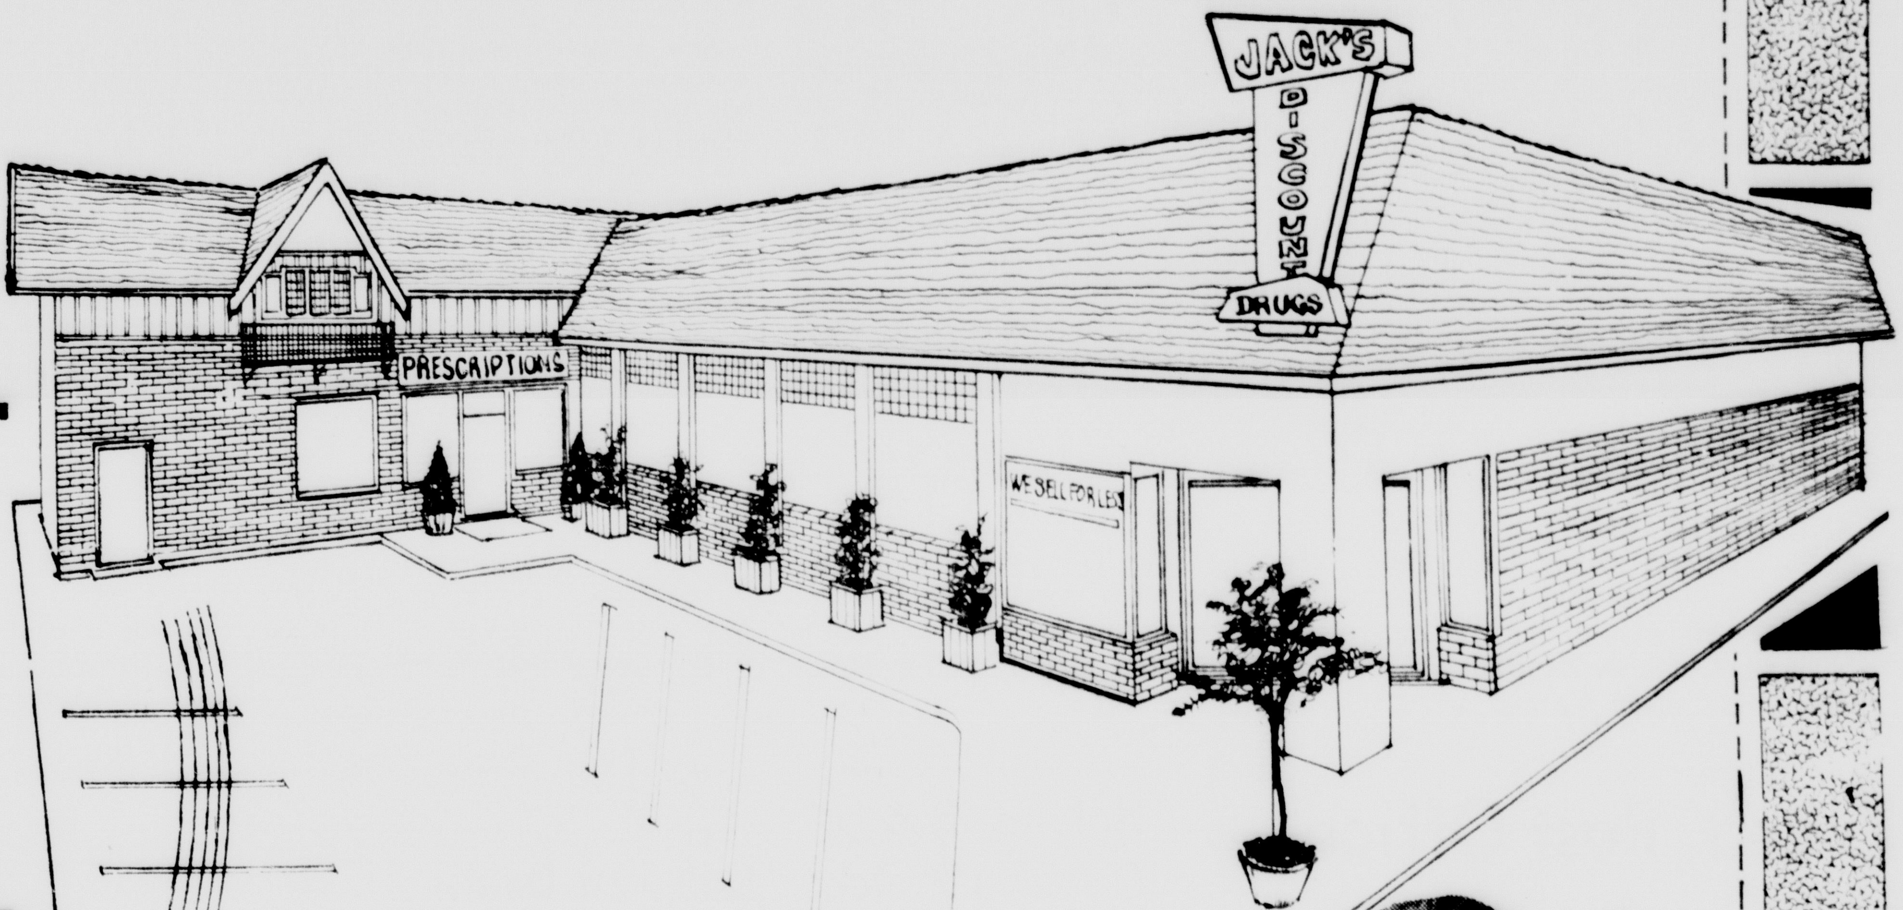
We Resolve--

TO BRING TO THE PEOPLE OF MARIN LOWER PRESCRIPTION PRICES



The high drug costs of today are a serious money problem to many families, especially to those with fixed income and those with chronic illnesses. As a solution to this problem we apply modern methods to the prescription department by selling at low prices, thus producing volume sales. This decreases costs and overhead. The result will be discount prices for you, and we believe a discount prescription service is just what the public wants.

We MEET or BEAT any prescription price We will NOT be Undersold

We can refill any refillable prescription regardless of where it was originally filled.

●

HERE'S WHY WE CAN DO IT:

1. We have reduced our overhead by closing at 6:00 P.M. every day—a saving which we pass on to you.
2. We own our building and parking lot—there is no rent to pay—a saving which we pass on to you.
3. Ours is a self-service store—serve yourself and save—a saving which we pass on to you.
4. We do a big business—we buy in big volume, thus we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.
5. We buy from a discount-store wholesaler in San Francisco (the only drug store in Marin having this privilege). Again we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.
6. Our employees have all been with us many years—they are happy here and they try harder—thus a saving by efficient operation—a saving which we pass on to you.
7. In many drug stores the profit from the prescription department carries the "front end" of the store—not so at JACK'S. We do a big volume of business in the "front end" of our store—stop in to see our low prices and great variety of merchandise and you will understand why—another saving which we pass on to you.
8. Last but not least, we just plain take a smaller mark-up on merchandise and on prescriptions—a saving which we pass on to you.

If you have had any problems with prescription service or prices elsewhere please be assured that I will consider it a privilege to discuss them with you personally.

Sincerely,

William J Menne

Negro Youth Slain, White Man Held

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — A Negro college student and civil rights leader was found shot to death today and a white man was taken into custody by police.

The youth was identifie as Samuel Younge Jr., 22, a Tuskegee Institute student and field secretary for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Fellow students said Younge took part last week in erection of tents in Lowndes County for Negroes who said they were evicted by white landowners for voter registration work.

A white man from nearby Shorter, Ala., was held by police for questioning. His name was withheld and no charges had been placed against him while an investigation was under way.

The Tuskegee students marched from the nearby campus to the downtown area. They went to the spot where Younge's body was found and then to the town square facing the courthouse for songs and prayer.

Younge's mother is a school teacher in Tuskegee. Friends of the family said his father was a former Veterans Administration employe here and now works for the job corps in North Carolina.

Fellow students said that Younge belonged to the Tuskegee Institute Advancement League, a civil rights group, and had been a leader in unsuccessful attempts to integrate white churches here and the city-owned swimming pool last summer.

The death brought a call from John Lewis, the SNCC national chairman in Atlanta, for President Lyndon B. Johnson to send federal marshals into Macon County (Tuskegee) and 10 other Alabama counties to protect Negroes and civil rights workers.

Tiburon Girl Jailed On Narcotics Charge

In addition, four new counts—three of them involving marijuana and narcotics allegations—were filed against a male companion already in county jail for two felony counts of use of stolen credit cards.

The girl, Karen Lee Ames of Apt. C-19 of the housing project, was booked on a felony complaint charging possession of a device for smoking a narcotic, possession of three liquid narcotics, and possession of marijuana.

Her companion, Marc Torvend Ford, 18, of Sausalito, faces those charges on the joint complaint, plus a fourth count charging concealing four stolen credit cards.

Both remained in jail at noon today in lieu of $5,500 bail each. Ford also was held in lieu of $5,500 on two earlier counts of using stolen credit cards.

Sheriff's Inspector Arthur V. Menjou said he and San Rafael and Sausalito police questioned Miss Ames at her apartment last Wednesday.

He said a search of Ford's belongings there revealed a brown saddle bag containing what appeared to be 4.6 grams of marijuana, a few vials with apparent traces of morphine, and other narcotics, and two dozen syringes and hypodermic needles.

Menjou said three allegedly stolen credit cards were also found in the bag.

The apartment is a known gathering place for young adult parties, according to the report.

Yule Ornament Starts Blaze In San Anselmo

Fire, which started with a Christmas ornament, swept quickly through the Richard G. Lucchesi home at 61 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, last evening, gutting a hallway and three rooms and doing damage estimated by Fire Chief Frank Sousa at $17,000.

Mrs. Anna Lucchesi saw the fire break out in the living room at 5:46 p.m. When firemen arrived minutes later, the flames had swept across draperies and a highly flammable wall coating through that room, a hallway, the dining room and a bedroom.

"It was really a fast fire," said fireman William Rawlings.

Chief Sousa attributed the speed of the blaze to the substance with which the walls were painted. "I would like to find out what that was," he said.

The fire started at a light with a rotating, multi-colored plastic covering, which was used to shine on the Christmas tree.

Chief Sousa said the plastic evidently caught fire, and set the nearby draperies ablaze. "Mrs. Lucchesi said that from there, the flames just exploded across the ceiling," he said.

The chief estimated damage to the interior of the building at $10,000, and to the contents at $7,000.

Evening Class Signups Heavy

First session of San Rafael High School District's adult evening school for the spring semester saw 113 persons enrolling in six courses last night.

Of these, 70 enrolled in three classes at Terra Linda High School, while 43 signed up for those at San Rafael High School, according to Jerald L. Gill, director of the program. Most popular single course was painting, which attracted 40 persons at Terra Linda High School.

Three more classes will start tonight at Terra Linda, while one more will start at each school tomorrow and Thursday.

Planning Talks Set On Schools In Mill Valley

Following the closed session, the board agreed to next meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Edna Maguire School. Trustees will devote 30 minutes to business, then will hear a presentation on school planning by Dr. James D. MacConnell, director of the school planning laboratory at Stanford University.

Mrs. Miriam Swett, consultant to the Laguna Salada Elementary School District in Pacifica, will also discuss school planning at a board meeting at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 17, at Edna Maguire School.

Trustees will hold an all-day session Jan. 22 at Park School to study the building program, and a regular business meeting Jan. 24.

Greeks Aid Watts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pledges from about 17 University of Southern California fraternities yesterday left about 500 fraternity members hungry by stealing their evening meals and distributing them to needy persons in the Watts riot area.

More Bidders Rap Hall Of Justice Bids

Three more protests by contractors over the short list of subcontractors on the low bid for the Marin County Civic Center addition reached county officials yesterday.

John R. Kunst, San Rafael painting contractor, wrote that award of the Hall of Justice contract to Haas and Haynie of San Francisco, the low bidder, would "establish a precedent that would justify future abuses of the fair practices act and thereby render it useless."

Donald M. Drake Co., one of five general contractors that bid on the job, said in a letter that Haas and Haynie's bid was "irregular and not responsive" to the call for bids.

W. J. Kubon, san Rafael general contractor, also wrote protesting award to Haas and Haynie because of the "short list" of subcontractors.

Haas and Haynie listed only 11 subcontractors, compared to 21 on the bid of Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick in joint venture with Williams and Burrows, the second lowest bid.

Girl Survives Fall Into Glass Door

An 8-year-old girl was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with cuts over her body after she was accidentally pushed through a glass door while playing with a friend at the friend's house.

Helena Isabel Tamayo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Tamayo, 108 Surry Lane, San Rafael, was treated at Terra Linda Valley Hospital about 5:15 p.m. yesterday and transferred to Marin General, according to San Rafael police.

She had been playing at the home of Dr. R. E. Moeller, at 120 Lane, with the Moellers' daughter when the mishap occurred.

Novato Employs New Recreation Supervisor

Thomas Manasco has been hired as recreation supervisor for the City of Novato, Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, announced last night.

Manasco, 22, a graduate in recreation from Sacramento State College, will start Jan. 22 at $530 per month. He will assist Adams in the city's recreation program.

New Unified Plan Favored

The proposal, presented to the boad by Trustee Bruce E. Woelfel, was approved unanimously by a full board.

Trustees held a lengthy discussion on the possibility of Sausalito and Mill Valley school districts working together on a proposed building study, and agreed to ask Mill Valley for more information.

The Sausalito School District trustees also:

1. Heard that two new buses had been received and put in use yesterday, replacing two old buses.
2. Heard a report from Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato on his methods of obtaining the proper 70-30 income balance in the pre-school program.
3. Hired Mrs. Mitzi Erickson of Tiburon as counselor for two days a week at $2,084 for the remainder of the fiscal year.
4. Accepted settlement of $1,500 from Lang Construction Co. for destruction of several eucalyptus trees on Bayside School property.
5. Adopted a policy to permit distribution of advertisements "which have significant educational value," such as flyers to be sent home with pupils.
6. Set for Feb. 21 a closed meeting to review the hiring of employees.

'Exiled' Post Office Returns To Kentfield

After two years in "exile" in Larkspur, post office facilities returned to Kentfield yesterday with opening of a modern, new post office at 822 College Avenue.

"It's a beautiful building," said Warren H. Williams, San Rafael postmaster, "but the important thing is that the post office is back in Kentfield. That should please a lot of people."

Complaints have been the order of the day since Jan. 20, 1963, when the post office was moved from the Kent Woodlands Shopping Center to 1100 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Many residents, particularly retired people, have had to trudge an extra mile to collect their mail.

"All that is over now," said Williams. "The new office even has the boxes in a lobby separated from the counters."

The building is single-story and has 2,400 square feet of floor space, with public parking for about eight cars in front and parking for government and employees in the rear.

The post office will be leased by the government at $6,600 a year from the owner of the property, Dr. Ethel Righetti of San Francisco. Postal real estate officers have estimated the cost of the building to Dr. Righetti at $35,000.

A 10-year lease on the property has been signed by the Post Office Department, with two five-year renewal options. The contractor was Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross.

Service counters are bank-style. The building will house all facilities, including those for the carriers, Williams said.

A dedication ceremony and open house will be held at the new office at 3 p.m. Saturday, sponsored by Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. Principal speaker will be Roger Kent, who is a member of the postmaster general's stamp advisory committee.

Halprin Firm On Ohio Project

Lawrence Halprin of Kentfield, head of Lawrence Halprin and Associates of San Francisco, will be in charge of planning two major assignments in the redevelopment of Akron, Ohio. Total redevelopment costs exceed $300 million.

Halprin will plan the 404-acre Opportunity Park project and the firm will also be urban designers for the $24 million, 45-acre cascade project in the city's central district.

Winner of the 1964 American Institute of Architects' Gold Medal for distinguished achievement, Halprin is author of the book, "Cities," and a freeway consultant to the U. S. Bureau of Roads.

Drunken Reining?

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Roland Fleming, 24, was fined $110 in traffic court on drunken driving charges after testimony that Fleming, driving a horse and wagon in downtown Baltimore, lost control of the animal and it jumped on the trunk of an automobile.

Candidate Secrecy Policy Is Adopted

The Marin County Board of Education voted unanimously last night to hold in secret the names of candidates to fill vacancies which occur on the board.

When a vacancy occurs between elections, board members, who are elected at large within the county, choose a person to fill out the term until the next election.

The decision never to reveal the names of persons who ask to become candidates was made to prevent any "hard feelings," board chairman James A. Carroll said at the Civic Center board meeting. Without comment from any other of the seven-member board, it was voted to announce only the name of the successful candidate.

Candidates, under this board policy, must submit a letter asking to be considered and setting forth their qualifications. Three board members will interview candidates and the entire board will then decide on a choice in a closed session.

The Marin County Board Of Education Also:

1. Granted life diplomas for teaching to Richard S. Mackey of the San Anselmo School District; Vera Shevchuk, San Rafael Schools; Alfred W. Sparks, San Rafael; Carroll D. Leach, San Rafael; Helen J. Schweiter, San Anselmo; Harold E. Carter, San Rafael.
2. Approved granting high school diplomas to 30 men, and elementary school diplomas to 73 men at aByview Schools, San Quentin Prison.
3. Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Jan. 17 at the Civic Center for study of the budget.
4. Heard from the California Teachers Assn. chapter of the superintendent of schools staff a recommendation of criteria for salary review, to include a cost of living index and length of work year required by the administrative staff, and other points.
5. Agreed to ask County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney if teachers hired directly under the county superintendent of schools could qualify for tenure, which they do not now have. The administrative staff of the office also lacks tenure, having contracts of varying lengths dated to expire six months after close of the current term of Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent.
6. Agreed to a program whereby districts in the county may ask the county schools office to do preliminary screening of teachers seeking jobs.
7. Agreed to aid the Fairfax School District in attempting to get funds through the federal aid to education act, with the county schools office to take 5 per cent of any funds received.
8. Agreed to hiring educational psychologist Dr. Earl Kelley of Eastern Michigan University to speak at a conference in the Mill Valley School District at the end of the month, at a cost of $117 for a half day, the fee to be reimbursed by the Mill Valley district.
9. Agreed to hiring Dr. J. Wesley Crum, member of the Air Force's aerospace education group, for a seminar on aerospace education for teachers Jan. 28 at a cost of $100.
10. Agreed to hiring Mrs. Barbara Linse to conduct an art media workshop for Marin teachers Feb. 5 at a fee of $50.

Sentence Delayed In Girl's Slaying

Sentencing of San Francisco dishwasher Virgilia Restauro, who pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter of a 16-year-old girl whose body was found near Muir Woods, was postponed today to Jan. 17 or 18.

Restauro, 25, faces up to 15 years in prison for the death of Nonita Vicera of Daly City. The death is believed to have occurred in Restauro's car April 18 in San Francisco, after which the body was dumped in Marin.

The sentencing delay was ordered because Judge Norman Elkington of San Francisco Superior Court has been called away from the city for two weeks.

Fire Truck Cost Reported Higher

Larkspur city councilmen, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall, will be told by City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper that the pumper fire truck for which they expected to pay $25,000 now costs $32,000.

Piper said the council was planning to buy the truck over a period of two years and has some money allocated in this year's budget for the purchase.

Councilmen are also scheduled to officially adopt the Larkspur general plan and accept the Larkspur center plan. They are expected to appoint Mrs. Judy Beal of 60 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, to replace Mrs. Isabelle Moore as city clerk.

Frigate Returns

Navy Fire Control Technician Seaman James L. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Carr of 37 Prince Royal Passage, Corte Madera, has returned to San Diego aboard the guided missile frigate Richmond K. Turner, after more than six months with the Seventh Fleet off the coast of Viet Nam.

Hospital Plan May Force Decision From Supervisors

Marlin Properties, Inc., may build a 49-bed convalescent hospital on vacant land next to the Kentfield Firehouse, even though the land is expected to be taken by a pair of street projects, the Marin County Planning Commission decided yesterday, 4-0.

The county public works department has announced plans to take 40 feet from the front of the property for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and to put a street across the rear of the land between Stetson and Maple avenues.

Wesley L. Wilkes of the county planning staff said the building could be redesigned to fit on the land after the boulevard widening, but that the street at the rear would kill the project.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo moved to approve architectural design of the building after she and other commissioners agreed the planners should not hold up the project because the county might, some day, buy the land.

Joining her in the vote were Chairman Felix M. Warburg and Commissioners Eugene R. Trombley and Niels Schultz Jr. Commissioner William F. Upton abstained. Commissioners Harry Heifetz and Hugh Dougherty were absent.

Owner Robert Piatt told the commission he wanted action to force the board of supervisors to decide soon whether the county would, in fact, buy the land.

Collections Set For Mississippi

Marin members of Parents Mississippi Assn. are assisting to collect 10,000 pounds of warm clothing for Mississippi by Jan. 15.

Being accepted also are layettes and bedding, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Williams of Mill Valley, whose daughter, Margaret, is working in Mississippi. Persons interested in contributing clothing, layettes or bedding may telephone either Mrs. Williams of 312 Montford Avenue or Mrs. Richard Durbin, 15 Bridge Road, Larkspur.

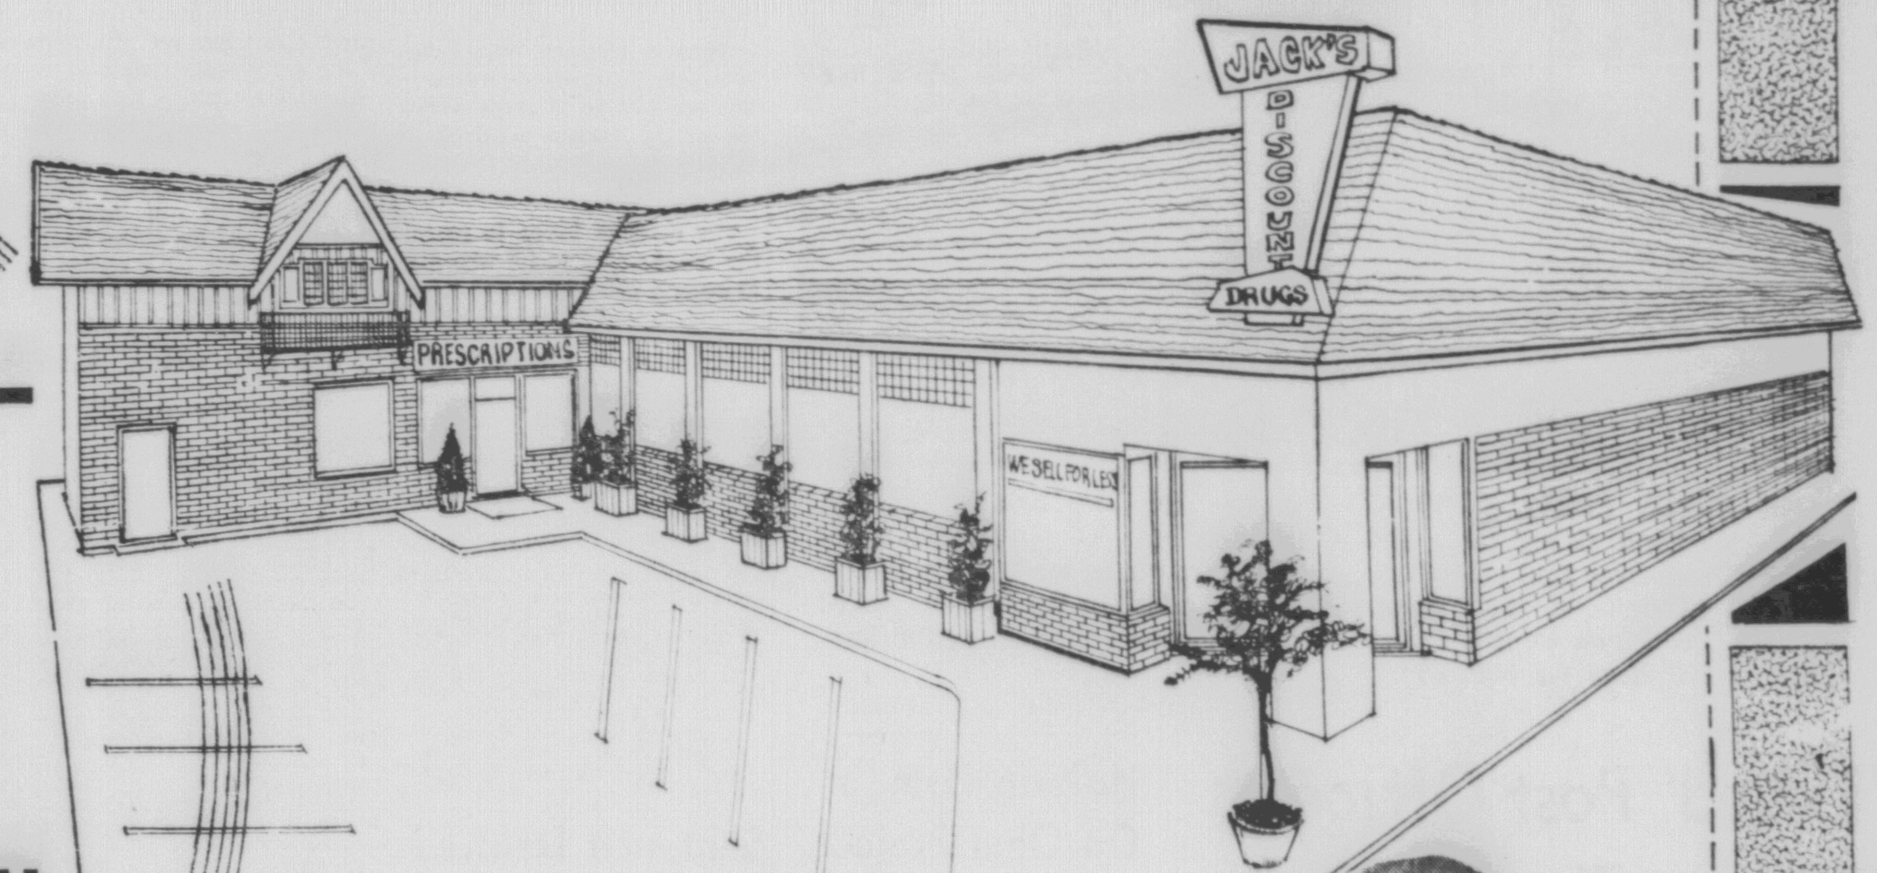
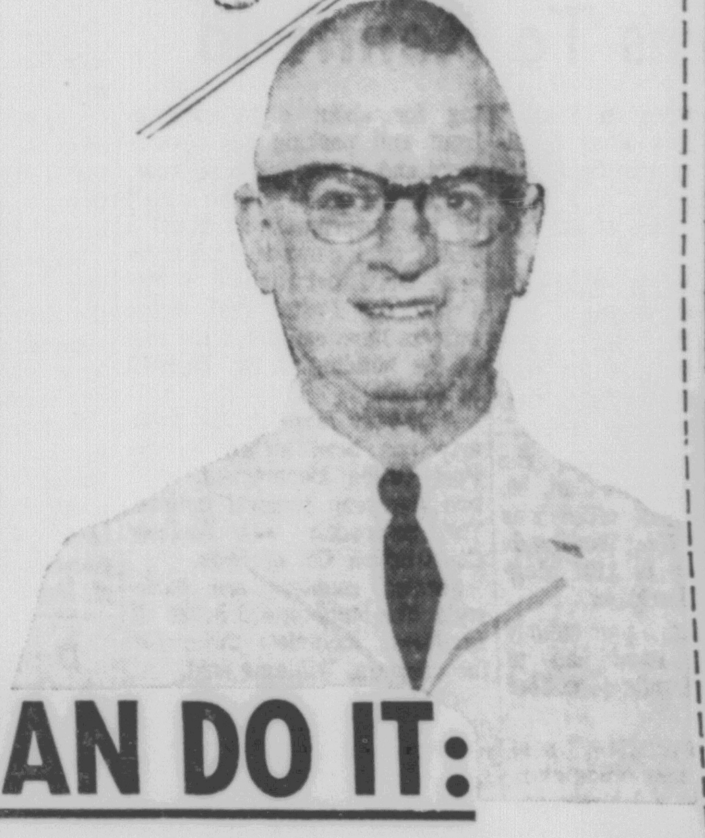
TO BRING TO THE PEOPLE OF MARIN LOWER PRESCRIPTION PRICES



The high drug costs of today are a serious money problem to many families, especially to those with fixed income and those with chronic illnesses. As a solution to this problem we apply modern methods to the prescription department by selling at low prices, thus producing volume sales. This decreases costs and overhead. The result will be discount prices for you, and we believe a discount prescription service is just what the public wants.



We MEET or BEAT any prescription price We will NOT be Undersold

We can refill any refillable prescription regardless of where it was originally filled.

HERE'S WHY WE CAN DO IT:

1. We have reduced our overhead by closing at 6:00 P.M. every day—a saving which we pass on to you.

2. We own our building and parking lot—there is no rent to pay—a saving which we pass on to you.

3. Ours is a self-service store—serve yourself and save—a saving which we pass on to you.

4. We do a big business—we buy in big volume, thus we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.

5. We buy from a discount-store wholesaler in San Francisco (the only drug store in Marin having this privilege). Again we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.

6. Our employees have all been with us many years—they are happy here and they try harder—thus a saving by efficient operation—a saving which we pass on to you.

7. In many drug stores the profit from the prescription department carries the "front end" of the store—not so at JACK'S. We do a big volume of business in the "front end" of our store—stop in to see our low prices and great variety of merchandise and you will understand why—another saving which we pass on to you.

8. Last but not least, we just plain take a smaller mark-up on merchandise and on prescriptions—a saving which we pass on to you.

If you have had any problems with prescription service or prices elsewhere please be assured that I will consider it a privilege to discuss them with you personally.

Sincerely,

William J Mennes

Saban's Switcheroo: 'Old College Spirit'

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Lou Saban was back coaching college football at Maryland today even though it pays less than professional because "above all, it has the right spirit of the sport in mind."

"I left the pro ranks with one idea," said the surprising coach under whom the Buffalo Bills won two straight championships in the American Football League.

"I wanted to return to college coaching because I felt there I could contribute much, not from the point of coaching alone, but from the point of living.

"I am a firm believer in a few rules in life. I feel sports develop character and also develops the man.

"The emphasis on winning in the pro ranks is everything. I am sure it is not true on the college level."

Saban's contract for four years provides a starting salary of $22,500 a year and gradually rising to $25,000. He admitted it was less than he was paid at Buffalo, but said "I would rather not mention the amount involved." It was believed to be $30,000.

He mentioned his family life. The 44-year-old Saban and his wife have three daughters and one son.

Taking cognizance of several score of curious students who crowded into the news conference, Saban said he was informed there was a good nucleus of players on campus "and Maryland should be near the top in a short period of time."

GREETINGS—Lou Saban is surrounded by well-wishers after he was named head football coach at Maryland yesterday.

Ex-Cal Bear Star Named Utah Coach

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Mike Giddings, assistant football coach at the University of Southern California, has accepted the head coaching job at the University of Utah. But he won't be arriving right away.

"I'll be there as soon as possible," the 32-year-old Giddings said by telephone from Los Angeles after his appointment yesterday. "But not right away. I'm already doing some recruiting in California for Utah."

Giddings was chosen yesterday after a list of 114 prospects had been narrowed to five finalists. He succeeds Ray Nagel, who resigned last month to take over as head football coach at the University of Iowa.

Giddings received a three-year contract at $16,000 a year — the same as Nagel had been getting.

A native of Los Angeles, Giddings graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1955. He won letters in 1953 and 1954 as guard and tackle under Pappy Waldorf. He enlisted in the Marines and was discharged as a first lieutenant in 1957.

Giddings became lightweight team coach at Monrovia High School in California, moved to the varsity in 1959, had an 11-1 record and captured a league title. Before moving to Southern California, he was head coach at Glendale City College where he posted the school's best ever record of 7-2.

Lawrence Welk At Quarterback; Novatan Helped UCLA Victory

I WATCHED so much TV football over the weekend that Saturday night I thought I heard Lawrence Welk say, "Uh-one, uh-two, uh-three, hike."

Which brings me around to a few observations gleamed from the boob tube my little old me, Mr. Glean, to wit, or to half-wit:

Cinderella team of the century—UCLA.

No. 1 team in the nation—Alabama (this was written before final polls).

Best color TV show—The Orange Bowl.

Most Popular Name of Players—Brown (I counted half a dozen of them, including two Charleys, in the seven TV'd games over the weekend).

And I wonder how many TV repairmen got called for service during the Packer-Brown game Sunday? My screen was full of snow. How about yours?

MARIN CAN claim a small but important contribution to UCLA's mighty Rose Bowl victory in the person of Wayne Russell, former Novato High star attending Bruinsville on a full athletic scholarship.

Russell was redshirted by the Bruins this year, which means although he saw no game action, he practiced daily with the varsity for four long months, spending even his holidays representing the opposition in UCLA practice sessions.

These players never get mentioned in the press, but you can imagine the vital roll they play in preparing a team for the big games and big victories like UCLA scored all last year—and this.

NICEST GESTURE of the holiday season in local sportsdom was turned in by Drake High Class B basketball coach Rich DeConti who spent most of Christmas day traveling by bus from his home in San Francisco to San Anselmo to visit two of his players who are injured and out of action for the season: Stu Clemons, a returning starter who suffered a broken leg in a motorcycle accident, and Curry Miller, who suffered a broken arm in a game.

THE BOSS keeps bugging me to dig, dig, dig for local angles so—B-O-I-N-G!—I hit the jackpot today by reporting that Jack Marin is high scorer for Duke's top-ranked basketball team.

Boston To Honor Boom-Boom Boys

BOSTON (AP) — The greatest home run one-two punch in baseball history will be honored by the Boston chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America at their annual dinner Jan. 27.

Eddie Mathews, who started his lengthy career in Boston, and his Atlanta Braves teammate, Henry Aaron, will be honored for their contributions to baseball as a team.

Mathews and Aaron, playing together since 1954, have hit a total of 803 home runs in a 12-year span.

The better known one-two punch, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, combined for 771 home runs in the 10 years they played together with the New York Yankees.

Rookies Fit Packer Mold

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, the All-America backs signed by Green Bay for rich bonuses, will be expected to fit in next season with a bruising ground game unchanged from the style of play that brought the Packers the National Football League crown.

Anderson, the reported $600,000 prize from Texas Tech, and Grabowski, a $250,000 catch from Illinois, "fit the Packer mold," said Coach Vince Lombardi yesterday.

That mold, he added, is not to be tampered with.

"I have to coach and do things according to my personality. I'm not easy to work with. I'm a stubborn kind of man," Lombardi said.

Lombardi prefers ball control and an irresistable rushing attack. He prefers total effort from his players. He prefers — no, demands — victory.

Lombardi got all these Sunday as Green Bay belted Cleveland 23-12 for the NFL title.

"There's a great deal of satisfaction to walk out there and find everything is the way you planned it," Lombardi reflected.

The game plan called for Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, the two men for whom some observers were already pegging Anderson and Grabowski as heirs apparent, to rip through Cleveland's line. They did exactly that for a combined total of 201 yards.

Lombardi was in an affable mood yesterday as he reviewed the game that brought the Packers their third NFL championship in the last five years.

"I never put great credence in turning points," he said, "but I do think there are the big plays. There may have been more big plays in that game than you usually get, and fortunately they were all by us."

He ticked off Paul Hornung's 34-yard run to set up a field goal, Willie Wood's interception that preceded another field goal, the Cleveland field goal attempt that was blocked by Henry Jordan, and Hornung's 20-yard run that set up a Hornung touchdown.

Hornung, Taylor and quarterback Bart Starr all played despite injuries. Lombardi revealed Starr had to wear a special pad to protect his badly bruised ribs.

Anderson has said the attitude of the Packer players was the prime factor in his decision to sign with Green Bay.

Redwood Tourney On Video

Final game of the 1965 Redwood Invitational Baseball Tournament of Champions on May 28 will be televised regionally by KRON-TV, it was announced today by Al Endriss, coach of Redwood and director of the tourney.

Endriss said the San Francisco television station has requested and received exclusive TV rights to the championship game, climaxing a three-day tournament in San Rafael among champions of 10 Northern California high school leagues.

"We haven't worked out details of the TV coverage yet," said Endriss, "but I imagine it will be video-taped for showing at a later date, since Saturday night at 8 o'clock is prime network time."

The Redwood tournament is patterned after the annual Basketball Tournament of Champions in Berkeley and will determine the mythical baseball title for Northern California.

Youth Wins Trophy

Ryan, 16, rolled a total of 1,979 in 10 games, and with his 270-pin handicap, totaled 2,249.

Apprehension In North Cal Collegiate Basketball Ranks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Conference basketball battling starts this week with apprehension visible on several Northern California fronts.

Stanford and California travel into the Northwest for sets with Washington and Washington State amid reports of heavy snowfall in the area.

The University of San Francisco, winner of the West Coast Athletic Conference tournament title, travels to meet Santa Clara on Saturday night in San Jose Civic Auditorium.

USF beat Santa Clara 76-75 in the opening round of the WCAC tournament but in that one the losers had to operate without star guard Eric Paulson who was ill. Four nights earlier against California, Paulson had scored 22 points in Santa Clara's 75-73 victory.

Paulson and the rest of the Broncos aim for revenge on the Dons this time.

The writers honored both Paulson, for his play in the California game, and Joe Ellis of USF, who was voted the top player in the tournament.

Other WCAC openers match St. Mary's against the University of the Pacific at Stockton and UC Santa Barbara against San Jose State at the Spartans' gym, both on Saturday night.

California plays a regionally televised game at Washington State on Saturday afternoon and then meets Washington at Seattle on Monday night. Stanford plays at Washington on Saturday night and then moves on to play Washington State.

Coaches Rene Herrerias of California and Howie Dallmar of Stanford each said the scheduling of the Northern trips this year were an advantage to Southern California and UCLA.

Herrerias pointed out, "We have to prepare for Washington State and Washington, and then have only two days to get ready for USC and UCLA. When the Trojans and Bruins make the trip, they come home to play the same two teams the next week."

Southern California and UCLA invade the Bay Area on Jan. 14-15.

Drake Whips Santa Rosans

Led by backcourt men Bill Ingram and Will Curley, the Drake High School basketballers whipped the Santa Rosa High School Panthers 74-60 yesterday on the Pirates' court.

Ingram had a hot night, making good on 10 of his 14 shots from the floor to take high scoring honors with 20 points. Curley, the most valuable player of the Drake Invitational last month, clicked on 7 baskets and 5 free throws for 19 points. Center Bob Tobin scored 15 points and forward Chet Carlisle added 14.

Duane Johnson topped Santa Rosa's scorers with 14 points.

The Pirates led at half by four points, 37-33, but fired through 24 points in the third quarter to stretch the lead to 61-43. Drake connected on 31 of its 64 shots from the floor for 48 per cent, compared to Santa Rosa's 18 of 53 (34 per cent).

From the free throw line, Drake made 12 of 18 for 67 per cent to the Panthers' 18 of 26, 69 per cent. Led by Tobin's 12 rebounds, the Pirates beat Santa Rosa on the boards 30 to 22.

Santa Rosa	16	17	10	17—60
Drake	21	16	24	13—74

Santa Rosa scorers: Duane Johnson, 5-4-14; Bill Kennish, 4-4-12; Rick Call, 5-1-11; Alan VanVelzen, 3-3-9; Dennis McGill, 3-2-8; Larry Steele, 0-4-4; Herschel Berry, 1-0-2. Totals: 21-18—60.

Drake scorers: Bill Ingram, 10-0-20; Will Curley, 7-5-19; Bob Tobin, 5-5-15; Chet Carlisle, 6-2-14; Jerry Sprout, 3-0-6; Totals: 31-12—74.

Michigan St. 2nd; Bruins Place 4th

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama's Crimson Tide, overwhelming victor over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, was named the national collegiate football champion for the second straight year today in The Associated Press final poll of the season.

The verdict of a nationwide panel of 57 sports writers and sportscasters made it three titles in five years for Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, and gives 'Bama permanent possession of the big, silver A.P. trophy.

Ironically, when the Tide won last year, the poll was taken at the close of the regular season and 'Bama went on to lose to Texas in the Orange Bowl.

This year the final poll of the season was conducted after the New Year's bowl games — the first time it had been held until after the bowls — because the six top teams were in action New Year's Day.

And it was the unprecedented defeat of three hitherto unbeaten teams in the bowl games that vaulted Alabama to the national title.

Alabama, with an 8-1-1 record, was ranked fourth behind unbeaten Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska going into the New Year's games.

Top-ranked Michigan State was upset by UCLA 14-12 in the Rose Bowl, No. 2 Arkansas' 22-game winning string was halted 14-7 by Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama crushed No. 3 Nebraska 39-28 in the Orange Bowl.

Michigan State slipped to second and Arkansas to third in the final rankings. UCLA moved up from fifth to fourth and Nebraska dropped to fifth.

Following in order were Missouri, 20-18 winner over Florida in the Sugar Bowl, Tennessee, 27-6 winner over Tulsa in the Bluebonnet Bowl, LSU, Notre Dame and Southern California.

Texas Tech Dropped From Top 10

Texas Tech, ranked 10th at the end of the regular season but upset 31-21 by Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl, dropped out of the Top Ten and was replaced by Louisiana State.

Alabama polled 37 of the 57 first-place votes and piled up 537 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc.

Michigan State collected 18 first-place votes and 479 points while Arkansas and UCLA both were named first on one ballot. Arkansas received 413 points, UCLA 391 and Nebraska 358.

Alabama's Orange Bowl victory capped a remarkable comeback for the Crimson Tide, beaten by Georgia 18-17 in the season opener and tied by Tennessee 7-7 in the fifth game.

"Our offense started clicking in the Tennessee game, " Bryant said. "When we beat Louisiana State, South Carolina and Auburn as we did, I felt we had a team that could score and beat anybody.

"I think the Nebraska game proved it."

Against Nebraska, 'Bama stormed out to a 24-7 halftime lead and took it from there. The passing combination of Steve Sloan and Ray Perkins was the key, hitting on two long touchdown strikes, setting up two other touchdowns and producing a two-point conversion.

In addition to LSU, South Carolina and Auburn — the last three games on 'Bama's schedule — the Tide also scored regular season victories over Mississippi, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State, Florida State and Tulane, the last two by shutouts.

'Bama Speedy And Well-Balanced

Although not large by present major college standards, Alabama has great team speed and generated an excellent, well-balanced offense. The team averaged 167.4 yards rushing and 147.9 passing during the regular season for a total attack of 325.3 yards a game.

"It's the best offensive team I've ever coached," Bryant said.

Alabama is the first team to win consecutive national titles since Oklahoma accomplished the feat in 1955 and 1956. 'Bama's two straight championships go with the 1961 title to make it three in five years for Bryant, who formerly coached at Texas A&M and Kentucky.

The Rose Bowl defeat by UCLA was a bitter upset for Michigan State, which led in the weekly balloting most of the season. And, strangely, the Spartans were deprived of the national championship by a team they had beaten earlier, 13-3 in the opening game of the season.

Anchored by a massive defensive line that held three teams to negative rushing yardage, Michigan State rolled undefeated through a tough, 10-game schedule and claimed the Big Ten title.

The Spartans' victims were Penn State, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio State, Purdue, Northwestern, Iowa, Indiana and Notre Dame.

The final Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records including bowl games, and total points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc:

1.	Alabama (37)	9-1-1	537
2.	Michigan State (18)	10-1	479
3.	Arkansas (1)	10-1	413
4.	UCLA (1)	8-2-1	391
5.	Nebraska	10-1	358
6.	Missouri	8-2-1	260
7.	Tennessee	8-1-2	214
8.	Louisiana State	8-3	149
9.	Notre Dame	7-2-1	123
10.	So. Calif.	7-2-1	80

The others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Dartmouth, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Ohio State, Purdue, Syracuse, Texas Tech.

Streaking Mariners Host West Valleyans Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team, working on a string of five in a row and winner of seven out of its last eight games, will host West Valley Junior College of Campbell tonight at 8 o'clock in the Kentfield gym.

It will be the Tars' final practice game prior to the start of Golden Valley Conference play next Saturday when the Mariners travel to Marysville to take on the Yuba College 49ers.

The Tars, after losing their first four games, have bounced back to a winning 7-5 win-loss record. They and the Santa Rosa Bear Cubs are favored teams in the GVC.

'Exiled' Post Office Returns To Kentfield

After two years in "exile" in Larkspur, post office facilities returned to Kentfield yesterday with opening of a modern, new post office at 822 College Avenue.

"It's a beautiful building," said Warren H. Williams, San Rafael postmaster, "but the important thing is that the post office is back in Kentfield. That should please a lot of people."

Complaints have been the order of the day since Jan. 20, 1963, when the post office was moved from the Kent Woodlands Shopping Center to 1100 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Many residents, particularly retired people, have had to trudge an extra mile to collect their mail.

"All that is over now," said Williams. "The new office even has the boxes in a lobby separated from the counters."

The building is single-story and has 2,400 square feet of floor space, with public parking for about eight cars in front and parking for government and employees in the rear.

The post office will be leased by the government at $6,600 a year from the owner of the property, Dr. Ethel Righetti of San Francisco. Postal real estate officers have estimated the cost of the building to Dr. Righetti at $35,000.

A 10-year lease on the property has been signed by the Post Office Department, with two five-year renewal options. The contractor was Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross.

Service counters are bank-style. The building will house all facilities, including those for the carriers, Williams said.

A dedication ceremony and open house will be held at the new office at 3 p.m. Saturday, sponsored by Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. Principal speaker will be Roger Kent, who is a member of the postmaster general's stamp advisory committee.

Halprin Firm On Ohio Project

Lawrence Halprin of Kentfield, head of Lawrence Halprin and Associates of San Francisco, will be in charge of planning two major assignments in the redevelopment of Akron, Ohio. Total redevelopment costs exceed $300 million.

Halprin will plan the 404-acre Opportunity Park project and the firm will also be urban designers for the $24 million, 45-acre cascade project in the city's central district.

Winner of the 1964 American Institute of Architects' Gold Medal for distinguished achievement, Halprin is author of the book, "Cities," and a freeway consultant to the U. S. Bureau of Roads.

Drunken Reining?

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Roland Fleming, 24, was fined $110 in traffic court on drunken driving charges after testimony that Fleming, driving a horse and wagon in downtown Baltimore, lost control of the animal and it jumped on the trunk of an automobile.

Candidate Secrecy Policy Is Adopted

The Marin County Board of Education voted unanimously last night to hold in secret the names of candidates to fill vacancies which occur on the board.

When a vacancy occurs between elections, board members, who are elected at large within the county, choose a person to fill out the term until the next election.

The decision never to reveal the names of persons who ask to become candidates was made to prevent any "hard feelings," board chairman James A. Carroll said at the Civic Center board meeting. Without comment from any other of the seven-member board, it was voted to announce only the name of the successful candidate.

Candidates, under this board policy, must submit a letter asking to be considered and setting forth their qualifications. Three board members will interview candidates and the entire board will then decide on a choice in a closed session.

The Marin County Board Of Education Also:

1. Granted life diplomas for teaching to Richard S. Mackey of the San Anselmo School District; Vera Shevchuk, San Rafael Schools; Alfred W. Sparks, San Rafael; Carroll D. Leach, San Rafael; Helen J. Schweiter, San Anselmo; Harold E. Carter, San Rafael.
2. Approved granting high school diplomas to 30 men, and elementary school diplomas to 73 men at aByview Schools, San Quentin Prison.
3. Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Jan. 17 at the Civic Center for study of the budget.
4. Heard from the California Teachers Assn. chapter of the superintendent of schools staff a recommendation of criteria for salary review, to include a cost of living index and length of work year required by the administrative staff, and other points.
5. Agreed to ask County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney if teachers hired directly under the county superintendent of schools could qualify for tenure, which they do not now have. The administrative staff of the office also lacks tenure, having contracts of varying lengths dated to expire six months after close of the current term of Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent.
6. Agreed to a program whereby districts in the county may ask the county schools office to do preliminary screening of teachers seeking jobs.
7. Agreed to aid the Fairfax School District in attempting to get funds through the federal aid to education act, with the county schools office to take 5 per cent of any funds received.
8. Agreed to hiring educational psychologist Dr. Earl Kelley of Eastern Michigan University to speak at a conference in the Mill Valley School District at the end of the month, at a cost of $117 for a half day, the fee to be reimbursed by the Mill Valley district.
9. Agreed to hiring Dr. J. Wesley Crum, member of the Air Force's aerospace education group, for a seminar on aerospace education for teachers Jan. 28 at a cost of $100.
10. Agreed to hiring Mrs. Barbara Linse to conduct an art media workshop for Marin teachers Feb. 5 at a fee of $50.

Sentence Delayed In Girl's Slaying

Sentencing of San Francisco dishwasher Virgilia Restauro, who pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter of a 16-year-old girl whose body was found near Muir Woods, was postponed today to Jan. 17 or 18.

Restauro, 25, faces up to 15 years in prison for the death of Nonita Vicera of Daly City. The death is believed to have occurred in Restauro's car April 18 in San Francisco, after which the body was dumped in Marin.

The sentencing delay was ordered because Judge Norman Elkington of San Francisco Superior Court has been called away from the city for two weeks.

Fire Truck Cost Reported Higher

Larkspur city councilmen, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall, will be told by City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper that the pumper fire truck for which they expected to pay $25,000 now costs $32,000.

Piper said the council was planning to buy the truck over a period of two years and has some money allocated in this year's budget for the purchase.

Councilmen are also scheduled to officially adopt the Larkspur general plan and accept the Larkspur center plan. They are expected to appoint Mrs. Judy Beal of 60 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, to replace Mrs. Isabelle Moore as city clerk.

Frigate Returns

Navy Fire Control Technician Seaman James L. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Carr of 37 Prince Royal Passage, Corte Madera, has returned to San Diego aboard the guided missile frigate Richmond K. Turner, after more than six months with the Seventh Fleet off the coast of Viet Nam.

Hospital Plan May Force Decision From Supervisors

Marlin Properties, Inc., may build a 49-bed convalescent hospital on vacant land next to the Kentfield Firehouse, even though the land is expected to be taken by a pair of street projects, the Marin County Planning Commission decided yesterday, 4-0.

The county public works department has announced plans to take 40 feet from the front of the property for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and to put a street across the rear of the land between Stetson and Maple avenues.

Wesley L. Wilkes of the county planning staff said the building could be redesigned to fit on the land after the boulevard widening, but that the street at the rear would kill the project.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo moved to approve architectural design of the building after she and other commissioners agreed the planners should not hold up the project because the county might, some day, buy the land.

Joining her in the vote were Chairman Felix M. Warburg and Commissioners Eugene R. Trombley and Niels Schultz Jr. Commissioner William F. Upton abstained. Commissioners Harry Heifetz and Hugh Dougherty were absent.

Owner Robert Piatt told the commission he wanted action to force the board of supervisors to decide soon whether the county would, in fact, buy the land.

Collections Set For Mississippi

Marin members of Parents Mississippi Assn. are assisting to collect 10,000 pounds of warm clothing for Mississippi by Jan. 15.

Being accepted also are layettes and bedding, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Williams of Mill Valley, whose daughter, Margaret, is working in Mississippi. Persons interested in contributing clothing, layettes or bedding may telephone either Mrs. Williams of 312 Montford Avenue or Mrs. Richard Durbin, 15 Bridge Road, Larkspur.

Mice Steal Show From The Lions

There were over 100,000 people who came to the Rose Bowl New Year's Day to see UCLA get thrown to the lions. Instead, they saw Michigan State get thrown to the mice.

If you check the neck of Michigan State fullback, Bob Apisa—and if you can find a neck on that torso — you will find the fingerprints of a UCLA tackler named Jim Colletto on it. Another tackler named Bob Stiles got a slight concussion on the play and Michigan State isn't feeling too good either.

Bob Apisa, who came all the way from Samoa to play at Michigan State, will have a lot of explaining to do at the next luau. He sat down abruptly about two yards from the Hall of Fame.

UCLA CRUSHED Michigan State by two whole points. That made them 16 points better than the gamblers made them. I say "crushed" because when you beat the Big 10 in the Rose Bowl, you can be said to crush them if you tie. There are certain things not meant to occur in nature. The sun shows up at the same place every day, the horizon is fixed, the Popes goes to the Catholic church, husbands and wives fight — and the Big 10 wins in the Rose Bowl.

They came here touted as the greatest thing in cleats since the 1940 Chicago Bears but they were like a cat watching the wrong mouse hole all day. UCLA decided early the only thing it could get trying to look them in the eye was a crick in the neck. Michigan State had altitude, latitude — the only thing they didn't have most of the day was the ball. Their quarterback was like a guy who kept trying to make a pair of treys stand up through three raises in a no-limit poker game. He kept throwing the ball when the only receivers still upright were in blue uniforms. He was either color blind or nervous.

THEIR SAFETY man also tried for a 95-yard touchdown run with a punt once. He missed by 95½ yards but he couldn't have made it anyway because he forgot the ball. By the time he located it, there were two UCLA players lying on it.

UCLA, which had never won a Rose Bowl game, was held scoreless by Michigan State, which had never lost one, for all but 3 minutes and 10 seconds of the start of the second quarter. UCLA held Michigan State scoreless for 50 minutes but they were beginning to turn blue from holding their finger in the dike as the shadows lengthened. The clock was the biggest star on the field most of the fourth quarter.

THE GAME was a real mismatch as predicted for three quarters. The only switch was, Michigan State was the miss and UCLA was the match. The canaries were ganging up on the cat, the butterfly kept ripping the net.

Michigan State tried to take the foot out of football by trying to run the ball several times on a fourth down and one situation. Duffy Daugherty who thought his team could make a yard on massed machine guns or a German pill box was still in a state of shock after the game ended. His quarterback could have done better in handcuffs. At least he might have been hampered in giving the ball away. He may get a UCLA letter — the biggest philanthropist to come out of Michigan since Henry Ford.

MICHIGAN STATE didn't lose easily. They had to work hard at it. They would be fun to get in a poker game because they don't hide their cards very well. When they scored their first touchdown to put themselves back in the ball game, they promptly took themselves right out of it again. On a fake extra-point kick, their quarterback couldn't find anybody open except a lady in the second row. So he threw it to her. She couldn't hold onto it either.

THIS MEANT that when Michigan State — one of the best last-quarter teams since Custer's Indians — scored its second touchdown, it not only had to go for a two-point conversion to tie but it all but sat down and diagrammed the play for UCLA's defense. Quarterback Jimmy Raye, one of the few non-South Seas islanders in State's extra-point team (he came to Michigan State from a suburb of East Lansing known as Fayetteville, North Carolina, where they don't even have any United Auto Workers) engaged the officials in a scholarly discussion as to where to place the football. He wanted it near the hash mark on the left hand side of the field rather than between the goal posts.

SINCE IT IS well known that Apisa has trouble running to his left, it was evident UCLA was going to see some more of the Samoan on the right side. When Raye pitched back to him, a gutty little Uclan named Bob Stiles almost beat the ball to him. On top of Apisa he looked like an elephant boy but Colletto had already arranged that if Apisa went in the end zone he would have to do so without his head.

UCLA REALLY won the game on an offensive weapon right out of the Walter Camp era — the on-side kick. This is ploy as dirty as hiding a card in your cuff — and just as dangerous. It's the football version of the sacrifice bunt. You pretend to take a full swing at the ball but you lay it down the foul line. Michigan State, which had started back to block for the kickoff return, didn't think anybody would play that dirty a trick. UCLA scored in 3 minutes. Since no one had scored 14 points on Michigan State all year, they began to play like a guy who suspects he's up against loaded dice.

UNFORTUNATELY, the game was a setback for good guest manners. Duffy Daugherty, one of the few Big 10 coaches who doesn't come to the Rose Bowl like a guy asked to de-haunt a house or get through Indian territory with a pocket knife, has shown that the wages of fun is death. Or at least defeat. The next team that comes out here will be as incognito as a bank robber. They may not even wear numbers on game day.

COACH TOMMY Prothro, whose Oregon State team last year played with the ferocity of soap bubbles, put a bloody-nose football team on the field their year but he watched the clock closer than a secretary with a dinner date. "There are some games that are just long enough," he sighed after the game. And there are some teams that are just good enough. If all the other guy can turn up is deuces, all you need are a couple of treys. It's knowing when to play them that makes the difference. If you have the problem, Gary Beban and Bob Stiles — and the UCLA Bruins — can tell you. They've been winning pots all year with them. And they won the biggest one Saturday.

7,000 Cheer Mighty Upset By Bruins

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Some 7,000 UCLA students, faculty and alumni celebrated the Bruins' Rose Bowl victory over Michigan State with an exuberant parade yesterday which tied up Wilshire Boulevard traffic for 35 minutes.

The rally started at the main campus quardrangle where about 4,000 heard chancellor Franklin Murphy call the upset "one of the most extraordinary episodes in the history of collegiate football."

"I think we are just about as good a team now as any team in the country," Prothro said. "I just don't know who is the best."

Murphy called the Bruin gridders a "Cinderella team that beat the jolly green giants."

"We can all learn a lot from them," he said.

After reaching Wilshire Boulevard the crowd roared:

"Bruins, Rose Bowl champs," and then disbanded.

MARIN HUNTER DOWNS RUSSIAN GOOSE

Police Lt. Willson Walsh of Mill Valley holds a white snow goose which he shot last Tuesday while duck hunting at the Capital Outing Club near Williams, Colusa County. The goose had an aluminum band on one leg, with Russian writing and the name "Moskwa" (Moscow), indicating the bird had flown from Russia. Walsh said he will advise Russian officials in Washington and the U.S. Fish and Game Commission. Walsh's companions were Julio Dami of Corte Madera and Lewis Figone of El Cerrito.

Van Brocklin Gets New 5-Year Pact

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings have begun their second five-year plan in the National Football League by signing Coach Norm Van Brocklin to a five-year contract with a pay raise.

The only coach the Vikings have had, Van Brocklin took a collection of castoffs and rookies in 1961 and moulded them into a respected member of the NFL's Western Division in five seasons.

The Vikings stumbled through 3-11 and 2-11-1 records in their first two years, but show a .500 average, 20-20-1, over their last three seasons.

Van Brocklin quit for 24 hours in November after it became apparent that the Vikings would not win the Western Division title. They eventually finished with a 7-7 record.

But the Viking owners tore up Van Brocklin's three-year contract, which had a year to run and put him under contract through 1970.

Vikings' President Max Winter said Van Brocklin "received and earned a good bonus and an increase in salary."

The old contract called for an estimated $40,000 annually, and the new one figures to place Van Brocklin's salary at close to $50,000.

Court Dismisses Sauldsberry Case

BOSTON (AP) — The squabble over the signing of veteran Woody Sauldsberry by the Boston Celtics has been officially terminated.

U.S. District Court Judge George C. Sweeney dismissed Sauldsberry's suit against the National Basketball Assn. and all NBA clubs other than Boston yesterday.

Attorneys for Sauldsberry and the NBA agreed on the dismissal "with prejudice," meaning the suit cannot be brought again.

The NBA refused to approve Sauldsberry's contract when Boston signed him as a free agent last month. Sauldsberry then filed suit, charging the NBA with a conspiracy to prevent him from earning a livelihood as a professional player.

At Judge Sweeney's insistence, Sauldsberry was allowed to play pending a hearing on the complaint and NBA President J. Walter Kennedy eventually approved the contract.

Top Three Scorers In Redwood Lineup

The top three scorers among the Marin Athletic League basketball players have a very important thing in common. They all play for the same team.

Redwood's prep cage team, after 10 non-league games with some darned good Bay Area opposition, is scoring at a college pace. Redwood, with a 6-4 record so far this season, is averaging 71.6 points per game.

And when you look at individual scoring among the MCAL players, three Giants head the list. First is guard Russ Smith with 203 points and a 20.3 average, and guard Andre Horn, 142 points and 14.2. Horn, with 44 free throws in his total, leads the preps in shooting from the charity stripe.

After the top three places, Novato has fourth and fifth in the individual scoring statistics, Tom Corder with a 14.0 average and John Dolinsek at 13.8.

Former Navy Star Killed In Viet Nam

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Lt. (j.g.) Donald C. MacLaughlin, a former All-America lacrosse player and 1963 recipient of the Naval Academy's highest athletic award, has been killed in action in Viet Nam.

Dr. D.C. MacLaughlin Sr. of suburban Catonsville said yesterday he had been advised by the Navy that his son's body had been spotted on a mountainside near the wreckage of his plane. The 24-year-old flier had been reported missing Sunday.

At the Naval Academy, where he was a 1963 graduate, MacLaughlin was in the top 10 per cent of his class and as a senior was awarded the Naval Academy Athletic Association Sword for excellence in athletics. He was an All-America midfielder in lacrosse and also played college soccer.

In his last letter home, written Christmas Eve, MacLaughlin told his family, "I hope to God that what I am doing now will help to make the new year a peaceful one."

Big Wilt Closing Ground On West In Scoring Race

Dipper Boasts Best Average; Top Rebounder

Chamberlain, who went over the 20,000-point career mark in Philadelphia's victory over New York last Sunday, trails Los Angeles' West by 212 points in this season's scoring derby, according to latest league statistics. But the biggest 76er has played in seven fewer games than West and tops the Laker ace in per-game average 33.8-33.2.

West scored 166 points in five games last week for a total of 1,394 in 42 starts. Chamberlain, who hit for 50 points against the Knickerbockers, needs 861 more to break Bob Pettit's lifetime record of 20,880 points. Wilt is in his seventh NBA season. Pettit played in the league for 11 years.

Chamberlain also grabbed 23 rebounds Sunday, bringing his season total to 884 and moving past Nate Thurmond of San Chamberlain is averaging 25.3 retrieves per-game.

Guy Rodgers of the Warriors and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson continue to run 1-2 in the playmaking department. Rodgers has a numerical advantage, 456-410, in five more games than Robertson, whose per-game mark of 11.4 is the best figure in the league.

The leading scorers:

Machen To Fight European Champ

Mildenberger is ranked fifth among the heavyweights by the World Boxing Assn. Machen is not ranked.

Santa Clara Hoopsters Turn Back S. F. Staters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four Northern California basketball teams put an end to the pre-season palaver in non-conference contests last night and teams started preparation for serious debate with conference foes.

Santa Clara of the West Coast Athletic Conference dumped its Far West Conference challenger, San Francisco State 66-61. Fresno State in the California Collegiate Athletic Association bettered another Far West Conference opponent, Hayward State, 97-46.

League games start Friday.

Santa Clara's Eric Paulson hit a 15-foot jump shot with about three minutes left to give the Broncos their decisive lead. Paulson made it 61-59 and the Broncos were ahead for the rest of the way.

San Francisco State's Everett Adams scored 24 points for the losers. Bob Heaney and Mike Gervasoni, each with 14 points, were the high scorers for Santa Clara. Paulson hit 12.

Four Fresno State scorers scored in double figures, led by Lonnie Hughey with 27. Jim Waldron hit 17, Bob Jensen 14, and Randy Thompson 13.

Dave Farcia led the Pioneers with 12 points. Substitutes played much of the second half.

Saban's Switcheroo: 'Old College Spirit'

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Lou Saban was back coaching college football at Maryland today even though it pays less than professional because "above all, it has the right spirit of the sport in mind."

"I left the pro ranks with one idea," said the surprising coach under whom the Buffalo Bills won two straight championships in the American Football League.

"I wanted to return to college coaching because I felt there I could contribute much, not from the point of coaching alone, but from the point of living.

"I am a firm believer in a few rules in life. I feel sports develop character and also develops the man.

"The emphasis on winning in the pro ranks is everything. I am sure it is not true on the college level."

Saban's contract for four years provides a starting salary of $22,500 a year and gradually rising to $25,000. He admitted it was less than he was paid at Buffalo, but said "I would rather not mention the amount involved." It was believed to be $30,000.

He mentioned his family life. The 44-year-old Saban and his wife have three daughters and one son.

Taking cognizance of several score of curious students who crowded into the news conference, Saban said he was informed there was a good nucleus of players on campus "and Maryland should be near the top in a short period of time."

GREETINGS—Lou Saban is surrounded by well-wishers after he was named head football coach at Maryland yesterday.

Ex-Cal Bear Star Named Utah Coach

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Mike Giddings, assistant football coach at the University of Southern California, has accepted the head coaching job at the University of Utah. But he won't be arriving right away.

"I'll be there as soon as possible," the 32-year-old Giddings said by telephone from Los Angeles after his appointment yesterday. "But not right away. I'm already doing some recruiting in California for Utah."

Giddings was chosen yesterday after a list of 114 prospects had been narrowed to five finalists. He succeeds Ray Nagel, who resigned last month to take over as head football coach at the University of Iowa.

Giddings received a three-year contract at $16,000 a year — the same as Nagel had been getting.

A native of Los Angeles, Giddings graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1955. He won letters in 1953 and 1954 as guard and tackle under Pappy Waldorf. He enlisted in the Marines and was discharged as a first lieutenant in 1957.

Giddings became lightweight team coach at Monrovia High School in California, moved to the varsity in 1959, had an 11-1 record and captured a league title. Before moving to Southern California, he was head coach at Glendale City College where he posted the school's best ever record of 7-2.

Alabama Crowned National Collegiate Champ

Michigan St. 2nd; Bruins Place 4th

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama's Crimson Tide, overwhelming victor over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, was named the national collegiate football champion for the second straight year today in The Associated Press final poll of the season.

The verdict of a nationwide panel of 57 sports writers and sportscasters made it three titles in five years for Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, and gives 'Bama permanent possession of the big, silver A.P. trophy.

Ironically, when the Tide won last year, the poll was taken at the close of the regular season and 'Bama went on to lose to Texas in the Orange Bowl.

This year the final poll of the season was conducted after the New Year's bowl games — the first time it had been held until after the bowls — because the six top teams were in action New Year's Day.

And it was the unprecedented defeat of three hitherto unbeaten teams in the bowl games that vaulted Alabama to the national title.

Alabama, with an 8-1-1 record, was ranked fourth behind unbeaten Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska going into the New Year's games.

Top-ranked Michigan State was upset by UCLA 14-12 in the Rose Bowl, No. 2 Arkansas' 22-game winning string was halted 14-7 by Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama crushed No. 3 Nebraska 39-28 in the Orange Bowl.

Michigan State slipped to second and Arkansas to third in the final rankings. UCLA moved up from fifth to fourth and Nebraska dropped to fifth.

Following in order were Missouri, 20-18 winner over Florida in the Sugar Bowl, Tennessee, 27-6 winner over Tulsa in the Bluebonnet Bowl, LSU, Notre Dame and Southern California.

Texas Tech Dropped From Top 10

Texas Tech, ranked 10th at the end of the regular season but upset 31-21 by Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl, dropped out of the Top Ten and was replaced by Louisiana State.

Alabama polled 37 of the 57 first-place votes and piled up 537 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc.

Michigan State collected 18 first-place votes and 479 points while Arkansas and UCLA both were named first on one ballot. Arkansas received 413 points, UCLA 391 and Nebraska 358.

Alabama's Orange Bowl victory capped a remarkable comeback for the Crimson Tide, beaten by Georgia 18-17 in the season opener and tied by Tennessee 7-7 in the fifth game.

"Our offense started clicking in the Tennessee game," Bryant said. "When we beat Louisiana State, South Carolina and Auburn as we did, I felt we had a team that could score and beat anybody.

"I think the Nebraska game proved it."

Against Nebraska, 'Bama stormed out to a 24-7 halftime lead and took it from there. The passing combination of Steve Sloan and Ray Perkins was the key, hitting on two long touchdown strikes, setting up two other touchdowns and producing a two-point conversion.

In addition to LSU, South Carolina and Auburn — the last three games on 'Bama's schedule — the Tide also scored regular season victories over Mississippi, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State, Florida State and Tulane, the last two by shutouts.

'Bama Speedy And Well-Balanced

Although not large by present major college standards, Alabama has great team speed and generated an excellent, well-balanced offense. The team averaged 167.4 yards rushing and 147.9 passing during the regular season for a total attack of 325.3 yards a game.

"It's the best offensive team I've ever coached," Bryant said.

Alabama is the first team to win consecutive national titles since Oklahoma accomplished the feat in 1955 and 1956. 'Bama's two straight championships go with the 1961 title to make it three in five years for Bryant, who formerly coached at Texas A&M and Kentucky.

The Rose Bowl defeat by UCLA was a bitter upset for Michigan State, which led in the weekly balloting most of the season. And, strangely, the Spartans were deprived of the national championship by a team they had beaten earlier, 13-3 in the opening game of the season.

Anchored by a massive defensive line that held three teams to negative rushing yardage, Michigan State rolled undefeated through a tough, 10-game schedule and claimed the Big Ten title.

The Spartans' victims were Penn State, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio State, Purdue, Northwestern, Iowa, Indiana and Notre Dame.

The final Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records including bowl games, and total points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc:

1. Alabama (37)	9-1-1	537
2. Michigan State (18)	10-1	479
3. Arkansas (1)	10-1	413
4. UCLA (1)	8-2-1	391
5. Nebraska	10-1	358
6. Missouri	8-2-1	260
7. Tennessee	8-1-2	214
8. Louisiana State	8-3	149
9. Notre Dame	7-2-1	123
10. So. Calif.	7-2-1	80

The others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Dartmouth, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Ohio State, Purdue, Syracuse, Texas Tech.

Lawrence Welk At Quarterback; Novatan Helped UCLA Victory

I WATCHED so much TV football over the weekend that Saturday night I thought I heard Lawrence Welk say, "Uh-one, uh-two, uh-three, hike."

Which brings me around to a few observations gleamed from the boob tube my little old me, Mr. Glean, to wit, or to half-wit:

Cinderella team of the century—UCLA.

No. 1 team in the nation—Alabama (this was written before final polls).

Best marching band—Alabama.

Best color TV show—The Orange Bowl.

Most Popular Name of Players—Brown (I counted half a dozen of them, including two Charleys, in the seven TV'd games over the weekend).

And I wonder how many TV repairmen got called for service during the Packer-Brown game Sunday? My screen was full of snow. How about yours?

MARIN CAN claim a small but important contribution to UCLA's mighty Rose Bowl victory in the person of Wayne Russell, former Novato High star attending Bruinsville on a full athletic scholarship.

Russell was redshirted by the Bruins this year, which means although he saw no game action, he practiced daily with the varsity for four long months, spending even his holidays representing the opposition in UCLA practice sessions.

These players never get mentioned in the press, but you can imagine the vital roll they play in preparing a team for the big games and big victories like UCLA scored all last year—and this.

NICEST GESTURE of the holiday season in local sportsdom was turned in by Drake High Class B basketball coach Rich DeConti who spent most of Christmas day traveling by bus from his home in San Francisco to San Anselmo to visit two of his players who are injured and out of action for the season: Stu Clemons, a returning starter who suffered a broken leg in a motorcycle accident, and Curry Miller, who suffered a broken arm in a game.

THE BOSS keeps bugging me to dig, dig, dig for local angles so—B-O-I-N-G!—I hit the jackpot today by reporting that Jack Marin is high scorer for Duke's top-ranked basketball team.

Boston To Honor Boom-Boom Boys

BOSTON (AP) — The greatest home run one-two punch in baseball history will be honored by the Boston chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America at their annual dinner Jan. 27.

Eddie Mathews, who started his lengthy career in Boston, and his Atlanta Braves teammate, Henry Aaron, will be honored for their contributions to baseball as a team.

Mathews and Aaron, playing together since 1954, have hit a total of 803 home runs in a 12-year span.

The better known one-two punch, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, combined for 771 home runs in the 10 years they played together with the New York Yankees.

Rookies Fit Packer Mold

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, the All-America backs signed by Green Bay for rich bonuses, will be expected to fit in next season with a bruising ground game unchanged from the style of play that brought the Packers the National Football League crown.

Anderson, the reported $600,000 prize from Texas Tech, and Grabowski, a $250,000 catch from Illinois, "fit the Packer mold," said Coach Vince Lombardi yesterday.

That mold, he added, is not to be tampered with.

"I have to coach and do things according to my personality. I'm not easy to work with. I'm a stubborn kind of man," Lombardi said.

Lombardi prefers ball control and an irresistable rushing attack. He prefers total effort from his players. He prefers — no, demands — victory.

Lombardi got all these Sunday as Green Bay belted Cleveland 23-12 for the NFL title.

"There's a great deal of satisfaction to walk out there and find everything is the way you planned it," Lombardi reflected.

The game plan called for Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, the two men for whom some observers were already pegging Anderson and Grabowski as heirs apparent, to rip through Cleveland's line. They did exactly that for a combined total of 201 yards.

Lombardi was in an affable mood yesterday as he reviewed the game that brought the Packers their third NFL championship in the last five years.

"I never put great credence in turning points," he said, "but I do think there are the big plays. There may have been more big plays in that game than you usually get, and fortunately they were all by us."

He ticked off Paul Hornung's 34-yard run to set up a field goal, Willie Wood's interception that preceded another field goal, the Cleveland field goal attempt that was blocked by Henry Jordan, and Hornung's 20-yard run that set up a Hornung touchdown.

Hornung, Taylor and quarterback Bart Starr all played despite injuries. Lombardi revealed Starr had to wear a special pad to protect his badly bruised ribs.

Anderson has said the attitude of the Packer players was the prime factor in his decision to sign with Green Bay.

Redwood Tourney On Video

Final game of the 1965 Redwood Invitational Baseball Tournament of Champions on May 28 will be televised regionally by KRON-TV, it was announced today by Al Endriss, coach of Redwood and director of the tourney.

Endriss said the San Francisco television station has requested and received exclusive TV rights to the championship game, climaxing a three-day tournament in San Rafael among champions of 10 Northern California high school leagues.

"We haven't worked out details of the TV coverage yet," said Endriss, "but I imagine it will be video-taped for showing at a later date, since Saturday night at 8 o'clock is prime network time."

The Redwood tournament is patterned after the annual Basketball Tournament of Champions in Berkeley and will determine the mythical baseball title for Northern California.

Youth Wins Trophy

Ryan, 16, rolled a total of 1.979 in 10 games, and with his 270-pin handicap, totaled 2,249.

Apprehension In North Cal Collegiate Basketball Ranks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Conference basketball battling starts this week with apprehension visible on several Northern California fronts.

Stanford and California travel into the Northwest for sets with Washington and Washington State amid reports of heavy snowfall in the area.

The University of San Francisco, winner of the West Coast Athletic Conference tournament title, travels to meet Santa Clara on Saturday night in San Jose Civic Auditorium.

USF beat Santa Clara 76-75 in the opening round of the WCAC tournament but in that one the losers had to operate without star guard Eric Paulson who was ill. Four nights earlier against California, Paulson had scored 22 points in Santa Clara's 75-73 victory.

Paulson and the rest of the Broncos aim for revenge on the Dons this time.

The writers honored both Paulson, for his play in the California game, and Joe Ellis of USF, who was voted the top player in the tournament.

Other WCAC openers match St. Mary's against the University of the Pacific at Stockton and UC Santa Barbara against San Jose State at the Spartans' gym, both on Saturday night.

California plays a regionally televised game at Washington State on Saturday afternoon and then meets Washington at Seattle on Monday night. Stanford plays at Washington on Saturday night and then moves on to play Washington State.

Coaches Rene Herrerias of California and Howie Dallmar of Stanford each said the scheduling of the Northern trips this year were an advantage to Southern California and UCLA.

Herrerias pointed out, "We have to prepare for Washington State and Washington, and then have only two days to get ready for USC and UCLA. When the Trojans and Bruins make the trip, they come home to play the same two teams the next week."

Southern California and UCLA invade the Bay Area on Jan. 14-15.

Drake Whips Santa Rosans

Led by backcourt men Bill Ingram and Will Curley, the Drake High School basketballers whipped the Santa Rosa High School Panthers 74-60 yesterday on the Pirates' court.

Ingram had a hot night, making good on 10 of his 14 shots from the floor to take high scoring honors with 20 points. Curley, the most valuable player of the Drake Invitational last month, clicked on 7 baskets and 5 free throws for 19 points. Center Bob Tobin scored 15 points and forward Chet Carlisle added 14.

Duane Johnson topped Santa Rosa's scorers with 14 points.

The Pirates led at half by four points, 37-33, but fired through 24 points in the third quarter to stretch the lead to 61-43. Drake connected on 31 of its 64 shots from the floor for 48 per cent, compared to Santa Rosa's 18 of 53 (34 per cent).

From the free throw line, Drake made 12 of 18 for 67 per cent to the Panthers' 18 of 26, 69 per cent. Led by Tobin's 12 rebounds, the Pirates beat Santa Rosa on the boards 30 to 22.

Santa Rosa	16	17	10	17—60
Drake	21	16	24	13—74

Santa Rosa scorers: Duane Johnson, 5-4-14; Bill Kennish, 4-4-12; Rick Call, 5-1-11; Alan VanVelzen, 3-3-9; Dennis McGill, 3-2-8; Larry Steele, 0-4-4; Herschel Berry, 1-0-2. Totals: 21-18—60.

Drake scorers: Bill Ingram, 10-0-20; Will Curley, 7-5-19; Bob Tobin, 5-5-15; Chet Carlisle, 6-2-14; Jerry Sprout, 3-0-6; Totals: 31-12—74.

Streaking Mariners Host West Valleyans Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team, working on a string of five in a row and winner of seven out of its last eight games, will host West Valley Junior College of Campbell tonight at 8 o'clock in the Kentfield gym.

It will be the Tars' final practice game prior to the start of Golden Valley Conference play next Saturday when the Mariners travel to Marysville to take on the Yuba College 49ers.

The Tars, after losing their first four games, have bounced back to a winning 7-5 win-loss record. They and the Santa Rosa Bear Cubs are favored teams in the GVC.

Prothro, Ralston, Bryant Rate Cheers For Coaching Finesse

RANDOL

That was quite a football menu over the last weekend. For an appetizer the East-West Shrine game. Soup and fish with the Sugar and Cotton Bowls. The UCLA-Michigan State Rose Bowl game for the piece de resistance. A little "tossed" salad in an Orange Bowl, and then some frozen dessert imported from Wisconsin for the NFL playoff. Burp!

The only game that really decided a national title was the Green Bay win over the Cleveland Browns on Sunday. A healthy Bart Starr made the difference as the Packers controlled the ball on two out of three plays and ended with two out of three points, 23 - 12.

In the college bowl games, the three top rated teams in the country got their lumps as Michigan State, Nebraska and Arkansas blew their undefeated records to teams that simply outplayed them. It was a great day for the underdog and the forgotten man.

OF COURSE the biggest shocker was the UCLA win over State. This one was billed as the mismatch of the century with the poor little Bruins slated for an all time record crushing. Never again will I say that a given team doesn't have a chance against another. I'm cured.

If Coach Tommy Prothro of the Bruins is not voted Coach of the Year honors by his fellow coaches next week, there is just no justice. Remember that these Bruins were new to Prothro this year and were an almost unanimous choice to finish last in the AAUW. Like real life Cinderellas they overcame all obstacles to gain the Rose Bowl berth and then clobbered the highly publicized Prince Charmings with the glass slipper.

AND WHILE we are patting coaches on the back, we'll add another for John Ralston of Stanford for his direction of the West to its upset victory over the highly favored All Americans from the East. Could be that John's smiling face will shine from the Rose Bowl next year or very soon thereafter as he is quietly building a football machine down on the Farm. This year's frosh team was loaded.

ANOTHER COACH deserving his annual pat is Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama. The Orange Bowl champs lost only one game this year, that by one point to Georgia in their season opener. The Bear always manages to come up a winner—in fact, he has the best overall record in the nation. If he were not so well set up at Alabama he would be a top choice to direct the new Atlanta Falcons when they start NFL play next year.

ALL IN ALL it was a great weekend with every game having its share of thrills and suspense. It is too bad the football season, already too long, can't end right here. Instead we move South for the leftover bowls such as the Senior, NFL runner-up, and AFL and NFL all-star games. One of these days we may find the Giants (baseball type) playing a doubleheader with the 49ers at Candlestick Park in April.

Brillliant Cast For Palace Track Meet

A pair of University of Kansas track aces joined the brilliant cast being assembled for next Saturday's Examiner Invitational Track and Field Meet at the Cow Palace.

America's ace miler, Jim Ryun, and two-mile king, John Lawson, accepted invitations to compete in the third annual indoor meet.

The addition of Ryun to a fine mile field which already includes NCAA champion Bob Day of UCLA would indicate that for the first time in San Francisco history the magic four-minute mark for the mile may be broken.

Ryun, a prep phenom, returns to San Francisco where he began his brilliant career in December of 1963 appearing in his first big indoor meet against Gerry Lindgren.

Since then he has chosen the mile run as his specialty while Lindgren stayed with the longer events.

As successful as Lindgren has been, Ryun possibly has shown even greater talent. He has scored blistering times of 3:39 in the 1,500 meters and 1:50.3 for the 880.

His biggest win was scored last year in the AAU championships when the young Kansas runner pulled one of the biggest upsets in track history by beating record holder Peter Snell and Jim Grelle with an American record effort of 3:55.3.

On last year's European tour, Ryun was nothing short of sensational, finishing second to Grelle in the USA-USSR meet, winning the mile in the USA-Poland meet and winning the mile in the USA-German meet where he beat Grelle.

The Ryun-Day duel should be one of the standout events of this year's Invitational. Day, after winning the NCAA mile championship and the mile run in the USTFF meet with a 3:56.8 clocking, passed the AAU meet and a head-on meeting with Ryun due to the AAU-NCAA dispute.

With the sanctioning bodies now at a truce, the two men who could rewrite the mile record in future years will come face to face.

He is reigning king of cross country competition owning victories over six-miles in both the NCAA and USTFF championships.

His main competition in the Examiner two-mile run will come from Lindgren, Jeff Fishback and Oregon's Ken Moore.

Brown, also announced to run in the Cow Palace show, was forced to withdraw from the meet late last week due to a leg injury.

Other stars confirmed for this outstanding indoor show include John Pennel, Ralph Boston, Mike Larrabee, Parry O'Brien, Blaine Lindgren, Rex Cawley, Darel Newman and Ted Nelson to name just a few.

MARIN PREP BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Redwood '5' Is Favored Again

Independent-Journal Sports
Tuesday, Jan. 4, 1966

By GLENN BECKER

(Sixth in a series on prospects of Marin Athletic League basketball teams.)

Redwood lost its first Marin Athletic League basketball game last year, and has yet to lose another league contest. After dropping their opener to Drake last year, the Giants won 11 straight to spreadeagle the field and win the title by four games.

The competition this year, particularly from Drake and Novato, should be a lot stiffer, but coach Dick Hart has two returning starters from 1964-65 to fortify his hopes of another championship and Redwood is the first club the other coaches mention as the favorite.

Last year Hart said it would be a really close race, and the Giants had the title wrapped up with three games still on the schedule. This year he is saying it's between Drake and Novato.

"Inexperience will hurt us," said the veteran cage coach, and then preceeded to name Drake, Novato, Marin Catholic, Tamalpais and "darkhorse" San Rafael. As for Redwood, he said, "We'll do the best we can. We're cautious, but hope for a chance to go all the way."

One asset Redwood takes into the race is the greatest scoring punch in league history. In winning six of their first 10 preleague games, the Giants have averaged 71.6 points per game. This is better than many college quintets are averaging in games which are eight minutes longer than the preps play.

They are contrasting types. Smith is a 6-1 senior, a starter last year, whose 20-foot jumpers make him the highest scorer at Redwood since Jay Johnson in 1962. Smith does not drive much and thus draws few fouls, but he puts the ball in the air fast—"quick release," the coaches call it—and is tough to guard.

Smith is shooting with tremendous accuracy for a fellow who takes many of his shots from the perimeter. He had Lincoln's Mustangs shaking their heads as he hit 16 of 25 shots (that's 64 per cent, Clyde) in a 34-point barrage two weeks ago. Overall he is shooting at 51 per cent.

Little Andre Horn, 5-9, nicely complements Smith's skills with his driving ability and speed. Except on fast break, the Giants do not play inside as much as other clubs because they are not too hefty in the forecourt, but Horn is fast enough to lose his man going to the bucket and he draws many fouls in the process.

An All-MCAL "B" performer last year as a sophomore, Horn has made 49 field goals and 44 foul shots so far. His shooting percentage is 45 and his top effort was 26 against Lincoln.

Redwood		Opponent
82	Analy	55
66	Gilroy	43
76	Gridley	64
58	Washington (S.F.)	56
64	Novato	67
77	Balboa	67
78	Washington (S.F.)	83
79	Lincoln	84
80	Santa Rosa	63
66	Ells	68

Despite the 60 points by the guards, the Giants lost to the Links 84-79 in overtime. Redwood split with Washington winning the first game 58-56 and then losing 83-78. Lincoln and Washington are co-favorites to win the San Francisco 'AAA crown and both whipped Drake handily the same weekend they were struggling past Redwood.

The trip to Berkeley for the Tournament of champions in March is the big prize for local cagers, of course, and the Giants would dearly like another shot at it. Redwood has been there twice and twice has been bounced about like the ball they play the game with.

Whoever the MCAL champs are they will carry an extra-heavy burden to the TOC. The tournament officials are considering dropping Marin because the MCAL has done so poorly there.

Often Marin teams are desperately disadvantaged in height against the other champions. Redwood is not as well off as Drake in their front line, but the Giants have a 6-5 Jack Fitzhenry. Fitzhenry is a junior, the other two seniors.

Meyer and Smith were starters last year (the Giants lost all-leaguers center Tom Bly, guard Charley Davis and forward Don Detrich to graduation). Meyer is rather lanky at 185 pounds, but he has averaged 11 rebounds a game. Chuck doesn't handle the ball much, consequently has scored very little.

McGee has scored at a 14.6 clip and Fitzhenry at 9.2. Both rebound fairly well.

The top Giant reserves have been 5-11 guard Dave Strathairn and 6-foot forward Dave Crossley. Hart has three 6-4 boys on the bench and one, junior Allen Fritz, came in to sink a crucial basket in the battle with Lincoln. The others are Duncan Williams, a senior, and Jim Mark, a junior.

The Giants like to fast break and offer an exciting ball club. They were able to withstand a pressing defense by Washington, which took a 29-19 lead in their first game but saw McGee win it with a jump shot in the last seven seconds.

Two of the top battles of the season should occur Friday and Feb. 4, when the Giants play Drake. The backcourt duel among Smith and Horn and Drake's Will Curley and Bill Ingram should be interesting.

Redwood's league schedule:

Jan. 7 At Drake
Jan. 11 Terra Linda
Jan. 14 At Novato
Jan. 18 San Rafael
Jan. 21 At Tamalpais
Jan. 25 Marin Catholic
Feb. 4 Drake
Feb. 8 At Terra Linda
Feb. 11 Novato
Feb. 15 At San Rafael

Mice Steal Show From The Lions

There were over 100,000 people who came to the Rose Bowl New Year's Day to see UCLA get thrown to the lions. Instead, they saw Michigan State get thrown to the mice.

If you check the neck of Michigan State fullback, Bob Apisa—and if you can find a neck on that torso — you will find the fingerprints of a UCLA tackler named Jim Colletto on it. Another tackler named Bob Stiles got a slight concussion on the play and Michigan State isn't feeling too good either.

Bob Apisa, who came all the way from Samoa to play at Michigan State, will have a lot of explaining to do at the next luau. He sat down abruptly about two yards from the Hall of Fame.

UCLA CRUSHED Michigan State by two whole points. That made them 16 points better than the gamblers made them. I say "crushed" because when you beat the Big 10 in the Rose Bowl, you can be said to crush them if you tie. There are certain things not meant to occur in nature. The sun shows up at the same place every day, the horizon is fixed, the Popes goes to the Catholic church, husbands and wives fight — and the Big 10 wins in the Rose Bowl.

They came here touted as the greatest thing in cleats since the 1940 Chicago Bears but they were like a cat watching the wrong mouse hole all day. UCLA decided early the only thing it could get trying to look them in the eye was a crick in the neck. Michigan State had altitude, latitude — the only thing they didn't have most of the day was the ball. Their quarterback was like a guy who kept trying to make a pair of treys stand up through three raises in a no-limit poker game. He kept throwing the ball when the only receivers still upright were in blue uniforms. He was either color blind or nervous.

THEIR SAFETY man also tried for a 95-yard touchdown run with a punt once. He missed by 95½ yards but he couldn't have made it anyway because he forgot the ball. By the time he located it, there were two UCLA players lying on it.

UCLA, which had never won a Rose Bowl game, was held scoreless by Michigan State, which had never lost one, for all but 3 minutes and 10 seconds of the start of the second quarter. UCLA held Michigan State scoreless for 50 minutes but they were beginning to turn blue from holding their finger in the dike as the shadows lengthened. The clock was the biggest star on the field most of the fourth quarter.

THE GAME was a real mismatch as predicted for three quarters. The only switch was, Michigan State was the miss and UCLA was the match. The canaries were ganging up on the cat, the butterfly kept ripping the net.

Michigan State tried to take the foot out of football by trying to run the ball several times on a fourth down and one situation. Duffy Daugherty who thought his team could make a yard on massed machine guns or a German pill box was still in a state of shock after the game ended. His quarterback could have done better in handcuffs. At least he might have been hampered in giving the ball away. He may get a UCLA letter — the biggest philanthropist to come out of Michigan since Henry Ford.

MICHIGAN STATE didn't lose easily. They had to work hard at it. They would be fun to get in a poker game because they don't hide their cards very well. When they scored their first touchdown to put themselves back in the ball game, they promptly took themselves right out of it again. On a fake extra-point kick, their quarterback couldn't find anybody open except a lady in the second row. So he threw it to her. She couldn't hold onto it either.

THIS MEANT that when Michigan State — one of the best last-quarter teams since Custer's Indians — scored its second touchdown, it not only had to go for a two-point conversion to tie but it all but sat down and diagrammed the play for UCLA's defense. Quarterback Jimmy Raye, one of the few non-South Seas islanders in State's extra-point team (he came to Michigan State from a suburb of East Lansing known as Fayetteville, North Carolina, where they don't even have any United Auto Workers) engaged the officials in a scholarly discussion as to where to place the football. He wanted it near the hash mark on the left hand side of the field rather than between the goal posts.

SINCE IT IS well known that Apisa has trouble running to his left, it was evident UCLA was going to see some more of the Samoan on the right side. When Raye pitched back to him, a gutty little Uclan named Bob Stiles almost beat the ball to him. On top of Apisa he looked like an elephant boy but Colletto had already arranged that if Apisa went in the end zone he would have to do so without his head.

UCLA REALLY won the game on an offensive weapon right out of the Walter Camp era — the on-side kick. This is ploy as dirty as hiding a card in your cuff — and just as dangerous. It's the football version of the sacrifice bunt. You pretend to take a full swing at the ball but you lay it down the foul line. Michigan State, which had started back to block for the kickoff return, didn't think anybody would play that dirty a trick. UCLA scored in 3 minutes. Since no one had scored 14 points on Michigan State all year, they began to play like a guy who suspects he's up against loaded dice.

UNFORTUNATELY, the game was a setback for good guest manners. Duffy Daugherty, one of the few Big 10 coaches who doesn't come to the Rose Bowl like a guy asked to de-haunt a house or get through Indian territory with a pocket knife, has shown that the wages of fun is death. Or at least defeat. The next team that comes out here will be as incognito as a bank robber. They may not even wear numbers on game day.

COACH TOMMY Prothro, whose Oregon State team last year played with the ferocity of soap bubbles, put a bloody-nose football team on the field their year but he watched the clock closer than a secretary with a dinner date. "There are some games that are just long enough," he sighed after the game. And there are some teams that are just good enough. If all the other guy can turn up is deuces, all you need are a couple of treys. It's knowing when to play them that makes the difference. If you have the problem, Gary Beban and Bob Stiles — and the UCLA Bruins — can tell you. They've been winning pots all year with them. And they won the biggest one Saturday.

7,000 Cheer Mighty Upset By Bruins

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Some 7,000 UCLA students, faculty and alumni celebrated the Bruins' Rose Bowl victory over Michigan State with an exuberant parade yesterday which tied up Wilshire Boulevard traffic for 35 minutes.

The rally started at the main campus quardrangle where about 4,000 heard chancellor Franklin Murphy call the upset "one of the most extraordinary episodes in the history of collegiate football."

"I think we are just about as good a team now as any team in the country," Prothro said. "I just don't know who is the best."

"We can all learn a lot from them," he said.

After reaching Wilshire Boulevard the crowd roared:

"Bruins, Rose Bowl champs," and then disbanded.

MARIN HUNTER DOWNS RUSSIAN GOOSE

Police Lt. Willson Walsh of Mill Valley holds a white snow goose which he shot last Tuesday while duck hunting at the Capital Outing Club near Williams, Colusa County. The goose had an aluminum band on one leg, with Russian writing and the name "Moskwa" (Moscow), indicating the bird had flown from Russia. Walsh said he will advise Russian officials in Washington and the U.S. Fish and Game Commission. Walsh's companions were Julio Dami of Corte Madera and Lewis Figone of El Cerrito.

Van Brocklin Gets New 5-Year Pact

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings have begun their second five-year plan in the National Football League by signing Coach Norm Van Brocklin to a five-year contract with a pay raise.

The only coach the Vikings have had, Van Brocklin took a collection of castoffs and rookies in 1961 and moulded them into a respected member of the NFL's Western Division in five seasons.

The Vikings stumbled through 3-11 and 2-11-1 records in their first two years, but show a .500 average, 20-20-1, over their last three seasons.

Van Brocklin quit for 24 hours in November after it became apparent that the Vikings would not win the Western Division title. They eventually finished with a 7-7 record.

But the Viking owners tore up Van Brocklin's three-year contract, which had a year to run and put him under contract through 1970.

Vikings' President Max Winter said Van Brocklin "received and earned a good bonus and an increase in salary."

The old contract called for an estimated $40,000 annually, and the new one figures to place Van Brocklin's salary at close to $50,000.

Court Dismisses Sauldsberry Case

BOSTON (AP) — The squabble over the signing of veteran Woody Sauldsberry by the Boston Celtics has been officially terminated.

U.S. District Court Judge George C. Sweeney dismissed Sauldsberry's suit against the National Basketball Assn. and all NBA clubs other than Boston yesterday.

Attorneys for Sauldsberry and the NBA agreed on the dismissal "with prejudice," meaning the suit cannot be brought again.

The NBA refused to approve Sauldsberry's contract when Boston signed him as a free agent last month. Sauldsberry then filed suit, charging the NBA with a conspiracy to prevent him from earning a livelihood as a professional player.

At Judge Sweeney's insistence, Sauldsberry was allowed to play pending a hearing on the complaint and NBA President J. Walter Kennedy eventually approved the contract.

Youngest Champ

NEW YORK (UPI) — Horace Rawlins is the youngest golfer ever to win the U.S. Open title. He was 19 when he captured the championship in 1895.

Top Three Scorers In Redwood Lineup

The top three scorers among the Marin Athletic League basketball players have a very important thing in common. They all play for the same team.

Redwood's prep cage team, after 10 non-league games with some darned good Bay Area opposition, is scoring at a college pace. Redwood, with a 6-4 record so far this season, is averaging 71.6 points per game.

And when you look at individual scoring among the MCAL players, three Giants head the list. First is guard Russ Smith with 203 points and a 20.3 average, and guard Andre Horn, 142 points and 14.2. Horn, with 44 free throws in his total, leads the preps in shooting from the charity stripe.

After the top three places, Novato has fourth and fifth in the individual scoring statistics, Tom Corder with a 14.0 average and John Dolinsek at 13.8.

Former Navy Star Killed In Viet Nam

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Lt. (j.g.) Donald C. MacLaughlin, a former All-America lacrosse player and 1963 recipient of the Naval Academy's highest athletic award, has been killed in action in Viet Nam.

Dr. D.C. MacLaughlin Sr. of suburban Catonsville said yesterday he had been advised by the Navy that his son's body had been spotted on a mountainside near the wreckage of his plane. The 24-year-old flier had been reported missing Sunday.

At the Naval Academy, where he was a 1963 graduate, MacLaughlin was in the top 10 per cent of his class and as a senior was awarded the Naval Academy Athletic Association Sword for excellence in athletics. He was an All-America midfielder in lacrosse and also played college soccer.

In his last letter home, written Christmas Eve, MacLaughlin told his family, "I hope to God that what I am doing now will help to make the new year a peaceful one."

Big Wilt Closing Ground On West In Scoring Race

Dipper Boasts Best Average; Top Rebounder

Chamberlain, who went over the 20,000-point career mark in Philadelphia's victory over New York last Sunday, trails Los Angeles' West by 212 points in this season's scoring derby, according to latest league statistics. But the biggest 76er has played in seven fewer games than West and tops the Laker ace in per-game average 33.8-33.2.

West scored 166 points in five games last week for a total of 1,394 in 42 starts. Chamberlain, who hit for 50 points against the Knickerbockers, needs 861 more to break Bob Pettit's lifetime record of 20,880 points. Wilt is in his seventh NBA season. Pettit played in the league for 11 years.

Chamberlain also grabbed 23 rebounds Sunday, bringing his season total to 884 and moving past Nate Thurmond of San Chamberlain is averaging 25.3 retrieves per-game.

Guy Rodgers of the Warriors and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson continue to run 1-2 in the playmaking department. Rodgers has a numerical advantage, 456-410, in five more games than Robertson, whose per-game mark of 11.4 is the best figure in the league.

Santa Clara Hoopsters Turn Back S. F. Staters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four Northern California basketball teams put an end to the pre-season palaver in non-conference contests last night and teams started preparation for serious debate with conference foes.

Santa Clara of the West Coast Athletic Conference dumped its Far West Conference challenger, San Francisco State 66-61. Fresno State in the California Collegiate Athletic Association bettered another Far West Conference opponent, Hayward State, 97-46.

League games start Friday.

Santa Clara's Eric Paulson hit a 15-foot jump shot with about three minutes left to give the Broncos their decisive lead. Paulson made it 61-59 and the Broncos were ahead for the rest of the way.

San Francisco State's Everett Adams scored 24 points for the losers. Bob Heaney and Mike Gervasoni, each with 14 points, were the high scorers for Santa Clara. Paulson hit 12.

Four Fresno State scorers scored in double figures, led by Lonnie Hughey with 27. Jim Waldron hit 17, Bob Jensen 14, and Randy Thompson 13.

Dave Farcia led the Pioneers with 12 points. Substitutes played much of the second half.

Holiday Magic Cosmetics Adds Three Executives To Its Staff

A newly formed corporation, San Francisco Placement Agency, Inc., is headed by three Marinites — James T. Rubey, president, and Jane L. Rubey, secretary-treasurer—both of Mill Valley, and Raye A. Murray, vice president, of Novato. It succeeds San Francisco Placement Bureau Agency, a proprietorship in operation for 21 years and engaged in executive middle management, staff, technical and office placement.

FRED MAYER of Sausalito Pharmacy and his associates Joseph Rotenberg of Greenbrae and Oakland attorney C. E. Fletcher have formed a new corporation, Mayer Laboratories, Inc., for their "Reprieve" hangover pills which are now being marketed in the Bay Area, Oregon, Washington and Alaska. They are now entering the Southern California market.

VERNON A. LIBBY of Fairfax, executive vice president of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, has taken a stand against "laws designed unfairly to penalize or restrict door-to-door selling," and he declares that such laws are invariably repealed or fall into disuse.

Said Libby, "Direct selling is one of our three principal forms of merchandising, along with retail stores and mail order houses. It fills a vacuum which might otherwise exist in the distributive process, and contributes significantly to our democratic economy." He further described door-to-door selling as a creative and educational force in the country's economy, building markets for local retailers and introducing new products to consumers.

Libby's statements were based upon a bulletin just issued by the National Better Business Bureau entitled "The Right of Free Men to Engage in Legitimate Business." The national bureau believes legislation which restricts direct selling "violates the spirit of fair play."

A SHIFT in top-level management at Holiday Magic Cosmetics, San Rafael has changed assignments for three executives and added three others to the staff.

Board chairman William P. Patrick, who is a candidate for governor of California, has taken on the additional duties of president, replacing Robert Depew in this office. Depew has been named director of the Mexico operation.

Fred Pape of San Rafael has been appointed executive vice president. He joined Holiday more than a year ago as a distributor. In the past he has been engaged in several Marin activities as owner of a car wash, beauty salon and stereo equipment store. To assist Pape, the company has hired Sherman Coultas, a young attorney and former government agent in San Francisco.

Pape

John Hart, formerly executive vice president of the Los Angeles public relations firm Pete Summers, Inc., has been made vice chairman of the board. Former regional supervisor Richard Michael has been promoted to vice president of Holiday Magic Canada.

SUNSET INTERNATIONAL PETROLEUM CORP. has received an award from the Tile Council of America for the quality of its homes in San Marin. Among features praised are fireplaces, built-ins and luminous ceilings.

FRANK A. TALLARIDA of San Rafael has become an associate in the Wachsman-Nixon Co., Marin agency for State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America. Originally from Rochester, N.Y., Tallarida recently completed the graduate requirements of the Life Insurance Marketing Institute.

Brown Predicts Boom In New State Jobs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today California's economy will generate 230,000 new jobs in 1966, the highest total in seven years and a 23.7 per cent jump over last year.

The governor said he expects the state's unemployment rate to hit a seven-year low this year.

Listings Up 38 Pct. In Marin During '65

Marin County listed 38.1 per cent more businesses in 1965 than in 1955, according to a report just released by Dun and Bradstreet.

There were 2,043 business listings in the county last year—a gain of 564 listing from 1955, the report said.

Novato showed the greatest percentage increase over the 10-year period—from 124 to 235 listings, a gain of 89.5 per cent. Corte Madera, with a jump from 50 to 81 listings, made second place at 62 per cent.

San Rafael showed the greatest gain in total listings—from 564 in 1955 to 843 in 1965, an increase of 49.5 per cent. Sausalito in fourth place went up 45.7 per cent from 118 listings in 1955 to 172 last year.

Point Reyes Station showed a 20 per cent loss over the decade—down from 20 listings to 16. San Anselmo had a 1.2 per cent drop from 167 to 165 listings.

An increase of 31.9 per cent was shown by Larkspur—from 47 to 62 listings; Kentfield gained 20 per cent with its 42 listings —up from 35 in 1955. Modest gains were shown in Mill Valley (6.7 per cent) with 221 listings, up from 207, and in Fairfax (5.6 per cent), 71 to 75 listings.

Marin County placed second in the nine-county Bay Area in percentage gain, topped by Santa Clara County's 48.7 per cent increase. The area as a whole had a 3.2 per cent increase. The 47 counties of Northern California showed a total gain of 6 per cent for the 10-year period.

Chrysler Sets Production High

December car production of 146,400 raised fourth quarter car output to 443,241, the highest for any quarter in the company's history. The previous high quarter was recorded in the October-December period of 1964 when 417,316 cars were built. The December total was also a record for the month, exceeding the December 1964 total of 144,991.

Oakland Planning Big New Hanger

OAKLAND—First steps have been taken to construct a super four-day aircraft hangar and maintenance complex at the Metropolitan Oakland International Airport to accommodate the largest jet aircraft now being built.

The Oakland Board of Port Commissioners, acting at the request of Edward J. Daly, president of Wold Airways, Inc., of Oakland, agreed to join with World in retaining Charles Luckman Assoc., architect-engineer firm of Los Angeles, to prepare outline specifications and preliminary cost estimates of the multi-million dollar project.

The new facility will be designed to handle the Lockheed C5-A, currently under construction for the military, and comparable giant size aircraft. Fifty-eight C5-A's, which will be the World's largest jet aircraft, will be delivered by 1972.

Crocker-Citizens Profits Increase

SAN FRANCISCO — Operations of Crocker-Citizens National Bank and its subsidiaries during 1965 resulted in net operating income after taxes equivalent to $2.52 per share, compared with 1964 results of $2.48 per share, it was announced today by Emmett G. Solomon, president of the bank.

The bank and its subsidiaries also recorded all time high figures at the end of 1965 for deposits, loans, total assets and capital accounts.

Net operating income after taxes for Crocker-Citizens and its subsidiaries amounted to $23,694,251 for 1965, compared with a consolidated figure for 1964 of $23,325,310.

On Dec. 31 deposits stood at $3,369,265,564, an increase of $153,051,804 over the Dec. 31, 1964, figure of $3,216,213,760. Cash and securities at the 1965 yearend amounted to $1,411,707,825.

Prothro, Ralston, Bryant Rate Cheers For Coaching Finesse

RANDOL

That was quite a football menu over the last weekend. For an appetizer the East-West Shrine game. Soup and fish with the Sugar and Cotton Bowls. The UCLA-Michigan State Rose Bowl game for the piece de resistance. A little "tossed" salad in an Orange Bowl, and then some frozen dessert imported from Wisconsin for the NFL playoff. Burp!

The only game that really decided a national title was the Green Bay win over the Cleveland Browns on Sunday. A healthy Bart Starr made the difference as the Packers controlled the ball on two out of three plays and ended with two out of three points, 23 - 12.

In the college bowl games, the three top rated teams in the country got their lumps as Michigan State, Nebraska and Arkansas blew their undefeated records to teams that simply outplayed them. It was a great day for the underdog and the forgotten man.

OF COURSE the biggest shocker was the UCLA win over State. This one was billed as the mismatch of the century with the poor little Bruins slated for an all time record crushing. Never again will I say that a given team doesn't have a chance against another. I'm cured.

If Coach Tommy Prothro of the Bruins is not voted Coach of the Year honors by his fellow coaches next week, there is just no justice. Remember that these Bruins were new to Prothro this year and were an almost unanimous choice to finish last in the AAUW. Like real life Cinderellas they overcame all obstacles to gain the Rose Bowl berth and then clobbered the highly publicized Prince Charmings with the glass slipper.

AND WHILE we are patting coaches on the back, we'll add another for John Ralston of Stanford for his direction of the West to its upset victory over the highly favored All Americans from the East. Could be that John's smiling face will shine from the Rose Bowl next year or very soon thereafter as he is quietly building a football machine down on the Farm. This year's frosh team was loaded.

ANOTHER COACH deserving his annual pat is Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama. The Orange Bowl champs lost only one game this year, that by one point to Georgia in their season opener. The Bear always manages to come up a winner—in fact, he has the best overall record in the nation. If he were not so well set up at Alabama he would be a top choice to direct the new Atlanta Falcons when they start NFL play next year.

ALL IN ALL it was a great weekend with every game having its share of thrills and suspense. It is too bad the football season, already too long, can't end right here. Instead we move South for the leftover bowls such as the Senior, NFL runner-up, and AFL and NFL all-star games. One of these days we may find the Giants (baseball type) playing a doubleheader with the 49ers at Candlestick Park in April.

Brillliant Cast For Palace Track Meet

A pair of University of Kansas track aces joined the brilliant cast being assembled for next Saturday's Examiner Invitational Track and Field Meet at the Cow Palace.

America's ace miler, Jim Ryun, and two-mile king, John Lawson, accepted invitations to compete in the third annual indoor meet.

The addition of Ryun to a fine mile field which already includes NCAA champion Bob Day of UCLA would indicate that for the first time in San Francisco history the magic four-minute mark for the mile may be broken.

Ryun, a prep phenom, returns to San Francisco where he began his brilliant career in December of 1963 appearing in his first big indoor meet against Gerry Lindgren.

Since then he has chosen the mile run as his specialty while Lindgren stayed with the longer events.

As successful as Lindgren has been, Ryun possibly has shown even greater talent. He has scored blistering times of 3:39 in the 1,500 meters and 1:50.3 for the 880.

His biggest win was scored last year in the AAU championships when the young Kansas runner pulled one of the biggest upsets in track history by beating record holder Peter Snell and Jim Grelle with an American record effort of 3:55.3.

On last year's European tour, Ryun was nothing short of sensational, finishing second to Grelle in the USA-USSR meet, winning the mile in the USA-Poland meet and winning the mile in the USA-German meet where he beat Grelle.

The Ryun-Day duel should be one of the standout events of this year's Invitational. Day, after winning the NCAA mile championship and the mile run in the USTFF meet with a 3:56.8 clocking, passed the AAU meet and a head-on meeting with Ryun due to the AAU-NCAA dispute.

With the sanctioning bodies now at a truce, the two men who could rewrite the mile record in future years will come face to face.

He is reigning king of cross country competition owning victories over six-miles in both the NCAA and USTFF championships.

His main competition in the Examiner two-mile run will come from Lindgren, Jeff Fishback and Oregon's Ken Moore.

Brown, also announced to run in the Cow Palace show, was forced to withdraw from the meet late last week due to a leg injury.

Other stars confirmed for this outstanding indoor show include John Pennel, Ralph Boston, Mike Larrabee, Parry O'Brien, Blaine Lindgren, Rex Cawley, Darel Newman and Ted Nelson to name just a few.

MARIN PREP BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Redwood '5' Is Favored Again

By GLENN BECKER

Independent-Journal Sports
Tuesday, Jan. 4, 1966

(Sixth in a series on prospects of Marin Athletic League basketball teams.)

Redwood lost its first Marin Athletic League basketball game last year, and has yet to lose another league contest. After dropping their opener to Drake last year, the Giants won 11 straight to spreadeagle the field and win the title by four games.

The competition this year, particularly from Drake and Novato, should be a lot stiffer, but coach Dick Hart has two returning starters from 1964-65 to fortify his hopes of another championship and Redwood is the first club the other coaches mention as the favorite.

Last year Hart said it would be a really close race, and the Giants had the title wrapped up with three games still on the schedule. This year he is saying it's between Drake and Novato.

"Inexperience will hurt us," said the veteran cage coach, and then preceeded to name Drake, Novato, Marin Catholic, Tamalpais and "darkhorse" San Rafael. As for Redwood, he said, "We'll do the best we can. We're cautious, but hope for a chance to go all the way."

One asset Redwood takes into the race is the greatest scoring punch in league history. In winning six of their first 10 preleague games, the Giants have averaged 71.6 points per game. This is better than many college quintets are averaging in games which are eight minutes longer than the preps play.

They are contrasting types. Smith is a 6-1 senior, a starter last year, whose 20-foot jumpers make him the highest scorer at Redwood since Jay Johnson in 1962. Smith does not drive much and thus draws few fouls, but he puts the ball in the air fast—"quick release," the coaches call it—and is tough to guard.

Smith is shooting with tremendous accuracy for a fellow who takes many of his shots from the perimeter. He had Lincoln's Mustangs shaking their heads as he hit 16 of 25 shots (that's 64 per cent, Clyde) in a 34-point barrage two weeks ago. Overall he is shooting at 51 per cent.

Little Andre Horn, 5-9, nicely complements Smith's skills with his driving ability and speed. Except on fast break, the Giants do not play inside as much as other clubs because they are not too hefty in the forecourt, but Horn is fast enough to lose his man going to the bucket and he draws many fouls in the process.

An All-MCAL "B" performer last year as a sophomore, Horn has made 49 field goals and 44 foul shots so far. His shooting percentage is 45 and his top effort was 26 against Lincoln.

Redwood		Opponent

77	Balboa	67
78	Washington (S.F.)	83
79	Lincoln	84
80	Santa Rosa	63

Despite the 60 points by the guards, the Giants lost to the Links 84-79 in overtime. Redwood split with Washington winning the first game 58-56 and then losing 83-78. Lincoln and Washington are co-favorites to win the San Francisco 'AAA crown and both whipped Drake handily the same weekend they were struggling past Redwood.

The trip to Berkeley for the Tournament of champions in March is the big prize for local cagers, of course, and the Giants would dearly like another shot at it. Redwood has been there twice and twice has been bounced about like the ball they play the game with.

Whoever the MCAL champs are they will carry an extra-heavy burden to the TOC. The tournament officials are considering dropping Marin because the MCAL has done so poorly there.

Often Marin teams are desperately disadvantaged in height against the other champions. Redwood is not as well off as Drake in their front line, but the Giants have a 6-5 Jack Fitzhenry. Fitzhenry is a junior, the other two seniors.

Meyer and Smith were starters last year (the Giants lost all-leaguers center Tom Bly, guard Charley Davis and forward Don Detrich to graduation). Meyer is rather lanky at 185 pounds, but he has averaged 11 rebounds a game. Chuck doesn't handle the ball much, consequently has scored very little.

McGee has scored at a 14.6 clip and Fitzhenry at 9.2. Both rebound fairly well.

The top Giant reserves have been 5-11 guard Dave Strathairn and 6-foot forward Dave Crossley. Hart has three 6-4 boys on the bench and one, junior Allen Fritz, came in to sink a crucial basket in the battle with Lincoln. The others are Duncan Williams, a senior, and Jim Mark, a junior.

The Giants like to fast break and offer an exciting ball club. They were able to withstand a pressing defense by Washington, which took a 29-19 lead in their first game but saw McGee win it with a jump shot in the last seven seconds.

Two of the top battles of the season should occur Friday and Feb. 4, when the Giants play Drake. The backcourt duel among Smith and Horn and Drake's Will Curley and Bill Ingram should be interesting.

Redwood's league schedule:

Kentucky Industrial Growth Rate Rises

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's industrial growth almost doubled during 1965, while the state's unemployment rate dipped to an all-time low, says Gov. Edward T. Breathitt.

The governor, in a year-end economic report, said that companies invested $208 million in plants during the year — nearly $91 million more than the total of 1964. Breathitt said there were 206 announcements of major plant construction in 1965 and said it will mean the creation of 13,900 new jobs in Kentucky.

Maine To Have Nuclear Power Plant

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A corporation has been formed to build a $100-million atomic power electric plant capable of producing 700,000 kilowatts.

William H. Dunham, president of the Central Maine Power Co., says construction will begin late in 1967 with completion by early 1972 at a location to be announced.

Kennan Is Named Fellow At Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard University has announced the appointment of George F. Kennan, diplomat and historian, as a university fellow in history and Slavic civilizations.

President Nathan M. Pusey said Kennan will be able to participate in seminars and give occasional lectures at Harvard while continuing his professorship at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N.J. Kennan has served as U.S. ambassador in Moscow and Belgrade.

Police Radar Bags Alleged Speeders

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State police, using portable radar sets, arrested more than 101,279 alleged speeders in the first 10 months of 1965, the agency says.

A spokesman says the total was a 36.1 per cent increase over the same period for 1964, when 74,401 motorists were stopped through the use of radar.

Negro County Chief Takes Over Office

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The first Negro to head a county government in New Jersey has been sworn in as director of the Essex County Board of Freeholders.

Charles Matthews, a Democrat, is an insurance executive who was born on an Alabama farm.

Keel Laid For New Cargo Ship

PASCAGOULA, Miss. — The Ingalls Shipbuilding Division of Litton Industries, the nation's leader in the building of automated cargo vessels, started construction here today of the first of five advanced automated cargo liners for American President Lines of San Francisco.

Construction officially began when Ingalls workers placed the keel for the vessel which will be named S.S. President Van Buren. Representatives of American President Lines, Ingalls and the U.S. Maritime Commission were on hand for the keel laying which marked the beginning of a $68 million contract between Ingalls and A P L.

Under the contract Ingalls will build five Seamaster class C-4 cargo liners. The vessels will contain the latest mechanical and automated equipment some of which has never before been used in marine application.

In addition to the automation, increased capacity and flexibility of cargo handling and stowage will be featured in each of the ships.

Stocks Close Higher After Brisk Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—Late Profit taking trimmed some gains as the stock market closed higher today. Trading was active.

Averages drove toward new highs as coppers, steels, rails, aerospace defense issues, utilities and selected stocks advanced.

Trading was brisk despite the New York City transit strike, now in its second business day.

Prices of some steels were trimmed after Colorado Fuel & Iron rescinded its price increase for structural steel.

Coppers rallied for the second day. Aerospace defense issues were bought as hostilities continued in Viet Nam.

Merger-oriented rail stocks made sharp gains.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.5 million shares compared with 5.95 million yesterday.

Crucible Steel, up 1, was leading the list on volume. Wheeling Steel rose about 2½. U.S. Steel was up about a point. Fractional gains were made by Republic Steel, Inland, Jones & Laughlin and Lukens Steel.

Coppers rallied on the increase in world copper prices. Anaconda gained 1, Magma about 1½, Copper Range well over 2 and Inspiration a point or better.

Among defense issues, United Aircraft, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft rose a point or more.

Chrysler advanced more than a point. Ford and General Motors were fractional gainers.

Up about 2 were Eastman Kodak, Pennsylvania Railroad, Soo Line and Texas Instruments.

Up a point or more were Texas Gulf Sulphur, Hercules Powder, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Telephone, International Telephone, General Electric, IBM, Polaroid and Xerox.

New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio gained 3 or better.

Down a point or so were Union Carbide, Eastern Air Lines, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Zenith and Control Data.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

Central Valley Bank's Profits Rise Over 1964

OAKLAND — Central Valley National Bank reported 1965 record high net operating earnings of $895,421 or $2.05 a share compared to $861,948 or $1.98 cents a share for 1964.

The board of directors declared an extra dividend of 5 cents a share payable to shareholders of record as of Jan. 7. This is in addition to the regular 30 cent per share quarterly dividend previously voted.

Michael G. Rafton, chairman of the board, and President William A. Huggins, pointed out that second half profits for 1965 amounted to $1.23 a share or 50 per cent higher than the 82 cent figure for the first six months of the year.

Loans and discounts increased from $105,454,614 at year's end 1964, to $109,550,658. Total resources and deposits also showed gains over the preceding year.

When the Danes conquered England in the 7th century, they forbade the English to drink except when in the company of Danish people.

Holiday Magic Cosmetics Adds Three Executives To Its Staff

A newly formed corporation, San Francisco Placement Agency, Inc., is headed by three Marinites — James T. Rubey, president, and Jane L. Rubey, secretary-treasurer—both of Mill Valley, and Raye A. Murray, vice president, of Novato. It succeeds San Francisco Placement Bureau Agency, a proprietorship in operation for 21 years and engaged in executive middle management, staff, technical and office placement.

FRED MAYER of Sausalito Pharmacy and his associates Joseph Rotenberg of Greenbrae and Oakland attorney C. E. Fletcher have formed a new corporation, Mayer Laboratories, Inc., for their "Reprieve" hangover pills which are now being marketed in the Bay Area, Oregon, Washington and Alaska. They are now entering the Southern California market.

VERNON A. LIBBY of Fairfax, executive vice president of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, has taken a stand against "laws designed unfairly to penalize or restrict door-to-door selling," and he declares that such laws are invariably repealed or fall into disuse.

Said Libby, "Direct selling is one of our three principal forms of merchandising, along with retail stores and mail order houses. It fills a vacuum which might otherwise exist in the distributive process, and contributes significantly to our democratic economy." He further described door-to-door selling as a creative and educational force in the country's economy, building markets for local retailers and introducing new products to consumers.

Libby's statements were based upon a bulletin just issued by the National Better Business Bureau entitled "The Right of Free Men to Engage in Legitimate Business." The national bureau believes legislation which restricts direct selling "violates the spirit of fair play."

A SHIFT in top-level management at Holiday Magic Cosmetics, San Rafael has changed assignments for three executives and added three others to the staff.

Board chairman William P. Patrick, who is a candidate for governor of California, has taken on the additional duties of president, replacing Robert Depew in this office. Depew has been named director of the Mexico operation.

Pape

Fred Pape of San Rafael has been appointed executive vice president. He joined Holiday more than a year ago as a distributor. In the past he has been engaged in several Marin activities as owner of a car wash, beauty salon and stereo equipment store. To assist Pape, the company has hired Sherman Coultas, a young attorney and former government agent in San Francisco.

John Hart, formerly executive vice president of the Los Angeles public relations firm Pete Summers, Inc., has been made vice chairman of the board. Former regional supervisor Richard Michael has been promoted to vice president of Holiday Magic Canada.

SUNSET INTERNATIONAL PETROLEUM CORP. has received an award from the Tile Council of America for the quality of its homes in San Marin. Among features praised are fireplaces, built-ins and luminous ceilings.

FRANK A. TALLARIDA of San Rafael has become an associate in the Wachsman-Nixon Co., Marin agency for State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America. Originally from Rochester, N.Y., Tallarida recently completed the graduate requirements of the Life Insurance Marketing Institute.

Brown Predicts Boom In New State Jobs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today California's economy will generate 230,000 new jobs in 1966, the highest total in seven years and a 23.7 per cent jump over last year.

The governor said he expects the state's unemployment rate to hit a seven-year low this year.

Listings Up 38 Pct. In Marin During '65

Marin County listed 38.1 per cent more businesses in 1965 than in 1955, according to a report just released by Dun and Bradstreet.

There were 2,043 business listings in the county last year—a gain of 564 listing from 1955, the report said.

Novato showed the greatest percentage increase over the 10-year period—from 124 to 235 listings, a gain of 89.5 per cent. Corte Madera, with a jump from 50 to 81 listings, made second place at 62 per cent.

San Rafael showed the greatest gain in total listings—from 564 in 1955 to 843 in 1965, an increase of 49.5 per cent. Sausalito in fourth place went up 45.7 per cent from 118 listings in 1955 to 172 last year.

Point Reyes Station showed a 20 per cent loss over the decade—down from 20 listings to 16. San Anselmo had a 1.2 per cent drop from 167 to 165 listings.

An increase of 31.9 per cent was shown by Larkspur—from 47 to 62 listings; Kentfield gained 20 per cent with its 42 listings—up from 35 in 1955. Modest gains were shown in Mill Valley (6.7 per cent) with 221 listings, up from 207, and in Fairfax (5.6 per cent), 71 to 75 listings.

Marin County placed second in the nine-county Bay Area in percentage gain, topped by Santa Clara County's 48.7 per cent increase. The area as a whole had a 3.2 per cent increase. The 47 counties of Northern California showed a total gain of 6 per cent for the 10-year period.

Chrysler Sets Production High

December car production of 146,400 raised fourth quarter car output to 443,241, the highest for any quarter in the company's history. The previous high quarter was recorded in the October-December period of 1964 when 417,316 cars were built. The December total was also a record for the month, exceeding the December 1964 total of 144,991.

Oakland Planning Big New Hanger

OAKLAND—First steps have been taken to construct a super four-day aircraft hangar and maintenance complex at the Metropolitan Oakland International Airport to accommodate the largest jet aircraft now being built.

The Oakland Board of Port Commissioners, acting at the request of Edward J. Daly, president of Wold Airways, Inc., of Oakland, agreed to join with World in retaining Charles Luckman Assoc., architect-engineer firm of Los Angeles, to prepare outline specifications and preliminary cost estimates of the multi-million dollar project.

The new facility will be designed to handle the Lockheed C5-A, currently under construction for the military, and comparable giant size aircraft. Fifty-eight C5-A's, which will be the World's largest jet aircraft, will be delivered by 1972.

Crocker-Citizens Profits Increase

SAN FRANCISCO — Operations of Crocker-Citizens National Bank and its subsidiaries during 1965 resulted in net operating income after taxes equivalent to $2.52 per share, compared with 1964 results of $2.48 per share, it was announced today by Emmett G. Solomon, president of the bank.

The bank and its subsidiaries also recorded all time high figures at the end of 1965 for deposits, loans, total assets and capital accounts.

Net operating income after taxes for Crocker-Citizens and its subsidiaries amounted to $23,694,251 for 1965, compared with a consolidated figure for 1964 of $23,325.310.

Public Opinion Changing On Narcotics Sentences

Public awareness of, and alarm over, the increasing use of marijuana and other narcotics are reflected in the report of the 1965 Marin County Grand Jury.

The grand jurors called on the judiciary to hand down stiffer penalties for narcotics possessors and users.

In a sense, the report can be described as a "slap" at the courts. But we feel that it reflects rather the sense of urgency which the public feels in the face of this growing menace.

We need not be overly critical of our judges. Over the years, they have been invoking the same type of penalties, including probation, for narcotics offenses, particularly for first offenders.

As the incidence of narcotics offenses rises, public clamor for stricter control intensifies. Particularly because the use of narcotics is spreading to our younger citizens and students, public alarm has reached the point where past penalties no longer seem sufficient.

Whereas the severity of punishment may have remained unchanged over the years, the public's attitude toward the penalties has changed.

What once appeared to be sufficient penalty to an apathetic public now seems "soft" and "weak-kneed" to an aroused citizenry.

The Marin County Grand Jury's recommendations serve notice on the courts that the PUBLIC wants stronger action.

And as long as the county's courts attempt to represent the conscience of the community, the courts, we feel, would be justified in shifting to a "harder" approach in dealing with narcotics violators.

One line of attack is stronger legislation.

But even within the framework of existing laws in the state penal code, health and safety code and the business and professions code, judges have wide discretion in sentencing. Penalty for felony possession or sale of narcotics can range anywhere from probation to incarceration in the county jail or in state prison.

It is our hope that the courts, in deference to the concern expressed by the public, will see fit to stiffen the penalties, especially for repeat offenders.

We believe the grand jury speaks for the large majority when it points out:

"Without judicial recognition of the necessity for meaningful deterrents, all other efforts to dispel the attitude common to many Marin County teen-agers, that criminal matters relating to marijuana are trivial offenses, will be of little or no value."

As we have said before, even "mild" narcotics are dangerous, in that the users almost invariably graduate into "harder" drugs like heroin.

Judicial notice of this danger, in the form of stiff jail terms and even prison sentences in aggravated cases, should go far in dispelling the misguided notion that narcotics offenses are trivial.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

"DEAD MAN" SPEAKS UP

A policeman got the surprise of his life when he brought a 40-year-old man into a hospital after he had collapsed on a street in Rochester, Minn.

"I think he's dead," he told the nurse.

"No, I'm not!" said the supposed corpse. "Don't bury me."

The danger of being buried while still alive is rather remote for most people. Yet it is quite possible for a person to live his life as though he were practically dead.

The longest life is at best comparatively short. Make the most of it, by living it to the fullest.

Discover the talents and abilities that God has entrusted to you, be they few or many. Then apply them in a manner that honors Him, is a credit to you and benefits your fellow men.

Life takes on fresh meaning and purpose if you keep trying to give of yourself wholeheartedly rather than halfheartedly. And you will be better prepared to meet your Maker, no matter when death comes.

"I came that they may have life, and have it more abundantly." (John 10:10)

Let me so live, O Lord, that I will always be prepared to die.

State-Financed Roadway Map Almost Ready For Distribution

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The State of California, through its Division of Highways, is engaging in a new activity: Distribution of highway maps of California.

This may appear to be a needless expenditure of state highway funds to many people but, actually, there is more justification for issuance of the highway map than for many another item the state disburses.

The new map, hot off the press and ready for distribution about the middle of January, is a real tribute to the art of printing. It is a multi-colored job with perfect justification and is easily readable.

Although patently more or less a piece of campaign literature for Gov. Edmund G. Brown, whose color picture and message appears on the back of the map above the state flag, the state flower, the state tree and the state bird, the map is bound otherwise to serve some useful purpose.

ASKED WHY the state went into the map business when California road maps are available at virtually every service station in the state, highway officials said the renumbering of highway routes had a lot to do with the decision to print approximately two million maps.

COST OF THE publication is minimal. The original appropriation was $100,000, and not all that has been used up, highway officials say. This brings the cost of the map to under five cents apiece, far cheaper for a better and more authentic map than can be purchased elsewhere.

This isn't to say the oil companies of California have done a bad job with their highway maps. Without these highway maps obtainable at service stations, many a lost driver would be wandering over state highways. But it is difficult for the oil companies to keep up to date with the changes in highway routes.

THE DIVISION of Highways will distribute the publication through the Department of Agriculture, at highway entry points into California, and at selected chambers of commerce throughout the state.

In addition, the public may secure a copy of the map by writing the Information Office, California Division of Highways, Box 1499, Sacramento, Calif. 95807.

Creche Held Unconstitutional

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The news that the statue of the little Lord Jesus was stolen from the San Anselmo creche last week must have been shocking to some people, but it was amusing to me. It would seem that the very existence of such a creche in a public place is virtually an invitation to pranksters.

This creche could hardly be considered an aesthetic addition to the civic scene. Moreover, it is considered to be a violation of the U.S. Constitution, i.e., public property may not be used to promote the beliefs of any particular sect or religious organization.

All in all, it would seem best to discontinue having a creche displayed on the grounds of the San Anselmo City Hall. And, to quote Gilbert and Sullivan, "It never would be missed."

Streamlined Railway Backed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of Dec. 28 concerning the planned reconstruction of a Mount Tamalpais railroad very significantly contains the word "nostalgia." I cannot help noticing that you don't seem to develop great enthusiasm for this new idea and, frankly, I don't blame you.

Miles and miles of railroad tracks winding up the mountain would anything but improve the beauty of the natural scenery. Besides, you apparently forgot to mention it, the fire department let it be known that in the event of such a railroad a new fire road would have to be cut into the side of the mountain.

Now, the basic idea of furnishing the public an interesting way of transportation to the top of Mount Tamalpais and the well planned construction of an attractive restaurant there definitely deserves consideration.

But why not avail ourselves of up-to-date methods of transportation? Why not, for instance, a modern, smooth, streamlined electric funicular railway straight up the mountain from the Mountain Home restaurant, if such an idea were feasible from a technical standpoint, of course.

Old things, ideas and yearnings usually wear out sooner or later and, as a comforting thought, nostalgia does, too.

Restaurant Fine Railroad Is Not

Editor, Independent-Journal:

At a first glance the rebuilding of the Mount Tam. railroad seems like a fun idea to a lot of people. But do they ever consider the other side of the picture.

In your editorial you mentioned that not a single cut in the mountain will be required. It seems, however, that the fire department will require new fireroads. What about the fire hazard. Wasn't the big fire in '29 attributed to a spark of the train. What will be left of the hiking and riding trails? And above all can you imagine the mess of beer cans and trash along the railroad bed?

The proposed restaurant at the top is a wonderful idea. But isn't one way for a mechanized vehicle enough? Can't they leave the rest of the mountain to the less feeble people who get satisfaction out of hiking up in peace and quiet in this unique area so close to the big city?

Nothing is better to get rid of tensions and worries than working up a sweat on a good climb to the top of Mount Tam. It saves a visit to the psychiatrist and that money could be spent on a beer at that nice restaurant. But leave the mountain alone, please!

What's Source Of Patriots

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am moved to wonder where letter-writer Albert F. Kerss encounters these "flag-waving, self-styled patriots," about whom he is "getting a little tired and annoyed." All I encounter is beatnik-pickets, paraders and hangers-on devoted to the theme that patriotism is an epithet and flag-waving an obscene act.

I would agree with Mr. Kerss that certain American people are oblivious to a number of things—to the fact that the Communists have by now murdered more than 10-fold the capacity of all Hitler's gas-ovens and are still going strong; to the fact that a million people have at great cost and effort fled the Communist in Viet Nam; to the fact that it is no more terrible to respond to the pleas for help of the free citizens of Viet Nam than it was to do so in Europe, where the roads to Dachau and Auschwitz were long and bloody, and many an innocent person died as we fought our way along those roads. As a veteran of that war, I could reasonably ask, should we then never have started down those roads at all? I cannot conceive of any answer except the one we accepted and followed.

Why, then, are the pleas of the victims of the Red Hitlers of these days to be ignored? They face an enemy who has already dwarfed the original Hitler in inhumanity and bestiality—and one who is already thousands of miles closer to that greatest of all objectives: rich, productive, golden America.

Indeed, I would like to know Mr. Kerss' source of patriots and flag-wavers. It would be encouraging to walk, for a change, down such a street.

BENNETT CERF

RICK FRIEDMAN, in his newly published "U.N. Wit and Humor," tells about a testy meeting of the Security Council in the early 1950's when a British delegate, wearied by all the arguments, suddenly interrupted with "My government would propose a short recess at which it would be most happy to serve as host for a small libation—perhaps a whisky and soda." The Russian representative was on his feet in no time flat, announcing happily, "The delegation from the U.S.S.R. will not abstain."

12-29

WHEN THE daffy Dodgers were bivouacked at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, they had on their roster one outfielder who sported a flowing beard and mustache till heartless manager Casey Stengel (then a kid of 55 or so) made him shave them off. The outfielder's name was Bordagary, nicknamed Frenchy, and his work in the outfield often left something to be desired. One day the Dodgers were nursing a 2 to 1 lead with only the ninth inning to go. The Dodger pitcher retired the first two opposing hitters, then induced the third to lift an easy fly to Bordagary's territory. Frenchy muffed it—a horrendous three-base error. Then the next hitter lined one over Frenchy's head—but after a desperate run, he caught the ball in his gloved hand, and held on to it when he crashed into the fence. The crowd gave him a great hand as he headed for the clubhouse. Frenchy explained, "That muff fooled 'em. I gave 'em the old decoy—and they fell for it." For once, even Stengel was speechless.

Congressional Reorganization Committee Readying Report

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
(James Marlow is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—A joint committee is expected to come up soon with a host of recommendations for modernizing Congress.

But if any proposals involve significant changes in the operation or structure of Congress, they aren't likely to get anywhere.

The 12-member committee of six senators and six representatives was created by Congress last March and was given $150,000 to finance its studies and hearings. It has held numerous public hearings and is due to go out of business on Jan. 31.

Many of the recommendations made to the committee by congressional students both inside and outside of Congress would require changes which the practical politicians don't seem ready to accept.

ONE OF THE dominant proposals has been to abolish the seniority system of advancement in the Senate and the House. Under the present system, a member can aspire to becoming a committee chairman or at least chairman of a major subcommittee simply by getting re-elected often enough.

Much of the clamor for a change — to rotate chairmanships or provide for election of chairmen in party caucuses—has come from members fairly well down on the seniority list. Most senior members want no change that might keep them from getting to the top or might curb their tenure once they got them. It's these older and well-established members who usually call the shots in Congress.

REPUBLICANS, as well as non-partisan students, have advocated stronger staffing for minority members of committees. If the joint committee should adopt this proposal, Congress might go along with it. It would provide more appointive, highly paid jobs.

Congress also might go along with recommendations to provide additional staffing for individual members. This, too, would provide some more good jobs and could result in more efficient service for constituents.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE on Congressional reorganization was created to see what it could do about complaints that the congressional machinery was too antiquated and needed overhauling.

Not since 1946 has there been a congressional reorganization act. A joint committee that year made almost 40 recommendations, many of which were ignored.

Congress did approve 1946 recommendations raising its pay and making members eligible for pensions.

The 1946 act called for a reduction in the number of standing committees, but the cut was more than offest by the birth of scores of special and subcommittees.

Opponents of any major changes in the congressional machinery have a strong argument going for them. The 1965 session, operating under the 1946 framework, set a record for legislative accomplishment. Its leaders aren't too enthusiastic about tinkering with the machinery.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Long Plans Check On Drug Companies

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic whip Russell Long of Louisiana is aspiring to a favorite gadfly role of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver—exposing "monopolistic profiteering" by drug manufacturers.

PARTICULAR targets will be drug companies charged with making huge profits by gaining exclusive patents on products developed by government-financed research.

Specific cases in Long's files—which will be presented in detail in the course of the public hearings—deal with instances of federally financed inventions that were not reported to government authorities, collusion involving government employees, charging of excessive prices for these products and stock market profits.

Long's avowed aim is the enactment of legislation to put an end to these practices and loopholes.

"I DON'T WANT a company to develop a product as a result of the expenditure of taxpayers' money and then obtain a patent on the process so it can charge as much as it wants," says the son of the late Huey (Kingfish) Long. "My investigations have uncovered instances in which drug prices are 1,000 times the cost of production."

Hardest hit, contends Long, are older people, who spend an estimated $1 billion a year for drugs and medicines. "They generally have the lowest income," he notes, "yet need three and one-half times more medicinals than other age groups."

UNQUESTIONABLY, behind Long's zealous concern about "monopoly" and "profiteering" in drugs are other motivations.

In addition to heading the monopoly subcommittee, Long is slated to become chairman of the powerful finance committee, which has jurisdiction over all revenue legislation. He is a member of the prestigious foreign relations committee, the joint committee on internal revenue taxation — is Democratic whip, the party's No. 2 leader in the chamber.

HE CAN BE EXPECTED to make the most of his contemplated investigation.

Foremost among the cases due to be aired are those involving patented measles and pneumonia vaccines.

Two companies in particular will be probed. One patented a measles vaccine that, it is claimed, was based on work done under a government contract but not reported to the government. The other concern attempted to gain exclusive patent rights on a pneumonia vaccine developed under government-financed research.

The pneumonia vaccine was developed under a $1 million public health contract to a large drug company. Subsequently, two of its microbiologists applied for a patent, which experts of the National Institute of Health described as "an important breakthrough in a new area . . . very useful in preventing atypical pneumonia in military recruits and students at high school and college level."

The company was not granted domestic patents. It is now seeking title to all potentially highly profitable foreign patent rights.

Some government agencies, notably the Atomic Energy Commission, require that all patents stemming from government contracts automatcially revert to the government. But other agencies, foremost among them the Defense Department, National Aeronautics and Space Agency, and the Public Health Service, can waive patent claims.

Long says he wants to eliminate this permissive authority and require by law that all patents resulting from government-financed research "belong to the public and be freely available to all potential users."

Kentucky Industrial Growth Rate Rises

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's industrial growth almost doubled during 1965, while the state's unemployment rate dipped to an all-time low, says Gov. Edward T. Breathitt.

The governor, in a year-end economic report, said that companies invested $208 million in plants during the year — nearly $91 million more than the total of 1964. Breathitt said there were 206 announcements of major plant construction in 1965 and said it will mean the creation of 13,900 new jobs in Kentucky.

Maine To Have Nuclear Power Plant

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A corporation has been formed to build a $100-million atomic power electric plant capable of producing 700,000 kilowatts.

William H. Dunham, president of the Central Maine Power Co., says construction will begin late in 1967 with completion by early 1972 at a location to be announced.

Kennan Is Named Fellow At Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard University has announced the appointment of George F. Kennan, diplomat and historian, as a university fellow in history and Slavic civilizations.

President Nathan M. Pusey said Kennan will be able to participate in seminars and give occasional lectures at Harvard while continuing his professorship at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N.J. Kennan has served as U.S. ambassador in Moscow and Belgrade.

Police Radar Bags Alleged Speeders

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State police, using portable radar sets, arrested more than 101,279 alleged speeders in the first 10 months of 1965, the agency says.

A spokesman says the total was a 36.1 per cent increase over the same period for 1964, when 74,401 motorists were stopped through the use of radar.

Negro County Chief Takes Over Office

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The first Negro to head a county government in New Jersey has been sworn in as director of the Essex County Board of Freeholders.

Charles Matthews, a Democrat, is an insurance executive who was born on an Alabama farm.

Keel Laid For New Cargo Ship

PASCAGOULA, Miss. — The Ingalls Shipbuilding Division of Litton Industries, the nation's leader in the building of automated cargo vessels, started construction here today of the first of five advanced automated cargo liners for American President Lines of San Francisco.

Construction officially began when Ingalls workers placed the keel for the vessel which will be named S.S. President Van Buren. Representatives of American President Lines, Ingalls and the U.S. Maritime Commission were on hand for the keel laying which marked the beginning of a $68 million contract between Ingalls and A P L.

Under the contract Ingalls will build five Seamaster class C-4 cargo liners. The vessels will contain the latest mechanical and automated equipment some of which has never before been used in marine application.

In addition to the automation, increased capacity and flexibility of cargo handling and stowage will be featured in each of the ships.

Stocks Close Higher After Brisk Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—Late Profit taking trimmed some gains as the stock market closed higher today. Trading was active.

Averages drove toward new highs as coppers, steels, rails, aerospace defense issues, utilities and selected stocks advanced.

Trading was brisk despite the New York City transit strike, now in its second business day.

Prices of some steels were trimmed after Colorado Fuel & Iron rescinded its price increase for structural steel.

Coppers rallied for the second day. Aerospace defense issues were bought as hostilities continued in Viet Nam.

Merger-oriented rail stocks made sharp gains.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.5 million shares compared with 5.95 million yesterday.

Crucible Steel, up 1, was leading the list on volume. Wheeling Steel rose about 2½. U.S. Steel was up about a point. Fractional gains were made by Republic Steel, Inland, Jones & Laughlin and Lukens Steel.

Coppers rallied on the increase in world copper prices. Anaconda gained 1, Magma about 1½, Copper Range well over 2 and Inspiration a point or better.

Among defense issues, United Aircraft, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft rose a point or more.

Chrysler advanced more than a point. Ford and General Motors were fractional gainers.

Up about 2 were Eastman Kodak, Pennsylvania Railroad, Soo Line and Texas Instruments.

Up a point or more were Texas Gulf Sulphur, Hercules Powder, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Telephone, International Telephone, General Electric, IBM, Polaroid and Xerox.

New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio gained 3 or better.

Down a point or so were Union Carbide, Eastern Air Lines, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Zenith and Control Data.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

Central Valley Bank's Profits Rise Over 1964

OAKLAND — Central Valley National Bank reported 1965 record high net operating earnings of $895,421 or $2.05 a share compared to $861,948 or $1.98 cents a share for 1964.

The board of directors declared an extra dividend of 5 cents a share payable to shareholders of record as of Jan. 7. This is in addition to the regular 30 cent per share quarterly dividend previously voted.

Michael G. Rafton, chairman of the board, and President William A. Huggins, pointed out that second half profits for 1965 amounted to $1.23 a share or 50 per cent higher than the 82 cent figure for the first six months of the year.

Loans and discounts increased from $105,454,614 at year's end 1964, to $109,550,658. Total resources and deposits also showed gains over the preceding year.

When the Danes conquered England in the 7th century, they forbade the English to drink except when in the company of Danish people.

Hamilton Air Force Base Has Changed Roles Through Years

Two announcements told last week of the elevated stature of Hamilton Air Force Base in the nation, in fact in western North America. It becomes the headquarters command for all armed forces involved in air defense in 11 western states and two Canadian provinces, with the creation of the Western North American Air Defense Command ranging from Alaska to Mexico.

In addition, it has been selected as the command post for the reactivated Fourth Air Force. Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli will be the commander of the western NORAD region. Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin will be the deputy commander of the region. An air commodore of the Royal Canadian Air Force will be a vice commander of the region.

Hamilton's position as a command base will be assured probably for as long as there is a need for aero-space defense of the North American continent.

IN ADDITION to this added importance, Hamilton already has achieved quite a stature as a command post. It is the headquarters of the 78th Fighter Wing, the 78th Combat Support Group, the Western Air Rescue Center, Western Communications Region, the Sixth Air Force Reserve Region and the 349th Troop Carrier Wing.

The new western NORAD region command will cause some changes in the personnel at Hamilton. Uniforms of the Army, Navy, and Royal Canadian Air Force will be added to those of the Air Force on the base.

Residents of the area will soon become accustomed to seeing the military brass from all services in this country and the Canadian air force coming and going at the base.

WITH THE BASE being the headquarters for a two-nation military command, more and more dignitaries and politicians can be expected to visit the base.

There will be other side effects to the increase in the importance of Hamilton. Probably military officials will be more reluctant than ever to consider the possibility of another county-owned air strip east of the runway at Hamilton. This has been proposed many times as a solution to the county airport problem because it could use the tower facilities at Hamilton.

So if Marin County is to develop a first class airport, it will probably have to look to the open space north of Novato for it and not the open space east of the runway at Hamilton.

AT THE REDEDICATION of Hamilton last spring, there were several men present who had worked to get the base for Marin County. They related how they had worked to get a county bond issue passed to buy land to give to the Army for a bomber base.

They wanted the military establishment in order to gain jobs for the unemployed in the county during the worst days of the depression. They succeeded and the base was started. It no more than became operational when World War II came along. Hamilton took on a role of wartime importance greater than they had hoped.

Did they ever think Hamilton would be the command base for the defense of all western North America, except Alaska?

Keep Your Resolutions Simple: No Caviar, Bridge Buying, Tips

NEW YORK (AP)—Having trouble keeping your annual New Year resolutions?

There is no point in making 1,001 vows on things you are going to do in 1966 to make yourself a better person. This only creates laughter in heaven, as the angels know no man can become that perfect.

If you must make positive vows, keep them few and simple, such as, "I hereby resolve to eat regularly in 1966 and try in every way possible to inherit as much money as I can."

A BETTER WAY is to take a negative attitude.

For example, I have pledged myself in 1966 never to—

Beat my wife or the family cat.

Do my daughter's homework problems in algebra.

Grow a beard.

Be the last guy to laugh when the boss tells a joke.

Give stock market tips to strangers.

Take stock market tips from strangers.

LEARN TO PLAY the zither.

Purchase a charming old house in the suburbs and do it over myself.

Eat caviar, except on doctor's orders.

FOLLOW ANY PROGRAM of exercises that requires more than 10 knee bends a month.

Ask anyone at a cocktail party why he is for or against our policy in Viet Nam.

Borrow money from anyone except a known enemy. None of my known friends ever seem to have any cash.

Well, that's one man's program for self-improvement in 1966. It may not improve a fellow's character much, but it will help keep him from wasting his time in nonsensical ways—and that's a big step forward to take in any year.

Innocent Plea In Photos Case

Two men charged with felony conspiracy in an alleged scheme to make pornographic photographs of a 16-year-old girl were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

George Francis Grant, 24, San Francisco, and Bruce Sequoia Birch, 26, of 141 Irwin Street, San Rafael, both pleaded innocent. Preliminary hearing was scheduled Feb. 3.

San Rafael police and sheriff's officers said the pair persuaded a Tamalpais High School student to pose in the nude and for pornographic pictures with Grant last Oct. 30 in a house on Miraflores Avenue in San Rafael.

Home President

Christian J. Matthew, 275 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, has been elected to the board of Mount St. Joseph's Home for Girls, San Francisco, for a two-year period and will be installed Jan. 19.

Penders Brothers Assigned To Ships

Lt. Cmdr. Joseph Penders has been assigned duty aboard the carrier Kearsage, based at Long Beach, from his former post at Corpus Christi, Tex., and his brother Thomas Penders, has been assigned to the carrier Enterprise, now in Viet Nam.

Ensign Penders had been stationed at Whiting, Fla.

Unification Needs Will Be Discussed

A discussion of unification of the Dixie and San Rafael school districts will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the multipurpose room of Santa Margarita School.

It will be the fourth joint meeting of the two school boards on the needs that would arise should unification be approved by voters June 7.

Encroachment Of Road Reported By Engineer

A civil engineer's survey at Hidden Valley School in Sleepy Hollow indicates that county-maintained Fawn Drive encroaches on school property as much as 10 feet in some places, Supt. Stephen Parodi of San Anselmo School District said yesterday.

Parodi said he will report on the survey, made by Robert Parlett of Richmond, to the school board when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the faculty room of Isabel Cook School.

He said the survey was made for use in determining the locations of classrooms planned for addition to the school by November.

He said the encroachment would not affect construction planned for the school this year, but future expansion of the school might bring buildings too close to the road.

Trustees are also scheduled to hear curriculum reports on the speech therapy, French and instrumental music programs in the district.

Graphoanalysis Group Votes

William Ward of 14 Sunny Oaks Drive, San Rafael, has been elected president of the Northern California Chapter of the International Graphoanalysis Society for 1966.

Ward's wife, Alice, was elected chapter vice president.

The society was organized to develop a scientific system of analyzing handwriting.

Cosmic ray particles coming mysteriously from outside the solar system have millions of times more energy than a physicist can give similar particles on earth.

Epler Will Recommend Allowing Cigarette Sales

College of Marin President Stephen E. Epler will recommend to the Marin Junior College board Thursday night that students be allowed to purchase cigarettes in the new college center.

In a letter to the board, Dr. Epler said he still favors the present policy of no cigarette sales but feels he should bow to student and faculty arguments in favor of the controlled sale of cigarettes in the new building.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. in room G-3 of the college physical education building, will also consider abolishing the two "dead days" when students can choose not to attend class just before final examinations. The academic senate has requested these two days be determined by the individual instructor.

Trustees will also discuss the college's adult education program: What changes should be made? Should it be financed by a special adult education tax? What are the values of the program to the community and to students?

Dixie District To Scan Bids

Trustees of Dixie School District tomorrow will consider bids on an addition to Dixie School in upper Lucas Valley.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the district office. The bids will be opened at 4 p.m. in the office.

Trustees are also to hear a report from the citizens' finance study group on the needs and financial means of the district.

An estimated 2,392,000 persons were added to the nation's resident population in the 12 months before Aug. 1, 1965, reports the U.S. Census Bureau.

Public Opinion Changing On Narcotics Sentences

Public awareness of, and alarm over, the increasing use of marijuana and other narcotics are reflected in the report of the 1965 Marin County Grand Jury.

The grand jurors called on the judiciary to hand down stiffer penalties for narcotics possessors and users.

In a sense, the report can be described as a "slap" at the courts. But we feel that it reflects rather the sense of urgency which the public feels in the face of this growing menace.

We need not be overly critical of our judges. Over the years, they have been invoking the same type of penalties, including probation, for narcotics offenses, particularly for first offenders.

As the incidence of narcotics offenses rises, public clamor for stricter control intensifies. Particularly because the use of narcotics is spreading to our younger citizens and students, public alarm has reached the point where past penalties no longer seem sufficient.

Whereas the severity of punishment may have remained unchanged over the years, the public's attitude toward the penalties has changed.

What once appeared to be sufficient penalty to an apathetic public now seems "soft" and "weak-kneed" to an aroused citizenry.

The Marin County Grand Jury's recommendations serve notice on the courts that the PUBLIC wants stronger action.

And as long as the county's courts attempt to represent the conscience of the community, the courts, we feel, would be justified in shifting to a "harder" approach in dealing with narcotics violators.

One line of attack is stronger legislation.

But even within the framework of existing laws in the state penal code, health and safety code and the business and professions code, judges have wide discretion in sentencing. Penalty for felony possession or sale of narcotics can range anywhere from probation to incarceration in the county jail or in state prison.

It is our hope that the courts, in deference to the concern expressed by the public, will see fit to stiffen the penalties, especially for repeat offenders.

We believe the grand jury speaks for the large majority when it points out:

> "Without judicial recognition of the necessity for meaningful deterrents, all other efforts to dispel the attitude common to many Marin County teen-agers, that criminal matters relating to marijuana are trivial offenses, will be of little or no value."

As we have said before, even "mild" narcotics are dangerous, in that the users almost invariably graduate into "harder" drugs like heroin.

Judicial notice of this danger, in the form of stiff jail terms and even prison sentences in aggravated cases, should go far in dispelling the misguided notion that narcotics offenses are trivial.

"DEAD MAN" SPEAKS UP

A policeman got the surprise of his life when he brought a 40-year-old man into a hospital after he had collapsed on a street in Rochester, Minn.

"I think he's dead," he told the nurse.

"No, I'm not!" said the supposed corpse. "Don't bury me."

The danger of being buried while still alive is rather remote for most people. Yet it is quite possible for a person to live his life as though he were practically dead.

The longest life is at best comparatively short. Make the most of it, by living it to the fullest.

Discover the talents and abilities that God has entrusted to you, be they few or many. Then apply them in a manner that honors Him, is a credit to you and benefits your fellow men.

Life takes on fresh meaning and purpose if you keep trying to give of yourself wholeheartedly rather than halfheartedly. And you will be better prepared to meet your Maker, no matter when death comes.

"I came that they may have life, and have it more abundantly." (John 10:10)

Let me so live, O Lord, that I will always be prepared to die.

State-Financed Roadway Map Almost Ready For Distribution

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The State of California, through its Division of Highways, is engaging in a new activity: Distribution of highway maps of California.

This may appear to be a needless expenditure of state highway funds to many people but, actually, there is more justification for issuance of the highway map than for many another item the state disburses.

The new map, hot off the press and ready for distribution about the middle of January, is a real tribute to the art of printing. It is a multicolored job with perfect justification and is easily readable.

Although patently more or less a piece of campaign literature for Gov. Edmund G. Brown, whose color picture and message appears on the back of the map above the state flag, the state flower, the state tree and the state bird, the map is bound otherwise to serve some useful purpose.

ASKED WHY the state went into the map business when California road maps are available at virtually every service station in the state, highway officials said the renumbering of highway routes had a lot to do with the decision to print approximately two million maps.

COST OF THE publication is minimal. The original appropriation was $100,000, and not all that has been used up, highway officials say. This brings the cost of the map to under five cents apiece, far cheaper for a better and more authentic map than can be purchased elsewhere.

This isn't to say the oil companies of California have done a bad job with their highway maps. Without these highway maps obtainable at service stations, many a lost driver would be wandering over state highways. But it is difficult for the oil companies to keep up to date with the changes in highway routes.

THE DIVISION of Highways will distribute the publication through the Department of Agriculture, at highway entry points into California, and at selected chambers of commerce throughout the state.

In addition, the public may secure a copy of the map by writing the Information Office, California Division of Highways, Box 1499, Sacramento, Calif. 95807.

Creche Held Unconstitutional

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The news that the statue of the little Lord Jesus was stolen from the San Anselmo creche last week must have been shocking to some people, but it was amusing to me. It would seem that the very existence of such a creche in a public place is virtually an invitation to pranksters.

This creche could hardly be considered an aesthetic addition to the civic scene. Moreover, it is considered to be a violation of the U.S. Constitution, i.e., public property may not be used to promote the beliefs of any particular sect or religious organization.

All in all, it would seem best to discontinue having a creche displayed on the grounds of the San Anselmo City Hall. And, to quote Gilbert and Sullivan, "It never would be missed."

Streamlined Railway Backed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of Dec. 28 concerning the planned reconstruction of a Mount Tamalpais railroad very significantly contains the word "nostalgia." I cannot help noticing that you don't seem to develop great enthusiasm for this new idea and, frankly, I don't blame you.

Miles and miles of railroad tracks winding up the mountain would anything but improve the beauty of the natural scenery. Besides, you apparently forgot to mention it, the fire department let it be known that in the event of such a railroad a new fire road would have to be cut into the side of the mountain.

Now, the basic idea of furnishing the public an interesting way of transportation to the top of Mount Tamalpais and the well planned construction of an attractive restaurant there definitely deserves consideration.

But why not avail ourselves of up-to-date methods of transportation? Why not, for instance, a modern, smooth, streamlined electric funicular railway straight up the mountain from the Mountain Home restaurant, if such an idea were feasible from a technical standpoint, of course.

Old things, ideas and yearnings usually wear out sooner or later and, as a comforting thought, nostalgia does, too.

Restaurant Fine Railroad Is Not

Editor, Independent-Journal:

At a first glance the rebuilding of the Mount Tam. railroad seems like a fun idea to a lot of people. But do they ever consider the other side of the picture.

In your editorial you mentioned that not a single cut in the mountain will be required. It seems, however, that the fire department will require new fireroads. What about the fire hazard. Wasn't the big fire in '29 attributed to a spark of the train. What will be left of the hiking and riding trails? And above all can you imagine the mess of beer cans and trash along the railroad bed?

The proposed restaurant at the top is a wonderful idea. But isn't one way for a mechanized vehicle enough? Can't they leave the rest of the mountain to the less feeble people who get satisfaction out of hiking up in peace and quiet in this unique area so close to the big city?

Nothing is better to get rid of tensions and worries than working up a sweat on a good climb to the top of Mount Tam. It saves a visit to the psychiatrist and that money could be spent on a beer at that nice restaurant. But leave the mountain alone, please!

What's Source Of Patriots

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am moved to wonder where letter-writer Albert F. Kerss encounters these "flag-waving, self-styled patriots," about whom he is "getting a little tired and annoyed." All I encounter is beatnik-pickets, paraders and hangers-on devoted to the theme that patriotism is an epithet and flag-waving an obscene act.

I would agree with Mr. Kerss that certain American people are oblivious to a number of things—to the fact that the Communists have by now murdered more than 10-fold the capacity of all Hitler's gas-ovens and are still going strong; to the fact that a million people have at great cost and effort fled the Communist in Viet Nam; to the fact that it is no more terrible to respond to the pleas for help of the free citizens of Viet Nam than it was to do so in Europe, where the roads to Dachau and Auschwitz were long and bloody, and many an innocent person died as we fought our way along those roads. As a veteran of that war, I could reasonably ask, should we then never have started down those roads at all? I cannot conceive of any answer except the one we accepted and followed.

Why, then, are the pleas of the victims of the Red Hitlers of these days to be ignored? They face an enemy who has already dwarfed the original Hitler in inhumanity and bestiality—and one who is already thousands of miles closer to that greatest of all objectives: rich, productive, golden America.

Indeed, I would like to know Mr. Kerss' source of patriots and flag-wavers. It would be encouraging to walk, for a change, down such a street.

RICK FRIEDMAN, in his newly published "U.N. The Russian representative was on his feet in no time flat, announcing happily, "The delegation from the U.S.S.R. will not abstain."

WHEN THE daffy Dodgers were bivouacked at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, they had on their roster one outfielder who sported a flowing beard and mustache till heartless manager Casey Stengel (then a kid of 55 or so) made him shave them off. The outfielder's name was Bordagary, nicknamed Frenchy, and his work in the outfield often left something to be desired. One day the Dodgers were nursing a 2 to 1 lead with only the ninth inning to go. The Dodger pitcher retired the first two opposing hitters, then induced the third to lift an easy fly to Bordagary's territory. Frenchy muffed it—a horrendous three-base error. Then the next hitter lined one over Frenchy's head—but after a desperate run, he caught the ball in his gloved hand, and held on to it when he crashed into the fence. The crowd gave him a great hand as he headed for the clubhouse. Frenchy explained, "That muff fooled 'em. I gave 'em the old decoy—and they fell for it." For once, even Stengel was speechless.

Congressional Reorganization Committee Readying Report

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
(James Marlow is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—A joint committee is expected to come up soon with a host of recommendations for modernizing Congress.

But if any proposals involve significant changes in the operation or structure of Congress, they aren't likely to get anywhere.

The 12-member committee of six senators and six representatives was created by Congress last March and was given $150,000 to finance its studies and hearings. It has held numerous public hearings and is due to go out of business on Jan. 31.

Many of the recommendations made to the committee by congressional students both inside and outside of Congress would require changes which the practical politicians don't seem ready to accept.

ONE OF THE dominant proposals has been to abolish the seniority system of advancement in the Senate and the House. Under the present system, a member can aspire to becoming a committee chairman or at least chairman of a major subcommittee simply by getting re-elected often enough.

Much of the clamor for a change — to rotate chairmanships or provide for election of chairmen in party caucuses—has come from members fairly well down on the seniority list. Most senior members want no change that might keep them from getting to the top or might curb their tenure once they got them. It's these older and well-established members who usually call the shots in Congress.

REPUBLICANS, as well as non-partisan students, have advocated stronger staffing for minority members of committees. If the joint committee should adopt this proposal, Congress might go along with it. It would provide more appointive, highly paid jobs.

Congress also might go along with recommendations to provide additional staffing for individual members. This, too, would provide some more good jobs and could result in more efficient service for constituents.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE on Congressional reorganization was created to see what it could do about complaints that the congressional machinery was too antiquated and needed overhauling.

Not since 1946 has there been a congressional reorganization act. A joint committee that year made almost 40 recommendations, many of which were ignored.

Congress did approve 1946 recommendations raising its pay and making members eligible for pensions.

The 1946 act called for a reduction in the number of standing committees, but the cut was more than offest by the birth of scores of special and subcommittees.

Opponents of any major changes in the congressional machinery have a strong argument going for them. The 1965 session, operating under the 1946 framework, set a record for legislative accomplishment. Its leaders aren't too enthusiastic about tinkering with the machinery.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Long Plans Check On Drug Companies

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic whip Russell Long of Louisiana is aspiring to a favorite gadfly role of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver—exposing "monopolistic profiteering" by drug manufacturers.

PARTICULAR targets will be drug companies charged with making huge profits by gaining exclusive patents on products developed by government-financed research.

Specific cases in Long's files —which will be presented in detail in the course of the public hearings—deal with instances of federally financed inventions that were not reported to government authorities, collusion involving government employees, charging of excessive prices for these products and stock market profits.

Long's avowed aim is the enactment of legislation to put an end to these practices and loopholes.

"I DON'T WANT a company to develop a product as a result of the expenditure of taxpayers' money and then obtain a patent on the process so it can charge as much as it wants," says the son of the late Huey (Kingfish) Long. "My investigations have uncovered instances in which drug prices are 1,000 times the cost of production."

Hardest hit, contends Long, are older people, who spend an estimated $1 billion a year for drugs and medicines. "They generally have the lowest income," he notes, "yet need three and one-half times more medicinals than other age groups."

UNQUESTIONABLY, behind Long's zealous concern about "monopoly" and "profiteering" in drugs are other motivations.

In addition to heading the monopoly subcommittee, Long is slated to become chairman of the powerful finance committee, which has jurisdiction over all revenue legislation. He is a member of the prestigious foreign relations committee, the joint committee on internal revenue taxation — is Democratic whip, the party's No. 2 leader in the chamber.

HE CAN BE EXPECTED to make the most of his contemplated investigation.

Foremost among the cases due to be aired are those involving patented measles and pneumonia vaccines.

Two companies in particular will be probed. One patented a measles vaccine that, it is claimed, was based on work done under a government contract but not reported to the government. The other concern attempted to gain exclusive patent rights on a pneumonia vaccine developed under government-financed research.

The pneumonia vaccine was developed under a $1 million public health contract to a large drug company. Subsequently, two of its microbiologists applied for a patent, which experts of the National Institute of Health described as "an important breakthrough in a new area . . . very useful in preventing atypical pneumonia in military recruits and students at high school and college level."

The company was not granted domestic patents. It is now seeking title to all potentially highly profitable foreign patent rights.

Some government agencies, notably the Atomic Energy Commission, require that all patents stemming from government contracts automatcially revert to the government. But other agencies, foremost among them the Defense Department, National Aeronautics and Space Agency, and the Public Health Service, can waive patent claims.

Long says he wants to eliminate this permissive authority and require by law that all patents resulting from government-financed research "belong to the public and be freely available to all potential users."

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, January 4, the fourth day of 1966 with 361 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Mars, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

English mathematician and philosopher, Sir Isaac Newton, discoverer of the Law of Gravity, was born on this day in 1642.

On this day in history:

In 1885, Dr. William Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed the first appendectomy with the patient making a complete recovery.

In 1896, Utah became the 45th state.

In 1948, Burma became an independent country.

In 1965, poet T. S. Elliot died at the age of 76.

A thought for the day — American humorist James Thurber said: "Early to rise and early to bed makes a male healthy wealthy and dead."

The art of pottery-making spread slowly in Stone Age Europe, requiring about 400 years for each 100 miles it traveled.

Memory Of Bidding Often Vital In Determining Play Strategy

When today's hand was played during the Team Trials in San Francisco last November, a famous American expert picked the wrong play because he miscalculated the odds.

The situation is worth remembering because it often occurs in play.

Opening lead — ♣ K

West took his top clubs and led a third club for East to ruff.

South over-ruffed and led a heart in the hope of getting three heart tricks.

South could go up with the ace of hearts, ruff a heart and lead a trump.

IF KING FELL

He would get to dummy with the ten of trumps to ruff another heart, and would make the contract if the king of hearts fell on this trick.

South's other plan was to try a finesse with the queen of hearts and then ruff a heart and lead a trump and so forth. If the finesse lost, however, South would be down two instead of just one.

DIFFICULT CHOICE

Either play works when West has three hearts headed by the king. The finesse is better when West has four hearts to the king, and going up with the ace is better when East has three hearts to the king.

When you know nothing about the unseen hands, and when it is just a question of making the contract or going down one, the finesse is correct. If losing the finesse will cost you an additional trick (as in this case), the finesse is wrong.

In this case West's two vulnerable bids make him a heavy favorite to hold the king of hearts. This makes the finesse correct despite the risk of going down two instead of just one.

OTHER ODDS

If West had never bid, the odds would favor East to hold the king of hearts after West shows up with six clubs to the ace-king. In this case going up with the ace would be correct even if there is no risk of going down an additional trick.

It isn't enough to be a mathematician in such situations. You must also be a bridge player, using the bidding to help you locate key cards.

Hamilton Air Force Base Has Changed Roles Through Years

Two announcements told last week of the elevated stature of Hamilton Air Force Base in the nation, in fact in western North America. It becomes the headquarters command for all armed forces involved in air defense in 11 western states and two Canadian provinces, with the creation of the Western North American Air Defense Command ranging from Alaska to Mexico.

In addition, it has been selected as the command post for the reactivated Fourth Air Force. Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli will be the commander of the western NORAD region. Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin will be the deputy commander of the region. An air commodore of the Royal Canadian Air Force will be a vice commander of the region.

Hamilton's position as a command base will be assured probably for as long as there is a need for aero-space defense of the North American continent.

IN ADDITION to this added importance, Hamilton already has achieved quite a stature as a command post. It is the headquarters of the 78th Fighter Wing, the 78th Combat Support Group, the Western Air Rescue Center, Western Communications Region, the Sixth Air Force Reserve Region and the 349th Troop Carrier Wing.

The new western NORAD region command will cause some changes in the personnel at Hamilton. Uniforms of the Army, Navy, and Royal Canadian Air Force will be added to those of the Air Force on the base.

Residents of the area will soon become accustomed to seeing the military brass from all services in this country and the Canadian air force coming and going at the base.

WITH THE BASE being the headquarters for a two-nation military command, more and more dignitaries and politicians can be expected to visit the base.

There will be other side effects to the increase in the importance of Hamilton. Probably military officials will be more reluctant than ever to consider the possibility of another county-owned air strip east of the runway at Hamilton. This has been proposed many times as a solution to the county airport problem because it could use the tower facilities at Hamilton.

So if Marin County is to develop a first class airport, it will probably have to look to the open space north of Novato for it and not the open space east of the runway at Hamilton.

AT THE REDEDICATION of Hamilton last spring, there were several men present who had worked to get the base for Marin County. They related how they had worked to get a county bond issue passed to buy land to give to the Army for a bomber base.

They wanted the military establishment in order to gain jobs for the unemployed in the county during the worst days of the depression. They succeeded and the base was started. It no more than became operational when World War II came along. Hamilton took on a role of wartime importance greater than they had hoped.

Did they ever think Hamilton would be the command base for the defense of all western North America, except Alaska?

Keep Your Resolutions Simple: No Caviar, Bridge Buying, Tips

NEW YORK (AP)—Having trouble keeping your annual New Year resolutions?

There is no point in making 1,001 vows on things you are going to do in 1966 to make yourself a better person. This only creates laughter in heaven, as the angels know no man can become that perfect.

If you must make positive vows, keep them few and simple, such as, "I hereby resolve to eat regularly in 1966 and try in every way possible to inherit as much money as I can."

A BETTER WAY is to take a negative attitude.

For example, I have pledged myself in 1966 never to—

Beat my wife or the family cat.

Do my daughter's homework problems in algebra.

Grow a beard.

Be the last guy to laugh when the boss tells a joke.

Give stock market tips to strangers.

Take stock market tips from strangers.

LEARN TO PLAY the zither.

Purchase a charming old house in the suburbs and do it over myself.

Eat caviar, except on doctor's orders.

FOLLOW ANY PROGRAM of exercises that requires more than 10 knee bends a month.

Ask anyone at a cocktail party why he is for or against our policy in Viet Nam.

Borrow money from anyone except a known enemy. None of my known friends ever seem to have any cash.

Well, that's one man's program for self-improvement in 1966. It may not improve a fellow's character much, but it will help keep him from wasting his time in nonsensical ways—and that's a big step forward to take in any year.

Innocent Plea In Photos Case

Two men charged with felony conspiracy in an alleged scheme to make pornographic photographs of a 16-year-old girl were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

George Francis Grant, 24, San Francisco, and Bruce Sequoia Birch, 26, of 141 Irwin Street, San Rafael, both pleaded innocent. Preliminary hearing was scheduled Feb. 3.

San Rafael police and sheriff's officers said the pair persuaded a Tamalpais High School student to pose in the nude and for pornographic pictures with Grant last Oct. 30 in a house on Miraflores Avenue in San Rafael.

Home President

Christian J. Matthew, 275 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, has been elected to the board of Mount St. Joseph's Home for Girls, San Francisco, for a two-year period and will be installed Jan. 19.

Penders Brothers Assigned To Ships

Lt. Cmdr. Joseph Penders has been assigned duty aboard the carrier Kearsage, based at Long Beach, from his former post at Corpus Christi, Tex., and his brother Thomas Penders, has been assigned to the carrier Enterprise, now in Viet Nam.

Ensign Penders had been stationed at Whiting, Fla.

Unification Needs Will Be Discussed

A discussion of unification of the Dixie and San Rafael school districts will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the multipurpose room of Santa Margarita School.

It will be the fourth joint meeting of the two school boards on the needs that would arise should unification be approved by voters June 7.

Encroachment Of Road Reported By Engineer

A civil engineer's survey at Hidden Valley School in Sleepy Hollow indicates that county-maintained Fawn Drive encroaches on school property as much as 10 feet in some places, Supt. Stephen Parodi of San Anselmo School District said yesterday.

Parodi said he will report on the survey, made by Robert Parlett of Richmond, to the school board when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the faculty room of Isabel Cook School.

He said the survey was made for use in determining the locations of classrooms planned for addition to the school by November.

He said the encroachment would not affect construction planned for the school this year, but future expansion of the school might bring buildings too close to the road.

Trustees are also scheduled to hear curriculum reports on the speech therapy, French and instrumental music programs in the district.

Graphoanalysis Group Votes

William Ward of 14 Sunny Oaks Drive, San Rafael, has been elected president of the Northern California Chapter of the International Graphoanalysis Society for 1966.

Ward's wife, Alice, was elected chapter vice president.

The society was organized to develop a scientific system of analyzing handwriting.

Cosmic ray particles coming mysteriously from outside the solar system have millions of times more energy than a physicist can give similar particles on earth.

Epler Will Recommend Allowing Cigarette Sales

College of Marin President Stephen E. Epler will recommend to the Marin Junior College board Thursday night that students be allowed to purchase cigarettes in the new college center.

In a letter to the board, Dr. Epler said he still favors the present policy of no cigarette sales but feels he should bow to student and faculty arguments in favor of the controlled sale of cigarettes in the new building.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. in room G-3 of the college physical education building, will also consider abolishing the two "dead days" when students can choose not to attend class just before final examinations. The academic senate has requested these two days be determined by the individual instructor.

Trustees will also discuss the college's adult education program: What changes should be made? Should it be financed by a special adult education tax? What are the values of the program to the community and to students?

Dixie District To Scan Bids

Trustees of Dixie School District tomorrow will consider bids on an addition to Dixie School in upper Lucas Valley.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the district office. The bids will be opened at 4 p.m. in the office.

Trustees are also to hear a report from the citizens' finance study group on the needs and financial means of the district.

An estimated 2,392,000 persons were added to the nation's resident population in the 12 months before Aug. 1, 1965, reports the U.S. Census Bureau.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Memory Of Bidding Often Vital In Determining Play Strategy

Even experts can seldom compute the exact odds while playing a hand.

When today's hand was played during the Team Trials in San Francisco last November, a famous American expert picked the wrong play because he miscalculated the odds.

The situation is worth remembering because it often occurs in play.

Opening lead — ♣ K

West took his top clubs and led a third club for East to ruff.

South over-ruffed and led a heart in the hope of getting three heart tricks.

South could go up with the ace of hearts, ruff a heart and lead a trump.

IF KING FELL

He would get to dummy with the ten of trumps to ruff another heart, and would make the contract if the king of hearts fell on this trick.

South's other plan was to try a finesse with the queen of hearts and then ruff a heart and lead a trump and so forth. If the finesse lost, however, South would be down two instead of just one.

DIFFICULT CHOICE

Either play works when West has three hearts headed by the king. The finesse is better when West has four hearts to the king, and going up with the ace is better when East has three hearts to the king.

When you know nothing about the unseen hands, and when it is just a question of making the contract or going down one, the finesse is correct. If losing the finesse will cost you an additional trick (as in this case), the finesse is wrong.

In this case West's two vulnerable bids make him a heavy favorite to hold the king of hearts. This makes the finesse correct despite the risk of going down two instead of just one.

OTHER ODDS

If West had never bid, the odds would favor East to hold the king of hearts after West shows up with six clubs to the ace-king. In this case going up with the ace would be correct even if there is no risk of going down an additional trick.

It isn't enough to be a mathematician in such situations. You must also be a bridge player, using the bidding to help you locate key cards.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ Q J 6 5 4 3 2
♥ 3
♣ 9 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four spades.

You are a point or two shy of the 26 points usually needed for game, but your excellent distribution should see you through.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, January 4, the fourth day of 1966 with 361 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Mars, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

English mathematician and philosopher, Sir Isaac Newton, discoverer of the Law of Gravity, was born on this day in 1642.

On this day in history:

In 1885, Dr. William Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed the first appendectomy with the patient making a complete recovery.

In 1896, Utah became the 45th state.

In 1948, Burma became an independent country.

In 1965, poet T. S. Elliot died at the age of 76.

A thought for the day — American humorist James Thurber said: "Early to rise and early to bed makes a male healthy wealthy and dead."

The art of pottery-making spread slowly in Stone Age Europe, requiring about 400 years for each 100 miles it traveled.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT BOND NO. 15, SERIES 6082, ASSESSMENT DISTRICT NO. 1961-1, ISSUED FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN MARIN COUNTY, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1/2/65, Pr. $186.66; 1/2/66, Pr. $186.66; 1/2/65, Int. $72.80; 7/2/65, Int. $67.20; 1/2/66, Int. $67.20; and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 18th day of January, 1966, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center, at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold is more particularly described, to-wit: Lot No. 15, as shown and delineated on that certain map of Sutter Hills Unit 1, which said Map was filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin on the 6th day of November, 1961, in Liber 11 of Maps, at page 2 thereof. The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the principal thereof $373.32, due on account of interest $207.20; due on account of penalties $46.76; Total amount due on said bond $627.28.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $1.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

The Independent-Journal is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

Delay Boosts Mortalities In Childbirth

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — It's not a baby's weight, but the wait.

So say California researchers who have catalogued a surprisingly high number of deaths and abnormalities among overdue babies.

While birth weight plays a role in the outlook for newborns, there is another factor apparently just as important—the length of time the expectant mother carries the baby.

The researchers, who studied 20,000 pregnancies of various lengths, found double the number of infant deaths occurring in prolonged pregnancies.

The drawn-out gestations—about three weeks beyond normal—also produced more retarded and deformed infants.

Investigators of the University of California School of Public Health also confirmed the doubly high death rate risk of overdue newborns in a more intensive study of 600 mothers.

Dr. Michael A. Zwerdling noted that until recently the potential hazard of prolonged pregnancy has been overshadowed by concern for premature infants.

His report shared the spotlight with one by fellow researchers, Doctors Bea J. Van Den Berg and J. Yerushalmy, given to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting at Berkeley. The research was supported by the National Institute of Health.

The higher fatality rate showed up in fetal deaths and early deaths among newborns and it persisted as a threat among survivors even two years after birth. A tendency of overdue mothers to repeat the performance is subsequent pregnancies was observed.

Dr. Zwerdling said that very large babies from drawn out pregnancies weren't as prone to injury during delivery as might be expected. Instead, the study indicates that babies over nine pounds have the lowest death rates, and the greatest risk in overlong pregnancies is among babies under five and one-half pounds.

Negro Teachers Lose Jobs Through Dixie Integration

By ERWIN KNOLL
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Southern school systems dismissed or demoted at least 452 Negro teachers because of their race this fall, a task force of the National Education Assn. (NEA) has reported.

Most of the Negro teachers—413—were displaced when desegregation resulted in the closing of the all-Negro schools in which they had taught, the report said. The other 39 lost their jobs because they had been involved in civil rights activity.

In addition, 216 Negro teachers in Florida were demoted because they failed the National Teachers Examination. These teachers, the NEA report said, are still employed, but are paid only $2,800 a year.

The task force, financed jointly by the NEA and the U.S. Office of Education, surveyed displacement of Negro teachers in the 17 Southern and border states. Its report stressed that the number of Negro teachers dismissed or demoted is larger than the documented total of 668, but that the actual total will probably never be known.

"The task force found considerable evidence of deep fear on the part of displaced teachers and others it sought to interview," the report stated. "Many Alabama teachers made it clear that they did not wish to talk to anyone about what had happened to them. In North Carolina and other states, teachers expressed similar fears. . . .

"The generalization seems to be justified that most displaced Negro teachers fear to make an issue of the way they have been treated, even when they have access to needed help. Moreover, many displaced teachers expressed hope that they may yet be re-employed, and this tends to make them over-cautious in reporting on past and present treatment."

About 85 per cent of the 668 teachers whose cases have been documented are now employed, the report said, but in some cases they have been assigned to jobs below their qualifications. The other 15 per cent—95 teachers—have found no other work.

Among the 95 unemployed teachers, nearly 80 per cent had five years or more of teaching experience, and all but five had college degrees, the task force reported. The typical unemployed teacher had taught elementary school, was a married woman, had three children and had to work to support her family.

Despite a general teacher shortage, the task force found that as many as 1,900 1965 graduates of predominantly Negro teachers' colleges are not employed in the schools, although they may have other jobs.

The chief reason for the displacement of Negro teachers, the report indicated, was an unwillingness to have them instruct white pupils.

"As a result," the report said, "when Negro teachers in any number transfer out of Negro schools, Negro teachers become surplus and lose their jobs. It matters not whether they are as well qualified as, or even better qualified than, other teachers in the school system who are retained.

"Nor does it matter whether they have more seniority. They were never employed as teachers for the school system—as the law would maintain—but rather as teachers for Negro schools."

Teachers are less likely to be dismissed as a result of desegregation in large cities than in rural areas, the task force reported. Generally, however, it found that "the more extensive the desegregation of students, the greater the chances are that Negro teachers will be adversely affected by demotion, displacement or dismissal." In areas where little or no desegregation has taken place, Negro teachers are in demand for all-Negro schools.

The survey found few school systems with Negro administrators whose responsibilities extend to all schools. Singled out for praise in the report as exceptions were school systems in Chattanooga, Tenn., Fairfax County, Va., Dade County, Fla., and St. Louis, Mo.

In St. Louis, the report said, approximately half the principals and at least five members of the central office administrative staffs are Negroes. The assistant superintendent in charge of personnel said he would hire 200 teachers, white or Negro, if they could be found."

The NEA task force proposed programs of training and placement assistance for Negro teachers who have lost their jobs, as well as legal support for efforts to block further dismissals.

William G. Carr, NEA executive secretary, said the report has been sent to the Office of Education, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner, and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, with a request for federal assistance in establishing retraining projects to help train the displaced teachers for new jobs.

Civil Service Workers May Re-Enter Politics

By MILTON JAQUES
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Major efforts are under way to upset the 26-year-old Hatch Act which keeps 2.5 million federal employees out of partisan political campaigns.

A key decision on the Hatch Act is expected early next year from the U. S. District Court in Baltimore, Md., where federal employees and the Montgomery County, Md., Democratic organization are challenging the political restrictions set by the Civil Service Commission. The commission administers the Hatch Act.

Another assault is occuring in Congress. There the effort is being made through a proposed "study" of the act and its political restrictions.

The White House is also in a position to move in the same direction. President Lyndon B. Johnson has forged new links with the Civil Service Commission through his close relationship with the chairman, John W. Macy Jr. Macy has performed a number of new tasks under the Johnson administration not normally assigned to the commission chairman.

On the record, Johnson is known as a strong advocate of the career civil service. This record was based on his activities as a federal employee and legislator for most of his adult life.

But as a chief executive who keeps a tight check on the departments in the executive branch, he also wants support for his administration. He could get this if federal employees were allowed more political freedom in their jobs.

For federal employees, the protective umbrella of the Hatch Act is a mixed blessing. It protects them from unwanted political activities and shields their pocketbooks from demands for contributions to party warchests.

But it also restricts the politically-ambitious employee who would like to run for office or actively engage in campaigns.

The main objective of the act, enacted in 1939, is to insure that federal employees perform the government's business, and not that of a political party or leader.

The act also protects the public from being solicited for political contributions in public buildings by an army of federal employees.

In Baltimore, Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, after hearing arguments in the Montgomery County case, promised a ruling within several weeks. However, the case is likely to be carried to the Supreme Court.

The case stems from an order from the civil service commission liberalizing the Hatch Act in areas with heavy concentrations of federal employees. Montgomery County, just outside the District of Columbia, has some 35,000 U.S. employees in a population of 440,000.

The commission has allowed federal employees to participate in local elections as nonpartisans. In Montgomery County a non-partisan organization made up of federal employees represents a third force. To the county Democratic organization, this new force represents "discrimination." The organization says federal workers can, in fact, engage in politics but not as Democrats or Republicans.

In Congress, a movement to liberalize the Hatch Act's anti-political provisions won a first-step victory when the Senate this year passed a bill establishing a 12-member commission to "study" the law.

The House hasn't acted yet, but the Senate bill is pending in the House Administration Committee. The study won't be as innocuous as it sounds, some observers say, because the easing of the Hatch Act is its main objective.

Within the executive department, the easing of Hatch Act rules has been a point of dispute.

One side argues that increased party activities carried on through executive department offices will weaken the civil service and the merit system. Former Postmaster General J. Edward Day, now a member of the National Civil Service League, has warned against increased political pressures on career employees for contributions, promotions, summer jobs, and for support of the national administration.

The opposing view is that the employee generally owes his job to the party in power, and should be willing to contribute to show his interest in good government.

The Civil Service Commission is required by Congress to report annually on Hatch Act violations and complaints. The complaints far outweigh the findings of violations.

The decline of the Republican party in its role of opposition may make it easier for the administration if it wants to put more federal employees into political assignments, some sources at the capitol feel.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Guy Goodwin was prosecuting a criminal trial in federal court here and on cross-examination fired questions at a witness faster than the witness could answer.

Goodwin chuckled, bowed, and replied:

"I recognize the wisdom of your father."

Policeman Total Up; Hours May Be Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Police Department has reached a high of 27,052 members.

But Police Commissioner Vincent L. Broderick, citing shorter hours, longer vacations and sick leaves, said: "I doubt that in terms of man hours we have many more men on the streets now than we did in 1932, when the strength of the force was about 13,000."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Rheumatic Fever 'Licks Joints, Bites The Heart' Of Its Victims

VAN DELLEN

Rheumatic fever was described by Dr. Ernest C. Laseque as a disease that "licks the joints and bites the heart." The scar from the bite may remain, but the "licks" never hurt anything. However, not all victims are bitten because more than one-third recover completely.

The remainder acquire some permanent scarring of one or more of the heart valves, but in the majority the injury is so slight that little or no handicap ensues. Nevertheless, the condition is responsible for at least one-third of all adult heart disease. Many of these injuries can be corrected later via heart surgery.

GROUP A streptococci are responsible for the lick and bite. Most rheumatic fever attacks are preceded by this type of infection, usually in the nose and throat. Symptoms seldom last more than five days, but the youngster destined for the disease has more in store for him.

The next 10 to 15 days represent the lull before the storm. The system has conquered the strep infection by sending protective antibodies into battle. It is here that the rheumatic fever victim differs from others; he reacts to these antibodies or other by-products of the strep infection with swelling and inflammation of connective tissues of the heart, joints, brain, and other organs.

The ailment makes its debut in many ways. Symptoms are slight in some, consisting of weight loss, poor appetite, repeated nosebleeds, fever, and aching in and about the arms, legs and abdomen. These manifestations may occur singly or in combination. In others, the disease is ushered in with high fever and severe inflammation of one or more joints.

Brain involvement (chorea or St. Vitus' dance) induces uncontrolable twitching in the muscles of the face, arms, and legs. Cardiac changes are recognized by listening to the heart and doing an electrocardiogram.

ASPIRIN or a corticosteriod is the treatment used most frequently. The antibiotics are of no value, except to prevent or treat the strep infection that triggers the disease.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

CHILD'S ASTHMA

H. D. writes: I stay up nights worrying about my 6 year old, who coughs a lot. Now the doctor says he has bronchial asthma. What can cause this?

REPLY

Allergy. Breathing difficulties occur in bronchial asthma because the bronchi are swollen and interfere with the passage of air. This leads to a typical wheeze during an attack. Our leaflet on bronchial asthma, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope, explains the condition and various measures that are recommended.

A NATURAL PROCESS

Mrs. A. writes: Do successive pregnancies place a gradually increasing strain on a woman's health?

REPLY

Not in those who are in good health.

SHORTSIGHTED

R. W. writes: Can nearsightedness be cured surgically?

REPLY

No. The basic cause of myopia is an eyeball that is too long, but the difficulty can be remedied by wearing glasses.

MONONUCLEOSIS

E. R. writes: How is infectious mononucleosis diagnosed?

REPLY

Through blood studies, combined with symptoms. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this condition.

Today's Health Hint — Keep your blankets clean.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Gift Exchanges A Courtesy Rule

The days after Christmas are "trading days." Those who got the wrong size, wrong color, or identical toys take them back to the store. As a rule the store will exchange the goods or credit you for the returned item as a matter of courtesy.

Stores want to keep your good will. The law does not require them to take goods back. The gift buyer or recipient cannot demand a refund or an exchange without cause.

GIFT RETURNS

The customer should not abuse his good will. He can't wait too long to exchange the goods nor demand a full refund for the item if, after Christmas, the store has marked down the price.

Unfair? No, the deal works both ways. If you had bought something that was marked down and several days later the price had gone up, the store could not demand that you pay the higher price.

Nor again is there a legal duty for the store to let you cancel the agreement. The store is bound to carry out its promise. It couldn't cancel your order unless you agree.

Deal with reputable stores. Enforcement of your rights against stores which are not concerned with customer relations can be costly and time consuming.

If the goods have defects, you can claim an adjustment. The law will enforce the warranties stated to you or shown in written statements made about the product.

The law will also automatically attach some warranties, such as that the product is fit for its intended use.

In recent years the courts have more often held that warranties on a product "follow" the product. Though the store and the buyer make the contract, the warranty often protects a third person, say someone who received the items as a gift.

On the other hand, the seller has rights that "follow" his product also. He can follow it with a "seller's lien" to enforce payment. Where an installment payment agreement is used, the seller often keeps title until the goods are fully paid for. If the buyer does not pay on time, the seller can usually repossess the item.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Language Query Stumps Indian

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — A young Hopi Indian left blank one question in filling out a work application form.

His future employer repeated it: "Do you speak a foreign language?"

"Yes," the Indian answered. "English."

'Der Alt' To Be 90

BONN, Germany (AP) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany will be 90 years old tomorrow. Greetings from all around the world are piling up in his office in Bonn.

Farm Record

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown says California's farm income for 1965 reached a record $3.7 billion, despite complaints about shortages of Mexican farm laborers.

Planes Ordered

NEW YORK (AP) — More than $3 billion worth of airliners have been ordered by U.S. airlines for delivery in 1966, the Air Transport Assn. says. The amount is three times that of 1965 and includes 240 jets.

Figureheads that adorned sailing ships in the 19th century evolved from the ancient art of decorating bows to lure friendly spirits aboard, says the National Geographic Society.

No. 2208 Dec. 28, 30, 1965, Jan. 4, 1966

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Friday, the 21st day of January 1966, at the hour of 11:00 o'clock a.m., in the lobby inside the Lincoln Avenue entrance to the Title Insurance and Trust Company, being the building located at the Northeast corner of Lincoln Avenue and Mission Street, in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY, a corporation, as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and described as follows, to-wit: LOT 534, as shown upon that certain map entitled, "Map of Loma Verde No. 3A in the County of Marin, California, being a re-subdivision of Loma Verde No. 3, recorded September 19, 1955 in Book 8 of Maps at page 89, Records of Marin County, California", recorded May 2, 1956 in Book 9 of Maps at page 23, Marin County Records.

Said sale will be made, without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in a certain deed of trust executed by ARTHUR D. FEARON AND VERA FEARON, his wife, and GROSVENOR J. FEARON AND MARIANNE FEARON, his wife, as trustor to TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY, a corporation, as trustee, for the benefit and security of CLAUDINE M. JACKSON AND ROBERT N. JACKSON, as Joint Tenants, dated May 11, 1964 and recorded May 11, 1964 in the office of the Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, in Book 1812 of Official Records, page 385.

No. 2192 Dec. 28, 1965, Jan. 4, 11, 1966

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT BOND NO. 15, SERIES 6082, ASSESSMENT DISTRICT NO. 1961-1, ISSUED FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN MARIN COUNTY, STATE OF CALIFORNIA. Default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1/2/65, Pr. $186.66; 1/2/66, Pr. $186.66; 1/2/65, Int. $72.80; 7/2/65, Int. $67.20; 1/2/66, Int. $67.20; and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 18th, day of January, 1966, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center, at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold is more particularly described, to-wit: Lot No. 15, as shown and delineated on that certain map of Sutter Hills Unit 1, which said Map was filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin on the 6th day of November, 1961, in Liber 11 of Maps, at page 2 thereof. The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the principal thereof $373.32, due on account of interest $207.20; due on account of penalties $46.76; Total amount due on said bond $627.28.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $1.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

The Independent-Journal is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

Dated: December 17, 1965.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Executive Meddling Hurts Top Programs

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —One of the secrets of success is not to tamper with success, network television programmers are learning this season.

At all three networks, they have learned the hard way, as a number of series which had shown previous ratings strength now have become extremely wobbly because of high echelon "doctoring" by people who have to justify their jobs by doing something—anything.

At ABC-TV, for instance, "Ben Casey" seems on its last legs, thanks in considerable measure to the somebodies who, in the last few years, haven't been able to resist altering what was once the network's biggest hit.

Several seasons back, for example, "Casey" was moved from its Monday slot to Wednesdays, where it was scheduled opposite "The Beverly Hillbillies," which promptly murdered it in the statistics.

ABC-TV seemed to have learned a lesson because it put "Casey" back on Mondays, but this season—in keeping with the briefly hot trend of "continuing" stories (or soap operas)—the network's medical hero has had the added burden each week of running subplots that dilute the already thin main plots.

ABC-TV pulled a couple of other boners as well. "Peyton Place," very successful in the ratings last season, was expanded for this semester from two to three episodes a week, and the show has fallen off sharply in popularity.

Likewise, somebody at the network decided that Robert Lansing should be replaced as the lead of "12 O'Clock High" because of his alleged lack of appeal to youngsters. He was replaced, as it turned out, by a fellow older than Lansing, Paul Burke, who is a good actor but is not as well suited for the role as Lansing was.

NBC-TV's "Dr. Kildare" admittedly wasn't breaking any records as a ratings-getter when it was on for an hour each week last season— but now that it has been split into two half-hours weekly it has just about sealed its fate in the numbers game.

At CBS-TV, "Rawhide" was trotting along year after year, not setting any world records either in the ratings, but comfortable and very easy to take. Then somebody at the network decided to dump star Eric Fleming and toss in a couple of new regulars. The show has gotten slaughtered in the ratings ever since the changes.

There should be several network jobs opening up soon. High up.

Stabbing Ruled Self Defense

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A coroner's jury has ruled that the stabbing death of playwright Ray Allen was justifiable homicide in self defense.

The jury handed down the decision yesterday after Allen's divorced wife, comedienne Fay Dewitt Allen, 29, testified she did not remember stabbing Allen after she said he struck her Dec. 30.

Mrs. Allen was booked on suspicion of murder shortly after Allen was stabbed to death with a letter opener, police said, but later was released pending the outcome of the inquest.

Sewer Pact Talked

Alto Sanitary District directors last night discussed a proposed new contract with the City of Mill Valley for treatment of Alto sewage in the city's treatment plant, and agreed to meet with City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer when a date is agreed upon, Carl O. Heynen Jr., director, reported.

Schlesinger Joins Study Institute

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Former presidential adviser and Pulitzer Prize-winning historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. has joined the staff of the Institute for Advanced Study on a temporary basis.

Schlesinger will remain on the staff for at least one term, a spokesman said.

TV COMMERCIALS HEEDS ADVICE OF NO LITTER

Granny Goose no longer litters the highway when he holds up a stage on television, because of H. E. Silverfoote of Mill Valley.

The character who says he is Granny Goose stops a stagecoach on a TV commercial, tears off the top of a bag of potato chips with his strong white teeth, and lets the strip of torn paper drift earthward.

This offended Silverfoote, who lives at 63 Roque Moraes Drive, Mill Valley, and is a landscape specialist employed by the California Division of Highways.

He didn't mind the character's calling himself Granny Goose, or holding up a stagecoach, but he was irked about that litter — so irked, in fact, that he wrote the potato chip company (on Division of Highways stationery, no doubt) to complain.

Now, the TV camer's eye follows the ripped-off top of the bag of chips at is floats downward to land in a basket lettered "Every Litter Bit Hurts."

Anyhow, the trash receptacle is no more out of place beside that stage coach than is a bag of potato chips. And the Division of Highways is so proud of Silverfoote that it put out a press release about his accomplishment.

Bids Set Tomorrow On Highway Projects

Bids will be opened tomorrow on a pair of state highway projects involving roads in Marin.

One contract to be awarded will be to correct land slippage on Shoreline Highway about four miles west of its intersection with Highway 101. The state has budgeted $21,000 for the job.

The other is a three-county project of installation of "wrong way" signs at entrances to highways in Marin, Napa and Sonoma counties, in an effort to prevent wrong way head-on auto accidents on divided highways.

The projects were noted in a year-end report of the State Division of Highways, which reviewed the past year's work in the county and mentioned projects to be done.

The largest jobs scheduled for this year are resurfacing on on Highway 101.

Some $275,000 has been set aside for paving parts of the highway between Richardson Bay Bridge and Corte Madera Creek, and another $175,000 will be used for the highway between .7 of a mile north of Atherton Avenue to .9 of a mile south of Petaluma overhead, north of Novato.

Mentioning the recently opened rerouting of traffic under the San Rafael viaduct, the new San Rafael on and off ramps to Highway 101, the report mentioned that the job was actually a part of a project to widen the highway to six lanes over Puerto Suello Hill.

Plans have been completed, the report added, for widening Highway 101 from four to eight lanes between Terra Linda and Marinwood, but money is not yet available for the job.

Plans are under way on landscaping Highway 101 between Miller Creek Road and Highway 37, with $10,000 to be spent soon on tree planting at the Highway 37 interchange.

But studies have been stopped on a proposed parking lot on the west side of Highway 101 at Vista Point because the project might conflict with plans to add a second deck to the Golden Gate Bridge, the report went on.

Design studies are under way on the extension of the Highway 101 freeway north of Highway 37 through Novato, and plans are progressing on replacing the signs along Highway 101 from the Golden Gate Bridge to Mendocino County, although no financing is available now for these projects.

On Highway 1, the replacement of Stemple Creek Bridge is being contemplated in a few years, the report mentioned.

Two major projects are being delayed pending planning work by Marin County. One is the extension of Highway 101 freeway north of Atherton Avenue to Petaluma Creek, at the Sonoma County line. The county master plan will make recommendations on a route.

The other is for a new route for a wider Highway 1 from the Golden Gate Bridge to a point about three miles south of Olema, pending a decision on the West Marin general plan.

Ex-Space Staffer Jailed For Dope

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three men, including a former consultant on the Mariner 4 Mars probe, have been sentenced to prison on narcotics charges.

The trio, Michael A. DesCristo, 25, of Brooklyn, N.Y., Allen H. Rice, 27, of Hollywood, and Larry S. Toroker, 24, also of Hollywood, were sentenced to terms ranging from five to 20 years.

Rice, a former National Aeronautics and Space Administration employee, was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment for each of 11 counts of concealment and sale of drugs.

Toroker was sentenced to 20 years for each of nine counts.

DesCristo was sentenced to five years in state prison.

Deadly Weapon Charge Dropped

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon was dismissed against Mrs. Patricia Mangini, 45, by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipay Court yesterday on recommendation of the district attorney's office.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said the victim, John P. Mangini, 50, husband of the accused, insisted that a Dec. 4 knife injury he sustained was accidental.

The injury occurred at the family home, 724 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Plea Set Today In Battery Case

A 23-year-old San Rafael man, Russell E. Fabian, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of malicious mischief, resisting arrest and battery on a police officer.

Judge Peter Allen Smith then continued the case until this afternoon for plea entry. Fabian, of 407 Mission Avenue, is accused of maliciously damaging property owned by Harley James Richards Jr., and scuffling with San Rafael Officer Terrance Lucchesi when the latter questioned him about allegedly breaking the window of a car outside Hoagy's Bar, 711 Fourth Street, Saturday night.

Fabian was returned to county jail and his bail reduced by Judge Smith from $2,750 to $500.

WASHINGTON — It's not a baby's weight, but the wait.

So say California researchers who have catalogued a surprisingly high number of deaths and abnormalities among overdue babies.

While birth weight plays a role in the outlook for newborns, there is another factor apparently just as important—the length of time the expectant mother carries the baby.

The researchers, who studied 20,000 pregnancies of various lengths, found double the number of infant deaths occurring in prolonged pregnancies.

The drawn-out gestations—about three weeks beyond normal—also produced more retarded and deformed infants.

Investigators of the University of California School of Public Health also confirmed the doubly high death rate risk of overdue newborns in a more intensive study of 600 mothers.

Dr. Michael A. Zwerdling noted that until recently the potential hazard of prolonged pregnancy has been overshadowed by concern for premature infants.

His report shared the spotlight with one by fellow researchers, Doctors Bea J. Van Den Berg and J. Yerushalmy, given to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting at Berkeley. The research was supported by the National Institute of Health.

The higher fatality rate showed up in fetal deaths and early deaths among newborns and it persisted as a threat among survivors even two years after birth. A tendency of overdue mothers to repeat the performance is subsequent pregnancies was observed.

Dr. Zwerdling said that very large babies from drawn out pregnancies weren't as prone to injury during delivery as might be expected. Instead, the study indicates that babies over nine pounds have the lowest death rates, and the greatest risk in overlong pregnancies is among babies under five and one-half pounds.

Negro Teachers Lose Jobs Through Dixie Integration

By ERWIN KNOLL
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Southern school systems dismissed or demoted at least 452 Negro teachers because of their race this fall, a task force of the National Education Assn. (NEA) has reported.

Most of the Negro teachers —413—were displaced when desegregation resulted in the closing of the all-Negro schools in which they had taught, the report said. The other 39 lost their jobs because they had been involved in civil rights activity.

In addition, 216 Negro teachers in Florida were demoted because they failed the National Teachers Examination. These teachers, the NEA report said, are still employed, but are paid only $2,800 a year.

The task force, financed jointly by the NEA and the U.S. Office of Education, surveyed displacement of Negro teachers in the 17 Southern and border states. Its report stressed that the number of Negro teachers dismissed or demoted is larger than the documented total of 668, but that the actual total will probably never be known.

"The task force found considerable evidence of deep fear on the part of displaced teachers and others it sought to interview," the report stated. "Many Alabama teachers made it clear that they did not wish to talk to anyone about what had happened to them. In North Carolina and other states, teachers expressed similar fears. . . .

"The generalization seems to be justified that most displaced Negro teachers fear to make an issue of the way they have been treated, even when they have access to needed help. Moreover, many displaced teachers expressed hope that they may yet be re-employed, and this tends to make them over-cautious in reporting on past and present treatment."

About 85 per cent of the 668 teachers whose cases have been documented are now employed, the report said, but in some cases they have been assigned to jobs below their qualifications. The other 15 per cent—95 teachers—have found no other work.

Among the 95 unemployed teachers, nearly 80 per cent had five years or more of teaching experience, and all but five had college degrees, the task force reported. The typical unemployed teacher had taught elementary school, was a married woman, had three children and had to work to support her family.

Despite a general teacher shortage, the task force found that as many as 1,900 1965 graduates of predominantly Negro teachers' colleges are not employed in the schools, although they may have other jobs.

The chief reason for the displacement of Negro teachers, the report indicated, was an unwillingness to have them instruct white pupils.

"As a result," the report said, "when Negro teachers in any number transfer out of Negro schools, Negro teachers become surplus and lose their jobs. It matters not whether they are as well qualified as, or even better qualified than, other teachers in the school system who are retained.

"Nor does it matter whether they have more seniority. They were never employed as teachers for the school system—as the law would maintain—but rather as teachers for Negro schools."

Teachers are less likely to be dismissed as a result of desegregation in large cities than in rural areas, the task force reported. Generally, however, it found that "the more extensive the desegregation of students, the greater the chances are that Negro teachers will be adversely affected by demotion, displacement or dismissal." In areas where little or no desegregation has taken place, Negro teachers are in demand for all-Negro schools.

The survey found few school systems with Negro administrators whose responsibilities extend to all schools. Singled out for praise in the report as exceptions were school systems in Chattanooga, Tenn., Fairfax County, Va., Dade County, Fla., and St. Louis, Mo.

In St. Louis, the report said, approximately half the principals and at least five members of the central office administrative staffs are Negroes. The assistant superintendent in charge of personnel said he would hire 200 teachers, white or Negro, if they could be found."

The NEA task force proposed programs of training and placement assistance for Negro teachers who have lost their jobs, as well as legal support for efforts to block further dismissals.

William G. Carr, NEA executive secretary, said the report has been sent to the Office of Education, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner, and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, with a request for federal assistance in establishing retraining projects to help train the displaced teachers for new jobs.

Civil Service Workers May Re-Enter Politics

By MILTON JAQUES
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Major efforts are under way to upset the 26-year-old Hatch Act which keeps 2.5 million federal employees out of partisan political campaigns.

A key decision on the Hatch Act is expected early next year from the U. S. District Court in Baltimore, Md., where federal employees and the Montgomery County, Md., Democratic organization are challenging the political restrictions set by the Civil Service Commission. The commission administers the Hatch Act.

Another assault is occuring in Congress. There the effort is being made through a proposed "study" of the act and its political restrictions.

The White House is also in a position to move in the same direction. President Lyndon B. Johnson has forged new links with the Civil Service Commission through his close relationship with the chairman, John W. Macy Jr. Macy has performed a number of new tasks under the Johnson administration not normally assigned to the commission chairman.

On the record, Johnson is known as a strong advocate of the career civil service. This record was based on his activities as a federal employee and legislator for most of his adult life.

But as a chief executive who keeps a tight check on the departments in the executive branch, he also wants support for his administration. He could get this if federal employees were allowed more political freedom in their jobs.

For federal employees, the protective umbrella of the Hatch Act is a mixed blessing. It protects them from unwanted political activities and shields their pocketbooks from demands for contributions to party warchests.

But it also restricts the politically-ambitious employee who would like to run for office or actively engage in campaigns.

The main objective of the act, enacted in 1939, is to insure that federal employees perform the government's business, and not that of a political party or leader.

The act also protects the public from being solicited for political contributions in public buildings by an army of federal employees.

In Baltimore, Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, after hearing arguments in the Montgomery County case, promised a ruling within several weeks. However, the case is likely to be carried to the Supreme Court.

The case stems from an order from the civil service commission liberalizing the Hatch Act in areas with heavy concentrations of federal employees. Montgomery County, just outside the District of Columbia, has some 35,000 U.S. employees in a population of 440,000.

The commission has allowed federal employees to participate in local elections as nonpartisans. In Montgomery County a non-partisan organization made up of federal employees represents a third force. To the county Democratic organization, this new force represents "discrimination." The organization says federal workers can, in fact, engage in politics but not as Democrats or Republicans.

In Congress, a movement to liberalize the Hatch Act's anti-political provisions won a first-step victory when the Senate this year passed a bill establishing a 12-member commission to "study" the law.

The House hasn't acted yet, but the Senate bill is pending in the House Administration Committee. The study won't be as innocuous as it sounds, some observers say, because the easing of the Hatch Act is its main objective.

Within the executive department, the easing of Hatch Act rules has been a point of dispute.

One side argues that increased party activities carried on through executive department offices will weaken the civil service and the merit system. Former Postmaster General J. Edward Day, now a member of the National Civil Service League, has warned against increased political pressures on career employees for contributions, promotions, summer jobs, and for support of the national administration.

The opposing view is that the employee generally owes his job to the party in power, and should be willing to contribute to show his interest in good government.

The Civil Service Commission is required by Congress to report annually on Hatch Act violations and complaints. The complaints far outweigh the findings of violations.

The decline of the Republican party in its role of opposition may make it easier for the administration if it wants to put more federal employees into political assignments, some sources at the capitol feel.

Father's Advice Used In Court

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Guy Goodwin was prosecuting a criminal trial in federal court here and on cross-examination fired questions at a witness faster than the witness could answer.

Presiding Judge Wesley E. Brown finally broke in. "My father used to say, 'The hardest thing to do is to hear with your mouth open.'"

Goodwin chuckled, bowed, and replied:

"I recognize the wisdom of your father."

Policeman Total Up; Hours May Be Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Police Department has reached a high of 27,052 members.

But Police Commissioner Vincent L. Broderick, citing shorter hours, longer vacations and sick leaves, said: "I doubt that in terms of man hours we have many more men on the streets now than we did in 1932, when the strength of the force was about 13,000."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Rheumatic Fever 'Licks Joints, Bites The Heart' Of Its Victims

VAN DELLEN

Rheumatic fever was described by Dr. Ernest C. Laseque as a disease that "licks the joints and bites the heart." The scar from the bite may remain, but the "licks" never hurt anything. However, not all victims are bitten because more than one-third recover completely.

The remainder acquire some permanent scarring of one or more of the heart valves, but in the majority the injury is so slight that little or no handicap ensues. Nevertheless, the condition is responsible for at least one-third of all adult heart disease. Many of these injuries can be corrected later via heart surgery.

GROUP A streptococci are responsible for the lick and bite. Most rheumatic fever attacks are preceded by this type of infection, usually in the nose and throat. Symptoms seldom last more than five days, but the youngster destined for the disease has more in store for him.

The next 10 to 15 days represent the lull before the storm. The system has conquered the strep infection by sending protective antibodies into battle. It is here that the rheumatic fever victim differs from others; he reacts to these antibodies or other by-products of the strep infection with swelling and inflammation of connective tissues of the heart, joints, brain, and other organs.

The ailment makes its debut in many ways. Symptoms are slight in some, consisting of weight loss, poor appetite, repeated nosebleeds, fever, and aching in and about the arms, legs and abdomen. These manifestations may occur singly or in combination. In others, the disease is ushered in with high fever and severe inflammation of one or more joints.

Brain involvement (chorea or St. Vitus' dance) induces uncontrolable twitching in the muscles of the face, arms, and legs. Cardiac changes are recognized by listening to the heart and doing an electrocardiogram.

ASPIRIN or a corticosteriod is the treatment used most frequently. The antibiotics are of no value, except to prevent or treat the strep infection that triggers the disease.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

CHILD'S ASTHMA

H. D. writes: I stay up nights worrying about my 6 year old, who coughs a lot. Now the doctor says he has bronchial asthma. What can cause this?

REPLY

Allergy. Breathing difficulties occur in bronchial asthma because the bronchi are swollen and interfere with the passage of air. This leads to a typical wheeze during an attack. Our leaflet on bronchial asthma, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope, explains the condition and various measures that are recommended.

SHORTSIGHTED

R. W. writes: Can nearsightedness be cured surgically?

REPLY

No. The basic cause of myopia is an eyeball that is too long, but the difficulty can be remedied by wearing glasses.

MONONUCLEOSIS

E. R. writes: How is infectious mononucleosis diagnosed?

REPLY

Through blood studies, combined with symptoms. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this condition.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Gift Exchanges A Courtesy Rule

The days after Christmas are "trading days." Those who got the wrong size, wrong color, or identical toys take them back to the store. As a rule the store will exchange the goods or credit you for the returned item as a matter of courtesy.

Stores want to keep your good will. The law does not require them to take goods back. The gift buyer or recipient cannot demand a refund or an exchange without cause.

GIFT RETURNS

The customer should not abuse his good will. He can't wait too long to exchange the goods nor demand a full refund for the item if, after Christmas, the store has marked down the price.

Unfair? No, the deal works both ways. If you had bought something that was marked down and several days later the price had gone up, the store could not demand that you pay the higher price.

Nor again is there a legal duty for the store to let you cancel the agreement. The store is bound to carry out its promise. It couldn't cancel your order unless you agree.

Deal with reputable stores. Enforcement of your rights against stores which are not concerned with customer relations can be costly and time consuming.

If the goods have defects, you can claim an adjustment. The law will enforce the warranties stated to you or shown in written statements made about the product.

The law will also automatically attach some warranties, such as that the product is fit for its intended use.

In recent years the courts have more often held that warranties on a product "follow" the product. Though the store and the buyer make the contract, the warranty often protects a third person, say someone who received the items as a gift.

On the other hand, the seller has rights that "follow" his product also. He can follow it with a "seller's lien" to enforce payment. Where an installment payment agreement is used, the seller often keeps title until the goods are fully paid for. If the buyer does not pay on time, the seller can usually repossess the item.

COUNCIL UPHOLDS NEW SLOPE RULE

San Rafael Property Owner Loses Appeal For Six-Lot Gracie Tract Subdivision

The San Rafael City Council held firm last night in the first test case of the city's new slope policy ordinance, governing lot sizes in hillside areas.

Councilmen unanimously denied an appeal by Harry Diner from planning commission turndown of a six-lot subdivision in Gracie Tract on the north side of Irwin Street, near Hazel Court. The planning commission recommended the subdivision be denied because it failed to conform to the slope policy.

Councilman Charles W. Aby said the slope policy "will apply to all subdivisions from now on." The ordinance was enacted "because of the way properties were developed previously," he said.

Diner said that under the slope policy he could develop only three lots and this would not be feasible economically.

"You happend to be one of the unfortunate individuals caught in the squeeze," Aby said. "But there is no responsibility on the part of the city council to protect investment and speculation. The application of the slope policy to your property is right."

Diner pointed out that a tentative map with six lots had been approved in September, 1964, prior to the slope policy. "These lots were created not after, but before the slope ordinance," he said.

Councilmen noted that the six-lot map had expired in one year and therefore no longer existed.

On another planning matter, the council overruled a planning commission recommendation by granting United Ambulance Co. a permit to operate at 1314 Lincoln Avenue.

Thomas Baker of the ambulance firm said the company has to move from quarters on Fourth Street because its lease has expired.

Marion Hoge, owner of property adjacent to 1314 Lincoln Avenue, said the ambulance company office would be "in the middle of the block surrounded by homes and apartments." Besides, she said, Lincoln Avenue "is too congested for ambulances."

Baker said two ambulances would operate from the San Rafael office, but red lights and sirens are not used on 92 per cent of the calls.

Councilmen unanimously granted the use permit indefinitely. The planning commission had recommended denial by a 4-2 vote last month.

In other planning matters, the San Rafael City Council:

1. Passed to print an ordinance rezoning four parcels in Northgate Shopping Center Unit One, on the north side of Las Gallinas Avenue, from general commercial to administrative-professional, as requested by D. M. Christensen. The vote was 4-1 with Councilman Harry Barbier dissenting. The fire commission recommended against the rezoning because it would change the fire zone from one to two, a less restrictive zone.

2. Unanimously passed to print an ordinance rezoning 38 acres of Kerner-Bellam properties on the east side of Kerner Boulevard from planned commercial to light industrial to multiple residential and special residential requiring 2,000 square feet of land area per dwelling unit.

3. Unanimously adopted an ordinance zoning two lots between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, previously unclassified, as general commercial, as requested by Draper Companies.

4. Unanimously adopted an amendment to the zoning ordinance setting density in apartment areas, ranging from 1,000 square feet of land per dwelling unit to 3,000 square feet, setting lot coverage and setback requirements, and creating a new zoning district known as "B-D."

Motel Resident Alleged Burglar

Clifford John Klavis, 21, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglary of a Bermuda Palms Motel room in San Rafael.

Further proceedings were continued until this afternoon. Klavis, who also lives at the motel at 729 Francisco Boulevard, was arrested Friday night by San Rafael police after allegedly breaking into a room occupied by Alexander Keller.

Officers said the motel owner, Irving Litchfield, said he saw the entry and that eight books of trading stamps and a transistor radio valued at $44 were taken. Klavis was held in county jail in lieu of $1,100 bail.

Date Cancelled; Wrist Is Treated

Carol Ann Strong, 18, of 124 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at 3:20 p.m. Saturday for a cut wrist and cut elbow, and released. San Rafael police, called in on the case, said the girl had been depressed because a date for New Year's Eve had been cancelled.

The hospital reported the girl was receiving treatment at the Marin Mental Health Clinic.

Four Young Marinites Tell Of Travel In U.S.

Four Marin County youths have returned home after they said they hitch-hiked 10,000 miles across the United States in seven weeks on under a total of $150.

They are Gary Scozzafava, 1424 West Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, Jim Alumbaugh, 267 Orris Terrace, Terra Linda, David Timmer, 363 Hickory Lane, Terra Linda and Steve Bobbio, 632 Wakerobin Lane, San Rafael, all aged 18.

Scozzafava said he himself had only 30 cents when he set off but all four were given money and food along the trip which, they said, took them to 26 states and Mexico. They also worked for a time in New York as stock boys and in Miami as laborers for a few days.

"People were very friendly to us all the way along, particularly along the north route and in New Orleans," said Timmer.

The four said they graduated from Terra Linda High School in June and decided to set out to see more of America on Nov. 5, returning on Christmas Eve.

They hitched rides across country on trucks, buses and once travelled some miles in a car they later found out had been stolen, said Alumbaugh. Another time they said they were caught in a flash flood in Arizona.

Scozzafava said, "We thought that if we didn't see America when we were young, we would not get around to seeing it at all."

Board Will Request Librarian Pay Hike

Sausalito city councilmen will hear a request from the public library board that the head librarian's salary be raised from $650 to $700 per month at an 8 o'clock meeting today.

The council will also hear the fourth draft of a proposed community antenna ordinance.

School Fund On Agenda

The Fairfax School District Board will make another review tonight of a proposal for a federally financed, special education program aimed at aiding "educationally handicapped" students in the district.

The proposal, which outlines a program to be supported by a $20,400 allocation resulting from the Education Act of 1965, designates the entire Fairfax district as its "target area."

"We think we have a high enough proportion of low income families throughout the district to make special classes available to students at all our schools," reported Supt. Homer Sisk.

The board hopes to start the new courses by the beginning of the second semester in February, according to Sisk.

The trustees will again seek a consensus over suggestions for a name for a new school to be built on White's Hill.

Holy Innocents Church Plans Burning Of Trees

A roaring bonfire of dry Christmas trees will culminate a day of celebration Thursday as Corte Madera's Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish commemorates the Feast of the Epiphany.

The holiday, otherwise known as the Twelfth Night, will be marked with festivities at the church beginning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 6:30 a.m.

A candlelight procession and an enactment of the Magi Pageant will take place at the church at 7:30 p.m.

The Christmas tree burning will begin at about 8:15 p.m. Trees for the fire may be taken to the church any time before Thursday evening, it was announced.

Christian Science

James Watt, Christian Science lecturer, will speak on "Christian Science: What It Teaches and What It Does" Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael. Watt's talk will be made on request of the First Church of Christ Scientist, San Rafael.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Executive Meddling Hurts Top Programs

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —One of the secrets of success is not to tamper with success, network television programmers are learning this season.

At all three networks, they have learned the hard way, as a number of series which had shown previous ratings strength now have become extremely wobbly because of high echelon "doctoring" by people who have to justify their jobs by doing something—anything.

At ABC-TV, for instance, "Ben Casey" seems on its last legs, thanks in considerable measure to the somebodies who, in the last few years, haven't been able to resist altering what was once the network's biggest hit.

Several seasons back, for example, "Casey" was moved from its Monday slot to Wednesdays, where it was scheduled opposite "The Beverly Hillbillies," which promptly murdered it in the statistics.

ABC-TV seemed to have learned a lesson because it put "Casey" back on Mondays, but this season—in keeping with the briefly hot trend of "continuing" stories (or soap operas)—the network's medical hero has had the added burden each week of running subplots that dilute the already-thin main plots.

ABC-TV pulled a couple of other boners as well. "Peyton Place," very successful in the ratings last season, was expanded for this semester from two to three episodes a week, and the show has fallen off sharply in popularity.

Likewise, somebody at the network decided that Robert Lansing should be replaced as the lead of "12 O'Clock High" because of his alleged lack of appeal to youngsters. He was replaced, as it turned out, by a fellow older than Lansing, Paul Burke, who is a good actor but is not as well suited for the role as Lansing was.

NBC-TV's "Dr. Kildare" admittedly wasn't breaking any records as a ratings-getter when it was on for an hour each week last season— but now that it has been split into two half-hours weekly it has just about sealed its fate in the numbers game.

At CBS-TV, "Rawhide" was trotting along year after year, not setting any world records either in the ratings, but comfortable and very easy to take. Then somebody at the network decided to dump star Eric Fleming and toss in a couple of new regulars. The show has gotten slaughtered in the ratings ever since the changes.

There should be several network jobs opening up soon. High up.

Stabbing Ruled Self Defense

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A coroner's jury has ruled that the stabbing death of playwright Ray Allen was justifiable homicide in self defense.

The jury handed down the decision yesterday after Allen's divorced wife, comedienne Fay Dewitt Allen, 29, testified she did not remember stabbing Allen after she said he struck her Dec. 30.

Mrs. Allen was booked on suspicion of murder shortly after Allen was stabbed to death with a letter opener, police said, but later was released pending the outcome of the inquest.

Sewer Pact Talked

Alto Sanitary District directors last night discussed a proposed new contract with the City of Mill Valley for treatment of Alto sewage in the city's treatment plant, and agreed to meet with City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer when a date is agreed upon, Carl O. Heynen Jr., director, reported.

Schlesinger Joins Study Institute

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Former presidential adviser and Pulitzer Prize-winning historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. has joined the staff of the Institute for Advanced Study on a temporary basis.

Schlesinger will remain on the staff for at least one term, a spokesman said.

TV COMMERCIALS HEEDS ADVICE OF NO LITTER

Granny Goose no longer litters the highway when he holds up a stage on television, because of H. E. Silverfoote of Mill Valley.

The character who says he is Granny Goose stops a stagecoach on a TV commercial, tears off the top of a bag of potato chips with his strong white teeth, and lets the strip of torn paper drift earthward.

This offended Silverfoote, who lives at 63 Roque Moraes Drive, Mill Valley, and is a landscape specialist employed by the California Division of Highways.

He didn't mind the character's calling himself Granny Goose, or holding up a stagecoach, but he was irked about that litter — so irked, in fact, that he wrote the potato chip company (on Division of Highways stationery, no doubt) to complain.

Now, the TV camer's eye follows the ripped-off top of the bag of chips at is floats downward to land in a basket lettered "Every Litter Bit Hurts."

Anyhow, the trash receptacle is no more out of place beside that stage coach than is a bag of potato chips. And the Division of Highways is so proud of Silverfoote that it put out a press release about his accomplishment.

Bids Set Tomorrow On Highway Projects

Bids will be opened tomorrow on a pair of state highway projects involving roads in Marin.

One contract to be awarded will be to correct land slippage on Shoreline Highway about four miles west of its intersection with Highway 101. The state has budgeted $21,000 for the job.

The other is a three-county project of installation of "wrong way" signs at entrances to highways in Marin, Napa and Sonoma counties, in an effort to prevent wrong way head-on auto accidents on divided highways.

The projects were noted in a year-end report of the State Division of Highways, which reviewed the past year's work in the county and mentioned projects to be done.

The largest jobs scheduled for this year are resurfacing on on Highway 101.

Some $275,000 has been set aside for paving parts of the highway between Richardson Bay Bridge and Corte Madera Creek, and another $175,000 will be used for the highway between .7 of a mile north of Atherton Avenue to .9 of a mile south of Petaluma overhead, north of Novato.

Mentioning the recently opened rerouting of traffic under the San Rafael viaduct, the new San Rafael on and off ramps to Highway 101, the report mentioned that the job was actually a part of a project to widen the highway to six lanes over Puerto Suello Hill.

Plans have been completed, the report added, for widening Highway 101 from four to eight lanes between Terra Linda and Marinwood, but money is not yet available for the job.

Plans are under way on landscaping Highway 101 between Miller Creek Road and Highway 37, with $10,000 to be spent soon on tree planting at the Highway 37 interchange.

But studies have been stopped on a proposed parking lot on the west side of Highway 101 at Vista Point because the project might conflict with plans to add a second deck to the Golden Gate Bridge, the report went on.

Design studies are under way on the extension of the Highway 101 freeway north of Highway 37 through Novato, and plans are progressing on replacing the signs along Highway 101 from the Golden Gate Bridge to Mendocino County, although no financing is available now for these projects.

On Highway 1, the replacement of Stemple Creek Bridge is being contemplated in a few years, the report mentioned.

Two major projects are being delayed pending planning work by Marin County. One is the extension of Highway 101 freeway north of Atherton Avenue to Petaluma Creek, at the Sonoma County line. The county master plan will make recommendations on a route.

The other is for a new route for a wider Highway 1 from the Golden Gate Bridge to a point about three miles south of Olema, pending a decision on the West Marin general plan.

Ex-Space Staffer Jailed For Dope

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three men, including a former consultant on the Mariner 4 Mars probe, have been sentenced to prison on narcotics charges.

The trio, Michael A. DesCristo, 25, of Brooklyn, N.Y., Allen H. Rice, 27, of Hollywood, and Larry S. Toroker, 24, also of Hollywood, were sentenced to terms ranging from five to 20 years.

Rice, a former National Aeronautics and Space Administration employee, was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment for each of 11 counts of concealment and sale of drugs.

Toroker was sentenced to 20 years for each of nine counts.

DesCristo was sentenced to five years in state prison.

Deadly Weapon Charge Dropped

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon was dismissed against Mrs. Patricia Mangini, 45, by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipay Court yesterday on recommendation of the district attorney's office.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said the victim, John P. Mangini, 50, husband of the accused, insisted that a Dec. 4 knife injury he sustained was accidental.

The injury occurred at the family home, 724 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Plea Set Today In Battery Case

A 23-year-old San Rafael man, Russell E. Fabian, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of malicious mischief, resisting arrest and battery on a police officer.

Judge Peter Allen Smith then continued the case until this afternoon for plea entry. Fabian, of 407 Mission Avenue, is accused of maliciously damaging property owned by Harley James Richards Jr., and scuffling with San Rafael Officer Terrance Lucchesi when the latter questioned him about allegedly breaking the window of a car outside Hoagy's Bar, 711 Fourth Street, Saturday night.

Fabian was returned to county jail and his bail reduced by Judge Smith from $2,750 to $500.

MANDARIN'S MANTLE

For after-dark radiance, the deep splendor of jewel tone satin sculptured into a strict little coat in gleaming celanese acetate satin, worsted and nylon. The deft details, so Far-Eastern in feeling, include the high stand-up collar, vertical pockets and a row of self-braid buttons.

New Spring Styles—Restless, Romantic

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The new spring styles are like teen-agers — stubborn audacious, restless, romantic, colorful, expensive, and still very young.

More than 200 fashion reporters will judge this for themselves at a 10-day preview of new designs beginning tomorrow. The American Designer Series, arranged by Eleanor Lambert, starts off the showings followed on Sunday, by the New York Couture Group's semiannual press week.

CONSIDER HOW stubborn the styles are. Didn't the experts predict — even plead for — a hasty death for short skirts, shapeless shifts, bared bosoms, plastered-on pants, boots, bonnets, and party pajamas?

Yet defiantly, perversely, this spring skirts will be even shorter, shifts shiftier, boots kickier, bonnets more babyish, pants tighter, and party pajamas funnier than they ever were.

AUDACIOUS IS the word for those short, jagged, and severely straight-haired cuts imported from England via Vidal Sassoon. The word also applies to designer Jacques Tiffeau's skinny manikins in paneless spectacles and suits with thigh-high hemlines, or in hip-slung Bikini evening gowns with barely there bodices. It goes, too, for Rudi Gernreich's chiffon see-through T-shirts and Bill Blass' nude-hued petticoats under black lace dresses, and Anne Klein's slithery leather bell bottom pants, and Anne Fogarty's wide-legged gingham party pants.

Date time and evening clothes are the restless ones. Designer John Moore looked back to the '30s for inspiration for his costumes which are spirals of ruffles or swirls of flounces. Almost every designer has borrowed from the flapper '20s, creating long-waisted, short evening dresses with flirty skirts.

ANTHONY BLOTTA'S swish chiffons are in shades of a more distant past in the long-skirted granny dress. Gathered at the midriff, ruffles at the sleeve and possibly the hem it is as romantic as a Louisa May Alcott. Also in the romantic mood are Ceil Chapman's draped crepes, George Stavropolous' floaty chiffons, and Count Sarmi's fluttery, birdlike floral pastels.

Sweet as 16 are those little navy dresses with meringue white collars and cuffs; Samuel Winston dresses with rock candy-like twinkling bodices; and nearly everybody's bon-bon coats and dresses all wrapped up in satin ribbons and bows. Hannah Troy is clever with the demure little girl dress.

Most of the styles to be previewed are expensive.

MOBILE NONCHALANCE

Leisure-hours ensemble of pure wool knit by Hampton East. Air of mobile nonchalance is accented by a sleeveless top in matching checked wool knit with its own hint of bell shaping and neat, drawstring-detailed neckline. A great look for after-ski, at-home or early spring's casual occasions.

Susan Jeanne Duff Marries In Old St. Mary's Church

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Duff of Kent Woodlands. The ceremony was performed at 4 p.m.

Preceding the bride to the altar in gowns of green satin with willow satin sleeves were her sister, Mrs. Victor N. Carter II as matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Camille Timberlake, Marilee Hearn, Joan Dinkelspiel, Mrs. Richard Duff Jr., and Heidi Johnson.

Dennis Duff was best man.

The bride was graduated from the Sarah Dix Hamlin School and Le Fleuron.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. Ernest Osgood and Charles Hunt Smith, was graduated from Eaglebrook School in Deerfield, Mass., and Paul Smith College in Lake Placid, N.Y.

Following a wedding trip in New England, the couple will reside in London, England.

Paula Daly To Be Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson Daly of Kent Woodlands announced the engagement of their daughter, Paula, to Jeffrey Robert Skov of San Francisco at a Christmas family dinner party.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Jeffrey Nash Daly of Kent Woodlands, was graduated from Redwood High School and the University of California, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She is also a member of the Spinsters of San Francisco. The late Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Nash of Alameda and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Daly of San Francisco are her grandparents.

The future benedict, son of Mrs. Richard Tingley of San Anselmo and Robert Skov of San Francisco, was graduated from Redwood High School and Stanford University. He is a newsman with KSFO Radio in San Francisco. Mrs. Ronald Sanchez of San Anselmo and John Skov of Bogalusa, La., are his sister and brother. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Menefee and the late Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Skov of San Francisco.

The wedding will be held on April 2 at St. John's Church in Ross.

Jaycettes President Enjoys Sewing Best

MRS. ROGER HILLMAN

The new president of the Novato Jaycettes, Mrs. Roger K. Hillman, has lived in Marin County only four years, but she has resided in the Bay Area since the age of four, attending elementary school and high school in Richmond.

Betty Hillman attended Santa Ana Junior College two years prior to her marriage to Mr. Hillman, salesman for a pharmaceutical firm. They have four children, Deborah, 6, Mark, 5, Denise, 3, and Cheryl, 16 months of age.

The young Mrs. Hillman said her family keeps her quite busy but she enjoys sewing—for herself and her children—and also knitting and reading when she can find the time.

Needlework Guild Sets Installations

Mrs. Ralph Michener will be installed president of the Novato Branch of the Needlework Guild of America at a meeting to be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Preston Perry in Novato. Plans for 1966 will also be discussed.

Other officers to be installed are Mesdames Richard Koch, secretary; Edgar Rovelstad, treasurer and William Rupert, publicity.

COUNCIL UPHOLDS NEW SLOPE RULE

San Rafael Property Owner Loses Appeal For Six-Lot Gracie Tract Subdivision

The San Rafael City Council held firm last night in the first test case of the city's new slope policy ordinance, governing lot sizes in hillside areas.

Councilmen unanimously denied an appeal by Harry Diner from planning commission turndown of a six-lot subdivision in Gracie Tract on the north side of Irwin Street, near Hazel Court. The planning commission recommended the subdivision be denied because it failed to conform to the slope policy.

Councilman Charles W. Aby said the slope policy "will apply to all subdivisions from now on." The ordinance was enacted "because of the way properties were developed previously," he said.

Diner said that under the slope policy he could develop only three lots and this would not be feasible economically.

"You happend to be one of the unfortunate individuals caught in the squeeze," Aby said. "But there is no responsibility on the part of the city council to protect investment and speculation. The application of the slope policy to your property is right."

Diner pointed out that a tentative map with six lots had been approved in September, 1964, prior to the slope policy. "These lots were created not after, but before the slope ordinance," he said.

Councilmen noted that the six-lot map had expired in one year and therefore no longer existed.

On another planning matter, the council overruled a planning commission recommendation by granting United Ambulance Co. a permit to operate at 1314 Lincoln Avenue.

Thomas Baker of the ambulance firm said the company has to move from quarters on Fourth Street because its lease has expired.

Marion Hoge, owner of property adjacent to 1314 Lincoln Avenue, said the ambulance company office would be "in the middle of the block surrounded by homes and apartments." Besides, she said, Lincoln Avenue "is too congested for ambulances."

Baker said two ambulances would operate from the San Rafael office, but red lights and sirens are not used on 92 per cent of the calls.

Councilmen unanimously granted the use permit indefinitely. The planning commission had recommended denial by a 4-2 vote last month.

In other planning matters, the San Rafael City Council:

1. Passed to print an ordinance rezoning four parcels in Northgate Shopping Center Unit One, on the north side of Las Gallinas Avenue, from general commercial to administrative-professional, as requested by D. M. Christensen. The vote was 4-1 with Councilman Harry Barbier dissenting. The fire commission recommended against the rezoning because it would change the fire zone from one to two, a less restrictive zone.

2. Unanimously passed to print an ordinance rezoning 38 acres of Kerner-Bellam properties on the east side of Kerner Boulevard from planned commercial to light industrial to multiple residential and special residential requiring 2,000 square feet of land area per dwelling unit.

3. Unanimously adopted an ordinance zoning two lots between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, previously unclassified, as general commercial, as requested by Draper Companies.

4. Unanimously adopted an amendment to the zoning ordinance setting density in apartment areas, ranging from 1,000 square feet of land per dwelling unit to 3,000 square feet, setting lot coverage and setback requirements, and creating a new zoning district known as "B-D."

Archaeologist Wins Institute's Medal

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Dr. Carl William Blegen, excavator of Troy and the Palace of Nestor at Pylos has won the Archaeological Institute of America's first gold medal for distinguished archaeological achievement.

Dr. Blegen, now residing in Athens, Greece, is professor emeritus of classical archaeology at the University of Cincinnati.

Motel Resident Alleged Burglar

Clifford John Klavis, 21, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglary of a Bermuda Palms Motel room in San Rafael.

Further proceedings were continued until this afternoon. Klavis, who also lives at the motel at 729 Francisco Boulevard, was arrested Friday night by San Rafael police after allegedly breaking into a room occupied by Alexander Keller.

Officers said the motel owner, Irving Litchfield, said he saw the entry and that eight books of trading stamps and a transistor radio valued at $44 were taken. Klavis was held in county jail in lieu of $1,100 bail.

Date Cancelled; Wrist Is Treated

Carol Ann Strong, 18, of 124 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at 3:20 p.m. Saturday for a cut wrist and cut elbow, and released. San Rafael police, called in on the case, said the girl had been depressed because a date for New Year's Eve had been cancelled.

The hospital reported the girl was receiving treatment at the Marin Mental Health Clinic.

Four Young Marinites Tell Of Travel In U.S.

Four Marin County youths have returned home after they said they hitch-hiked 10,000 miles across the United States in seven weeks on under a total of $150.

They are Gary Scozzafava, 1424 West Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, Jim Alumbaugh, 267 Orris Terrace, Terra Linda, David Timmer, 363 Hickory Lane, Terra Linda and Steve Bobbio, 632 Wakerobin Lane, San Rafael, all aged 18.

Scozzafava said he himself had only 30 cents when he set off but all four were given money and food along the trip which, they said, took them to 26 states and Mexico. They also worked for a time in New York as stock boys and in Miami as laborers for a few days.

"People were very friendly to us all the way along, particularly along the north route and in New Orleans," said Timmer.

The four said they graduated from Terra Linda High School in June and decided to set out to see more of America on Nov. 5, returning on Christmas Eve.

They hitched rides across country on trucks, buses and once travelled some miles in a car they later found out had been stolen, said Alumbaugh. Another time they said they were caught in a flash flood in Arizona.

Scozzafava said, "We thought that if we didn't see America when we were young, we would not get around to seeing it at all."

Board Will Request Librarian Pay Hike

Sausalito city councilmen will hear a request from the public library board that the head librarian's salary be raised from $650 to $700 per month at an 8 o'clock meeting today.

The council will also hear the fourth draft of a proposed community antenna ordinance.

School Fund On Agenda

The Fairfax School District Board will make another review tonight of a proposal for a federally financed, special education program aimed at aiding "educationally handicapped" students in the district.

The proposal, which outlines a program to be supported by a $20,400 allocation resulting from the Education Act of 1965, designates the entire Fairfax district as its "target area."

"We think we have a high enough proportion of low income families throughout the district to make special classes available to students at all our schools," reported Supt. Homer Sisk.

The board hopes to start the new courses by the beginning of the second semester in February, according to Sisk.

The trustees will again seek a consensus over suggestions for a name for a new school to be built on White's Hill.

Holy Innocents Church Plans Burning Of Trees

A roaring bonfire of dry Christmas trees will culminate a day of celebration Thursday as Corte Madera's Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish commemorates the Feast of the Epiphany.

The holiday, otherwise known as the Twelfth Night, will be marked with festivities at the church beginning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 6:30 a.m.

A candlelight procession and an enactment of the Magi Pageant will take place at the church at 7:30 p.m.

The Christmas tree burning will begin at about 8:15 p.m. Trees for the fire may be taken to the church any time before Thursday evening, it was announced.

Christian Science

James Watt, Christian Science lecturer, will speak on "Christian Science: What It Teaches and What It Does" Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael. Watt's talk will be made on request of the First Church of Christ Scientist, San Rafael.

New Spring Styles—Restless, Romantic

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The new spring styles are like teen-agers — stubborn audacious, restless, romantic, colorful, expensive, and still very young.

More than 200 fashion reporters will judge this for themselves at a 10-day preview of new designs beginning tomorrow. The American Designer Series, arranged by Eleanor Lambert, starts off the showings followed on Sunday, by the New York Couture Group's semiannual press week.

CONSIDER HOW stubborn the styles are. Didn't the experts predict — even plead for — a hasty death for short skirts, shapeless shifts, bared bosoms, plastered-on pants, boots, bonnets, and party pajamas?

Yet defiantly, perversely, this spring skirts will be even shorter, shifts shiftier, boots kickier, bonnets more babyish, pants tighter, and party pajamas funnier than they ever were.

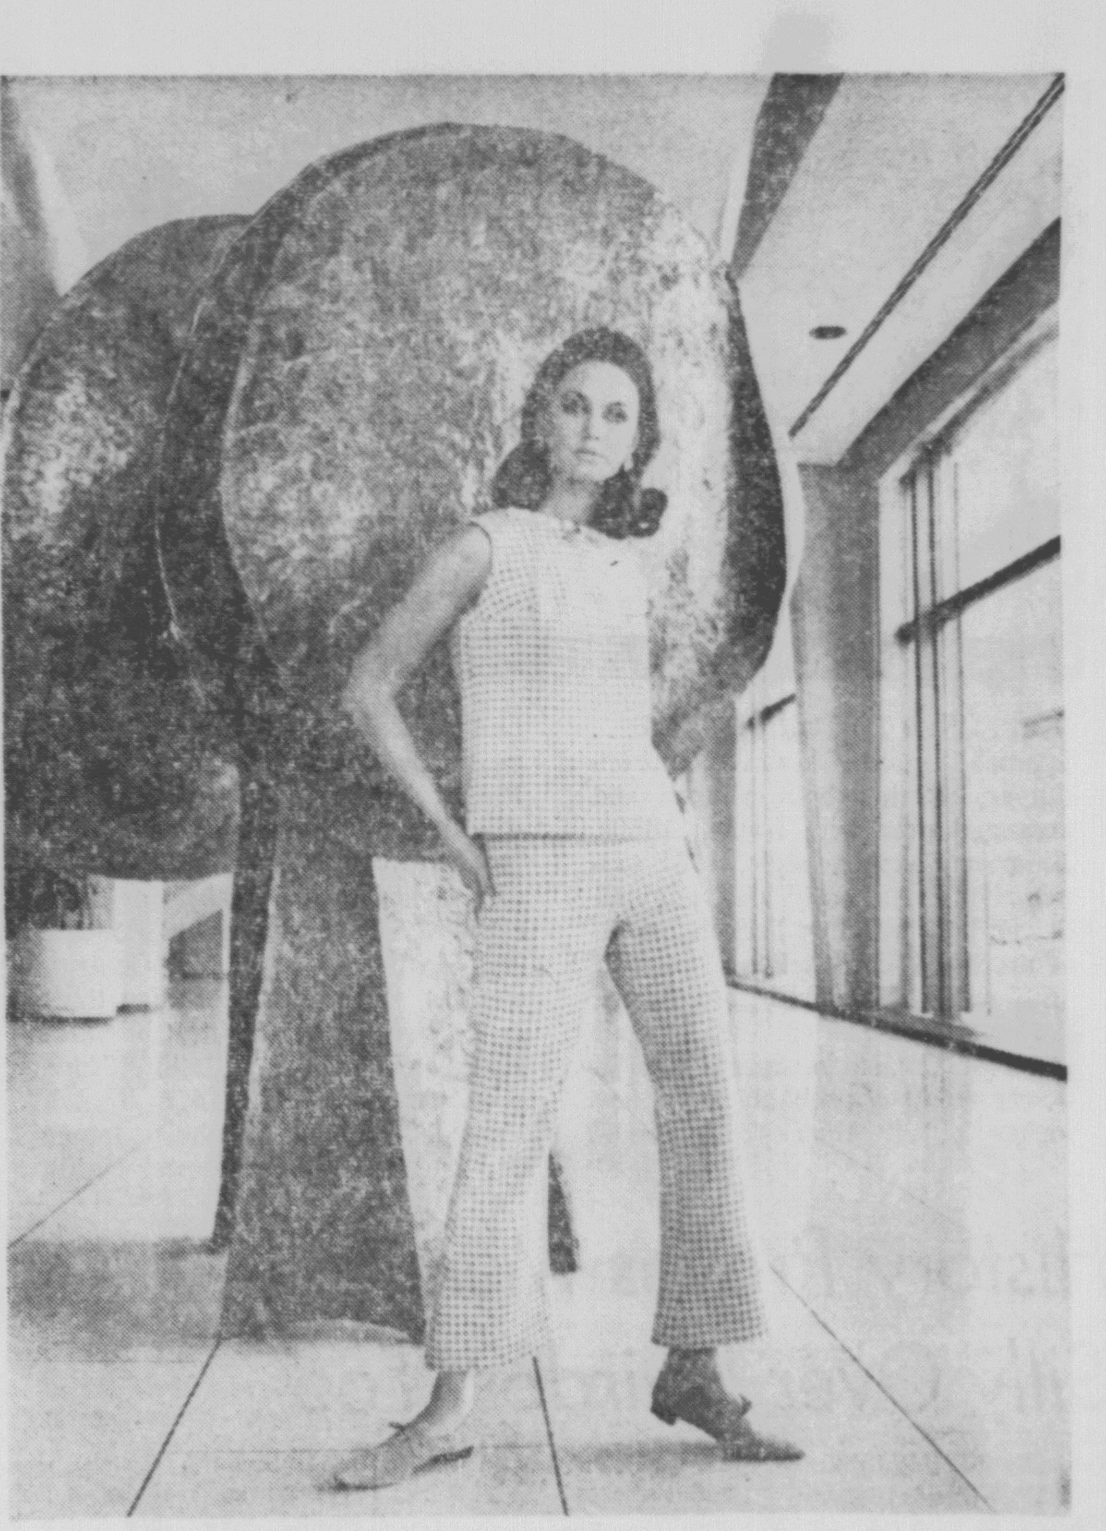
AUDACIOUS IS the word for those short, jagged, and severely straight-haired cuts imported from England via Vidal Sassoon. The word also applies to designer Jacques Tiffeau's skinny manikins in paneless spectacles and suits with thigh-high hemlines, or in hip-slung Bikini evening gowns with barely there bodices. It goes, too, for Rudi Gernreich's chiffon see-through T-shirts and Bill Blass' nude-hued petticoats under black lace dresses, and Anne Klein's slithery leather bell bottom pants, and Anne Fogarty's wide-legged gingham party pants.

Date time and evening clothes are the restless ones. Designer John Moore looked back to the '30s for inspiration for his costumes which are spirals of ruffles or swirls of flounces. Almost every designer has borrowed from the flapper '20s, creating long-waisted, short evening dresses with flirty skirts.

ANTHONY BLOTTA'S swish chiffons are in shades of a more distant past in the long-skirted granny dress. Gathered at the midriff, ruffles at the sleeve and possibly the hem it is as romantic as a Louisa May Alcott. Also in the romantic mood are Ceil Chapman's draped crepes, George Stavropolous' floaty chiffons, and Count Sarmi's fluttery, birdlike floral pastels.

Sweet as 16 are those little navy dresses with meringue white collars and cuffs; Samuel Winston dresses with rock candy-like twinkling bodices; and nearly everybody's bon-bon coats and dresses all wrapped up in satin ribbons and bows. Hannah Troy is clever with the demure little girl dress.

Most of the styles to be previewed are expensive.



MOBILE NONCHALANCE

Leisure-hours ensemble of pure wool knit by Hampton East. Air of mobile nonchalance is accented by a sleeveless top in matching checked wool knit with its own hint of bell shaping and neat, drawstring-detailed neckline. A great look for after-ski, at-home or early spring's casual occasions.

Susan Jeanne Duff Marries In Old St. Mary's Church

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Duff of Kent Woodlands. The ceremony was performed at 4 p.m.

Preceding the bride to the altar in gowns of green satin with willow satin sleeves were her sister, Mrs. Victor N. Carter II as matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Camille Timberlake, Marilee Hearn, Joan Dinkelspiel, Mrs. Richard Duff Jr., and Heidi Johnson.

Dennis Duff was best man.

The bride was graduated from the Sarah Dix Hamlin School and Le Fleuron.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. Ernest Osgood and Charles Hunt Smith, was graduated from Eaglebrook School in Deerfield, Mass., and Paul Smith College in Lake Placid, N.Y.

Following a wedding trip in New England, the couple will reside in London, England.

Paula Daly To Be Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson Daly of Kent Woodlands announced the engagement of their daughter, Paula, to Jeffrey Robert Skov of San Francisco at a Christmas family dinner party.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Jeffrey Nash Daly of Kent Woodlands, was graduated from Redwood High School and the University of California, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She is also a member of the Spinsters of San Francisco. The late Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Nash of Alameda and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Daly of San Francisco are her grandparents.

The future benedict, son of Mrs. Richard Tingley of San Anselmo and Robert Skov of San Francisco, was graduated from Redwood High School and Stanford University. He is a newsman with KSFO Radio in San Francisco. Mrs . Ronald Sanchez of San Anselmo and John Skov of Bogalusa, La., are his sister and brother. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Menefee and the late Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Skov of San Francisco.

The wedding will be held on April 2 at St. John's Church in Ross.

MRS. ROGER HILLMAN

Jaycettes President Enjoys Sewing Best

The new president of the Novato Jaycettes, Mrs. Roger K. Hillman, has lived in Marin County only four years, but she has resided in the Bay Area since the age of four, attending elementary school and high school in Richmond.

Betty Hillman attended Santa Ana Junior College two years prior to her marriage to Mr. Hillman, salesman for a pharmaceutical firm. They have four children, Deborah, 6, Mark, 5, Denise, 3, and Cheryl, 16 months of age.

The young Mrs. Hillman said her family keeps her quite busy but she enjoys sewing—for herself and her children—and also knitting and reading when she can find the time.

Needlework Guild Sets Installations

Mrs. Ralph Michener will be installed president of the Novato Branch of the Needlework Guild of America at a meeting to be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Preston Perry in Novato. Plans for 1966 will also be discussed.

Other officers to be installed are Mesdames Richard Koch, secretary; Edgar Rovelstad, treasurer and William Rupert, publicity.

MOBILE NONCHALANCE

Leisure-hours ensemble of pure wool knit by Hampton East. Air of mobile nonchalance is accented by a sleeveless top in matching checked wool knit with its own hint of bell shaping and neat, drawstring-detailed neckline. A great look for after-ski, at-home or early spring's casual occasions.

Susan Jeanne Duff Marries In Old St. Mary's Church

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Duff of Kent Woodlands. The ceremony was performed at 4 p.m.

Preceding the bride to the altar in gowns of green satin with willow satin sleeves were her sister, Mrs. Victor N. Carter II as matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Camille Timberlake, Marilee Hearn, Joan Dinkelspiel, Mrs. Richard Duff Jr., and Heidi Johnson.

Dennis Duff was best man.

The bride was graduated from the Sarah Dix Hamlin School and Le Fleuron.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. Ernest Osgood and Charles Hunt Smith, was graduated from Eaglebrook School in Deerfield, Mass., and Paul Smith College in Lake Placid, N.Y.

Following a wedding trip in New England, the couple will reside in London, England.

Paula Daly To Be Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson Daly of Kent Woodlands announced the engagement of their daughter, Paula, to Jeffrey Robert Skov of San Francisco at a Christmas family dinner party.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Jeffrey Nash Daly of Kent Woodlands, was graduated from Redwood High School and the University of California, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She is also a member of the Spinsters of San Francisco. The late Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Nash of Alameda and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Daly of San Francisco are her grandparents.

The future benedict, son of Mrs. Richard Tingley of San Anselmo and Robert Skov of San Francisco, was graduated from Redwood High School and Stanford University. He is a newsman with KSFO Radio in San Francisco. Mrs. Ronald Sanchez of San Anselmo and John Skov of Bogalusa, La., are his sister and brother. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Menefee and the late Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Skov of San Francisco.

The wedding will be held on April 2 at St. John's Church in Ross.

MRS. ROGER HILLMAN

Jaycettes President Enjoys Sewing Best

The new president of the Novato Jaycettes, Mrs. Roger K. Hillman, has lived in Marin County only four years, but she has resided in the Bay Area since the age of four, attending elementary school and high school in Richmond.

Betty Hillman attended Santa Ana Junior College two years prior to her marriage to Mr. Hillman, salesman for a pharmaceutical firm. They have four children, Deborah, 6, Mark, 5, Denise, 3, and Cheryl, 16 months of age.

The young Mrs. Hillman said her family keeps her quite busy but she enjoys sewing—for herself and her children—and also knitting and reading when she can find the time.

Needlework Guild Sets Installations

Mrs. Ralph Michener will be installed president of the Novato Branch of the Needlework Guild of America at a meeting to be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Preston Perry in Novato. Plans for 1966 will also be discussed.

Other officers to be installed are Mesdames Richard Koch, secretary; Edgar Rovelstad, treasurer and William Rupert, publicity.

History Proves Men Are Silly Over Hairdos, Too

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

Women do not dress their hair to please men.

Women will do the most ludicrous — even lethal — things for fashionable hair.

Men have been as silly as women over hairstyles.

Most coiffures of today have their historic counterparts.

These are a few of the conclusions forced upon Richard Corson after the personable young actor and monologist spent three years traveling through Europe and the United States gathering material for a book "Fashions in Hair."

He had planned it as a slight volume to help theatrical producers get authenticity into their historical hairdos, a sort of companion piece to his "Stage Makeup," which is considered a definitive text on the subject. But he got so fascinated by his research he ended up with a 701-page book and 3,000 illustrations.

THE 18TH CENTURY was the wildest for women, says the Illinois-born actor. "The precursor of the modern beehive developed then, and they were teasing hair, although they didn't call it that."

The enormous and preposterous headdresses, built into towering structures solidified by the use of pomatum and powder, sometimes went three months without being washed.

"There is a horrible prescription for what they called 'opening the head.' When the mass of hair was broken open, little vermin ran out," Corson says.

Of course, he points out, there was that news story in 1962 which told about the Ohio schoolgirl who didn't comb her teased, spray-plastered bouffant hair for several weeks and then found a thriving nest of cockroaches.

ALL SORTS OF EVENTS and spectacles of the day were reproduced on top of the hair in the 18th Century — naval engagements, gardens of the royal palace, meadows and sheep.

Marie Antoinette had to dismantle her hairdo to get into a carriage, and then reassemble it again when she arrived at her destination.

One obliging soul invented a hairdo that collapsed when a spring was pressed and came up again when the lady had dismounted from the carriage and was ready to make an entrance.

None of the other absurdities went over with the men. Obviously, Corson says, women were dressing their hair to vie with each other.

THEY TOOK TREMENDOUS risks, too. "All through history women have been discouraged by their own hair color and have gone through terrible things dyeing it. In the 16th Century the Venetian women sat by the hour in solariums with their hair stretched out over great hats to bleach it. So much hot sun sometimes made them very ill," Corson says.

"In the 17th Century they used concoctions that made their hair fall out. Some contained lye. Directions for the use of another said 'Put hair in solution until it smokes.'

"In the 18th Century they enameled their faces with lead makeup and a lot died from it."

Marble busts had detachable wigs so they could always be in style.

A German burgermeister was proud of his long beard that he had to loop over his arm as he walked. He tripped over the 8-foot object of pride one day and broke his neck. The beard is still in a museum.

So many 17th Century men were wearing lovelocks—a lock hanging to waist and tied with bow at the end—the clergy got terribly disturbed and railed from the pulpit.

When there weren't enough hairdressers to go around, hair had to be done the day before a big event. British soldiers slept face down so as not to disturb their freshly set hairdos in the 18th Century.

SO MANY OF TODAY'S fashionable coiffures go back to antiquity, says Corson; even the Beatles'. He cites third century B.C. Etruscan boys' locks for proof.

DR. MEAD'S BELIEF:

Child Must Learn To Cope With Unexpected In Life

Margaret Mead today stated that if "today's children . . . are to survive, they must learn to live in a world whose keynote is confrontation with the unfamiliar."

The noted anthropologist said, "Our children have to learn to be responsible to vast social changes: to the changes in industry that automation brings, to changes in habits of leisure and recreation, changes in the balance of whites and Negroes."

Writing in Parents' Magazine, Dr. Mead stated that we must impart self-discipline, self- confidence and self-respect to our children. She said that in trying to do this "we have realized that many of our school practices were poor. The highly competitive system in which grades were the whole measure of a child's worth obscured many of our society's true values. Unfortunately, in trying to correct this tendency we overlooked our main goal—the pursuit of individual excellence—and we underplayed academic grades only to substitute competitive judgments about which child was 'better adjusted to the group' than others."

According to Dr. Mead, what "children really need is to develop their own special skills to the utmost. Inventiveness is now needed to handle the new machines and the new social order."

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Thomas Benton Scott of San Anselmo, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, and attended College of Marin and the University of California. Mrs. Ethel Weaver of Oakland is her grandmother.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wade Hall of Mill Valley, was graduated from Tamalpais High School, College of Marin and the School of Music in Paris, France. He is the brother of Jennifer and Michael Hall of San Anselmo.

The wedding will be an event of Jan. 26 in the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church.

Carolyn Lea Buggey Weds Francis Elkins

Trinity Methodist Church in Chico was the setting on Dec. 19 for the wedding of Carolyn Lea Buggey of Mill Valley and Francis C. Elkins of Merced.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Buggey of Mill Valley.

The bride was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin. Mrs. D. R. Elkins of Mt. Shasta is her sister.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Elkins of Oroville, was graduated from Oroville High School and Chico State College. He is a teacher at Merced High School. Delbert Elkins of Mt. Shasta is his brother.

Following a wedding trip to Monterey, the couple will reside in Merced.

Engagement Of Betty Wolf To Robert G. Sellers Told

Betty is the daughter of Mrs. Wyman Cox of San Rafael and the late Donald E. Wolf of Lewiston, Ida. Her sister is Mrs. Andre Bottini of Novato.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Sellers of Santa Venetia. He is the brother of Mrs. P. Gerald Miller of San Rafael.

The bride-elect graduated from Terra Linda High School and the Bay City Dental College. She is employed by a Novato dentist.

Robert is a graduate of San Rafael High School. He works aboard the Salmon Queen fishing boat in Sausalito.

A June wedding is planned.

Meeting Men More Difficult For Girls In The Big City

By ELLEN BESWICK

NEW YORK (UPI)—What's a poor girl to do?

By the thousands, young ladies come to the big cities with two goals: to find an interesting job and a husband.

And by the thousands they find that meeting men is difficult in big, strange and aloof cities.

The statistics show the task is becoming more difficult. Charles Abrams, an expert on urban problems, who recently published a study of urban renewal program, "The City is the Frontier," says the percentage of young people in the populations of cities is declining because cities do not provide adequate meeting and mating grounds for females.

Between 1950 and 1960, New York City's population dropped one per cent, but the percentage decrease among the 20-to-30 age group was about 21 per cent. In Chicago, the percentage of young people fell 24 per cent. While Los Angeles was growing by 400,000 in the decade, it lost nearly 10,000 people in the 20-to-30 age group.

Smaller cities did not fare much better. Portland, Ore. lost 30 per cent of its young people the same decade and Oklahoma City 15 per cent.

IN A LARGE APARTMENT house, Abrams notes, few meet their neighbors. Work offers some opportunities for meeting men, but in many instances firms frown on inter-office socializing. Trips to resorts are expensive and have a time limit.

As a result, opportunities to meet members of the other sex are being manufactured. An advertisement in a New York paper reads:

"Town House Gallery . . . relaxed yet stimulating evenings for single adults. Cool elegance, music, refreshments — in the East 50's Wed. and Fri. at 8 age 22-38; Sat. at 9 age 24-46; Sun. at 8:30 age 31-55. Why Not?"

WHY NOT, Indeed? For the single city-dweller the alternatives are few and hardly more inviting.

If the young lady is politically minded, she might choose a party sponsored by a political group. A New York "reform democratic" club advertises one. The $1.75 "contribution" includes the first drink.

Abrams, in fact, suggests that "New York City's Mayor-elect John Lindsay owes a large measure of his recent victory to the young persons' need for a meeting place. He provided a valid cause and a goal."

THE SINGLE GIRL may even be drawn to a "social-cultural" meeting which promises "social action programs" along with "unprejudiced discussion meetings, informal gatherings or outings." Or she may choose the limited field offered by the "Y" or church in the city. In desperation, she may be driven to a bar with all its attendant dangers.

"I tried once going into a nice cocktail lounge after work," reports one young woman. "But the few men I met either were alcoholics or regarded me as something less than a lady."

Other young women interviewed by UPI told of trouble meeting men. All had moved to the city after high school or college searching for a wider variety in jobs and social life. One, an attractive 24-year-old who took an apartment with three other girls, said: "We were desperate. Often we'd go out with men we couldn't stand hoping to meet someone more desirable through him."

Another was planning to join a hospital aid group to meet people. She said if that didn't work she would try a ski weekend at an upstate resort, although the last time she tried it the weekend proved hectic and expensive with poor results.

BUT NONE OF the girls interviewed planned to leave the city. One said: "Back home there was no problem in meeting people. You knew the availables, there weren't many and they weren't very attractive. Here there is tremendous potential; you can always think, 'well, tomorrow. . '."

Abrams, the urban planner, says it is the job of city planners and administrators to provide for that tomorrow.

He thinks apartment buildings and housing projects should be designed with emphasis on the social aspects of life. They should contain community rooms available to all. He wants an increase in the number of neighborhood parks in cities with programs of community sings and dances. Many parks, he notes, are no longer safe after dark.

"The trouble," he says, "is that no one in authority gives much thought to these simple human needs. The commissioner of commerce is not commissioned to encourage commerce between the sexes. The highway commissioner thinks of cement . . . the park commissioner of fences around his pollinating flowerbeds. Urban renewal administrators have not yet thought of revitalizing the human spirit."

Cans Will Have Some New Pizazz

For years now, canned vegetables have been standing on shelves while their frozen neighbors piling into shopping carts by the armload.

But now the canned variety is trying to make a comeback. The old-fashioned cans will soon contain some new pizazz—in the form of butter.

Will buttered vegetables in an old can be as happy and successful as they seem to be in a modern plastic bag? Business Week reports that one company thinks so; it's bringing out a line of canned corn, peas, and lima beans in butter.

The canned vegetables are much cheaper, so if they taste as good, the frozen ones will have some new old competition.

ANDREA MARGARET FISH of San Rafael is engaged to marry Robert Wade Troutman of San Rafael. The wedding will be an August event.

Andrea Fish To Be Bride Of Robert Troutman In August

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Fish of San Rafael are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Andrea, to Robert Wade Troutman of San Rafael.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Marcia Fish of San Rafael, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is attending the University of California. She is a past worthy advisor of Tamalpais Assembly Order of Rainbow for Girls and a past grand officer of the State of California.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Troutman Jr. of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School, College of Marin, and San Francisco State College. He is a past master councilor of the Marin Chapter of DeMolay. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kilpatrick of San Rafael. Patricia and William Troutman of San Rafael are his sister and brother. He is employed with Bank of America in San Francisco.

An August wedding is planned.

Also Eye Appeal

Evidence of foundation garments' close alliance with outer apparel has been the appearance of the Courreges look and even Mondrian styling, to mention a couple of examples, in underpinnings. Using Modern Technology Improves Customer Service

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—This the way you'd shop if Adolph Novak had his way:

Let's say you're looking for shoes. You walk in the store, sit down, tell the salesman what style, size and color you want. (Or discuss it with him if you need advice.)

He goes to a nearby electronic panel, pushes some buttons and returns to chat with you, or perhaps wait on another customer.

In moments your shoes have arrived at a receiving area and the salesman brings them to you. You pick the ones you want. The others are taken to a rejection area from where they are conveyed back to the stockroom.

"YOU SEE," exclaims Novak, member of a well-known merchandising architectural firm, the salesman hasn't left the floor. He's not worn out from rushing back and forth to the stockroom. He has saved your time and given prompter service and has served more customers than in the way it's done now."

Using modern technology to improve customer service has been a special enthusiasm of Novak's for years.

"Basically, in store design tremendous strides have been made in buildings, interiors, parking, color to make a pleasant atmosphere for people to shop," he says. "But we have not taken advantage of the new concepts of automation to give increased service."

IN THE STORES TODAY, he points out, all selling fixtures are limited to a height salesmen can reach, which is about seven feet. Ceilings are 10 to 15 feet high, which means a great waste of space.

Then there's that walking back and forth to the storeroom, leaving the shopper to herself—and heaven knows what heretical thoughts she might entertain, such as going to a rival store if she has to wait much longer.

"The principles have been developed to bring merchandise to the point of pickup," says Novak, and in some industries are already in use.

"IF THEY WERE applied to retail stores, the need for seven-foot-high fixtures and even for aisle space would be eliminated."

"It will take the collaboration of good engineers and architects, and stores willing to try it," says Novak. "But the end results will be fantastic. It will not cut down on sales help, but it will mean the sales staff would be used more efficiently for the customers' benefit."

Open House Is Scheduled At Art School

Open house will be 5 to 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Casa de Arte studio at 474 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, to exhibit the remodeled second floor, to be used for art classes. Teachers of classes to start soon will meet prospective students.

The schedule now begins with a class on drawing 7 to 10 p.m. on Mondays, taught by Dale Rogers. On Tuesdays Helen Conser will give instruction in oil painting from 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

Wednesday, 7 to 10 p.m., Jim Patten will direct a life drawing class, and Albina Marie Meredith will teach water color methods in a class starting at 10:30 a.m. Thursdays.

There is a portrtait class from 7 to 10 p.m. Fridays, and Homer Sterios will conduct a children's class starting at 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

'Guys, Dolls' Auditions Set In Novato

Auditions for singing and acting parts in the Novato Community Club's production of "Guys and Dolls" will be held from 2 to 5 p.m., Sunday in the Novato Community House, according to Ted Lane, producer.

Casting will be done jointly by Scott Wright, director; Donald Leaf, assistant director, Marie Bliss, choral director, and Maybelle Pinson, choreographer.

Any dancers who were unable to attend auditions for dancing in December can be auditioned at 7:30 p.m. next Monday at 1 Regent Court, the choral director said.

Yacht Club Request

Sausalito Planning Commission will hold a hearing at its meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall on a request from Sausalito Yacht Club for a conditional use permit to construct a dock for storage of small sailboats on leased property between the club and the ferry slip at the foot of El Portal.

Dominican College Plans American Music Festival

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

A major event in the musical life of Marin County will be its first "American Music Festival" in February, featuring 17th through 20 century works.

Sponsored by the music department of Dominican College, San Rafael, the festival will consist of three programs, on Feb. 7, 17 and 28 at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall.

On Feb. 7, folk singer Charles Lampkin will sing slave songs, negro spirituals and shouts, with commentary.

On Feb. 17, Dr. W. Thomas Marrocco, professor of music at University of California at Los Angeles and an authority on American music, will lecture on "Music in America: A Re-Appraisal," and concert pianist Sister Mary Dominic, O.P., will play an unpublished sonata by Christian I. Latrobe, recently discovered in the American Moravian archives, and works by Louis Gottschalk.

The final program on Feb. 28 will be presented by a festival chorus and 25 members of the Oakland Symphony under the direction, respectively, of Wilbur F. Russell and Robert Hughes. Singers will be members of the Dominican College and San Francisco Theological Seminary choruses and Marin Pro Musica with soprano Gwen Curatilo as soloist.

Among works to be performed are the west coast premiere of California composer Lou Harrison's "Strict Songs" for baritones and archestra, and early California mission mass, white spirituals, music of England, American Moravian arias, and choral anthems.

During the festival there will be exhibits on American music and art, primitive through contemporary.

"The purposes behind the festival are many," said Sister Mary Dominic, O. P. Since so many of us have come to believe that we have practically no musical heritage, it seems timely to expose to new lights various aspects of our musical and, indeed, our cultural heritage.

"The attitude or early Americans toward music in general has been largely misunderstood because of misinformation, careless scholarship and general indifference. The festival will open some new vistas regarding music and the early settlers in New England and will bring to light some music of solidily American musical warp.

"The American 'tunesmith'—the heretofore forgotten, neglected little music-loving baker, justice of the peace, doctor, lawyer, tobacco vender, groceryman, school teacher — will be given a chance to display his music offerings. These consist largely of folk hymns, sometimes known as southern folk hymns, though originating largely in New England, and part of the great area of white spirituals.

"Today we are discovering that there were literally hundreds upon hundreds of these self-taught musicians."

Tickets for the festival are on sale at the festival ticket office at the college.

Underground Lines Sought In San Rafael

The San Rafael City Council is going to consider an ordinance requiring underground utility lines in new subdivisions.

Councilman Fred Jensen said last night "everyone but San Rafael has one," and urged an underground utility ordinance.

"From now on unless its streamlined (partial underground) or underground, I'll vote no," Jensen said.

Councilman Louis H. Baar said ordinances are being passed elsewhere, but the "poor guy who owns the property is getting stuck" for the cost.

"PG&E is sticking it into the public," he charged.

The council agreed to discuss the proposed ordinance at its Jan. 17 meeting.

Councilmen balked at a proposal to have the city put up half the money required to complete Nova Albion Way past Terra Linda High School, to be repaid by Draper Companies later.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said the San Rafael City Schools have $15,000 toward half the cost. Draper Companies has agreed to deed the right of way to the city and to give the city a trust deed to guarantee repayment if the city will put up the money.

Baar suggested that Andersen study the possibility of forming an assessment district to finance the job.

The council also took a dim view of spending any major amount for correction of a landslide at 61 Graceland Drive, 28 Tampa Drive, and Boyd Park.

Andersen said a slide on city property would not be damaging because it would be in the park area.

Councilmen received a report from Harding Associates, San Rafael soil engineers, that the landslide area is 90 feet wide by 120 feet long. Correction of the condition would require excavation and recompaction of 4,000 cubic yards of material, and subdrainage would require 200 tons of crushed rock or gravel and 150 linear feet of six-inch metal pipe, the report said.

The council authorized Andersen to talk with the two property owners involved, Charles W. Pierce and John M. Brusati, about possible city participation in the joint repair effort.

Councilmen emphasized that the city shouldn't "get stuck with the project," but would participate if the property owners did.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Received a letter from the Dominican Convent agreeing to participate with the city on a 50-50 basis in paying for a drainage correction project at Magnolia and Palma avenues, estimated to cost $18,500.

2. Accepted a donation of furniture for the temporary city recreation center at Second and Brooks streets from the Marin Senior Coordinating Council.

3. Continued until Jan. 17 discussion of an application by Tele-Vue Systems of Marin for an encroachment permit for cable antenna service, mainly in the Sun Valley area.

4. Unanimously passed a resolution requesting the State Board of Equalization to give city staff members access to its records so the council can get a breakdown of sales tax figures to compare the downtown and Northgate Shopping Center sales taxes.

5. Requested the staff to get a spot on the State Highway Commission agenda, possibly next month, so council members can appear to request action on the second phase of the Highway 101 project in San Rafael, which includes construction of north and south off-ramps and widening of the shoulders.

6. Granted a six-month leave of absence to Frederick Bishop, a public works department employee, who has been hospitalized for a month.

7. Approved the Bret Harte phase of a long-term street-lighting improvement program whereby lights are being increased from 2,500 to 7,500 lumen.

8. Set for Jan. 17 hearing on an appeal by Norman P. Higby, 58 San Marino Drive, from the planning commission's renewal of a permit to Fox and Carskadon for a real estate office at Peacock Gap.

Indians Reverse Coed's Ouster

RED CLIFF, Wis. (AP) — The Red Cliff Indians have invited back the two Peace Corps workers they cast off this remote reservation in a war over antipoverty programs.

The 5-2 vote by the Tribal Council last night brought little peace however, to the month-long feud over the Volunteers in Service to America — VISTA — program.

The council was asked in a petition to expel from the ruling body two Indian elders who had opposed VISTA. The elders were unidentified.

The two VISTA coeds, Judy Rothman, 20, University City, Mo., and Jill Hunt, 22, Kewanee, Ill., were barred in December in a dispute over the value and nature of their work.

College Invited To Perform At Festival

College of Marin's drama department has been invited to perform its latest production, "Servant of Two Masters," at the annual West Coast Drama Conference Feb. 10 and 11 at the University of Oregon.

The play's director, James Dunn, will also moderate panel discussion on the theater. He said it is the first time a junior college has been asked to perform at the conference.

"It is an expression of the growing interest in theater at community colleges," he said.

Dunn said the cast of 10, a stage manager and two drama department instructors will make the trip. The conference is for west coast school, college, university and community theater directors.

Artists' Works In Magazines

Articles in current magazines feature works of two Sausalito artists and a weaver from Tiburon.

A collection of knitted afghans, designed by Mrs. Sonya Pimentel of Sausalito, a weaver, is shown in the January issue of Woman's Day.

The November-December issue of Craft Horizons features an article about the weaving and one-man show of Dominic di Mare, Tiburon weaver, in Museum of Contemporary Crafts, New York City. In the same issue of that magazine is an article about works of Mrs. June Schwarcz, a Sausalito enamelist, who also has a one-artist show at the same New York gallery. The article deals with Mrs. Schwarcz's process of electroforming.

Murder Suspect Couple Booked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Mary Ada Schooley, 40, and bartender George Lyons Jr., 41, surrendered to police yesterday and were booked on suspicion of murdering Mrs. Schooley's husband, William, 42.

Mrs. Schooley and Lyons had been sought since last Friday. They gave no indication of where they had been.

Detectives gave no details of the case. Schooley's body was found Dec. 26 on a ledge halfway down Devil's Slide on the San Mateo County coastline. He had been shot in the head.

Sausalito Warned Against Tides

Sausalito City Mgr. Charles A. Brown cautioned Sausalito residents living near water level that tides will be extra high tomorrow through Saturday. This fact is of little consequence, he said, unless there is a storm, which could cause flooding of low-lying homes.

Brown said tides are expected to be 6.5 to 6.8 feet above mean. High water, normally between four and one-half to five feet above mean tide, reached 6.4 feet last month when part of the Marin heliport land was flooded, he said.

High tides will occur between 6 and 7 a.m., Brown said. Police will alert people and see that sand bags are placed, should this prove necessary.

Scientist's Award

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Dr. John Papaconstantinou, 35, a University of Connecticut biochemist, won this year's $1,000 award from the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science for his paper on how different organs are formed from one tissue, a process known as cell differentiation.

RHUBARB DIRECTOR — Laurie Tusup, former musical comedy star in Australia and New Zealand, will again direct the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club's "Rhubarb Review," announced today to open April 15. The club will hold its first rhubarb planning meeting at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Community Church, Ash Street and Marin Avenue.

Klansman Due In Jail On Probation Issue

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, a Ku Klux Klansman linked with the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, begins serving a one-year federal prison term today for violating his probation.

Wilkins, permitted by a federal judge to spend the Christmas holidays with his family in suburban Fairfield, was to be turned over to the U.S. Marshal's office.

White Population Declines In Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Kenya's white population has dropped by one-third in the last five years. There now are 41,000 whites in Kenya's total population of 9,365,000.

During the same five-year period, the Asian population increased from 173,000 to 186,000. The Arab population is 37,000.

Storm Drain Safety Bars Plea Sounded

Frank Battat, president of the Loch Lomond Home Owners Assn., urged the San Rafael City Council last night to place bars across large storm drain openings as a safety measure.

Battat said that recently an 18-month-old child "got out of the house and the mother caught the child halfway down a drain opening."

He described the drains as "an attractive nuisance," and said that "a bar across the opening would prevent a child from going down."

The council referred Battat's request to Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen later noted that he had received complaints about a family that has a swimming pool but no fence around their yard. Andersen suggested that the city have a rule that pools be permitted only in fenced yards. A pool in an open yard is "an attractive nuisance," Andersen said.

Three Marinites Set On Federal Jury Unit

Three Marin residents have been chosen to serve on the 1966 federal grand jury for the Northern District of California, which was sworn in yesterday in San Francisco.

They are Gloria D. Collins, 14 Eureka Street, Marin City; Marie M. Nizenkoff, 173 San Marino Drive, San Rafael, and William W. Wood, 153 Birch Avenue, Corte Madera.

Open House Is Scheduled At Art School

Open house will be 5 to 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Casa de Arte studio at 474 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, to exhibit the remodeled second floor, to be used for art classes. Teachers of classes to start soon will meet prospective students.

The schedule now begins with a class on drawing 7 to 10 p.m. on Mondays, taught by Dale Rogers. On Tuesdays Helen Conser will give instruction in oil painting from 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

Wednesday, 7 to 10 p.m., Jim Patten will direct a life drawing class, and Albina Marie Meredith will teach water color methods in a class starting at 10:30 a.m. Thursdays.

There is a portrtait class from 7 to 10 p.m. Fridays, and Homer Sterios will conduct a children's class starting at 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

'Guys, Dolls' Auditions Set In Novato

Auditions for singing and acting parts in the Novato Community Club's production of "Guys and Dolls" will be held from 2 to 5 p.m., Sunday in the Novato Community House, according to Ted Lane, producer.

Casting will be done jointly by Scott Wright, director; Donald Leaf, assistant director, Marie Bliss, choral director, and Maybelle Pinson, choreographer.

Any dancers who were unable to attend auditions for dancing in December can be auditioned at 7:30 p.m. next Monday at 1 Regent Court, the choral director said.

Yacht Club Request

Sausalito Planning Commission will hold a hearing at its meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall on a request from Sausalito Yacht Club for a conditional use permit to construct a dock for storage of small sailboats on leased property between the club and the ferry slip at the foot of El Portal.

Dominican College Plans American Music Festival

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

A major event in the musical life of Marin County will be its first "American Music Festival" in February, featuring 17th through 20 century works.

Sponsored by the music department of Dominican College, San Rafael, the festival will consist of three programs, on Feb. 7, 17 and 28 at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall.

On Feb. 7, folk singer Charles Lampkin will sing slave songs, negro spirituals and shouts, with commentary.

On Feb. 17, Dr. W. Thomas Marrocco, professor of music at University of California at Los Angeles and an authority on American music, will lecture on "Music in America: A Re-Appraisal," and concert pianist Sister Mary Dominic, O.P., will play an unpublished sonata by Christian I. Latrobe, recently discovered in the American Moravian archives, and works by Louis Gottschalk.

The final program on Feb. 28 will be presented by a festival chorus and 25 members of the Oakland Symphony under the direction, respectively, of Wilbur F. Russell and Robert Hughes. Singers will be members of the Dominican College and San Francisco Theological Seminary choruses and Marin Pro Musica with soprano Gwen Curatilo as soloist.

Among works to be performed are the west coast premiere of California composer Lou Harrison's "Strict Songs" for baritones and archestra, and early California mission mass, white spirituals, music of England, American Moravian arias, and choral anthems.

During the festival there will be exhibits on American music and art, primitive through contemporary.

"The purposes behind the festival are many," said Sister Mary Dominic, O. P. Since so many of us have come to believe that we have practically no musical heritage, it seems timely to expose to new lights various aspects of our musical and, indeed, our cultural heritage.

"The attitude or early Americans toward music in general has been largely misunderstood because of misinformation, careless scholarship and general indifference. The festival will open some new vistas regarding music and the early settlers in New England and will bring to light some music of solidily American musical warp.

"The American 'tunesmith'— the heretofore forgotten, neglected little music-loving baker, justice of the peace, doctor, lawyer, tobacco vender, groceryman, school teacher — will be given a chance to display his music offerings. These consist largely of folk hymns, sometimes known as southern folk hymns, though originating largely in New England, and part of the great area of white spirituals.

"Today we are discovering that there were literally hundreds upon hundreds of these self-taught musicians."

Tickets for the festival are on sale at the festival ticket office at the college.

Underground Lines Sought In San Rafael

The San Rafael City Council is going to consider an ordinance requiring underground utility lines in new subdivisions.

Councilman Fred Jensen said last night "everyone but San Rafael has one," and urged an underground utility ordinance.

"From now on unless its streamlined (partial underground) or underground, I'll vote no," Jensen said.

Councilman Louis H. Baar said ordinances are being passed elsewhere, but the "poor guy who owns the property is getting stuck" for the cost.

"PG&E is sticking it into the public," he charged.

The council agreed to discuss the proposed ordinance at its Jan. 17 meeting.

Councilmen balked at a proposal to have the city put up half the money required to complete Nova Albion Way past Terra Linda High School, to be repaid by Draper Companies later.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said the San Rafael City Schools have $15,000 toward half the cost. Draper Companies has agreed to deed the right of way to the city and to give the city a trust deed to guarantee repayment if the city will put up the money.

Baar suggested that Andersen study the possibility of forming an assessment district to finance the job.

The council also took a dim view of spending any major amount for correction of a landslide at 61 Graceland Drive, 28 Tampa Drive, and Boyd Park.

Andersen said a slide on city property would not be damaging because it would be in the park area.

Councilmen received a report from Harding Associates, San Rafael soil engineers, that the landslide area is 90 feet wide by 120 feet long. Correction of the condition would require excavation and recompaction of 4,000 cubic yards of material, and subdrainage would require 200 tons of crushed rock or gravel and 150 linear feet of six-inch metal pipe, the report said.

The council authorized Andersen to talk with the two property owners involved, Charles W. Pierce and John M. Brusati, about possible city participation in the joint repair effort.

Councilmen emphasized that the city shouldn't "get stuck with the project," but would participate if the property owners did.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Received a letter from the Dominican Convent agreeing to participate with the city on a 50-50 basis in paying for a drainage correction project at Magnolia and Palma avenues, estimated to cost $18,500.
2. Accepted a donation of furniture for the temporary city recreation center at Second and Brooks streets from the Marin Senior Coordinating Council.
3. Continued until Jan. 17 discussion of an application by Tele-Vue Systems of Marin for an encroachment permit for cable antenna service, mainly in the Sun Valley area.
4. Unanimously passed a resolution requesting the State Board of Equalization to give city staff members access to its records so the council can get a breakdown of sales tax figures to compare the downtown and Northgate Shopping Center sales taxes.
5. Requested the staff to get a spot on the State Highway Commission agenda, possibly next month, so council members can appear to request action on the second phase of the Highway 101 project in San Rafael, which includes construction of north and south off-ramps and widening of the shoulders.
6. Granted a six-month leave of absence to Frederick Bishop, a public works department employee, who has been hospitalized for a month.
7. Approved the Bret Harte phase of a long-term street-lighting improvement program whereby lights are being increased from 2,500 to 7,500 lumen.
8. Set for Jan. 17 hearing on an appeal by Norman P. Higby, 58 San Marino Drive, from the planning commission's renewal of a permit to Fox and Carskadon for a real estate office at Peacock Gap.

Indians Reverse Coed's Ouster

RED CLIFF, Wis. (AP) — The Red Cliff Indians have invited back the two Peace Corps workers they cast off this remote reservation in a war over antipoverty programs.

The 5-2 vote by the Tribal Council last night brought little peace however, to the month-long feud over the Volunteers in Service to America — VISTA — program.

The council was asked in a petition to expel from the ruling body two Indian elders who had opposed VISTA. The elders were unidentified.

The two VISTA coeds, Judy Rothman, 20, University City, Mo., and Jill Hunt, 22, Kewanee, Ill., were barred in December in a dispute over the value and nature of their work.

Sausalito Warned Against Tides

Sausalito City Mgr. Charles A. Brown cautioned Sausalito residents living near water level that tides will be extra high tomorrow through Saturday. This fact is of little consequence, he said, unless there is a storm, which could cause flooding of low-lying homes.

Brown said tides are expected to be 6.5 to 6.8 feet above mean. High water, normally between four and one-half to five feet above mean tide, reached 6.4 feet last month when part of the Marin heliport land was flooded, he said.

High tides will occur between 5 and 7 a.m., Brown said. Police will alert people and see that sand bags are placed, should this prove necessary.

Scientist's Award

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Dr. John Papaconstantinou, 35, a University of Connecticut biochemist, won this year's $1,000 award from the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science for his paper on how different organs are formed from one tissue, a process known as cell differentiation.

College Invited To Perform At Festival

College of Marin's drama department has been invited to perform its latest production, "Servant of Two Masters," at the annual West Coast Drama Conference Feb. 10 and 11 at the University of Oregon.

The play's director, James Dunn, will also moderate panel discussion on the theater. He said it is the first time a junior college has been asked to perform at the conference.

"It is an expression of the growing interest in theater at community colleges," he said.

Dunn said the cast of 10, a stage manager and two drama department instructors will make the trip. The conference is for west coast school, college, university and community theater directors.

Artists' Works In Magazines

Articles in current magazines feature works of two Sausalito artists and a weaver from Tiburon.

A collection of knitted afghans, designed by Mrs. Sonya Pimentel of Sausalito, a weaver, is shown in the January issue of Woman's Day.

The November-December issue of Craft Horizons features an article about the weaving and one-man show of Dominic di Mare, Tiburon weaver, in Museum of Contemporary Crafts, New York City. In the same issue of that magazine is an article about works of Mrs. June Schwarcz, a Sausalito enamelist, who also has a one-artist show at the same New York gallery. The article deals with Mrs. Schwarcz's process of electroforming.

Murder Suspect Couple Booked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Mary Ada Schooley, 40, and bartender George Lyons Jr., 41, surrendered to police yesterday and were booked on suspicion of murdering Mrs. Schooley's husband, William, 42.

Mrs. Schooley and Lyons had been sought since last Friday. They gave no indication of where they had been.

Detectives gave no details of the case. Schooley's body was found Dec. 26 on a ledge halfway down Devil's Slide on the San Mateo County coastline. He had been shot in the head.

Klansman Due In Jail On Probation Issue

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, a Ku Klux Klansman linked with the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, begins serving a one-year federal prison term today for violating his probation.

Wilkins, permitted by a federal judge to spend the Christmas holidays with his family in suburban Fairfield, was to be turned over to the U.S. Marshal's office.

White Population Declines In Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Kenya's white population has dropped by one-third in the last five years. There now are 41,000 whites in Kenya's total population of 9,365,000.

During the same five-year period, the Asian population increased from 173,000 to 186,000. The Arab population is 37,000.

PORK CHOPS WITH SHERRY SAUCE

Brown 6 large Jolly pork chops in electric skillet. Reduce heat and cover skillet. Cook slowly about 25 minutes or until done—watch carefully. Add 1 large onion, finely chopped. Cook 5 minutes. Now add 1 6-ounce can chopped mushrooms, 1 8-ounce tomato sauce and ½ cup chopped cooked ham. Add ½ cup water. Stir into pan and cook 5 minutes longer. Now add ½ cup dry sherry, 1 tsp. salt and freshly ground pepper. Mix. Spoon all over chops. Cover pan and cook 3 minutes. Serve on hot platter. Garnish with Major Grey's Indian Chutney. Serves 6.

ALMOND RICE

Wash 2 cups brown rice and drain. Combine in heavy 2-quart kettle with 4 cups consomme and pinch saffron, if desired. Bring to a boil. Stir rice, cover pot tightly and simmer 45 minutes or until rice is done and liquid absorbed. Add ¼ cup slivered almonds. Serves 6.

Governor Brown Steps Into Marincello Road Issue

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Gov. Edmund G. Brown has entered the Marincello dispute, but his stand did not seem to impress the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Peter Whitney, executive director of the Scenic Roads Assn., presented a letter to him from the governor dated Dec. 27, in which Brown wrote that he supported the division of highways opposition to additional access between Waldo Tunnel and the Golden Gate Bridge.

The commission, however, in a 6-0 vote with Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz absent, expressed "our convtction" that a low level access to Marincello is required and that the route of Bunker Hill Road seems obviously the best solution.

This would mean an interchange near the bridge head.

Commissioners generally agreed that such a road, with required tunneling, would probably have to be part of the state highway system and thus would become the southern end of Scenic Highway 1.

Governor Brown's letter to Whitney said:

"We definitely do not propose to have future park roads in the Headlands (state park) used as shortcut commuter roads to the Golden Gate Bridge; and we do not propose to have these roads used as prestige approaches to enhance private development.

"Furthermore, I question the advisability of State Route 1 being routed through the park to the Golden Gate Bridge. We hope to reserve all roads in the Marin Headlands state park as leisurely roads strictly for those who want to enjoy the magnificent view. To open this area to through and commuter traffic I most definitely feel would tend to destroy the very values for which the park is intended."

David Van Pelt of the county planning staff suggested the road could be mostly within the Marincello property line, with feeder routes of controlled traffic into the park. The commission seemed to like this idea and

Northern State Residents Flee Ahead Of Floods

Storm Brings Deep Snow To Area; More Rain Is Expected To Fall

EUREKA (UPI) — For the second winter in a row, residents along several streams in Northern California and southwestern Oregon were fleeing today ahead of floodwaters.

Water spilled over the banks of dozens of streams as heavy rains slugged the area during the night and continued today.

In the Sierra Nevada and Siskiyou mountains of Northern California and east of the Cascades in Oregon and Washington, the storm brought deep snow and was blamed indirectly for one death.

Despite the evacuation of an estimated 350 people, it was regarded as unlikely the flooding would approach the disaster of last winter, when 43 persons died and damage was estimated at $300 million.

For one thing, most of the areas devastated last winter have not been rebuilt.

Weather forecasters were hoping the rain would stop and the freezing level would remain at low elevations. If heavy snow in the mountains begins to melt, "things could get rough," in the words of a forecaster in Portland.

Forecasters said most streams would crest by this afternoon. But they added that a front from southern portions of the Pacific promised a slightly warmer air mass with a greater capacity for moisture. This meant an increase in the precipitation rate could be expected in the Northwest.

About 100 people were evacuated when Redwood Creek rose ated during the night when the

More Winds, New Soaking For Marin

Drenching rain and high winds came with the dawn to Marin County today as the area caught the fringe of the worst storm to hit Northern California this winter.

By midmorning, the county was being buffeted by the full force of the storm, which the Weather Bureau predicted will last at least another 24 hours. More rain is forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

By mid-day there was no reports of serious storm damage.

Other parts of the state were less fortunate. There was some flooding in northwest California, which suffered extreme damage from the same cause a year ago.

The heaviest rain in Marin fell at Ross, where 2.61 inches were recorded in the 24 hours to 8 a.m. today. Well over an inch fell at Woodacre and San Anselmo during the same period.

In the 24 hours up to noon today, 1.89 inches fell in San Rafael. Other rainfall figures up to 8 a.m. ranged from an inch at Manor Hill, Fairfax, down to .2 of an inch at Novato.

Gusty winds accompanied the downpour. At 10:30 a.m. today the gauge of the 666th Radar Squadron atop Mount Tamalpais showed a wind of 40-45 knots.

All along the coast, warning of high winds were out. Forty-mile-an-hour winds were predicted from Point Arena to Bodega Bay, and winds reaching 25 miles an hour as far south as Half Moon Bay.

Next Budget Predicted As $110 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House predicted today the new federal budget will be $110 billion to $115 billion—certainly not less than $110 billion.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said original requests from government agencies of about $125 billion for fiscal 1967, which starts July 1, have been pared to slightly less than $115 billion up to this point.

He said he does not want to suggest the figure is final because several items of several hundred million dollars each are still in question. He did not specify any of these items, but said they range across the board—through national defense and domestic programs.

Work on the budget, Moyers told reporters, has moved ahead in the past few weeks to the point where the administration no longer is actively thinking of asking Congress to extend the deadline for its submission.

Cars To Park Parallel Along Fourth Street

In an unexpected move last night, the San Rafael City Council voted to install parallel parking on Fourth Street, from Lincoln Avenue to E Street.

The vote to abolish diagonal parking along the city's busiest downtown street was 3-2, with Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilman Louis H. Baar dissenting.

The parking matter, not on the agenda, came up at the close of the meeting when Bettini asked councilmen if they had any "miscellaneous items" to bring up.

Councilman Charles W. Aby said it was time to have parallel parking on Fourth Street, which has often been discussed over the past several years.

City staff members estimated the changeover will eliminate 139 parking spaces.

"What are you going to do for parking spaces?" Baar said.

Proponents of the change said drivers would use the city's double-deck parking lot at Third and Cijos streets.

Councilman Harry Barbier said: "They won't let you out of these angle spaces. They show you no mercy."

Silverthorne Trial Jury Nearly Ready

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jury selection was expected to be completed today from a panel tentatively selected to try banker Don C. Silverthorne, former president of the defunct San Francisco National Bank, and an associate, William S. Bennett.

Silverthorne and Bennett were accused on 27 counts connected with the collapse of the bank one year ago. Charges ranged from conspiracy to misapplying bank funds, making false entries in bank records and bank larceny.

Chileans Lament New Order Banning Siesta

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Chileans today lamented an official order abolishing a cherished Latin American custom—the siesta— "in the interests of progress and development."

The decree, published Monday, substitutes a 30-minute lunch hour for the traditional to-to-three-hour food and nap break in Chile.

Leydecker Takes Up The Gavel

Byron W. Leydecker today was named chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors for 1966, and immediately laid down a new set of rules for board meetings.

He replaced Supervisor Peter H. Behr after the board agreed to try out some changes that would, in Leydecker's words give "more structured meetings than have been typical of this board in the past."

Leydecker said he intended to

Sidney Braverman Collapses In Bank

Sidney Braverman, owner of Braverman's Home Furnishers, San Anselmo, was listed in critical condition at Marin General Hospital today after collapsing, apparently from a heart attack, at the Bank of Marin in San Rafael this morning.

Braverman of 14 Twin Oaks Avenue, San Rafael, had been released from Marin General Hospital about two weeks ago after treatment for a heart condition. He is 62.

Transit Walkout Chiefs Arrested

Estimate Of Cost Raised

NEW YORK (AP) — Sheriff's officers arrested Michael J. Quill and eight other leaders of two unions today for contemptously defying a court order forbidding the strike of this city's subways and buses.

A judge last night directed that they be jailed until they order "in good faith" their 34,400 men back to work.

Quill and his associates waited with packed handbags for an hour after the arrest order took effect at 11 a.m. until the order was served.

DRAMATIC POSE

Striking a dramatic pose, Quill deliberately examined the badge of the officer approaching him and, turning toward television cameras, announced:

"The sheriff is here and have (sic) properly identified himself. The dragging arrest from the collective bargaining table is typical of collective bargaining a la Mayor Lindsay and the editorial writers of the New York Times."

While awaiting the arrival of sheriff's men, Quill continued his defiance.

'DROP DEAD'

"The judge can drop dead in his black robes," the 60-year-old leader of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union declared. "We will not stop the strike."

Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller last night found the union leaders guilty of civil contempt for flaunting the court injunction the city had obtained to block the walkout of 34,400 bus and subway workers.

Justice Geller, after eight hours of hearing and deliberation, said the union leaders would stay behind bars until "in good faith" they ordered their men back to work.

Quill had declared he would "rot in jail" before ordering an end to the crippling strike.

Meantime, the Commerce and Industry Assn. revised its $40 million-a-day estimate of the strike's economic impact.

"When you consider how many banks, retail stores and restaurants which are affected,

Body Hints China Advising Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. paratroopers chasing two battalions of Communist troops toward the Cambodian frontier in waist-deep mud and water of the Mekong Delta today discovered the body of what appeared to be a Chinese Communist adviser to the Viet Cong.

A Vietnamese intelligence agent assigned to the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade said the slain Communist wore a tailored uniform of much higher quality than that issued to the Viet Cong.

The allied operation in the delta about 35 miles west of Saigon was in its fifth day and had accounted for at least 236 Viet Cong killed. The number of Americans killed was not disclosed but it was learned the 173rd suffered an unknown number of casualties when hit by artillery from their own lines.

A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said only that some of the paratroopers were killed when caught in an artillery barrage from "friendly" forces. He said the accident apparently was the result of a "lack of coordination" between the paratroopers and the rear guard.

The pause in air attacks against Communist North Viet Nam completed its 1t1h day and sources in Washington said the lull might continue for another two weeks. There have been no air raids in the North since 6 p.m., Christmas Eve.

There were reports that the allied force in the Mekong Delta—Americans, South Vietnamese, Australians and New Zealanders—were being authorized to chase the Viet Cong across the Plain of Reeds into Cambodia if necessary. American commanders declined to discuss the reports.

Pope Replies To Johnson's Peace Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson received a personal message from Pope Paul VI today voicing "fervent prayers" Johnson's recent moves will result in permanent peace. And the Pontiff said that "we shall not cease in our efforts to help in whatever way possible."

The message was delivered by Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, who was rushed to the Vatican early last week in one phase of the administration's peace offensive. Goldberg had delivered to the Pope a message from Johnson voicing the President's desires for a peaceful solution to the Vietnamese conflict.

Johnson, meanwhile, is expected to continue the peace offensive, including a respite in bombing of the North, long enough for North Viet Nam to decide for or against negotiations.

Public denunciations of the peace drive as "deceitful and

Tiburon Boulevard Speed Limit Lowered

The speed limit for the new four-lane section of Tiburon Boulevard will be reduced from 65 to 45 miles an hour within the next few weeks, as soon as signs are posted, the State Division of Highways announced today.

The change was authorized by the state highway engineer's office after a traffic study. The new zone will run from Cecelia Way to 300 feet east of Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon. The street to the east of that has been designated for 45 miles an hour for some time.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Higgins Rites Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Doctors today attributed the death of war correspondent Marguerite Higgins to complications apparently resulting from a tropical parasite. She returned last fall from a visit to Viet Nam, India and Pakistan. She leaves her husband, retired Air Force Lt. Gen. William E. Hall; two children, Lawrence, 7, and Linda, 6; and her mother, Marguerite Higgins, Oakland. Funeral services will be held Friday, with burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

State Official Quits

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Stafford R. Grady resigned yesterday to enter private business with an unidentified financial institution. Grady, 45, a La Canada attorney, was named to the post in 1963.

Los Angeles Fireball

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A meteor streaked over Los Angeles last night, leaving a red and green trail hanging for moments in the sky. The meteor was seen traveling from southeast to northwest shortly after 6 p.m.

Snow Traps 5,000

ZERMATT, Switzerland (AP) —An avalanche blocked the rail line and road into this ski resort today, and officials set up an emergency helicopter service for any of more than 5,000 European tourists who might have to leave.

Ohio City Seats Negro Mayor

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI)—This city of 88,000 persons moved into the national spotlight today as the largest in the country with a Negro mayor.

The historic event showed the world a citizen who is qualified and accepts his responsibilities can assume any office, Mayor Robert E. Henry said with great emotion as he took the oath of office.

Henry

Henry was chosen unanimously by the five city commissioners last night because he had polled more votes than any other candidate when three commissioners were elected last November.

The 44-year-old mayor denounced extremists in race relations as he outlined his views on race and city problems. White civic leaders crowded around, stretching their hands out to congratulate him and pledge their support.

Henry said he felt "Springfield made two tremendous historic movements.

The first, he said, was in seating its first female commissioner and the second "of great importance throughout the United States, is that I became the first Negro mayor of a city of this size."

General's Jet Plane Sought

SEATTLE (UPI)—Maj. Gen. Irving L. Branch, a veterans pilot and commander of one phase of the U.S. space program, was killed yesterday in the mysterious crash of his jet aircraft in Puget Sound just a minute before he was to have landed.

Branch

"It appeared to be a routine landing approach," the control tower at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport said. "We had no indication anything was wrong."

Branch, 53, had acknowledged radio landing instructions and had completed a procedural turn toward the field when his T-38A Talon supersonic jet trainer disappeared from the radarscope. He was at an altitude of 2,100 feet.

The Coast Guard, Navy and Air Force searched the Sound for several hours afterward but found only an oil slick in the area of where the plane disappeared.

Ousted African Supports Coup

OUAGADOUGOU, Upper Volta (AP)—The army deposed President Maurice Yameogo today after four days of demonstrations against government austerity measures. Yameogo said the coup had his full support.

Yameogo

Lt. Col. Sangoule Lamizana, the chief of staff, announced in a broadcast that he had taken over the powers of chief of state.

He was quickly followed on the radio by Yameogo, who said: "Contrary to what one would think, my ministers and I are the first to rejoice with the way things were settled."

Yameogo's chief austerity measure was a 20 per cent cut in the salaries of government employees.

Horse Race Plot Brings Sentence

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—John (The Bat) Battaglia, former associate of mobster Mickey Cohen, today began a 10-year federal prison sentence for his part in bilking Las Vegas legal racebooks of $28,000.

U.S. District Judge William Byrne passed sentence yesterday on the 46-year - old Battaglia, whose conviction was affirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Battaglia and a co-defendant, Harold Tenner, 39, were convicted Aug. 19, 1964, of using a "past post-time scheme" to defraud the Las Vegas racebooks.

'Mohole' Drilling Gets Go-Ahead

To Probe Earth's Mantle

WASHINGTON (AP) — A full-speed-ahead order has been given to start building the huge ocean-going drill platform for "Project Mohole," it was learned today.

"Mohole" is a $108-million venture by the American government to drill a hole six miles deep through ocean and earth in man's deepest penetration of the planet.

The assault — expected to have a rich scientific pay-off — is scheduled to begin in late 1968 or early 1969, and take about three years.

The project is aimed at getting new knowledge of the earth's origin, structure and minerals — and of how Mother Earth brews her devastating earthquakes and volcanoes.

Geophysicist Gordon Lill, Mohole project manager for the National Science Foundation, told a reporter a go-ahead order, effective today, has been given the National Steel & Ship Building Co. of San Diego.

Lill said preliminary work on actual construction would include driving some huge pilings into the ocean floor, and tearing away part of a pier to make way for erection of the drill platform. Construction itself will take about two years.

Beginning around May 1, 1968, preliminary experimental drilling to intermediate depths—but with potential scientific importance—will begin at some of the following sites in the Pacific:

The Mendocino Scarp, northwest of San Francisco; an area known as Cobb Seamount, west of Seattle, Wash.; the Cascadia Abyssal Plain, also west of Seattle; the San Diego Trough off the coast between Los Angeles and San Diego; the Cocos Ridge area, west of Panama; and an area north of Maui in the Hawaiian Islands.

At the Mohole assault point, the idea will be to lower 10-inch diameter drill pipe — section by section — through water more than 2½ miles deep and then actually drill another 3½ miles into the earth, fully penetrating the planet's crust for the first time in history.

30 Are Feared Dead In France Explosion

LYON, France (AP) — An estimated 30 persons were feared dead or missing today after five big butane gas tanks exploded at a refinery and storage farm 12 miles south of Lyon.

At least 75 persons with burns were admitted to Lyon hospitals.

Officials evacuated residents of the area, fearing that three other nearby storage tanks would be set off by the searing heat.

The Ministry of Interior in Paris said two engineers and five firemen were reported missing.

A Lyon photographer said he had been about 100 yards from the first tank when it exploded. He was severely burned about the face and hands. He said that a number of firemen and employees of the plant had been ahead of him when the explosion occurred.

The Ministry of Interior in Paris said that the fire was apparently under control, but officials said that the remaining three storage tanks were endangered by heat and flames that could pass along underground pipes.

Taft's Hat Again Tossed Into Ring

CINCINNATI (UPI) —Robert Taft Jr. plans to put his political career on the line by seeking to represent Ohio's 1st district in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The former congressman-at-large from Ohio will seek the Republican nomination in the May primary and probably will oppose Rep. John G. Gilligan, first-term Democrat, in the November election.

Taft, 48, formally announced his candidacy yesterday, setting the stage for a test of the Johnson administration's policies in a district which has been represented by the GOP for 60 of the past 65 years.

G.I. Insurance Dividend Reset

WASHINGTON (AP) — GI life insurance dividends will be paid on the anniversary date of the policy, the Veterans Administration announced today.

This means a departure from a speedup system initiated in the Kennedy administration to stimulate the economy.

This year, 4,606,000 veterans will receive $224.2 million, the payments varying on the basis of type and amount of insurance and the policyholder's age.

Grape Strike Case To Stay With State

FRESNO (UPI) — The U.S. District Court here ruled yesterday that state courts can keep jurisdiction in an injunctive suit which seeks to prohibit picketing at San Francisco Bay Area ports in support of the grape strike in Delano.

The suit was originally filed last month by Di Giorgio Corp., a large landowner in the strike zone. On Dec. 14, a Visalia court granted Di Giorgio a temporary injunction to bar strike supporters from interfering with the loading of grapes aboard ships in San Francisco, Oakland and Stockton ports.

Last week the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union asked that the case be transferred to federal jurisdiction.

Di Giorgio's attorney told Judge M.D. Crocker Monday that the longshoremen's union had withdrawn its request because not all of the suit's defendants had agreed to transfer the case to a federal court.

Crocker then ruled that the case will remain in the state courts.

Fifth Double Birth

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Mrs. Rosario Giangreco, 33, gave birth yesterday to her fifth set of twins in 13 years. Her other twins are 12, 8, 7 and 2 years old.

Santo Domingo Puts Military Chiefs In Exile

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Thirty military leaders being forced into exile "for the good of the country" left the Dominican Republic in the early hours today, unofficial reports said.

This strife-torn city was tensely quiet, with reinforced patrols of U.S. paratroopers and Dominican policemen on guard in the streets. Informed sources said publication of the names of the men who are being forced into exile might touch off a new storm of violence later today.

There were unconfirmed reports that the list included both regular officers and army men who deserted to the rebels in the April revolt.

Provisional President Hector Garcia Godoy announced in a 20-minute broadcast last night that the men were being exiled because of the part they played in the fighting Dec. 19 in Santiago, where at least 28 persons were killed in a clash between airmen and rebel leaders.

Garcia said some of the exiles "have been invited to Israel to study." Others, he said, "will be assigned to diplomatic posts abroad."

Garcia said the Santiago clash could not be blamed exclusively on either side. He added, however, that the government felt itself obliged to prevent any similar incident in future.

CHP Aides Face Theft Sentences

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two former California Highway Patrol employees will be sentenced Jan. 21 on charges resulting from the disappearance of $16,000 worth of patrol ammunition.

Frank Kawai, 49, a former storekeeper in the CHP's Sacramento supply depot pleaded guilty yesterday in superior court to two counts of grand theft.

Wolfrum Joffee, 49, a former patrolman assigned to the Madera station, previously pleaded guilty in municipal court to two counts of receiving stolen property.

No Decision Yet On Tiburon School Urgings

Tamalpais High School District trustees heard last night that the district's attorney is ready to go to court to acquire a school site on the Tiburon Peninsula, but left unresolved whether the district's next bond issue request should include funds to build on it.

Attorney Richard Clarke said he planned to start condemnation proceedings Jan. 15 for 47.75 acres above Belveron Gardens if agreement is not reached by then with the owners.

The trustees, discussing failure of a $5,750,000 bond issure last November, wondered whether the next try at a bond issue should include a school on the Tiburon site, as urged by Reed School District representatives.

They wondered, also, whether it should include expansion of Redwood High School to capacity of 3,000 students, or whether that might be too big.

Representatives of Reed, Larkspur, Lagunitas, Fairfax and Kentfield School Districts were on hand to participate in the discussion. Fairfax and Lagunitas representatives thought a problem may arise in bussing students to the new high school proposed for the San Geronimo Valley.

The board accepted the resignation of Horton Scioneaux, Redwood High School Spanish teacher, effective at the end of the school year.

Door Opened, Nothing Taken

He said entry was by prying a back door while he was in Fairfax about 3 p.m., and the burglars apparently sought only cash.

Wesley J. Gilbert, 300 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, told deputies that burglars broke a rear window and pried another window and two doors in an unsuccessful attempt to enter his home.

Meeting Postponed

The meeting of the Loma Verde Homeowerns Assn., scheduled for 8 p.m. yesterday in the Loma Verde School, was postponed to 8 p.m. next Monday at the school.

Police Discover Cache Of Stolen Car Parts

San Rafael police, checking yesterday on some men seen working on a car with no license plates, glanced behind the men into an open garage on Bay Way and saw it filled with auto parts, including a motor, seats and a transmission.

Recalling that the fire department the night before had put out a fire in a stripped 1964 auto about a half block away, police questioned further, then arrested Patrick M. Daniels, 20, of 5 Hooper Lane, San Anselmo, on a charge of possession of stolen goods.

Daniels told police he rented the garage, between 15 and 31 Bay Way, but said he knew nothing of the parts. He was able to produce witnesses who said he was in Las Vegas at the time of the fire. He was released on $1,250 bail, to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

The car which was burned had been taken from the used car lot of Scripture Oldsmobile Co., 740 Francisco Boulevard. The parts were definitely identified as coming from that car when missing license plates were also found.

Parts included the motor, transmission, wheels, seats, radio, dash board, heater, carburetor, generator, battery and radiator, all of which were taken to the police station to be held as evidence.

Van Duzen River surged out of its banks near Hydesville and Starvation Flat in California.

The community of Orick, devastated last winter, was evacumore than two feet above flood stage early today. Water was running through the Lumberjack Bar, the Palms Motel and a few other buildings. Work on a multimillion dollar levee to hold back the creek is scheduled to start this spring.

Residents of the lush farmland along the Eel River 20 miles south of here began moving out as the stream rose toward a predicted crest of six feet above flood stage this afternoon.

In Oregon, about 100 families were evacuated yesterday from a housing development west of Roseburg.

Observation Set In Morals Case

James John McElhinney, 43, who pleaded guilty earlier to having carnal relations with a 14-year-old girl, today was ordered by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court to a 90-day observation period at Atascadero State Hospital prior to sentencing.

McElhinney, of 108 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, was accused of four counts from Sept. 15 to Nov. 4.

Slot Car Missing

tion, South Korean Marines and Vietnamese paratroopers late today ran into a force of Viet Cong about 12 miles south of Tuy Hoa, 225 miles north of Saigon. Initial reports said at least 38 Communist troops were killed.

The operation, begun four days ago, has accounted for at least 218 Viet Cong killed and 10 captured. It was disclosed that non-lethal tear gas was used by the allied forces in the delta and in the Tuy Hoa battle.

Communist troops attacked a Vietnamese outpost in Quang Ngai Province, 325 miles north of Saigon, for five hours in the early morning darkness today but were driven back with the help of air strikes by government planes.

It was the second consecutive day the Viet Cong had attacked the Cong Hoa garrison, whose defenders were outnumbered at least 4 to 1.

hypocritical" which came from Hanoi yesterday are so far not regarded by the U.S. policy makers as decisive. The United States is still awaiting some more official kind of response which presumably would come from the Hanoi government either in a public declaration or through diplomatic channels.

It is also widely believed in Washington that Communist China is putting heavy pressure on the Hanoi government to continue the fight while Soviet policy, so far as it can be brought to bear in Hanoi, is believed to favor a negotiated solution.

Meanwhile, roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman was to confer today in Cairo with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdul Nasser, while G. Mennen Williams, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs, was to meet in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, with President Julius Nyerere. They have been carrying the U.S. peace drive to several capitals.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson has appealed to Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to help get the conflict over Viet Nam to a peace conference, British officials reported today.

The Wilson appeal was delivered yesterday to the Kremlin by Sir Goeffrey Harrison, British ambassador to Moscow, the officials reported.

describe procedures at the start of each discussion and would rule out talk not to the point or repititious. He would also prescribe time limitations in some cases.

He further declared that motions would not be made until he requested them, and that all discussion should be addressed through him as chairman.

Leydecker said that the public has "been put on edge" in the past through fear that a motion would be made and acted upon before all comments could be heard.

The new chairman further declared that he wants the layout of the supervisor table changed so that board members can see each other better. He has contended that the supervisors' talent for interrupting each other has developed because it is tough to see who is talking.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, frequently at odds with Leydecker recently, was elected vice chairman. Both elections were on motion of Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Behr received praise from each of his fellow supervisors as he and Leydecker changed seats. Supervisor William A. Gnoss praised Behr for his courtesy to the public and Leydecker praised Behr specifically for his work for passage of the Hall of Justice bonds and encouraging creation of an agricultural preserve on the Green Gulch Ranch.

As part of its reorganization today, supervisors named Kettenhofen and Behr to the executive salary commission, replacing Leydecker and Storer. Leydecker asked that Behr replace him, and Kettenhofen requested that he either be appointed or be invited to attend the meetings, because he has disagreed with some recommendations. Storer volunteered to step down in favor of Kettenhofen.

Burglar Gets Nothing

A burglar climbed a fence and broke into the Boyd Natural Science Museum at 76 Albert Park Way, San Rafael, police were told yesterday. But he gained nothing for his effort. He apparently spent some time prying open an old empty cash register and then left, disturbing nothing else.

Actor Reagan Ready To Enter The Arena

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Film star Ronald Reagan was ready to step onto California's hectic political stage today with the announcement that he will seek the Republican nomination for governor.

Reagan, at a news conference, was expected to spell out publicly what his aides have been saying privately — that he has decided to enter what is likely to be a bitter GOP primary race.

Time has been purchased on 16 television stations throughout California for a showing tonight of a half-hour film in which the 54-year-old star of the television series "Death Valley Days" will disclose his intentions.

His decision to run would pit Reagan against former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco and Laughlin E. Waters, who has served in the Assembly and as U.S. attorney for Southern California. A San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer, William Patrick, who also has announced his candidacy, is little known in party circles.

Republicans who class themselves as moderates are backing Christopher and Waters. Reagan, 1964 cochairman of California Citizens for Goldater-Miller, has the support of GOP conservatives.

Reagan, in using Hollyood fame to launch a political career, would be the second show business personality to try for high office in California. George Murphy, another Republican, was elected U.S. senator in 1964.

RAIN

lashed the Sierra, blowing snow from the last storm into drifts 10 feet high.

Shortly after dawn, with the high winds still whipping the ridges, heavy snow began to fall in Tahoe Basin and to the north.

Marin County rainfall figures in the 24 hours up to 8 a.m. today included: Ross 2.61, Woodacre 1.30, San Anselmo 1.17, Manor Hill (Fairfax) 1, Hamilton AFB .88, Inverness .8, Fairfax .7, Larkspur .68, Chevy Chase (Larkspur) .54, Point Reyes Station .48, Tamalpais Valley .46, Mill Valley and Terra Linda .4, Sausalito .36, Novato .2.

PLANNERS

resolved that reservation of Marincello land for the route be required, if necessary.

Some Marincello proponents at the session questioned the authenticity of Whitney's letter, but Governor Brown's office confirmed it today.

The commission also agreed to removal of garden apartments from the Tennessee Valley portion of the plan, and reduction of a regional shopping center proposed there to a neighborhood shopping center. Still up in the air, however, was the means by which the density lost from Tennessee Valley would be reapportioned in the rest of the plan.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty suggested that one or two more high-rise apartments be allowed. There are 19 in the plan approved last November by county supervisors. Other commissioners did not give this general approval, and the matter was left undecided.

Commissioners agreed that the commercial hotel planned at the top of Wolfback Ridge should remain in the plan, but that there be no buffer strip and no access along Wolfback Ridge Road and Alto Avenue.

The commission reached no decision on the business and profession and light industrial uses proposed in the southern portion of Marincello, adjacent to the proposed Headlands Park.

This and other changes proposed in the Marincello master plan will be discussed again by the commission Feb. 14.

The commission added one proposed amendment yesterday, calling for development plans to be subject to review by a design review board if such a board is created.

Berkeleyan Injured

Louise M. Kraut, 67, of Berkeley was cut on her head when the northbound car she was driving crashed into a ditch on Shoreline Highway at the entrance to Muir Woods park at 10:30 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported. She was to see her own doctor.

and how many stores close early or restaurants which don't open at all, then the figure could run up to $100 million," a spokesman said.

The city obtained the injunction under both the common law and the state's Condon-Wadlin Act forbidding strikes by public employees.

Mayor John V. Lindsay again walked to his office today, a 60-block hike he started before dawn, then broadcast another appeal to the metropolitan area's 15 million residents to stay away from the city unless absolutely necessary.

The auto rush had built up long before, however. By 5 a.m., some two hours before daylight, traffic was heavy on the Queens approaches to Manhattan. Within two hours, Bronx and Queens stations of the New York Central and Long Island railroads were jammed with persons who normally use city transportation to get to work.

New Novato Rec Chairman Voted

William Keener was elected chairman and John D. Kassenbrock, vice chairman of the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night.

Keener replaces Mrs. Helen Greving as chairman, and Kassenbrock replaces Keener as vice chairman.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission also:

1. Took under study a proposal to operate a farm league for Little League of 16 teams for 225 boys from nine to 11 years of age next summer. The program would cost the city $3,000.
2. Turned down a proposition of Top Properties to sell 33 acres for the proposed Canyon Lake Park at $173,000.
3. Took under study a proposed map for a Little League ball diamond and play facilities at the Rancho School park site, which would be composed both of the school playground and additional land on Arroyo Avichi Creek.
4. Heard from Edward W. Adams, director, that total daily recreation attendance in December was 9,968, compared to 4,945 in December, 1964.

OBITUARIES

John J. Roche Dies At 61

John J. Roche, 61, of 523 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, died in a San Francisco hospital yesterday after a long illness.

A native of Hyde Park, N.Y., he had lived in Marin County for 40 years. He worked for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for 35 years, retiring as a carpenter-foreman a year ago due to his illness.

Surviving are his wife, Ella Roche; a son, Edward J. Roche, and a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Castamagna, all of San Rafael.

Private funeral will be held tomorrow.

EDNA ACKERMAN

Funeral will be held in Healdsburg tomorrow for Mrs. Edna T. Ackerman, 74, of Knights Valley, Sonoma County, mother of three San Anselmo residents.

Mrs. Ackerman died Sunday in a Santa Rosa hospital. The funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Fred Young and Co. in Healdsburg, with burial in Oak Mound Cemetery.

Mrs. Ackerman resided at the St. Helena trout farm in Knights Valley. She was born in Colorado, but had lived in California for 50 years and in Sonoma County for 23 years.

She leaves her husband, Charles Ackerman; two daughters and four sons: Mrs. Zelpha V. Compton of Benecia, Mrs. Dorothea M. Fenwick of Marysville, Jesse B. Odell of Loma Linda, San Bernardino County, and John, Albert and Earl Loew of San Anselmo; a sister and brother, Mrs. Mary Brown and Earl Fraker of Washington; 21 grandchildren, and many great-grandchildren.

MRS. TOMASSONE

Private funeral was held today for Giovanna Tomassone, 86-year-old widowed mother of Mrs. Rose Giorgi, 118 Meadowcroft Drive, San Anselmo.

A native of Italy, Mrs. Tomassone died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

For the past 11 years, she had made her home with her daughter. Her husband, Remigio Tomassone, died more than 40 years ago.

She is survived by her daughter, two grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

ANNA J. RECTOR

Graveside funeral will be held for Mrs. Anna J. Rector of San Rafael at 12:30 p.m., Thursday, at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m., tomorrow, at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Friends may call at the Mortuary after 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Rector, 56, died last Thursday at a local hospital following a long illness.

Born in Germany, she had lived in Marin County 12 years, last residing at 14 Sentinel Court, Mill Valley. Mrs. Rector had managed the Three Swiss Motel at Bijou on Lake Tahoe for three years.

Her only immediate survivor is her husband, Ernest T. Rector, a welder.

GRACE PHILLIPS

Grace E. Phillips, a 36-year-old dental assistant, died unexpectedly at her home, 206 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, yesterday. Cause of death was bronchial pneumonia aggravated by a fall at home, said Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley.

Mrs. Phillips was found yesterday by a neighbor at the foot of a flight of stairs at home, after apparently falling and lying there overnight.

She lived alone, said Bradley, and had been ill with influenza for three days.

A native of California, she resided in Marin 15 years and was assistant to a San Francisco dentist.

She is survived by a son, Richard H. Phillips, serving in the Navy, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Soldavini of San Anselmo.

Bitter Cold, Snow Lashing Northwest

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, rain and strong winds strafed the Far Northwest today.

Biting cold hung on in Montana.

Rain doused an area from north central California into Washington and snow swept across the higher elevations through Idaho and Montana. Southern Montana was to get from 3 to 5 inches of snow during the day.

East of the Continental Divide in Montana the mercury remained below zero for more than 24 hours. The temperature ranged from 15 to 20 below zero in Cut Bank, Mont., since noon yesterday. Great Fall, Mont., recorded 19 below this morning, while in Missoula—200 miles to the west—the reading was 39 degrees.

A storm which loosed rain, sleet and snow on many sections of New England yesterday, eased off and only a few snow flurries drifted across the area.

Showers were scattered along the Gulf Coast from Texas to Florida, but sunny skies prevailed from Southern California to the Ohio Valley.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Montana and Idaho, with three to six inches from northern Idaho across most of western and southern Montana. Snow was indicated across northern sections of New England.

Oregon was hit by rain and snow which caused small floods and the evacuation of at least a dozen families. Heavy snow fell on the Cascade Mountains east of the Willamette Valley. The series of recent snow storms has increased the snow pack rapidly in the Cascades. The depth at Stampede Pass, east of Seattle, measured more than six feet.

Long Distance Call Victimizes Charity

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Officials said someone broke into the Salvation army office here early yesterday and used the telephone for an 82-minute, $166 call to Fairbanks, Alaska. Authorities declined to say how they discovered the call.

Capt. Everett Leonard, Salvation Army commander, said, "As far as I can tell, absolutely nothing is gone or tampered with."

Senator Smathers Plans To Retire

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George A. Smather's decision to retire on doctor's orders at the end of 1968 points up a new Senate trend—go with grace, and by choice.

The Democratic lawmaker's announcement in Florida yesterday that he would not seek reelection after his present term expires followed similar statements by two other senators plus the unexpected spot resignation late last year of veteran Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr., D-Va.

A fourth senator, Pat McNamara, D, Mich., 71 and ailing, has hinted strongly that he may bow out this year, too.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R, Mass., who was 73 last September but could probably outwrestle some of his younger colleagues, announced last Thursday that he would not run for re-election this year.

Saltonstall said he decided it would be difficult for him to serve another six-year term "with the zeal, ability and conscientiousness that I would want to serve."

Shortly after Congress adjourned last October, Sen. Maurine B. Neuberg, R, Ore., announced she would not bid for another six years in the senate.

Smathers, 52, told a news conference in Miami he is suffering from an ailment he would describe only as "serious, complex but not incurable." Friends said he had been troubled much during the past year by a hernia of the diaphragm.

India, Pakistan Offer Mutual Peace Accords

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The leaders of India and Pakistan offered each other a no-war pact today but there appeared to be no prospect either offer would be accepted.

The stumbling block was the two nations' bitter quarrel over possession of Kashmir, the Himalayan state which has had the two nations at war twice since 1949.

President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan offered a no-war pact "once the basic problems facing us are resolved." That was his way of saying Kashmir must be settled first.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India, whose government has repeatedly refused to countenance anything but Indian control of Kashmir repeated his offer of a no-war pact "to improve the totality" of relations with Pakistan. He made no reference to Kashmir.

Vice Raid Finds 'Hobby Shop' For Obscenity

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) —A "hobby shop" dealing in barbiturates and pornographic pictures of teen-agers was discovered yesterday in the same neighborhood where a torture-for-thrills operation was found recently, police said.

Agents of the Essex County sheriff's office arrested Joseph Benny Pezzino, 35 and charged him with breaking and entering, larceny, impersonating a female, possession of pornography, barbiturates and stolen goods.

Sheriff Leroy D'Aloia said several thousand obscene slides, negatives and pictures were found in Pezzino's hobby shop in the fashionable Forest Hills section of Newark. He said many of the models were teen-agers, whom authorities were trying to identify.

Meeting Put Off

Last night's meeting of the San Rafael Library Board was postponed to 7:45 p.m. today at the library, according to Mrs. Vivian Smith, librarian.

Noisy New Year Stunt Jolts Jail

They checked out the cellblocks where the explosions were heard.

Contract For Fish Grounds Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Award of a $1,446,513 reclamation bureau contract for construction of fish facilities on the Tehama-Colusa Canal in California was announced today.

The work will be done by Purtzer and Dutton, Reno, Nev., the low bidder among 11 firms.

NEW LOOK FOR TOWN HALL—This is architect George Banning's conception of how Corte Madera Town Hall will look after $78,125 remodeling job for which contract was awarded by the town council last night. Contractor Joseph E. Redmond Co. of San Rafael is to complete the remodeling by May 15.

Town Hall's Contract Let Despite Cost

Corte Madera Town Council last night awarded a contract for remodeling the town hall, despite the fact that the lowest bid exceeded by more than $13,000 the amount budgeted for the job.

The contract went to Joseph E. Redmond Co. of San Rafael at $78,125. The council had budgeted $65,000. Councilmen voted to make up the difference out of the unappropriated surplus fund.

"As far as I am concerned, this is a job with the highest of priorities," said Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Architect for the building, George Banning of Crawford and Banning of San Rafael, told the councilmen the project is costing just less than $14 a square foot, about half the cost of erecting a new building on the site.

Until completion of the project, all town council and commission meetings will be held in the recreation room of the new Public Safety Building, said Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher.

The engineer's office, normally in Town Hall, will be moved temporarily to the vacant portion of the fire department's sleepers quarters, upstairs in the public safety building. All planning commission files will be moved into the Town Hall annex.

Completion date of the remodeling has been set for May 15, so the building will be complete for the town's 50th anniversary celebration in June.

Councilmen agreed last night that if the costs are running too high, they can postpone landscaping and razing of the annex for up to six months after the initial project is complete.

Florida's Everglades National Park is not a swampy region but a great shallow river stretching across the southern end of the state.

Klan Papers Burned To Foil 'Communists'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A witness before the House Committee on un-American Activities testified today that he burned records and documents so they wouldn't fall into the hands of the enemy.

John D. Swenson of Bossier City, La., was called as a witness in the committee's probe of the Ku Klux Klan.

Swenson refused to reply to questions as to whether he was a member of the Klan, citing constitutional protection against self-incrimination. He was identified in other testimony as grand dragon of the old, original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

When asked whether he had brought records and documents as requested by the committee, he consulted for some time with his attorney, then told the committee:

"Sir, the records you're referring to I don't know what you... but any records or documents that I had...this all was burned, destroyed completely."

Asked who burned them, Swenson replied, "I did."

"Why?"

"So they wouldn't get into the hands of the enemy."

"Who is the enemy?"

"The Communists."

In subsequent testimony, Swenson said the records were burned in March of 1964. That would have been before the House committee, headed by Rep. Edwin E. Willis, undertook its investigation of the Klan.

Swenson was identified as a Klan official in testimony taken in closed session last July and released today. The witness was Royal B. Young, who also named himself as a Klan official.

Two Point Reyes Positions Filled

A pair of new jobs have been filled at the Point Reyes National Seashore, Supt. Leslie P. Arnberger announced yesterday. Charles C. Schmid will become administrative officer and Donald H. Cameron will be maintenance foreman.

Schmid will come from Mount McKinley National Park, where he has worked since 1963. Before that for 10 years he worked for the Nebraska State Tax Commission.

Cameron, who grew up in Mendocino County, has been carpenter foreman at Yosemite National Park, but has been on loan to Point Reyes to supervise rebuilding of shop and storage buildings.

Studio Plan Is Rejected

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night refused John Hieb a permit for a studio apartment in a garage at 396 Tiburon Boulevard, in a single family residential zone.

Henry E. Carter Corp. received architectural approval for the Harbor Oaks development on Red Hill. Triangle Builders' tentative map for Tiburon Knolls Unit 3 on Steward Drive above Little Reed Heights was also approved.

A study session on the downtown master plan, set for tomorrow, was postponed to Jan. 12.

Commissioner Erik Rettig was absent.

High Density Apartments Turned Down

Commissioners told applicant Monty Connery of Bay Counties Realty Corp., that the city's regular apartment zoning (R-3) offers a high enough density, and said they would consider placing more density restrictions on the R-4 zone.

Connery argued that the city's master plan shows R-4 zoning in the area immediately adjacent to the commercial zone. He said his company's lot is just two parcels away from the commercial section.

Four residents appeared at the meeting to argue against the rezoning from duplez to high-density apartment.

Commissioners scheduled a special meeting to discuss the city's town center plan — particularly the proposed pedestrian mall and construction of a new thoroughfare to replace San Anselmo Avenue — for 8 p.m. Monday in the city council chamber.

The famous Venus de Milo statue was found armless in the ruins of the Greek island of Melos (Milo) in 1820.

Marinite's Theory On Heart Attacks

What causes a fatal blood clot, or thrombus, to form in the heart arteries?

After two years of research, a Sausalito heart specialist and his colleague developed a theory: That "abscesses" containing cholesterol, other fats, calcium, dead tissue and scavenger cells form inside the artery walls and eventually burst into the artery.

The rupture, or fracture in the artery wall permits the material in the abscess to mix with blood in the artery, and this acts to start the formation of the clot that forms in the presence of flowing blood.

The report on the investigation by Dr. Meyer Friedman of Sausalito, heart specialist at Mount Zion Hospital and Medical Center, and Dr. G. J. Van den Bovenkamp, appears in the current issues of the American Journal of Pathology.

"It sounds strange," said Dr. Friedman, "that for 50 years we knew that a thrombus was there, but didn't find out what caused it."

As to when, how and why the cholesterol, other fats and calcium collect in the arteries, Dr. Friedman commented: "I think the process starts in the first years of life."

Dr. Friedman has done much research into the matter of stress as a big factor in heart attacks. "I am beginning to think more and more that the stress factor has to do with early deposit of cholesterol and fat," he said. "All I know is the association is there."

The doctors believe the formation of the abscesses, their rupture, and formation of clots is part of a "normal repair process' in the arteries.

Whether a heart attack follows a rupture depends on the size of the abscess which, in turn, determines the size of the clot.

Library Board Spokesman Mum On Hub Decision

The San Anselmo Library Board, at its public meeting last night, reached a decision on a proposal that San Anselmo join the county library cooperative system, then today refused to reveal what the decision was.

Louis Yates, designated spokesman for the board, said members voted on a recommendation to the city council, but he was instructed by the board not to reveal the decision.

The board has been under pressure from some San Anselmo residents since October to join the county system, thus making it possible for San Anselmo residents to borrow books from the county library at no charge.

Corte Madera Sets Paradise Drive Repairs

The councilmen signed a resolution releasing the contractor from liability for damages to the road after receipt of the company's check for $14,030, a sum Town Engineer Phillip B. Lygren said should cover all repairs "and then some."

The company undermined the road, causing deep cracks and chuck holes, while placing a 15-foot deep sewer line down the middle of the roadway for the Corte Madera Sanitary District.

Engineer Lygren said the immediate repairs would only smooth the road and return it to its normal width before Ghillotti Brothers of San Rafael begins in early February on a $39,000 project to widen the road to four lanes.

Lygren said the town will expand the contract to have Ghillotti Brothers completely restore the road when the widening is done.

POT ROAST a la SIVOREE

Use a 4 lb. boneless beef roast, cross rib, rump, medallion or Scotch roast.

- 3 tbls. flour
- 3 tbls. olive oil
- 1½ tsp. salt
- 1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
- 1 cup red dinner wine
- ½ tsp. oregano
- ½ tsp. rosemary
- ½ tsp. black pepper
- 1½ cups chicken consomme

Dredge meat with salt, pepper and flour, brown on all side in heated olive oil. Pour in consomme, wine, tomato sauce and herbs. Place cover and simmer slowly approximately 3 hours or until meat is fork tender. Thicken gravy if desired, and serve with meat which is carved cross grain. Serve with noodles or boiled rice. Serves 5 to 7 people.

Corte Madera Council Gets Gutter Complaint

In Corte Madera are 4,027 feet of residential district gutters in which drainage is so poor that January's rain water and mud still stand in mid-August.

This fact, reported by Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to the town council last night, prefaced an hour of complaints by residents who live behind the gutters, and of promises by councilmen.

Spearheading the complaints was William P. Campana of 19 Mohawk Avenue, who said he has complained to town officials of the "unsanitary and disgraceful gutter conditions" for 10 years.

Campana said he decided to bring his problem to the council after a house guest slipped and fell in the water and muck in front of his home on a rainless day. He was accompanied by 15 neighbors and a petition signed by 23 residents on his block.

Following the complaints, councilmen promised to make a field trip the morning of Feb. 5 to view the problem gutters.

Acting Town Engineer Phillip B. Lygren estimated repairs would cost $5 a foot. Usher reminded the council that to repair a block with 320 feet of curb ponds, the town might have to regrade the entire 820-foot block of gutter.

Mrs. Kathleen L. Walsh of 33 Mohawk Avenue told councilmen that during the summer the curb pond in front of her home attracts insects. "The smell is so intolerable," she said.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton told the audience that since the people of Mohawk Avenue have probably suffered the curb ponds longer than most other residents "I think this area should be placed at the top of our list of priorities."

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Called bids for Feb. 3 on channelization of Tamalpais Drive from Highway 101 to Madera Boulevard. Cost is estimated at $6,000.

2. Agreed to give playground equipment at the northeast corner of the San Clemente School play yard to the Larkspur School District so it may be moved closer to the school's primary grade class rooms.

3. Adopted an ordinance reducing the speed limit on Paradise Drive between Tamalpais Drive and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks from 35 to 25 miles per hour and prohibiting parking on the west side of Paradise Drive from Tamalpais Drive for a distance of 710 feet.

4. Agreed to pay $206 of a $412 outstanding bill of the late Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission.

5. Agreed to hire Town Treasurer and investment counselor John Vance as director of finance. The council abolished the position of investment counselor, for which Vance was paid $300 a month, and set his salary in his new job, beginning Jan. 19, at $700 a month.

6. Agreed to purchase the town manager's car for $1,761.24 from the state cooperative purchasing service.

7. Agreed to pay $190 in expenses for Usher to attend the spring meeting of the city managers department of the League of California Cities in Coronado, Feb. 23-25.

Councilman William W. Collier was absent.

Sleepy Hollow Boy Injured In Accident

Jeffrey W. Galbraith, 14, of 1425 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, suffered a possible concussion at 4:15 p.m. yesterday when he ran in front of a car on Butterfield Road. He was in good condition today in Marin General Hospital.

Richard D. Hageman, 20, of 310 Hidden Valley Road, Sleepy Hollow, was driving south, just north of Oak Knoll Road, when young Galbraith ran in front of his car, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Library Head Cautioned Over Jobs Conflict

The president of the Mill Valley Library Board has taken a job with the firm that designed the new library building, and Mill Valley city councilmen last night raised the question of possible conflict of interest.

Mrs. John P. Farnham is president of the library board. Her new job is with Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons, architects of the library building now under construction.

Mayor Michael Wornum suggested to City Councilman William M. Secor, the council's liaison to the library board, that Mrs. Farnham should not authorize change orders on the library building in view of her new employment.

Secor said, however, that the library board felt there was no conflict of interest since the contract had already been let.

"It looks like a definite case where some conflict could arise," insisted Councilman George E. Wickham. "We could be subject to quite a bit of criticism."

Mayor Wornum's suggestion was left just that—a suggestion.

San Rafael Tots Signups Open

Sign-up for the latest "Tiny Tots" program sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation Department started today and will continue from 9:30 to 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said there will be two groups, one meeting on Tuesday, the other on Wednesday. Each will meet from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the city recreation center, Second and Brooks streets.

Mrs. Frances Traina will conduct the classes, for youngsters 3 to 5 years old. They will last six weeks. Fee is $4.

Mill Valley Apparment Zone Proposal Deadlocks Council

The controversial "Kipling Corner" at the entrance to Mill Valley continued to flummox the Mill Valley City Council last night, councilmen reaching a 2-2 stalemate on a proposal to rezone it from single family residential to apartments.

Richard Dunn seeks the rezoning at Kipling and East Blithedale avenues for an area of 29,000 square feet surrounded, except for three small adjoining lots, by apartment zoning.

Councilman Albert E. White said he had changed his opinion from an earlier vote and no longer supported rezoning. He said the location, at Mill Valley's entrance, is not suitable for apartments considering traffic. Councilman William M. Secor termed it "zoning by default" and moved denial.

Mayor Michael Wornum and Councilman George E. Wickham voted contrary, and Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks abstained. The council then voted 3-1, Sheeks abstaining, to continue the subject to Feb. 7, on request of Paul Crowley, a real estate broker, who suggested the difficulties might still be resolved.

Dr. Willard H. Pennell, president of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Assn., told the council the association feels apartments desirable at the Kipling Corner.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Voted to construct a sidewalk at 467 Miller Avenue, overruling protest of attorney Albert Bianchi for his client, Francis M. Gelardi. Bianchi said Gelardi had installed a sidewalk to city standards but the city had changed the standards. Council action means Gelardi must install the walk within 60 days or the city will build it and place it on his tax bill.

2. Adopted an ordinance to annex the 60-acre Cascade annexation, south of Cascade Drive and west of Monte Vista Avenue.

3. During citizens question period, told John de Becker that files will be checked to see whether one apartment in the two-unit building of Lynn Jensen at 54 West Blithedale Avenue is illegal. Councilman Sheeks asked for a report on the findings.

4. By 4-1 vote, Councilman Sheeks voting "no," introduced an ordinance establishing a 25-mile speed limit on Camino Alto between Miller and East Blithedale avenues, wher the limit now is 35. Sheeks said, "we can't even enforce the 25-mile per hour zones we have now."

5. Authorized out of court settlement whereby A. E. Mullin Co. will pay the city $8,500 for damage the city suffered when contractor Mullin caused a earth slide on Ethel Avenue in March, 1963, costing the city $11,000 to repair.

6. Voted to buy a 5,600 square foot parcel of land from C. O. Sollom for about $1,126 to use in constructing Lomita Avenue.

7. Reappointed Harold Henry to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board. Mayor Wornum invited Henry to attend a council meeting to tell what the district does.

8. Welcomed Councilman Wickham back to the council following a business trip to New Zealand. Wickham, an engineer with Jacobs Associates in San Rafael, was in New Zealand working on an hydroelectric project.

Fairfax Man Mends After Pill Overdose

Chester Laws, 40, of 83 Cypress Drive, Fairfax, was reported in good condition at San Rafael General Hospital today after being found about 9 p.m. yesterday unconscious from an overdose of barbiturates.

San Rafael police, responding to a call from Betty Lou Culver, found Laws unconscious on the floor at 21A Warner Court, San Rafael, and were told the man had threatened to take his own life.

First 1966 Span Death

A 36-year-old civilian employee at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday became the first person to jump to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge in 1966.

The Coast Guard recovered the body of George F. Pendleton of San Francisco at 1:35 p.m., less than half an hour after his leap was reported.

He was the 291st person known to have taken his life by jumping from the span.

The California Highway Patrol said Pendleton parked his car in the lot at the south end of the bridge just after 1 p.m. then walked to the south tower, where he climbed over the railning and jumped. A passerby called officers.

He left his valuables and a note to his wife, Ruth, saying, "I feel rotten and everything has come to an end for me except my love for you."

White House Watchfully Waits Steel's Next Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Johnson administration appeared today to be gearing up for a major showdown over steel price hikes, though officials still held out hope for voluntary rollback of the increases.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer, held the key. If it decided to follow the lead of Bethlehem and Inland Steel and raise the price of structural steel $5 a ton, the battle would be on. If not, a rollback appeared likely.

U.S. Steel was saying nothing other than that it was "carefully" considering the matter "and it will be some time before a conclusion is reached." Steel industry sources in Pittsburgh believed the giant company would raise its prices, however.

"I just cannot see U.S. Steel not going along with Bethlehem," a leading steel distributor said yesterday. "I'm surprised they have not acted before this."

An announcement by Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp., a relative midget among producers, that it would boost structural steel prices by $3 a ton—$2 less than Inland and Bethlehem — raised yet another possibility.

If U.S. Steel were to follow Colorado's lead, would the administration consider the raise a compromise figure? A White House spokesman refused to comment on the Colorado action last night.

Mill Valley Harbor Hits A Minor Snag

Creation of Mill Valley's small craft yacht harbor has hit a minor snag, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer informed city councilmen last night.

Paul B. Fischer, Corona Del Mar developer who has a six-month option to lease the harbor, has told the city that, for him to seek private financing, he must have clarification regarding a parcel of state-owned land at the harbor's mouth.

Balmer said the city has a 49-year use permit on the state land. He said he has discussed changing the permit to a lease, and the state lands commission is to consider this at a meeting this month in Los Angeles.

Balmer said he will ask Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R., San Rafael, to introduce a bill in the next legislature giving this land in trust to Marin County.

When the question is settled, Fischer can go ahead with a final master plan, Balmer said.

Mayor Michael Wornum asked Balmer to keep the council informed, because "the most embarrassing question I get is 'what is happening to the harbor?' "

Balmer also reported he has asked the Mill Valley Refuse Co. for nine or 10 types of information to properly do an audit of the company's books in relation to a request for increased rates.

Balmer also reported he has written Alto, Almonte, Kay Park and Homestead Valley sanitary district boards suggesting scrapping present agreements with the districts to process their sewage in the city treatment plant and writing new contracts "relating to present conditions."

He proposes a new cost formula, either based on unit connections or by installing flow meters, for sharing costs of the city's plant, he said. He also will request a new cost sharing formula for sharing cost of the city's trunk lines. The city now pays 76 per cent of cost of replacing a trunk line, Balmer noted.

The manager said he is exploring a condition, also, that will give the city a veto right over serving an area, such as the Dias Ranch, at any time.

Belvedere Will Resurface Beach Road, Repair Wall

The Belvedere City Council last night instructed City Engineer Albert H. Siemer to go ahead with resurfacing Beach Road and reinforcing its retaining wall on a day labor basis.

On Dec. 6 the council rejected a low bid of $52,989 by Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael on the job. Siemer said he felt he could keep the job at $47,000.

The Belvedere City Council also:

1. Introduced an ordinance to require developers to get a permit from the city for any bay fill project on city tidelands.

2. Reintroduced a television antenna service ordinance, changing from $1,200 to $900 the minimum fee to be paid to the city yearly by any firm that contracts for an antenna service.

3. Learned from City Atty. William H. MacKay that reducing the speed limit on Bayview Avenue from 25 to 15 MPH would be in violation of the California vehicle code.

4. Rejected a suggestion by County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley Fontez that Belvedere adopt a hotel-motel tax ordinance.

5. Agreed to contribute $1,400 for a joint study with the Richardson Bay Sanitary District of sewage problems in Richardson Bay.

6. Heard from Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel on the Dec. 11 human rights commission symposium and agreed to contribute $25 to the human rights commission.

7. Instructed City Mgr. William L. Cavalli to contract with the state department of finance for a $190 population study of the city.

The last population study was made in 1963, and put Belvedere's population at 2,350.

State Park Aide Due For Parley

State recreation official Russell W. Porter, who once was San Rafael recreation director, will arrive in San Rafael tomorrow to meet with the city park and recreation commission and discuss chances of a state grant for a city aquatic park.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at city hall.

City Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said Porter probably will stay in town Thursday to meet with other city officials on the same topic. Porter is coordinator of the state division of recreation's grant program.

MacCarthy To Talk To Novato Chamber

Reapportionment and other problems facing the last session of the state legislature will be discussed by State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, at a public luncheon Thursday noon at Nero's restaurant in Novato, sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Regular board meeting of the Chamber of Commerce has been postponed until noon, Jan. 13, at Nero's, according to Richard Nave, president.

Contractor's License

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) Unless written protest is filed, the contractors state license board announced today it will issue a license Jan. 19 to Maurice D. Worley, 54 Sunny Oaks Drive, San Rafael, for general contracting.

Novato Policemen Elect New Officers

Sgt. Perry J. Haley was elected president of the Novato Police Assn. at its meeting last night at the home of Sgt. Walter W. Weidauer at 71 Lambert Way, Novato.

Officer Louis Robinette was named secretary-treasurer. Elected directors were Detective Sgt. Otto C. Haiungs, Sgt. Maurice Lafferty, and Patrolman Joseph O. Fitzgerald.

Planners Ask County Use Of Own Rules

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday wondered why the county in its construction programs does not follow the planning procedures it sets down for private developers.

Wesley Wilkes of the county planning staff told the commission that a shed and gasoline pump was put on the Civic Center parking lot without consulting with the planning department.

Commission Chairman Felix M. Warburg wondered if the shed and pump were designed by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Wilkes said it would be pointless to make an issue of the small pumping station, but he suggested that the commission ask it be allowed to review all capital projects of the future.

This the commission did.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Scheduled discussion of a design review board for the county on Jan. 31 at the Civic Center. Study of such a board was asked by the board of supervisors several weeks ago.

2. Continued until Feb. 14 the issue of density of housing in a planned community zone. The delay will permit the county's new planning director, Paul Zucker, who will arrive Jan. 24, to have a part in the discussion.

3. Put off until Jan. 17 appeal on denial of a subdivision asked by Walter Conner Jr., seeking to make two lots, each a third of an acre, on Paradise Road across from Paradise Beach County Park near Tiburon. Conner is to have soil percolation tests run prior to the next commission meeting.

4. Approved location of a branch sales office at 633 Redwood Highway, Alto, for Edgewater Yacht Co.

5. Denied Charles Tijerina's request for architectural supervision to allow medical and dental offices on the second floor of the Alto branch of the Tiburon National Bank, 100 Tiburon Boulevard, Alto. Main objection was lack of parking area.

6. Adjourned at 5:15 p.m. Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz was absent.

NAACP Reports Difficult Times

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People has a new president and a report that it is losing members and money.

Kevie Kaplan, 61, a retired Boston industrialist, was elected unanimously Monday night by the NAACP board of directors. He succeeds Arthur B. Spingarn, 87, a New York lawyer, who had held the post for 26 years.

Kaplan is white, as have been all the NAACP presidents before him.

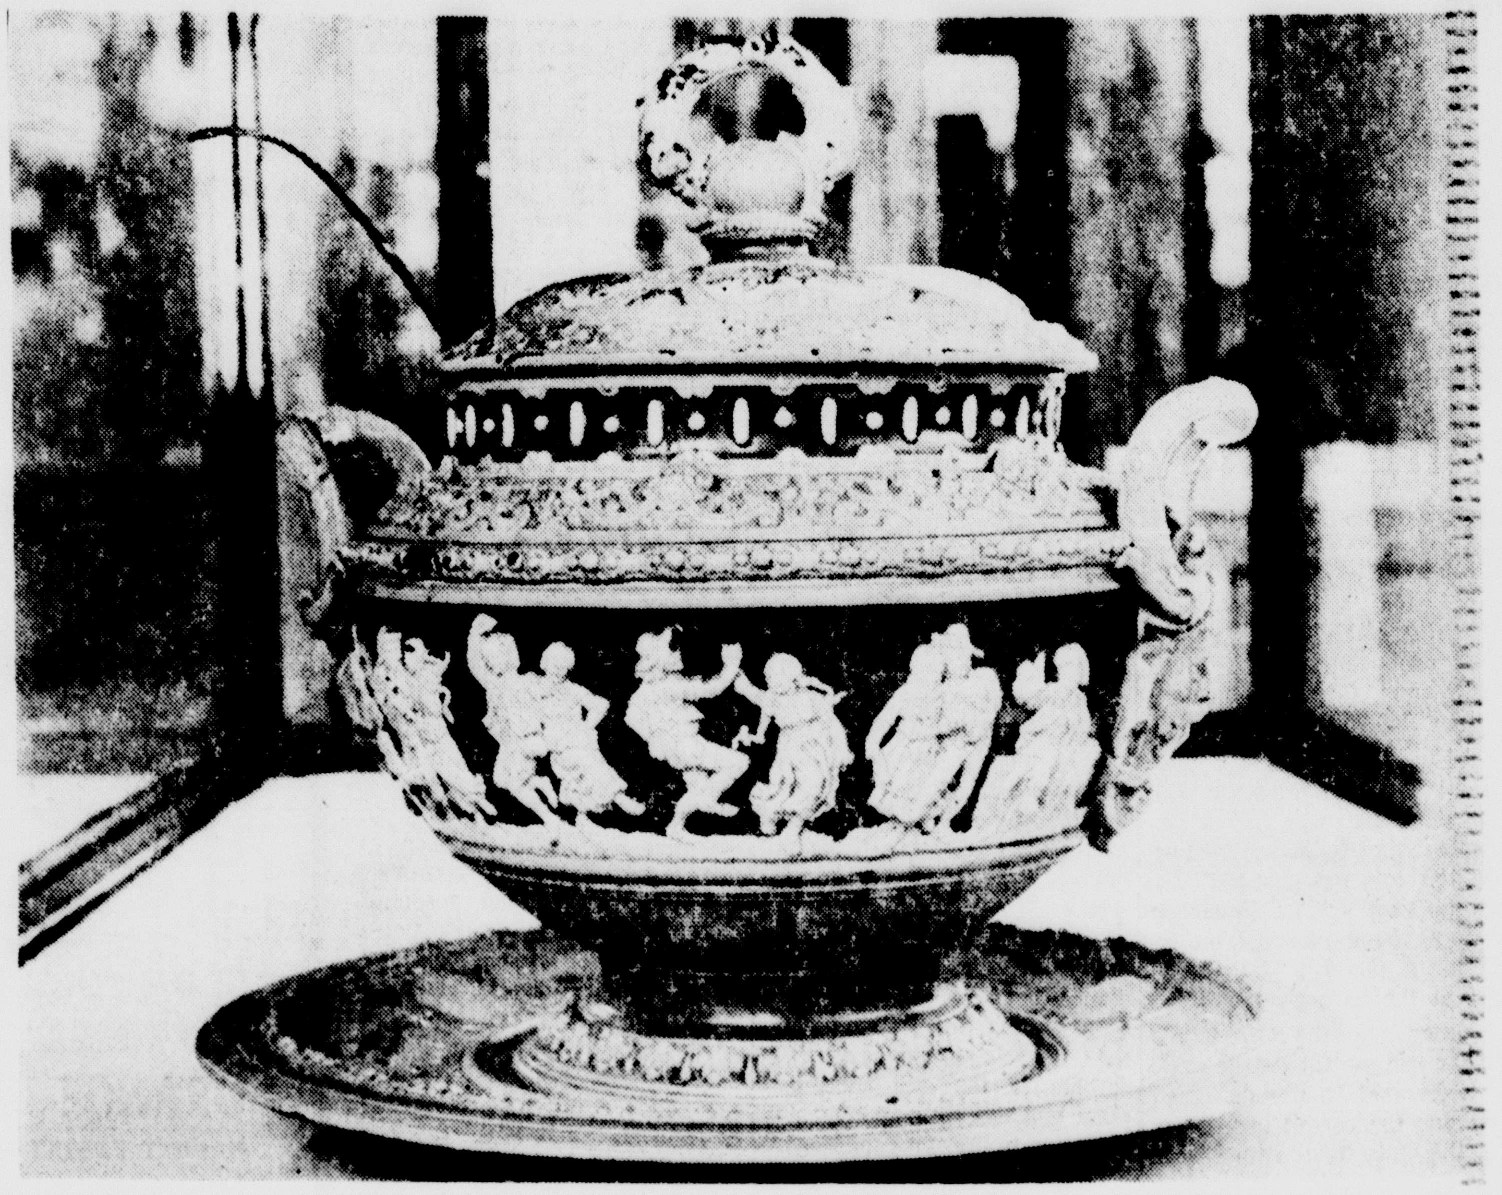
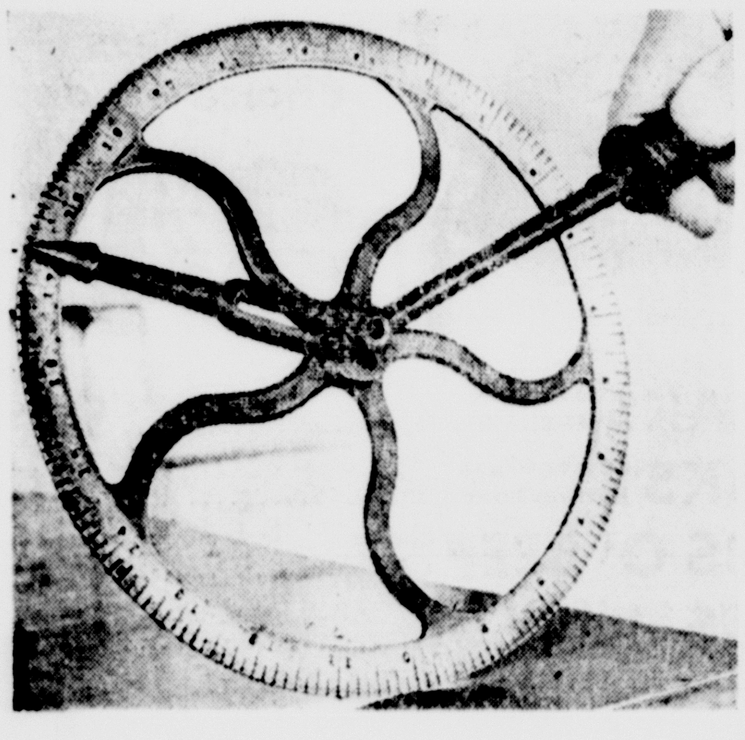
ENTRANCE TO THE PAST—Parker Wood, curator of the Marin Historical Society Museum at Boyd Park in San Rafael, sits in the entranceway of the museum, a former gatehouse of the Boyd estate which has become the depository for many mementoes of Marin County's past. The museum is open to the public on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

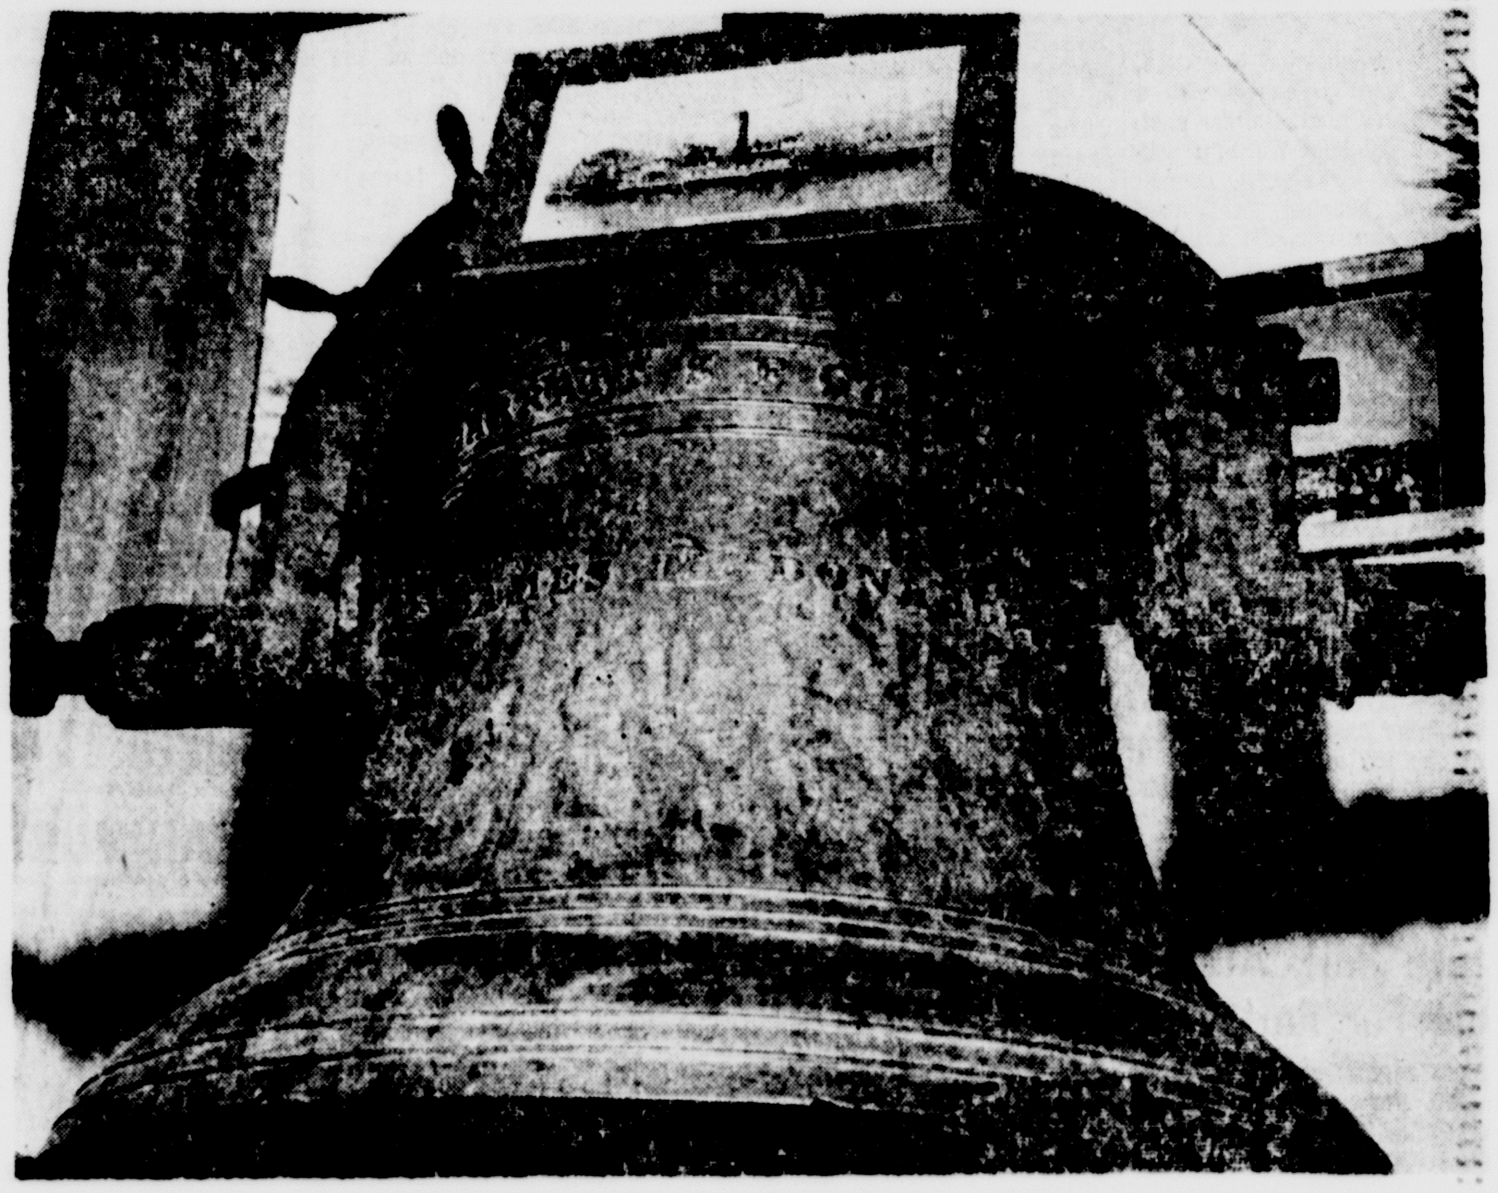


WORLD WAR I MEMENTO—Some doughboy of the A.E.F. brought back this ornate punch bowl from Germany after the first World War. Tamalpais Post 72, Veterans of Foreign Wars, donated it to the Marin Historical Society Museum. The inscription says "Deutsche Wafen Und Munitions, Frabriken, Berlin, 1917."



WHEEL RULER—Among the unusual items in the museum is this circular ruler with pointer. Curator Wood says it was used by blacksmiths to measure wagon wheels.

THIRTEEN STARS—This version of the 13-star flag which flew in the original United States does not date back that far. It was authorized by President William Howard Taft in 1912.



FERRY BOAT BELL — Dear to the hearts of Marinites are the ferries that provided transportation across the Bay and the Golden Gate before the days of bridges. This bell in the museum is from the James M. Donahue, a single-end side-wheel ferry boat that ran between Tiburon and San Francisco. She burned on the mud flats near San Quentin.

BREWERY WHISTLE—Once upon a time, San Rafael had a brewery — Boyen's Brewery at Fourth and F streets. It is memorialized in this whistle, one of the unusual items in the Marin Historical Society Museum.

Negro Youth Slain, White Man Held

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — A Negro college student and civil rights leader was found shot to death today and a white man was taken into custody by police.

Hundreds of Negroes, students from Tuskegee Institute, marched downtown to the spot near a taxicab stand where the slain youth was found.

The youth was identifie as Samuel Younge Jr., 22, a Tuskegee Institute student and field secretary for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Fellow students said Younge took part last week in erection of tents in Lowndes County for Negroes who said they were evicted by white landowners for voter registration work.

A white man from nearby Shorter, Ala., was held by police for questioning. His name was withheld and no charges had been placed against him while an investigation was under way.

The Tuskegee students marched from the nearby campus to the downtown area. They went to the spot where Younge's body was found and then to the town square facing the courthouse for songs and prayer.

Younge's mother is a school teacher in Tuskegee. Friends of the family said his father was a former Veterans Administration employe here and now works for the job corps in North Carolina.

Fellow students said that Younge belonged to the Tuskegee Institute Advancement League, a civil rights group, and had been a leader in unsuccessful attempts to integrate white churches here and the city-owned swimming pool last summer.

The death brought a call from John Lewis, the SNCC national chairman in Atlanta, for President Lyndon B. Johnson to send federal marshals into Macon County (Tuskegee) and 10 other Alabama counties to protect Negroes and civil rights workers.

Tiburon Girl Jailed On Narcotics Charge

Search of a Hilarita Housing apartment in Tiburon described by sheriff's officers as a "party pad" for alleged narcotics users resulted in arrest of a 19-year-old girl.

In addition, four new counts—three of them involving marijuana and narcotics allegations—were filed against a male companion already in county jail for two felony counts of use of stolen credit cards.

The girl, Karen Lee Ames of Apt. C-19 of the housing project, was booked on a felony complaint charging possession of a device for smoking a narcotic, possession of three liquid narcotics, and possession of marijuana.

Her companion, Marc Torvend Ford, 18, of Sausalito, faces those charges on the joint complaint, plus a fourth count charging concealing four stolen credit cards.

Both remained in jail at noon today in lieu of $5,500 bail each. Ford also was held in lieu of $5,500 on two earlier counts of using stolen credit cards.

Sheriff's Inspector Arthur V. Menjou said he and San Rafael and Sausalito police questioned Miss Ames at her apartment last Wednesday.

He said a search of Ford's belongings there revealed a brown saddle bag containing what appeared to be 4.6 grams of marijuana, a few vials with apparent traces of morphine, and other narcotics, and two dozen syringes and hypodermic needles.

All were taken to a state narcotics bureau laboratory in San Francisco for analysis.

Menjou said three allegedly stolen credit cards were also found in the bag.

The apartment is a known gathering place for young adult parties, according to the report.

Yule Ornament Starts Blaze In San Anselmo

Fire, which started with a Christmas ornament, swept quickly through the Richard G. Lucchesi home at 61 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, last evening, gutting a hallway and three rooms and doing damage estimated by Fire Chief Frank Sousa at $17,000.

Mrs. Anna Lucchesi saw the fire break out in the living room at 5:46 p.m. When firemen arrived minutes later, the flames had swept across draperies and a highly flammable wall coating through that room, a hallway, the dining room and a bedroom.

"It was really a fast fire," said fireman William Rawlings.

Chief Sousa attributed the speed of the blaze to the substance with which the walls were painted. "I would like to find out what that was," he said.

The fire started at a light with a rotating, multi-colored plastic covering, which was used to shine on the Christmas tree.

Chief Sousa said the plastic evidently caught fire, and set the nearby draperies ablaze. "Mrs. Lucchesi said that from there, the flames just exploded across the ceiling," he said.

The chief estimated damage to the interior of the building at $10,000, and to the contents at $7,000.

Evening Class Signups Heavy

First session of San Rafael High School District's adult evening school for the spring semester saw 113 persons enrolling in six courses last night.

Of these, 70 enrolled in three classes at Terra Linda High School, while 43 signed up for those at San Rafael High School, according to Jerald L. Gill, director of the program. Most popular single course was painting, which attracted 40 persons at Terra Linda High School.

Three more classes will start tonight at Terra Linda, while one more will start at each school tomorrow and Thursday.

Planning Talks Set On Schools In Mill Valley

Following the closed session, the board agreed to next meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Edna Maguire School. Trustees will devote 30 minutes to business, then will hear a presentation on school planning by Dr. James D. MacConnell, director of the school planning laboratory at Stanford University.

Mrs. Miriam Swett, consultant to the Laguna Salada Elementary School District in Pacifica, will also discuss school planning at a board meeting at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 17, at Edna Maguire School.

Trustees will hold an all-day session Jan. 22 at Park School to study the building program, and a regular business meeting Jan. 24.

Greeks Aid Watts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pledges from about 17 University of Southern California fraternities yesterday left about 500 fraternity members hungry by stealing their evening meals and distributing them to needy persons in the Watts riot area.

More Bidders Rap Hall Of Justice Bids

Three more protests by contractors over the short list of subcontractors on the low bid for the Marin County Civic Center addition reached county officials yesterday.

John R. Kunst, San Rafael painting contractor, wrote that award of the Hall of Justice contract to Haas and Haynie of San Francisco, the low bidder, would "establish a precedent that would justify future abuses of the fair practices act and thereby render it useless."

Donald M. Drake Co., one of five general contractors that bid on the job, said in a letter that Haas and Haynie's bid was "irregular and not responsive" to the call for bids.

W. J. Kubon, san Rafael general contractor, also wrote protesting award to Haas and Haynie because of the "short list" of subcontractors.

Haas and Haynie listed only 11 subcontractors, compared to 21 on the bid of Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick in joint venture with Williams and Burrows, the second lowest bid.

Girl Survives Fall Into Glass Door

An 8-year-old girl was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with cuts over her body after she was accidentally pushed through a glass door while playing with a friend at the friend's house.

Helena Isabel Tamayo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Tamayo, 108 Surry Lane, San Rafael, was treated at Terra Linda Valley Hospital about 5:15 p.m. yesterday and transferred to Marin General, according to San Rafael police.

She had been playing at the home of Dr. R. E. Moeller, at 120 Lane, with the Moellers' daughter when the mishap occurred.

Novato Employs New Recreation Supervisor

Thomas Manasco has been hired as recreation supervisor for the City of Novato, Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, announced last night.

Manasco, 22, a graduate in recreation from Sacramento State College, will start Jan. 22 at $530 per month. He will assist Adams in the city's recreation program.

New Unified Plan Favored

Sausalito School District trustees last night recommended establishment of two unified school districts — a Redwood-Tamalpais and a Tomales-Drake district.

The proposal, presented to the boad by Trustee Bruce E. Woelfel, was approved unanimously by a full board.

Trustees held a lengthy discussion on the possibility of Sausalito and Mill Valley school districts working together on a proposed building study, and agreed to ask Mill Valley for more information.

The Sausalito School District trustees also:

1. Heard that two new buses had been received and put in use yesterday, replacing two old buses.
2. Heard a report from Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato on his methods of obtaining the proper 70-30 income balance in the preschool program.
3. Hired Mrs. Mitzi Erickson of Tiburon as counselor for two days a week at $2,084 for the remainder of the fiscal year.
4. Accepted settlement of $1,500 from Lang Construction Co. for destruction of several eucalyptus trees on Bayside School property.
5. Adopted a policy to permit distribution of advertisements "which have significant educational value," such as flyers to be sent home with pupils.
6. Set for Feb. 21 a closed meeting to review the hiring of employees.

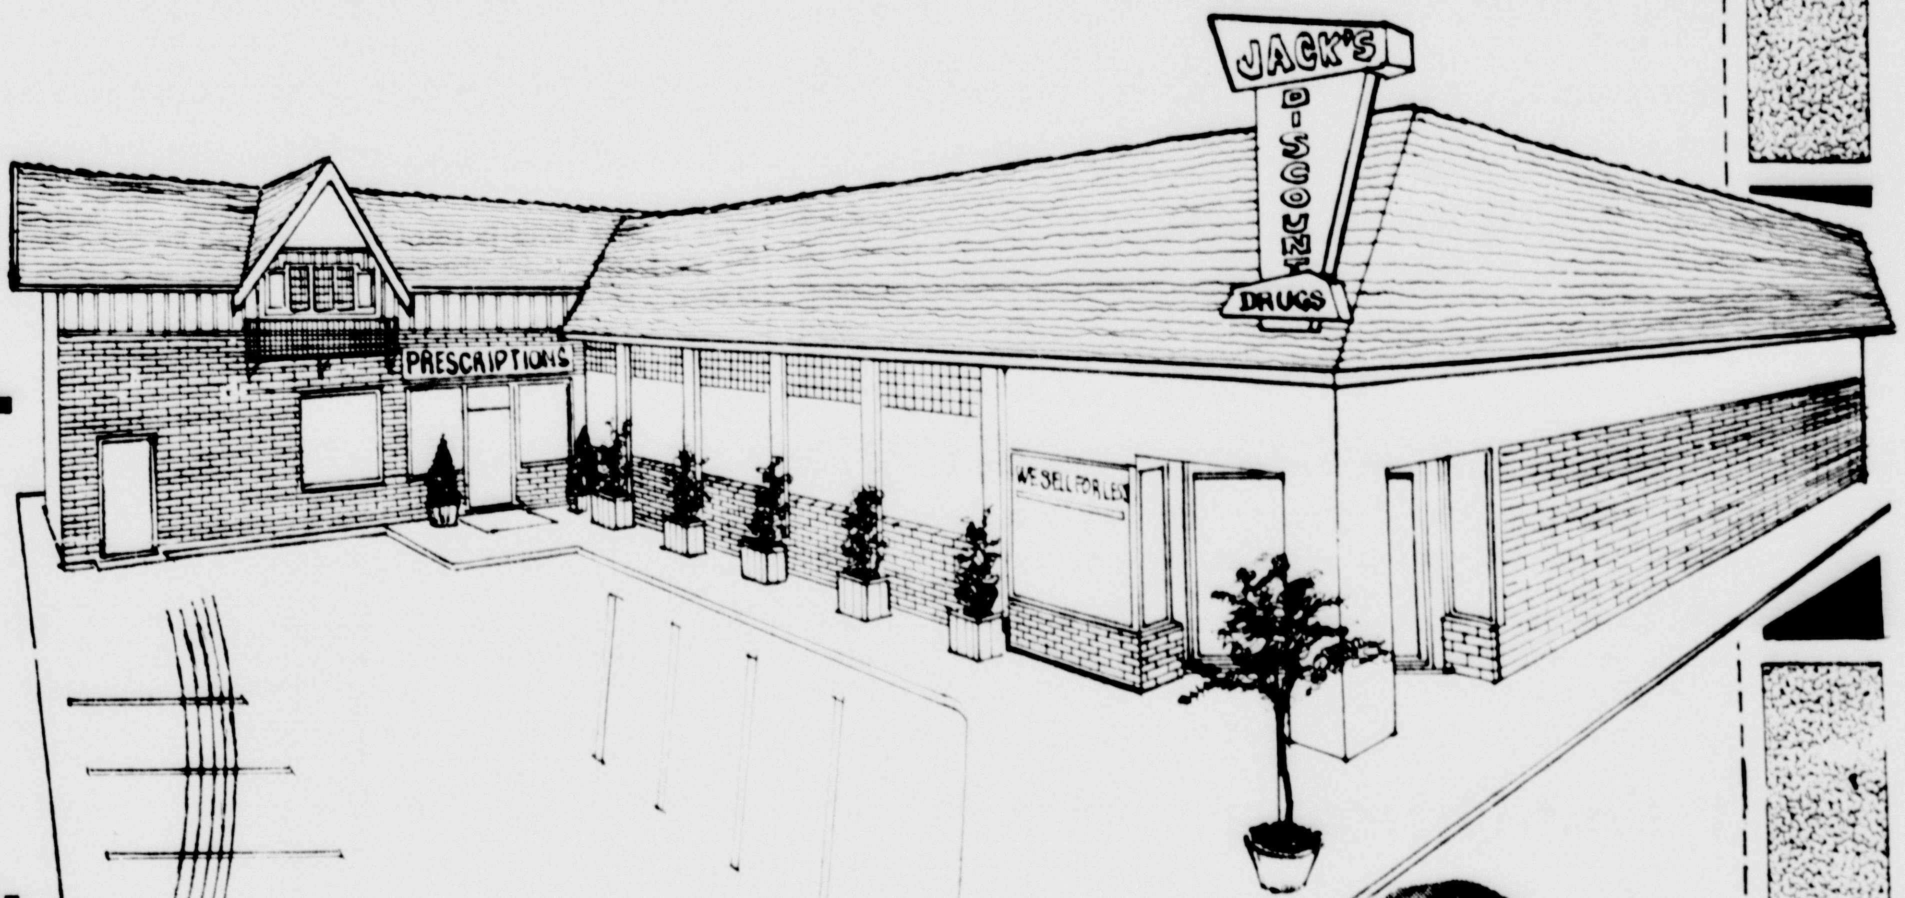
We Resolve--

TO BRING TO THE PEOPLE OF MARIN LOWER PRESCRIPTION PRICES



The high drug costs of today are a serious money problem to many families, especially to those with fixed income and those with chronic illnesses. As a solution to this problem we apply modern methods to the prescription department by selling at low prices, thus producing volume sales. This decreases costs and overhead. The result will be discount prices for you, and we believe a discount prescription service is just what the public wants.

We MEET or BEAT any prescription price We will NOT be Undersold

We can refill any refillable prescription regardless of where it was originally filled.

HERE'S WHY WE CAN DO IT:

1. We have reduced our overhead by closing at 6:00 P.M. every day—a saving which we pass on to you.
2. We own our building and parking lot—there is no rent to pay—a saving which we pass on to you.
3. Ours is a self-service store—serve yourself and save—a saving which we pass on to you.
4. We do a big business—we buy in big volume, thus we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.
5. We buy from a discount-store wholesaler in San Francisco (the only drug store in Marin having this privilege). Again we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.
6. Our employees have all been with us many years—they are happy here and they try harder—thus a saving by efficient operation—a saving which we pass on to you.
7. In many drug stores the profit from the prescription department carries the "front end" of the store—not so at JACK'S. We do a big volume of business in the "front end" of our store—stop in to see our low prices and great variety of merchandise and you will understand why—another saving which we pass on to you.
8. Last but not least, we just plain take a smaller mark-up on merchandise and on prescriptions—a saving which we pass on to you.

If you have had any problems with prescription service or prices elsewhere please be assured that I will consider it a privilege to discuss them with you personally.

Sincerely,

William J. Menne

'Exiled' Post Office Returns To Kentfield

After two years in "exile" in Larkspur, post office facilities returned to Kentfield yesterday with opening of a modern, new post office at 822 College Avenue.

"It's a beautiful building," said Warren H. Williams, San Rafael postmaster, "but the important thing is that the post office is back in Kentfield. That should please a lot of people."

Complaints have been the order of the day since Jan. 20, 1963, when the post office was moved from the Kent Woodlands Shopping Center to 1100 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Many residents, particularly retired people, have had to trudge an extra mile to collect their mail.

"All that is over now," said Williams. "The new office even has the boxes in a lobby separated from the counters."

The building is single-story and has 2,400 square feet of floor space, with public parking for about eight cars in front and parking for government and employees in the rear.

The post office will be leased by the government at $6,600 a year from the owner of the property, Dr. Ethel Righetti of San Francisco. Postal real estate officers have estimated the cost of the building to Dr. Righetti at $35,000.

A 10-year lease on the property has been signed by the Post Office Department, with two five-year renewal options. The contractor was Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross.

Service counters are bank-style. The building will house all facilities, including those for the carriers, Williams said.

A dedication ceremony and open house will be held at the new office at 3 p.m. Saturday, sponsored by Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. Principal speaker will be Roger Kent, who is a member of the postmaster general's stamp advisory committee.

Halprin Firm On Ohio Project

Lawrence Halprin of Kentfield, head of Lawrence Halprin and Associates of San Francisco, will be in charge of planning two major assignments in the redevelopment of Akron, Ohio. Total redevelopment costs exceed $300 million.

Halprin will plan the 404-acre Opportunity Park project and the firm will also be urban designers for the $24 million, 45-acre cascade project in the city's central district.

Winner of the 1964 American Institute of Architects' Gold Medal for distinguished achievement, Halprin is author of the book, "Cities," and a freeway consultant to the U. S. Bureau of Roads.

Drunken Reining?

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Roland Fleming, 24, was fined $110 in traffic court on drunken driving charges after testimony that Fleming, driving a horse and wagon in downtown Baltimore, lost control of the animal and it jumped on the trunk of an automobile.

Candidate Secrecy Policy Is Adopted

The Marin County Board of Education voted unanimously last night to hold in secret the names of candidates to fill vacancies which occur on the board.

When a vacancy occurs between elections, board members, who are elected at large within the county, choose a person to fill out the term until the next election.

The decision never to reveal the names of persons who ask to become candidates was made to prevent any "hard feelings," board chairman James A. Carroll said at the Civic Center board meeting. Without comment from any other of the seven-member board, it was voted to announce only the name of the successful candidate.

Candidates, under this board policy, must submit a letter asking to be considered and setting forth their qualifications. Three board members will interview candidates and the entire board will then decide on a choice in a closed session.

The Marin County Board Of Education Also:

1. Granted life diplomas for teaching to Richard S. Mackey of the San Anselmo School District; Vera Shevchuk, San Rafael Schools; Alfred W. Sparks, San Rafael; Carroll D. Leach, San Rafael; Helen J. Schweiter, San Anselmo; Harold E. Carter, San Rafael.
2. Approved granting high school diplomas to 30 men, and elementary school diplomas to 73 men at aByview Schools, San Quentin Prison.
3. Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Jan. 17 at the Civic Center for study of the budget.
4. Heard from the California Teachers Assn. chapter of the superintendent of schools staff a recommendation of criteria for salary review, to include a cost of living index and length of work year required by the administrative staff, and other points.
5. Agreed to ask County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney if teachers hired directly under the county superintendent of schools could qualify for tenure, which they do not now have. The administrative staff of the office also lacks tenure, having contracts of varying lengths dated to expire six months after close of the current term of Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent.
6. Agreed to a program whereby districts in the county may ask the county schools office to do preliminary screening of teachers seeking jobs.
7. Agreed to aid the Fairfax School District in attempting to get funds through the federal aid to education act, with the county schools office to take 5 per cent of any funds received.
8. Agreed to hiring educational psychologist Dr. Earl Kelley of Eastern Michigan University to speak at a conference in the Mill Valley School District at the end of the month, at a cost of $117 for a half day, the fee to be reimbursed by the Mill Valley district.
9. Agreed to hiring Dr. J. Wesley Crum, member of the Air Force's aerospace education group, for a seminar on aerospace education for teachers Jan. 28 at a cost of $100.
10. Agreed to hiring Mrs. Barbara Linse to conduct an art media workshop for Marin teachers Feb. 5 at a fee of $50.

Sentence Delayed In Girl's Slaying

Sentencing of San Francisco dishwasher Virgilia Restauro, who pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter of a 16-year-old girl whose body was found near Muir Woods, was postponed today to Jan. 17 or 18.

Restauro, 25, faces up to 15 years in prison for the death of Nonita Vicera of Daly City. The death is believed to have occurred in Restauro's car April 18 in San Francisco, after which the body was dumped in Marin.

The sentencing delay was ordered because Judge Norman Elkington of San Francisco Superior Court has been called away from the city for two weeks.

Fire Truck Cost Reported Higher

Larkspur city councilmen, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall, will be told by City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper that the pumper fire truck for which they expected to pay $25,000 now costs $32,000.

Piper said the council was planning to buy the truck over a period of two years and has some money allocated in this year's budget for the purchase.

Councilmen are also scheduled to officially adopt the Larkspur general plan and accept the Larkspur center plan. They are expected to appoint Mrs. Judy Beal of 60 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, to replace Mrs. Isabelle Moore as city clerk.

Frigate Returns

Navy Fire Control Technician Seaman James L. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Carr of 37 Prince Royal Passage, Corte Madera, has returned to San Diego aboard the guided missile frigate Richmond K. Turner, after more than six months with the Seventh Fleet off the coast of Viet Nam.

Hospital Plan May Force Decision From Supervisors

Marlin Properties, Inc., may build a 49-bed convalescent hospital on vacant land next to the Kentfield Firehouse, even though the land is expected to be taken by a pair of street projects, the Marin County Planning Commission decided yesterday, 4-0.

The county public works department has announced plans to take 40 feet from the front of the property for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and to put a street across the rear of the land between Stetson and Maple avenues.

Wesley L. Wilkes of the county planning staff said the building could be redesigned to fit on the land after the boulevard widening, but that the street at the rear would kill the project.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo moved to approve architectural design of the building after she and other commissioners agreed the planners should not hold up the project because the county might, some day, buy the land.

Joining her in the vote were Chairman Felix M. Warburg and Commissioners Eugene R. Trombley and Niels Schultz Jr. Commissioner William F. Upton abstained. Commissioners Harry Heifetz and Hugh Dougherty were absent.

Owner Robert Piatt told the commission he wanted action to force the board of supervisors to decide soon whether the county would, in fact, buy the land.

Collections Set For Mississippi

Marin members of Parents Mississippi Assn. are assisting to collect 10,000 pounds of warm clothing for Mississippi by Jan. 15.

Being accepted also are layettes and bedding, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Williams of Mill Valley, whose daughter, Margaret, is working in Mississippi. Persons interested in contributing clothing, layettes or bedding may telephone either Mrs. Williams of 312 Montford Avenue or Mrs. Richard Durbin, 15 Bridge Road, Larkspur.

Saban's Switcheroo: 'Old College Spirit'

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Lou Saban was back coaching college football at Maryland today even though it pays less than professional because "above all, it has the right spirit of the sport in mind."

"I left the pro ranks with one idea," said the surprising coach under whom the Buffalo Bills won two straight championships in the American Football League.

"I wanted to return to college coaching because I felt there I could contribute much, not from the point of coaching alone, but from the point of living.

"I am a firm believer in a few rules in life. I feel sports develop character and also develops the man.

"The emphasis on winning in the pro ranks is everything. I am sure it is not true on the college level."

Saban's contract for four years provides a starting salary of $22,500 a year and gradually rising to $25,000. He admitted it was less than he was paid at Buffalo, but said "I would rather not mention the amount involved." It was believed to be $30,000.

He mentioned his family life. The 44-year-old Saban and his wife have three daughters and one son.

Saban was an unexpected choice to replace Tom Nugent as Maryland coach.

Taking cognizance of several score of curious students who crowded into the news conference, Saban said he was informed there was a good nucleus of players on campus "and Maryland should be near the top in a short period of time."

GREETINGS—Lou Saban is surrounded by well-wishers after he was named head football coach at Maryland yesterday.

Ex-Cal Bear Star Named Utah Coach

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Mike Giddings, assistant football coach at the University of Southern California, has accepted the head coaching job at the University of Utah. But he won't be arriving right away.

"I'll be there as soon as possible," the 32-year-old Giddings said by telephone from Los Angeles after his appointment yesterday. "But not right away. I'm already doing some recruiting in California for Utah."

Giddings was chosen yesterday after a list of 114 prospects had been narrowed to five finalists. He succeeds Ray Nagel, who resigned last month to take over as head football coach at the University of Iowa.

Giddings received a three-year contract at $16,000 a year — the same as Nagel had been getting.

A native of Los Angeles, Giddings graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1955. He won letters in 1953 and 1954 as guard and tackle under Pappy Waldorf. He enlisted in the Marines and was discharged as a first lieutenant in 1957.

Giddings became lightweight team coach at Monrovia High School in California, moved to the varsity in 1959, had an 11-1 record and captured a league title. Before moving to Southern California, he was head coach at Glendale City College where he posted the school's best ever record of 7-2.

Alabama Crowned National Collegiate Champ

Michigan St. 2nd; Bruins Place 4th

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama's Crimson Tide, overwhelming victor over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, was named the national collegiate football champion for the second straight year today in The Associated Press final poll of the season.

The verdict of a nationwide panel of 57 sports writers and sportscasters made it three titles in five years for Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, and gives 'Bama permanent possession of the big, silver A.P. trophy.

Ironically, when the Tide won last year, the poll was taken at the close of the regular season and 'Bama went on to lose to Texas in the Orange Bowl.

This year the final poll of the season was conducted after the New Year's bowl games — the first time it had been held until after the bowls — because the six top teams were in action New Year's Day.

And it was the unprecedented defeat of three hitherto unbeaten teams in the bowl games that vaulted Alabama to the national title.

Alabama, with an 8-1-1 record, was ranked fourth behind unbeaten Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska going into the New Year's games.

Top-ranked Michigan State was upset by UCLA 14-12 in the Rose Bowl, No. 2 Arkansas' 22-game winning string was halted 14-7 by Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama crushed No. 3 Nebraska 39-28 in the Orange Bowl.

Michigan State slipped to second and Arkansas to third in the final rankings. UCLA moved up from fifth to fourth and Nebraska dropped to fifth.

Following in order were Missouri, 20-18 winner over Florida in the Sugar Bowl, Tennessee, 27-6 winner over Tulsa in the Bluebonnet Bowl, LSU, Notre Dame and Southern California.

Texas Tech Dropped From Top 10

Texas Tech, ranked 10th at the end of the regular season but upset 31-21 by Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl, dropped out of the Top Ten and was replaced by Louisiana State.

Alabama polled 37 of the 57 first-place votes and piled up 537 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc.

Michigan State collected 18 first-place votes and 479 points while Arkansas and UCLA both were named first on one ballot. Arkansas received 413 points, UCLA 391 and Nebraska 358.

Alabama's Orange Bowl victory capped a remarkable comeback for the Crimson Tide, beaten by Georgia 18-17 in the season opener and tied by Tennessee 7-7 in the fifth game.

"Our offense started clicking in the Tennessee game," Bryant said. "When we beat Louisiana State, South Carolina and Auburn as we did, I felt we had a team that could score and beat anybody.

"I think the Nebraska game proved it."

Against Nebraska, 'Bama stormed out to a 24-7 halftime lead and took it from there. The passing combination of Steve Sloan and Ray Perkins was the key, hitting on two long touchdown strikes, setting up two other touchdowns and producing a two-point conversion.

In addition to LSU, South Carolina and Auburn — the last three games on 'Bama's schedule — the Tide also scored regular season victories over Mississippi, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State, Florida State and Tulane, the last two by shutouts.

'Bama Speedy And Well-Balanced

Although not large by present major college standards, Alabama has great team speed and generated an excellent, well-balanced offense. The team averaged 167.4 yards rushing and 147.9 passing during the regular season for a total attack of 325.3 yards a game.

"It's the best offensive team I've ever coached," Bryant said.

Alabama is the first team to win consecutive national titles since Oklahoma accomplished the feat in 1955 and 1956. 'Bama's two straight championships go with the 1961 title to make it three in five years for Bryant, who formerly coached at Texas A&M and Kentucky.

The Rose Bowl defeat by UCLA was a bitter upset for Michigan State, which led in the weekly balloting most of the season. And, strangely, the Spartans were deprived of the national championship by a team they had beaten earlier, 13-3 in the opening game of the season.

Anchored by a massive defensive line that held three teams to negative rushing yardage, Michigan State rolled undefeated through a tough, 10-game schedule and claimed the Big Ten title.

The Spartans' victims were Penn State, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio State, Purdue, Northwestern, Iowa, Indiana and Notre Dame.

The final Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records including bowl games, and total points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc:

1.	Alabama (37)	9-1-1	537
2.	Michigan State (18)	10-1	479
3.	Arkansas (1)	10-1	413
4.	UCLA (1)	8-2-1	391
5.	Nebraska	10-1	358
6.	Missouri	8-2-1	260
7.	Tennessee	8-1-2	214
8.	Louisiana State	8-3	149
9.	Notre Dame	7-2-1	123
10.	So. Calif.	7-2-1	80

The others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Dartmouth, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Ohio State, Purdue, Syracuse, Texas Tech.

Lawrence Welk At Quarterback; Novatan Helped UCLA Victory

I WATCHED so much TV football over the weekend that Saturday night I thought I heard Lawrence Welk say, "Uh-one, uh-two, uh-three, hike."

Which brings me around to a few observations gleamed from the boob tube my little old me, Mr. Glean, to wit, or to half-wit:

Cinderella team of the century—UCLA.

No. 1 team in the nation—Alabama (this was written before final polls).

Best player in the country—Donny Anderson of Texas Tech.

Best marching band—Alabama.

Defensive player of the year—UCLA's Bob Stiles.

Most Nervous Marine—The one on center camera for the Orange Bowl warmup show. It was obvious he'd rather fight than twitch.

Best color TV show—The Orange Bowl.

Most Popular Name of Players—Brown (I counted half a dozen of them, including two Charleys, in the seven TV'd games over the weekend).

And I wonder how many TV repairmen got called for service during the Packer-Brown game Sunday? My screen was full of snow. How about yours?

MARIN CAN claim a small but important contribution to UCLA's mighty Rose Bowl victory in the person of Wayne Russell, former Novato High star attending Bruinsville on a full athletic scholarship.

Russell was redshirted by the Bruins this year, which means although he saw no game action, he practiced daily with the varsity for four long months, spending even his holidays representing the opposition in UCLA practice sessions.

These players never get mentioned in the press, but you can imagine the vital roll they play in preparing a team for the big games and big victories like UCLA scored all last year—and this.

NICEST GESTURE of the holiday season in local sportsdom was turned in by Drake High Class B basketball coach Rich DeConti who spent most of Christmas day traveling by bus from his home in San Francisco to San Anselmo to visit two of his players who are injured and out of action for the season: Stu Clemons, a returning starter who suffered a broken leg in a motorcycle accident, and Curry Miller, who suffered a broken arm in a game.

THE BOSS keeps bugging me to dig, dig, dig for local angles so—B-O-I-N-G!—I hit the jackpot today by reporting that Jack Marin is high scorer for Duke's top-ranked basketball team.

Boston To Honor Boom-Boom Boys

BOSTON (AP) — The greatest home run one-two punch in baseball history will be honored by the Boston chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America at their annual dinner Jan. 27.

Eddie Mathews, who started his lengthy career in Boston, and his Atlanta Braves teammate, Henry Aaron, will be honored for their contributions to baseball as a team.

Mathews and Aaron, playing together since 1954, have hit a total of 803 home runs in a 12-year span.

The better known one-two punch, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, combined for 771 home runs in the 10 years they played together with the New York Yankees.

THE SPOTLIGHT SHINETH ON NO. 1 TEAM

Duke University's starting basketball team is in the spotlight as it was introduced last night before the game with Penn State. The Blue Devils of Duke are also in the national spotlight as No. 1 team in the Associated Press college basketball rankings. Duke stretched its record to 10-1 last night after trouncing Penn State 83-58.

Rookies Fit Packer Mold

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, the All-America backs signed by Green Bay for rich bonuses, will be expected to fit in next season with a bruising ground game unchanged from the style of play that brought the Packers the National Football League crown.

Anderson, the reported $600,000 prize from Texas Tech, and Grabowski, a $250,000 catch from Illinois, "fit the Packer mold," said Coach Vince Lombardi yesterday.

That mold, he added, is not to be tampered with.

"I have to coach and do things according to my personality. I'm not easy to work with. I'm a stubborn kind of man," Lombardi said.

Lombardi prefers ball control and an irresistable rushing attack. He prefers total effort from his players. He prefers — no, demands — victory.

Lombardi got all these Sunday as Green Bay belted Cleveland 23-12 for the NFL title.

"There's a great deal of satisfaction to walk out there and find everything is the way you planned it," Lombardi reflected.

The game plan called for Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, the two men for whom some observers were already pegging Anderson and Grabowski as heirs apparent, to rip through Cleveland's line. They did exactly that for a combined total of 201 yards.

Lombardi was in an affable mood yesterday as he reviewed the game that brought the Packers their third NFL championship in the last five years.

"I never put great credence in turning points," he said, "but I do think there are the big plays. There may have been more big plays in that game than you usually get, and fortunately they were all by us."

He ticked off Paul Hornung's 34-yard run to set up a field goal, Willie Wood's interception that preceded another field goal, the Cleveland field goal attempt that was blocked by Henry Jordan, and Hornung's 20-yard run that set up a Hornung touchdown.

Hornung, Taylor and quarterback Bart Starr all played despite injuries. Lombardi revealed Starr had to wear a special pad to protect his badly bruised ribs.

Anderson has said the attitude of the Packer players was the prime factor in his decision to sign with Green Bay.

Redwood Tourney On Video

Final game of the 1965 Redwood Invitational Baseball Tournament of Champions on May 28 will be televised regionally by KRON-TV, it was announced today by Al Endriss, coach of Redwood and director of the tourney.

Endriss said the San Francisco television station has requested and received exclusive TV rights to the championship game, climaxing a three-day tournament in San Rafael among champions of 10 Northern California high school leagues.

"We haven't worked out details of the TV coverage yet," said Endriss, "but I imagine it will be video-taped for showing at a later date, since Saturday night at 8 o'clock is prime network time."

The Redwood tournament is patterned after the annual Basketball Tournament of Champions in Berkeley and will determine the mythical baseball title for Northern California.

Apprehension In North Cal Collegiate Basketball Ranks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Conference basketball battling starts this week with apprehension visible on several Northern California fronts.

Stanford and California travel into the Northwest for sets with Washington and Washington State amid reports of heavy snowfall in the area.

The University of San Francisco, winner of the West Coast Athletic Conference tournament title, travels to meet Santa Clara on Saturday night in San Jose Civic Auditorium.

USF beat Santa Clara 76-75 in the opening round of the WCAC tournament but in that one the losers had to operate without star guard Eric Paulson who was ill. Four nights earlier against California, Paulson had scored 22 points in Santa Clara's 75-73 victory.

Paulson and the rest of the Broncos aim for revenge on the Dons this time.

The writers honored both Paulson, for his play in the California game, and Joe Ellis of USF, who was voted the top player in the tournament.

Other WCAC openers match St. Mary's against the University of the Pacific at Stockton and UC Santa Barbara against San Jose State at the Spartans' gym, both on Saturday night.

California plays a regionally televised game at Washington State on Saturday afternoon and then meets Washington at Seattle on Monday night. Stanford plays at Washington on Saturday night and then moves on to play Washington State.

Coaches Rene Herrerias of California and Howie Dallmar of Stanford each said the scheduling of the Northern trips this year were an advantage to Southern California and UCLA.

Herrerias pointed out, "We have to prepare for Washington State and Washington, and then have only two days to get ready for USC and UCLA. When the Trojans and Bruins make the trip, they come home to play the same two teams the next week."

Southern California and UCLA invade the Bay Area on Jan. 14-15.

Youth Wins Trophy

Bob Ryan of Greenbrae Lanes was boys' handicap trophy winner at the 11-day sixth annual Junior Endurance Bowling Tournament at L&L Castle Lanes in San Francisco.

Ryan, 16, rolled a total of 1,979 in 10 games, and with his 270-pin handicap, totaled 2,249.

Drake Whips Santa Rosans

Led by backcourt men Bill Ingram and Will Curley, the Drake High School basketballers whipped the Santa Rosa High School Panthers 74-60 yesterday on the Pirates' court.

Ingram had a hot night, making good on 10 of his 14 shots from the floor to take high scoring honors with 20 points. Curley, the most valuable player of the Drake Invitational last month, clicked on 7 baskets and 5 free throws for 19 points. Center Bob Tobin scored 15 points and forward Chet Carlisle added 14.

Duane Johnson topped Santa Rosa's scorers with 14 points.

The Pirates led at half by four points, 37-33, but fired through 24 points in the third quarter to stretch the lead to 61-43. Drake connected on 31 of its 64 shots from the floor for 48 per cent, compared to Santa Rosa's 18 of 53 (34 per cent).

From the free throw line, Drake made 12 of 18 for 67 per cent to the Panthers' 18 of 26, 69 per cent. Led by Tobin's 12 rebounds, the Pirates beat Santa Rosa on the boards 30 to 22.

Santa Rosa	16	17	10	17—60
Drake	21	16	24	13—74

Santa Rosa scorers: Duane Johnson, 5-4-14; Bill Kennish, 4-4-12; Rick Call, 5-1-11; Alan VanVelzen, 3-3-9; Dennis McGill, 3-2-8; Larry Steele, 0-4-4; Herschel Berry, 1-0-2. Totals: 21-18—60.

Drake scorers: Bill Ingram, 10-0-20; Will Curley, 7-5-19; Bob Tobin, 5-5-15; Chet Carlisle, 6-2-14; Jerry Sprout, 3-0-6; Totals: 31-12—74.

Streaking Mariners Host West Valleyans Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team, working on a string of five in a row and winner of seven out of its last eight games, will host West Valley Junior College of Campbell tonight at 8 o'clock in the Kentfield gym.

It will be the Tars' final practice game prior to the start of Golden Valley Conference play next Saturday when the Mariners travel to Marysville to take on the Yuba College 49ers.

The Tars, after losing their first four games, have bounced back to a winning 7-5 win-loss record. They and the Santa Rosa Bear Cubs are favored teams in the GVC.

Starting lineup for Marin tonight will be Bill Brody and Rod Monti at forwards, Fred Arnold at center, and Don Hanson and Lorry Galassi, guards.

Mice Steal Show From The Lions

There were over 100,000 people who came to the Rose Bowl New Year's Day to see UCLA get thrown to the lions. Instead, they saw Michigan State get thrown to the mice.

If you check the neck of Michigan State fullback, Bob Apisa—and if you can find a neck on that torso — you will find the fingerprints of a UCLA tackler named Jim Colletto on it. Another tackler named Bob Stiles got a slight concussion on the play and Michigan State isn't feeling too good either.

Bob Apisa, who came all the way from Samoa to play at Michigan State, will have a lot of explaining to do at the next luau. He sat down abruptly about two yards from the Hall of Fame.

It was a finish right out of a 1929 Richard Arlen movie. All it needed was Toby Wing fainting on the sidelines.

UCLA CRUSHED Michigan State by two whole points. That made them 16 points better than the gamblers made them. I say "crushed" because when you beat the Big 10 in the Rose Bowl, you can be said to crush them if you tie. There are certain things not meant to occur in nature. The sun shows up at the same place every day, the horizon is fixed, the Popes goes to the Catholic church, husbands and wives fight — and the Big 10 wins in the Rose Bowl.

They came here touted as the greatest thing in cleats since the 1940 Chicago Bears but they were like a cat watching the wrong mouse hole all day. UCLA decided early the only thing it could get trying to look them in the eye was a crick in the neck. Michigan State had altitude, latitude — the only thing they didn't have most of the day was the ball. Their quarterback was like a guy who kept trying to make a pair of treys stand up through three raises in a no-limit poker game. He kept throwing the ball when the only receivers still upright were in blue uniforms. He was either color blind or nervous.

THEIR SAFETY man also tried for a 95-yard touchdown run with a punt once. He missed by 95½ yards but he couldn't have made it anyway because he forgot the ball. By the time he located it, there were two UCLA players lying on it.

UCLA, which had never won a Rose Bowl game, was held scoreless by Michigan State, which had never lost one, for all but 3 minutes and 10 seconds of the start of the second quarter. UCLA held Michigan State scoreless for 50 minutes but they were beginning to turn blue from holding their finger in the dike as the shadows lengthened. The clock was the biggest star on the field most of the fourth quarter.

THE GAME was a real mismatch as predicted for three quarters. The only switch was, Michigan State was the miss and UCLA was the match. The canaries were ganging up on the cat, the butterfly kept ripping the net.

Michigan State tried to take the foot out of football by trying to run the ball several times on a fourth down and one situation. Duffy Daugherty who thought his team could make a yard on massed machine guns or a German pill box was still in a state of shock after the game ended. His quarterback could have done better in handcuffs. At least he might have been hampered in giving the ball away. He may get a UCLA letter — the biggest philanthropist to come out of Michigan since Henry Ford.

MICHIGAN STATE didn't lose easily. They had to work hard at it. They would be fun to get in a poker game because they don't hide their cards very well. When they scored their first touchdown to put themselves back in the ball game, they promptly took themselves right out of it again. On a fake extra-point kick, their quarterback couldn't find anybody open except a lady in the second row. So he threw it to her. She couldn't hold onto it either.

THIS MEANT that when Michigan State — one of the best last-quarter teams since Custer's Indians — scored its second touchdown, it not only had to go for a two-point conversion to tie but it all but sat down and diagrammed the play for UCLA's defense. Quarterback Jimmy Raye, one of the few non-South Seas islanders in State's extra-point team (he came to Michigan State from a suburb of East Lansing known as Fayetteville, North Carolina, where they don't even have any United Auto Workers) engaged the officials in a scholarly discussion as to where to place the football. He wanted it near the hash mark on the left hand side of the field rather than between the goal posts.

SINCE IT IS well known that Apisa has trouble running to his left, it was evident UCLA was going to see some more of the Samoan on the right side. When Raye pitched back to him, a gutty little Uclan named Bob Stiles almost beat the ball to him. On top of Apisa he looked like an elephant boy but Colletto had already arranged that if Apisa went in the end zone he would have to do so without his head.

UCLA REALLY won the game on an offensive weapon right out of the Walter Camp era — the on-side kick. This is ploy as dirty as hiding a card in your cuff — and just as dangerous. It's the football version of the sacrifice bunt. You pretend to take a full swing at the ball but you lay it down the foul line. Michigan State, which had started back to block for the kickoff return, didn't think anybody would play that dirty a trick. UCLA scored in 3 minutes. Since no one had scored 14 points on Michigan State all year, they began to play like a guy who suspects he's up against loaded dice.

UNFORTUNATELY, the game was a setback for good guest manners. Duffy Daugherty, one of the few Big 10 coaches who doesn't come to the Rose Bowl like a guy asked to de-haunt a house or get through Indian territory with a pocket knife, has shown that the wages of fun is death. Or at least defeat. The next team that comes out here will be as incognito as a bank robber. They may not even wear numbers on game day.

COACH TOMMY Prothro, whose Oregon State team last year played with the ferocity of soap bubbles, put a bloody-nose football team on the field their year but he watched the clock closer than a secretary with a dinner date. "There are some games that are just long enough," he sighed after the game. And there are some teams that are just good enough. If all the other guy can turn up is deuces, all you need are a couple of treys. It's knowing when to play them that makes the difference. If you have the problem, Gary Beban and Bob Stiles — and the UCLA Bruins — can tell you. They've been winning pots all year with them. And they won the biggest one Saturday.

7,000 Cheer Mighty Upset By Bruins

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Some 7,000 UCLA students, faculty and alumni celebrated the Bruins' Rose Bowl victory over Michigan State with an exuberant parade yesterday which tied up Wilshire Boulevard traffic for 35 minutes.

Students marched from the campus to the intersection of Wilshire and Westwood Boulevard, shouting "We're No. 1. We're No. 1" en route.

The rally started at the main campus quardrangle where about 4,000 heard chancellor Franklin Murphy call the upset "one of the most extraordinary episodes in the history of collegiate football."

During a 45-minute session coach Tommy Prothro, Murphy, and stars Gary Beban and Bob Stiles, among others, addressed the crowd.

"I think we are just about as good a team now as any team in the country," Prothro said. "I just don't know who is the best."

Murphy called the Bruin gridders a "Cinderella team that beat the jolly green giants."

"We can all learn a lot from them," he said.

After reaching Wilshire Boulevard the crowd roared:

"Bruins, Rose Bowl champs," and then disbanded.

MARIN HUNTER DOWNS RUSSIAN GOOSE

Police Lt. Willson Walsh of Mill Valley holds a white snow goose which he shot last Tuesday while duck hunting at the Capital Outing Club near Williams, Colusa County. The goose had an aluminum band on one leg, with Russian writing and the name "Moskwa" (Moscow), indicating the bird had flown from Russia. Walsh said he will advise Russian officials in Washington and the U.S. Fish and Game Commission. Walsh's companions were Julio Dami of Corte Madera and Lewis Figone of El Cerrito.

Van Brocklin Gets New 5-Year Pact

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings have begun their second five-year plan in the National Football League by signing Coach Norm Van Brocklin to a five-year contract with a pay raise.

The only coach the Vikings have had, Van Brocklin took a collection of castoffs and rookies in 1961 and moulded them into a respected member of the NFL's Western Division in five seasons.

The Vikings stumbled through 3-11 and 2-11-1 records in their first two years, but show a .500 average, 20-20-1, over their last three seasons.

Van Brocklin quit for 24 hours in November after it became apparent that the Vikings would not win the Western Division title. They eventually finished with a 7-7 record.

But the Viking owners tore up Van Brocklin's three-year contract, which had a year to run and put him under contract through 1970.

Vikings' President Max Winter said Van Brocklin "received and earned a good bonus and an increase in salary."

The old contract called for an estimated $40,000 annually, and the new one figures to place Van Brocklin's salary at close to $50,000.

Court Dismisses Sauldsberry Case

BOSTON (AP) — The squabble over the signing of veteran Woody Sauldsberry by the Boston Celtics has been officially terminated.

U.S. District Court Judge George C. Sweeney dismissed Sauldsberry's suit against the National Basketball Assn. and all NBA clubs other than Boston yesterday.

Attorneys for Sauldsberry and the NBA agreed on the dismissal "with prejudice," meaning the suit cannot be brought again.

The NBA refused to approve Sauldsberry's contract when Boston signed him as a free agent last month. Sauldsberry then filed suit, charging the NBA with a conspiracy to prevent him from earning a livelihood as a professional player.

At Judge Sweeney's insistence, Sauldsberry was allowed to play pending a hearing on the complaint and NBA President J. Walter Kennedy eventually approved the contract.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Horace Rawlins is the youngest golfer ever to win the U.S. Open title. He was 19 when he captured the championship in 1895.

Top Three Scorers In Redwood Lineup

The top three scorers among the Marin Athletic League basketball players have a very important thing in common. They all play for the same team.

Redwood's prep cage team, after 10 non-league games with some darned good Bay Area opposition, is scoring at a college pace. Redwood, with a 6-4 record so far this season, is averaging 71.6 points per game.

And when you look at individual scoring among the MCAL players, three Giants head the list. First is guard Russ Smith with 203 points and a 20.3 average, and guard Andre Horn, 142 points and 14.2. Horn, with 44 free throws in his total, leads the preps in shooting from the charity stripe.

After the top three places, Novato has fourth and fifth in the individual scoring statistics, Tom Corder with a 14.0 average and John Dolinsek at 13.8.

Former Navy Star Killed In Viet Nam

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Lt. (j.g.) Donald C. MacLaughlin, a former All-America lacrosse player and 1963 recipient of the Naval Academy's highest athletic award, has been killed in action in Viet Nam.

Dr. D.C. MacLaughlin Sr. of suburban Catonsville said yesterday he had been advised by the Navy that his son's body had been spotted on a mountainside near the wreckage of his plane. The 24-year-old flier had been reported missing Sunday.

At the Naval Academy, where he was a 1963 graduate, MacLaughlin was in the top 10 per cent of his class and as a senior was awarded the Naval Academy Athletic Association Sword for excellence in athletics. He was an All-America midfielder in lacrosse and also played college soccer.

In his last letter home, written Christmas Eve, MacLaughlin told his family, "I hope to God that what I am doing now will help to make the new year a peaceful one."

Big Wilt Closing Ground On West In Scoring Race

Dipper Boasts Best Average; Top Rebounder

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, starting on his second 20,000 points in National Basketball Assn. play, is closing ground on current NBA point leader Jerry eWst.

Chamberlain, who went over the 20,000-point career mark in Philadelphia's victory over New York last Sunday, trails Los Angeles' West by 212 points in this season's scoring derby, according to latest league statistics. But the biggest 76er has played in seven fewer games than West and tops the Laker ace in per-game average 33.8-33.2.

West scored 166 points in five games last week for a total of 1,394 in 42 starts. Chamberlain, who hit for 50 points against the Knickerbockers, needs 861 more to break Bob Pettit's lifetime record of 20,880 points. Wilt is in his seventh NBA season. Pettit played in the league for 11 years.

Chamberlain also grabbed 23 rebounds Sunday, bringing his season total to 884 and moving past Nate Thurmond of San Chamberlain is averaging 25.3 retrieves per-game.

Al Attles of the Warriors leads in field goal percentage with a .528 mark and Larry Siegfried of Boston is No. 1 in free throw accuracy at .874.

Guy Rodgers of the Warriors and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson continue to run 1-2 in the playmaking department. Rodgers has a numerical advantage, 456-410, in five more games than Robertson, whose per-game mark of 11.4 is the best figure in the league.

The leading scorers:

Machen To Fight European Champ

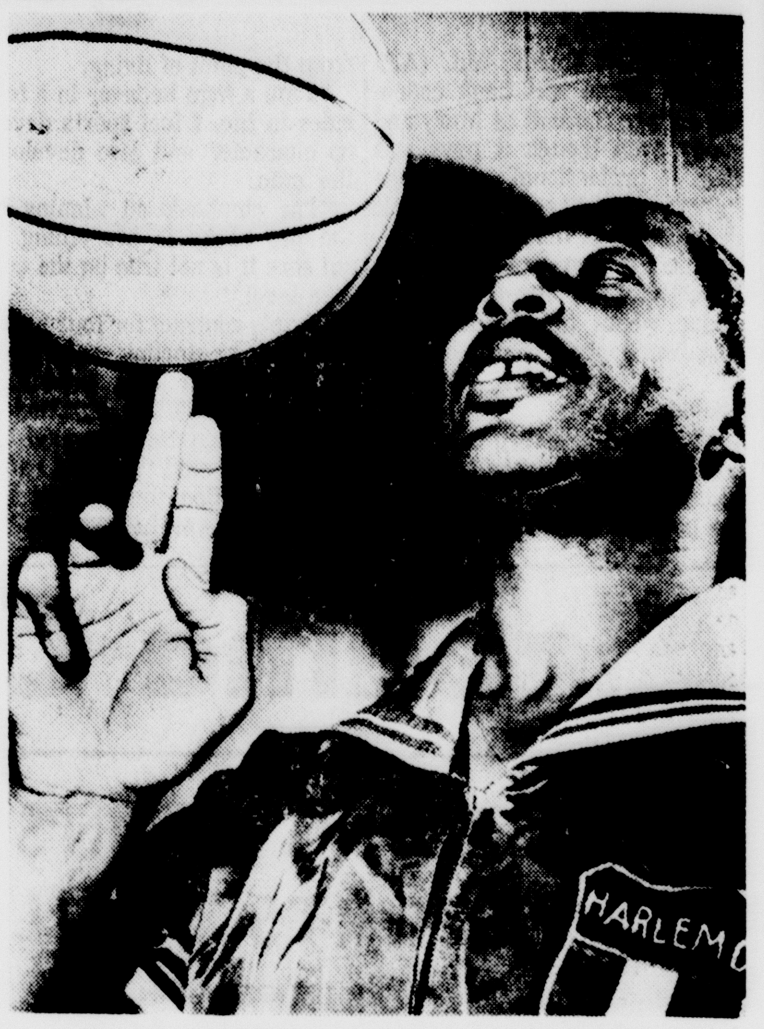
Mildenberger is ranked fifth among the heavyweights by the World Boxing Assn. Machen is not ranked.



CLOWN PRINCE OF BASKETBALL

Chico Burrell, known as the Clown Prince of Basketball, will lead comedy antics of the Harlem Clowns when the team plays against the College of Marin Letterman Club Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Kentfield gym. Proceeds of the exhibition will go to the purchase of traveling jackets for College of Marin athletic teams. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1 for students and children.

Santa Clara Hoopsters Turn Back S. F. Staters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four Northern California basketball teams put an end to the pre-season palaver in non-conference contests last night and teams started preparation for serious debate with conference foes.

Santa Clara of the West Coast Athletic Conference dumped its Far West Conference challenger, San Francisco State 66-61. Fresno State in the California Collegiate Athletic Association bettered another Far West Conference opponent, Hayward State, 97-46.

League games start Friday.

Santa Clara's Eric Paulson hit a 15-foot jump shot with about three minutes left to give the Broncos their decisive lead. Paulson made it 61-59 and the Broncos were ahead for the rest of the way.

San Francisco State's Everett Adams scored 24 points for the losers. Bob Heaney and Mike Gervasoni, each with 14 points, were the high scorers for Santa Clara. Paulson hit 12.

Four Fresno State scorers scored in double figures, led by Lonnie Hughey with 27. Jim Waldron hit 17, Bob Jensen 14, and Randy Thompson 13.

Dave Farcia led the Pioneers with 12 points. Substitutes played much of the second half.

That was quite a football menu over the last weekend. For an appetizer the East-West Shrine game. Soup and fish with the Sugar and Cotton Bowls. The UCLA-Michigan State Rose Bowl game for the piece de resistance. A little "tossed" salad in an Orange Bowl, and then some frozen dessert imported from Wisconsin for the NFL playoff. Burp!

The only game that really decided a national title was the Green Bay win over the Cleveland Browns on Sunday. A healthy Bart Starr made the difference as the Packers controlled the ball on two out of three plays and ended with two out of three points, 23 - 12.

In the college bowl games, the three top rated teams in the country got their lumps as Michigan State, Nebraska and Arkansas blew their undefeated records to teams that simply outplayed them. It was a great day for the underdog and the forgotten man.

OF COURSE the biggest shocker was the UCLA win over State. This one was billed as the mismatch of the century with the poor little Bruins slated for an all time record crushing. Never again will I say that a given team doesn't have a chance against another. I'm cured.

If Coach Tommy Prothro of the Bruins is not voted Coach of the Year honors by his fellow coaches next week, there is just no justice. Remember that these Bruins were new to Prothro this year and were an almost unanimous choice to finish last in the AAUW. Like real life Cinderellas they overcame all obstacles to gain the Rose Bowl berth and then clobbered the highly publicized Prince Charmings with the glass slipper.

AND WHILE we are patting coaches on the back, we'll add another for John Ralston of Stanford for his direction of the West to its upset victory over the highly favored All Americans from the East. Could be that John's smiling face will shine from the Rose Bowl next year or very soon thereafter as he is quietly building a football machine down on the Farm. This year's frosh team was loaded.

ANOTHER COACH deserving his annual pat is Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama. The Orange Bowl champs lost only one game this year, that by one point to Georgia in their season opener. The Bear always manages to come up a winner—in fact, he has the best overall record in the nation. If he were not so well set up at Alabama he would be a top choice to direct the new Atlanta Falcons when they start NFL play next year.

ALL IN ALL it was a great weekend with every game having its share of thrills and suspense. It is too bad the football season, already too long, can't end right here. Instead we move South for the leftover bowls such as the Senior, NFL runner-up, and AFL and NFL all-star games. One of these days we may find the Giants (baseball type) playing a doubleheader with the 49ers at Candlestick Park in April.

Brillliant Cast For Palace Track Meet

A pair of University of Kansas track aces joined the brilliant cast being assembled for next Saturday's Examiner Invitational Track and Field Meet at the Cow Palace.

America's ace miler, Jim Ryun, and two-mile king, John Lawson, accepted invitations to compete in the third annual indoor meet.

The addition of Ryun to a fine mile field which already includes NCAA champion Bob Day of UCLA would indicate that for the first time in San Francisco history the magic four-minute mark for the mile may be broken.

Ryun, a prep phenom, returns to San Francisco where he began his brilliant career in December of 1963 appearing in his first big indoor meet against Gerry Lindgren.

Since then he has chosen the mile run as his specialty while Lindgren stayed with the longer events.

As successful as Lindgren has been, Ryun possibly has shown even greater talent. He has scored blistering times of 3:39 in the 1,500 meters and 1:50.3 for the 880.

His biggest win was scored last year in the AAU championships when the young Kansas runner pulled one of the biggest upsets in track history by beating record holder Peter Snell and Jim Grelle with an American record effort of 3:55.3.

On last year's European tour, Ryun was nothing short of sensational, finishing second to Grelle in the USA-USSR meet, winning the mile in the USA-Poland meet and winning the mile in the USA-German meet where he beat Grelle.

The Ryun-Day duel should be one of the standout events of this year's Invitational. Day, after winning the NCAA mile championship and the mile run in the USTFF meet with a 3:56.8 clocking, passed the AAU meet and a head-on meeting with Ryun due to the AAU-NCAA dispute.

With the sanctioning bodies now at a truce, the two men who could rewrite the mile record in future years will come face to face.

John Lawson, a Kansas U. senior, is a familiar name to California track fans.

He is reigning king of cross country competition owning victories over six-miles in both the NCAA and USTFF championships.

His main competition in the Examiner two-mile run will come from Lindgren, Jeff Fishback and Oregon's Ken Moore.

Brown, also announced to run in the Cow Palace show, was forced to withdraw from the meet late last week due to a leg injury.

Other stars confirmed for this outstanding indoor show include John Pennel, Ralph Boston, Mike Larrabee, Parry O'Brien, Blaine Lindgren, Rex Cawley, Darel Newman and Ted Nelson to name just a few.

First Buc In Fold

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Catcher Jim Pagliarno became the first player to sign his 1966 contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates when he agreed to terms today with the National League baseball club.

The 28-year old Pagliarnoi has been with the Pirates three years and last season batted .268 in 134 games. He hit 17 home runs.

MARIN PREP BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Redwood '5' Is Favored Again

By GLENN BECKER

(Sixth in a series on prospects of Marin Athletic League basketball teams.)

Redwood lost its first Marin Athletic League basketball game last year, and has yet to lose another league contest. After dropping their opener to Drake last year, the Giants won 11 straight to spreadeagle the field and win the title by four games.

The competition this year, particularly from Drake and Novato, should be a lot stiffer, but coach Dick Hart has two returning starters from 1964-65 to fortify his hopes of another championship and Redwood is the first club the other coaches mention as the favorite.

Last year Hart said it would be a really close race, and the Giants had the title wrapped up with three games still on the schedule. This year he is saying it's between Drake and Novato.

"Inexperience will hurt us," said the veteran cage coach, and then preceeded to name Drake, Novato, Marin Catholic, Tamalpais and "darkhorse" San Rafael. As for Redwood, he said, "We'll do the best we can. We're cautious, but hope for a chance to go all the way."

One asset Redwood takes into the race is the greatest scoring punch in league history. In winning six of their first 10 preleague games, the Giants have averaged 71.6 points per game. This is better than many college quintets are averaging in games which are eight minutes longer than the preps play.

Much of the Giant firepower is in the backcourt, where Russ Smith is hitting almost 21 points each game with his jump shots and Andre Horn is setting a 14.2 pace.

They are contrasting types. Smith is a 6-1 senior, a starter last year, whose 20-foot jumpers make him the highest scorer at Redwood since Jay Johnson in 1962. Smith does not drive much and thus draws few fouls, but he puts the ball in the air fast—"quick release," the coaches call it—and is tough to guard.

Smith is shooting with tremendous accuracy for a fellow who takes many of his shots from the perimeter. He had Lincoln's Mustangs shaking their heads as he hit 16 of 25 shots (that's 64 per cent, Clyde) in a 34-point barrage two weeks ago. Overall he is shooting at 51 per cent.

Little Andre Horn, 5-9, nicely complements Smith's skills with his driving ability and speed. Except on fast break, the Giants do not play inside as much as other clubs because they are not too hefty in the forecourt, but Horn is fast enough to lose his man going to the bucket and he draws many fouls in the process.

An All-MCAL "B" performer last year as a sophomore, Horn has made 49 field goals and 44 foul shots so far. His shooting percentage is 45 and his top effort was 26 against Lincoln.

Redwood		Opponent
82	Analy	55
66	Gilroy	43
76	Gridley	64
58	Washington (S.F.)	56
64	Novato	67
77	Balboa	67
78	Washington (S.F.)	83
79	Lincoln	84
80	Santa Rosa	63
66	Ells	68

Despite the 60 points by the guards, the Giants lost to the Links 84-79 in overtime. Redwood split with Washington winning the first game 58-56 and then losing 83-78. Lincoln and Washington are co-favorites to win the San Francisco 'AAA crown and both whipped Drake handily the same weekend they were struggling past Redwood.

The trip to Berkeley for the Tournament of champions in March is the big prize for local cagers, of course, and the Giants would dearly like another shot at it. Redwood has been there twice and twice has been bounced about like the ball they play the game with.

Whoever the MCAL champs are they will carry an extra-heavy burden to the TOC. The tournament officials are considering dropping Marin because the MCAL has done so poorly there.

Often Marin teams are desperately disadvantaged in height against the other champions. Redwood is not as well off as Drake in their front line, but the Giants have a 6-5 Jack Fitzhenry. Fitzhenry is a junior, the other two seniors.

Meyer and Smith were starters last year (the Giants lost all-leaguers center Tom Bly, guard Charley Davis and forward Don Detrich to graduation). Meyer is rather lanky at 185 pounds, but he has averaged 11 rebounds a game. Chuck doesn't handle the ball much, consequently has scored very little.

McGee has scored at a 14.6 clip and Fitzhenry at 9.2. Both rebound fairly well.

The top Giant reserves have been 5-11 guard Dave Strathairn and 6-foot forward Dave Crossley. Hart has three 6-4 boys on the bench and one, junior Allen Fritz, came in to sink a crucial basket in the battle with Lincoln. The others are Duncan Williams, a senior, and Jim Mark, a junior.

The Giants like to fast break and offer an exciting ball club. They were able to withstand a pressing defense by Washington, which took a 29-19 lead in their first game but saw McGee win it with a jump shot in the last seven seconds.

Two of the top battles of the season should occur Friday and Feb. 4, when the Giants play Drake. The backcourt duel among Smith and Horn and Drake's Will Curley and Bill Ingram should be interesting.

Redwood's league schedule:

Jan. 7	At Drake
Jan. 11	Terra Linda
Jan. 14	At Novato
Jan. 18	San Rafael
Jan. 21	At Tamalpais
Jan. 25	Marin Catholic
Feb. 4	Drake
Feb. 8	At Terra Linda
Feb. 11	Novato
Feb. 15	At San Rafael
Feb. 18	Tamalpais
Feb. 21	At Marin Catholic

NEW ADDITION TO PLYMOUTH LINE

This two-door hardtop is the second luxury V.I.P model brought to the 1966 Plymouth-Belvedere collection. The car shares features of the previously introduced four-door hardtop and is available in 17 standard colors. It will be seen in Marin this month at Douglas Dicker Chrysler-Plymouth, San Rafael; Empire Plymouth, Novato and Marin Chrysler-Plymouth, Mill Valley.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Holiday Magic Cosmetics Adds Three Executives To Its Staff

A newly formed corporation, San Francisco Placement Agency, Inc., is headed by three Marinites — James T. Rubey, president, and Jane L. Rubey, secretary-treasurer—both of Mill Valley, and Raye A. Murray, vice president, of Novato. It succeeds San Francisco Placement Bureau Agency, a proprietorship in operation for 21 years and engaged in executive middle management, staff, technical and office placement.

FRED MAYER of Sausalito Pharmacy and his associates Joseph Rotenberg of Greenbrae and Oakland attorney C. E. Fletcher have formed a new corporation, Mayer Laboratories, Inc., for their "Reprieve" hangover pills which are now being marketed in the Bay Area, Oregon, Washington and Alaska. They are now entering the Southern California market.

VERNON A. LIBBY of Fairfax, executive vice president of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, has taken a stand against "laws designed unfairly to penalize or restrict door-to-door selling," and he declares that such laws are invariably repealed or fall into disuse.

Said Libby, "Direct selling is one of our three principal forms of merchandising, along with retail stores and mail order houses. It fills a vacuum which might otherwise exist in the distributive process, and contributes significantly to our democratic economy." He further described door-to-door selling as a creative and educational force in the country's economy, building markets for local retailers and introducing new products to consumers.

Libby's statements were based upon a bulletin just issued by the National Better Business Bureau entitled "The Right of Free Men to Engage in Legitimate Business." The national bureau believes legislation which restricts direct selling "violates the spirit of fair play."

A SHIFT in top-level management at Holiday Magic Cosmetics, San Rafael has changed assignments for three executives and added three others to the staff.

Board chairman William P. Patrick, who is a candidate for governor of California, has taken on the additional duties of president, replacing Robert Depew in this office. Depew has been named director of the Mexico operation.

Pape

Fred Pape of San Rafael has been appointed executive vice president. He joined Holiday more than a year ago as a distributor. In the past he has been engaged in several Marin activities as owner of a car wash, beauty salon and stereo equipment store. To assist Pape, the company has hired Sherman Coultas, a young attorney and former government agent in San Francisco.

John Hart, formerly executive vice president of the Los Angeles public relations firm Pete Summers, Inc., has been made vice chairman of the board. Former regional supervisor Richard Michael has been promoted to vice president of Holiday Magic Canada.

SUNSET INTERNATIONAL PETROLEUM CORP. has received an award from the Tile Council of America for the quality of its homes in San Marin. Among features praised are fireplaces, built-ins and luminous ceilings.

FRANK A. TALLARIDA of San Rafael has become an associate in the Wachsman-Nixon Co., Marin agency for State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America. Originally from Rochester, N.Y., Tallarida recently completed the graduate requirements of the Life Insurance Marketing Institute.

Brown Predicts Boom In New State Jobs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today California's economy will generate 230,000 new jobs in 1966, the highest total in seven years and a 23.7 per cent jump over last year.

The governor said he expects the state's unemployment rate to hit a seven-year low this year.

Listings Up 38 Pct. In Marin During '65

Marin County listed 38.1 per cent more businesses in 1965 than in 1955, according to a report just released by Dun and Bradstreet.

There were 2,043 business listings in the county last year—a gain of 564 listing from 1955, the report said.

Novato showed the greatest percentage increase over the 10-year period—from 124 to 235 listings, a gain of 89.5 per cent. Corte Madera, with a jump from 50 to 81 listings, made second place at 62 per cent.

San Rafael showed the greatest gain in total listings—from 564 in 1955 to 843 in 1965, an increase of 49.5 per cent. Sausalito in fourth place went up 45.7 per cent from 118 listings in 1955 to 172 last year.

Point Reyes Station showed a 20 per cent loss over the decade—down from 20 listings to 16. San Anselmo had a 1.2 per cent drop from 167 to 165 listings.

An increase of 31.9 per cent was shown by Larkspur—from 47 to 62 listings; Kentfield gained 20 per cent with its 42 listings—up from 35 in 1955. Modest gains were shown in Mill Valley (6.7 per cent) with 221 listings, up from 207, and in Fairfax (5.6 per cent), 71 to 75 listings.

Marin County placed second in the nine-county Bay Area in percentage gain, topped by Santa Clara County's 48.7 per cent increase. The area as a whole had a 3.2 per cent increase. The 47 counties of Northern California showed a total gain of 6 per cent for the 10-year period.

Chrysler Sets Production High

Production of 143,452 Dodge trucks in the 1965 calendar year set a peacetime truck production record, exceeding 1964 production of 135,630.

December car production of 146,400 raised fourth quarter car output to 443,241, the highest for any quarter in the company's history. The previous high quarter was recorded in the October-December period of 1964 when 417,316 cars were built. The December total was also a record for the month, exceeding the December 1964 total of 144,991.

Job Changes

SAN FRANCISCO — F. A. Nordstrom has been appointed general manager of the Pabco Industrial Products Division of Fibreboard Paper Products Corp., succeeding D. M. Nelson who has been appointed general manager of Fibreboard's southern California packaging division.

SAN FRANCISCO — Donald M. Nelson has been named general manager of he southern California packaging division of Fibreboard Paper Products Corp. He succeeds Jack F. Holmes, who has resigned.

Oakland Planning Big New Hanger

OAKLAND—First steps have been taken to construct a super four-day aircraft hangar and maintenance complex at the Metropolitan Oakland International Airport to accommodate the largest jet aircraft now being built.

The Oakland Board of Port Commissioners, acting at the request of Edward J. Daly, president of Wold Airways, Inc., of Oakland, agreed to join with World in retaining Charles Luckman Assoc., architect-engineer firm of Los Angeles, to prepare outline specifications and preliminary cost estimates of the multi-million dollar project.

The new facility will be designed to handle the Lockheed C5-A, currently under construction for the military, and comparable giant size aircraft. Fifty-eight C5-A's, which will be the World's largest jet aircraft, will be delivered by 1972.

Crocker-Citizens Profits Increase

SAN FRANCISCO — Operations of Crocker-Citizens National Bank and its subsidiaries during 1965 resulted in net operating income after taxes equivalent to $2.52 per share, compared with 1964 results of $2.48 per share, it was announced today by Emmett G. Solomon, president of the bank.

The bank and its subsidiaries also recorded all time high figures at the end of 1965 for deposits, loans, total assets and capital accounts.

Net operating income after taxes for Crocker-Citizens and its subsidiaries amounted to $23,694,251 for 1965, compared with a consolidated figure for 1964 of $23,325,310.

Kennan Is Named Fellow At Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard University has announced the appointment of George F. Kennan, diplomat and historian, as a university fellow in history and Slavic civilizations.

President Nathan M. Pusey said Kennan will be able to participate in seminars and give occasional lectures at Harvard while continuing his professorship at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N.J. Kennan has served as U.S. ambassador in Moscow and Belgrade.

Police Radar Bags Alleged Speeders

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State police, using portable radar sets, arrested more than 101,279 alleged speeders in the first 10 months of 1965, the agency says.

A spokesman says the total was a 36.1 per cent increase over the same period for 1964, when 74,401 motorists were stopped through the use of radar.

Negro County Chief Takes Over Office

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The first Negro to head a county government in New Jersey has been sworn in as director of the Essex County Board of Freeholders.

Charles Matthews, a Democrat, is an insurance executive who was born on an Alabama farm.

Kentucky Industrial Growth Rate Rises

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's industrial growth almost doubled during 1965, while the state's unemployment rate dipped to an all-time low, says Gov. Edward T. Breathitt.

The governor, in a year-end economic report, said that companies invested $208 million in plants during the year — nearly $91 million more than the total of 1964. Breathitt said there were 206 announcements of major plant construction in 1965 and said it will mean the creation of 13,900 new jobs in Kentucky.

Maine To Have Nuclear Power Plant

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A corporation has been formed to build a $100-million atomic power electric plant capable of producing 700,000 kilowatts.

William H. Dunham, president of the Central Maine Power Co., says construction will begin late in 1967 with completion by early 1972 at a location to be announced.

Keel Laid For New Cargo Ship

PASCAGOULA, Miss. — The Ingalls Shipbuilding Division of Litton Industries, the nation's leader in the building of automated cargo vessels, started construction here today of the first of five advanced automated cargo liners for American President Lines of San Francisco.

Construction officially began when Ingalls workers placed the keel for the vessel which will be named S.S. President Van Buren. Representatives of American President Lines, Ingalls and the U.S. Maritime Commission were on hand for the keel laying which marked the beginning of a $68 million contract between Ingalls and A P L.

Under the contract Ingalls will build five Seamaster class C-4 cargo liners. The vessels will contain the latest mechanical and automated equipment some of which has never before been used in marine application.

In addition to the automation, increased capacity and flexibility of cargo handling and stowage will be featured in each of the ships.

Stocks Close Higher After Brisk Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—Late Profit taking trimmed some gains as the stock market closed higher today. Trading was active.

Averages drove toward new highs as coppers, steels, rails, aerospace defense issues, utilities and selected stocks advanced.

Trading was brisk despite the New York City transit strike, now in its second business day.

Prices of some steels were trimmed after Colorado Fuel & Iron rescinded its price increase for structural steel.

Coppers rallied for the second day. Aerospace defense issues were bought as hostilities continued in Viet Nam.

Merger-oriented rail stocks made sharp gains.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.5 million shares compared with 5.95 million yesterday.

Coppers, steels, aerospace defense, rails, utilities and selected stocks joined in the rise.

Crucible Steel, up 1, was leading the list on volume. Wheeling Steel rose about 2½. U.S. Steel was up about a point. Fractional gains were made by Republic Steel, Inland, Jones & Laughlin and Lukens Steel.

Coppers rallied on the increase in world copper prices. Anaconda gained 1. Magma about 1½. Copper Range well over 2 and Inspiration a point or better.

Among defense issues, United Aircraft, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft rose a point or more.

Chrysler advanced more than a point. Ford and General Motors were fractional gainers.

Up about 2 were Eastman Kodak, Pennsylvania Railroad, Soo Line and Texas Instruments.

Up a point or more were Texas Gulf Sulphur, Hercules Powder, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Telephone, International Telephone, General Electric, IBM, Polaroid and Xerox.

New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio gained 3 or better.

Down a point or so were Union Carbide, Eastern Air Lines, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Zenith and Control Data.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

Central Valley Bank's Profits Rise Over 1964

OAKLAND — Central Valley National Bank reported 1965 record high net operating earnings of $895,421 or $2.05 a share compared to $861,948 or $1.98 cents a share for 1964.

The board of directors declared an extra dividend of 5 cents a share payable to shareholders of record as of Jan. 7. This is in addition to the regular 30 cent per share quarterly dividend previously voted.

Michael G. Rafton, chairman of the board, and President William A. Huggins, pointed out that second half profits for 1965 amounted to $1.23 a share or 50 per cent higher than the 82 cent figure for the first six months of the year.

Total resources stood at $189,273,636 and deposits at $161,179,630.

Loans and discounts increased from $105,454,614 at year's end 1964, to $109,550,658. Total resources and deposits also showed gains over the preceding year.

When the Danes conquered England in the 7th century, they forbade the English to drink except when in the company of Danish people.

Public Opinion Changing On Narcotics Sentences

Public awareness of, and alarm over, the increasing use of marijuana and other narcotics are reflected in the report of the 1965 Marin County Grand Jury.

The grand jurors called on the judiciary to hand down stiffer penalties for narcotics possessors and users.

In a sense, the report can be described as a "slap" at the courts. But we feel that it reflects rather the sense of urgency which the public feels in the face of this growing menace.

We need not be overly critical of our judges. Over the years, they have been invoking the same type of penalties, including probation, for narcotics offenses, particularly for first offenders.

As the incidence of narcotics offenses rises, public clamor for stricter control intensifies. Particularly because the use of narcotics is spreading to our younger citizens and students, public alarm has reached the point where past penalties no longer seem sufficient.

Whereas the severity of punishment may have remained unchanged over the years, the public's attitude toward the penalties has changed.

What once appeared to be sufficient penalty to an apathetic public now seems "soft" and "weak-kneed" to an aroused citizenry.

The Marin County Grand Jury's recommendations serve notice on the courts that the PUBLIC wants stronger action.

And as long as the county's courts attempt to represent the conscience of the community, the courts, we feel, would be justified in shifting to a "harder" approach in dealing with narcotics violators.

One line of attack is stronger legislation.

But even within the framework of existing laws in the state penal code, health and safety code and the business and professions code, judges have wide discretion in sentencing. Penalty for felony possession or sale of narcotics can range anywhere from probation to incarceration in the county jail or in state prison.

It is our hope that the courts, in deference to the concern expressed by the public, will see fit to stiffen the penalties, especially for repeat offenders.

We believe the grand jury speaks for the large majority when it points out:

"Without judicial recognition of the necessity for meaningful deterrents, all other efforts to dispel the attitude common to many Marin County teen-agers, that criminal matters relating to marijuana are trivial offenses, will be of little or no value."

As we have said before, even "mild" narcotics are dangerous, in that the users almost invariably graduate into "harder" drugs like heroin.

Judicial notice of this danger, in the form of stiff jail terms and even prison sentences in aggravated cases, should go far in dispelling the misguided notion that narcotics offenses are trivial.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

"DEAD MAN" SPEAKS UP

A policeman got the surprise of his life when he brought a 40-year-old man into a hospital after he had collapsed on a street in Rochester, Minn.

"I think he's dead," he told the nurse.

"No, I'm not!" said the supposed corpse. "Don't bury me."

The danger of being buried while still alive is rather remote for most people. Yet it is quite possible for a person to live his life as though he were practically dead.

The longest life is at best comparatively short. Make the most of it, by living it to the fullest.

Discover the talents and abilities that God has entrusted to you, be they few or many. Then apply them in a manner that honors Him, is a credit to you and benefits your fellow men.

Life takes on fresh meaning and purpose if you keep trying to give of yourself wholeheartedly rather than halfheartedly. And you will be better prepared to meet your Maker, no matter when death comes.

"I came that they may have life, and have it more abundantly." (John 10:10)

Let me so live, O Lord, that I will always be prepared to die.

State-Financed Roadway Map Almost Ready For Distribution

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The State of California, through its Division of Highways, is engaging in a new activity: Distribution of highway maps of California.

This may appear to be a needless expenditure of state highway funds to many people but, actually, there is more justification for issuance of the highway map than for many another item the state disburses.

The new map, hot off the press and ready for distribution about the middle of January, is a real tribute to the art of printing. It is a multi-colored job with perfect justification and is easily readable.

Although patently more or less a piece of campaign literature for Gov. Edmund G. Brown, whose color picture and message appears on the back of the map above the state flag, the state flower, the state tree and the state bird, the map is bound otherwise to serve some useful purpose.

ASKED WHY the state went into the map business when California road maps are available at virtually every service station in the state, highway officials said the renumbering of highway routes had a lot to do with the decision to print approximately two million maps.

COST OF THE publication is minimal. The original appropriation was $100,000, and not all that has been used up, highway officials say. This brings the cost of the map to under five cents apiece, far cheaper for a better and more authentic map than can be purchased elsewhere.

This isn't to say the oil companies of California have done a bad job with their highway maps. Without these highway maps obtainable at service stations, many a lost driver would be wandering over state highways. But it is difficult for the oil companies to keep up to date with the changes in highway routes.

THE DIVISION of Highways will distribute the publication through the Department of Agriculture, at highway entry points into California, and at selected chambers of commerce throughout the state.

In addition, the public may secure a copy of the map by writing the Information Office, California Division of Highways, Box 1499, Sacramento, Calif. 95807.

Creche Held Unconstitutional

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The news that the statue of the little Lord Jesus was stolen from the San Anselmo creche last week must have been shocking to some people, but it was amusing to me. It would seem that the very existence of such a creche in a public place is virtually an invitation to pranksters.

This creche could hardly be considered an aesthetic addition to the civic scene. Moreover, it is considered to be a violation of the U.S. Constitution, i.e., public property may not be used to promote the beliefs of any particular sect or religious organization.

All in all, it would seem best to discontinue having a creche displayed on the grounds of the San Anselmo City Hall. And, to quote Gilbert and Sullivan, "It never would be missed."

Streamlined Railway Backed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of Dec. 28 concerning the planned reconstruction of a Mount Tamalpais railroad very significantly contains the word "nostalgia." I cannot help noticing that you don't seem to develop great enthusiasm for this new idea and, frankly, I don't blame you.

Miles and miles of railroad tracks winding up the mountain would anything but improve the beauty of the natural scenery. Besides, you apparently forgot to mention it, the fire department let it be known that in the event of such a railroad a new fire road would have to be cut into the side of the mountain.

Now, the basic idea of furnishing the public an interesting way of transportation to the top of Mount Tamalpais and the well planned construction of an attractive restaurant there definitely deserves consideration.

But why not avail ourselves of up-to-date methods of transportation? Why not, for instance, a modern, smooth, streamlined electric funicular railway straight up the mountain from the Mountain Home restaurant, if such an idea were feasible from a technical standpoint, of course.

Wouldn't this attract more curious sightseers than the nostalgic picture of the "crookedest" steam railroad complete with whistle, soot, rattle and clatter?

Old things, ideas and yearnings usually wear out sooner or later and, as a comforting thought, nostalgia does, too.

Restaurant Fine Railroad Is Not

Editor, Independent-Journal:

At a first glance the rebuilding of the Mount Tam. railroad seems like a fun idea to a lot of people. But do they ever consider the other side of the picture.

In your editorial you mentioned that not a single cut in the mountain will be required. It seems, however, that the fire department will require new fireroads. What about the fire hazard. Wasn't the big fire in '29 attributed to a spark of the train. What will be left of the hiking and riding trails? And above all can you imagine the mess of beer cans and trash along the railroad bed?

The proposed restaurant at the top is a wonderful idea. But isn't one way for a mechanized vehicle enough? Can't they leave the rest of the mountain to the less feeble people who get satisfaction out of hiking up in peace and quiet in this unique area so close to the big city?

Nothing is better to get rid of tensions and worries than working up a sweat on a good climb to the top of Mount Tam. It saves a visit to the psychiatrist and that money could be spent on a beer at that nice restaurant. But leave the mountain alone, please!

What's Source Of Patriots

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am moved to wonder where letter-writer Albert F. Kerss encounters these "flag-waving, self-styled patriots," about whom he is "getting a little tired and annoyed." All I encounter is beatnik-pickets, paraders and hangers-on devoted to the theme that patriotism is an epithet and flag-waving an obscene act.

I would agree with Mr. Kerss that certain American people are oblivious to a number of things—to the fact that the Communists have by now murdered more than 10-fold the capacity of all Hitler's gas-ovens and are still going strong; to the fact that a million people have at great cost and effort fled the Communist in Viet Nam; to the fact that it is no more terrible to respond to the pleas for help of the free citizens of Viet Nam than it was to do so in Europe, where the roads to Dachau and Auschwitz were long and bloody, and many an innocent person died as we fought our way along those roads. As a veteran of that war, I could reasonably ask, should we then never have started down those roads at all? I cannot conceive of any answer except the one we accepted and followed.

Why, then, are the pleas of the victims of the Red Hitlers of these days to be ignored? They face an enemy who has already dwarfed the original Hitler in inhumanity and bestiality—and one who is already thousands of miles closer to that greatest of all objectives: rich, productive, golden America.

Indeed, I would like to know Mr. Kerss' source of patriots and flag-wavers. It would be encouraging to walk, for a change, down such a street.

RICK FRIEDMAN, in his newly published "U.N. The Russian representative was on his feet in no time flat, announcing happily, "The delegation from the U.S.S.R. will not abstain."

WHEN THE daffy Dodgers were bivouacked at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, they had on their roster one outfielder who sported a flowing beard and mustache till heartless manager Casey Stengel (then a kid of 55 or so) made him shave them off. The outfielder's name was Bordagary, nicknamed Frenchy, and his work in the outfield often left something to be desired. One day the Dodgers were nursing a 2 to 1 lead with only the ninth inning to go. The Dodger pitcher retired the first two opposing hitters, then induced the third to lift an easy fly to Bordagary's territory. Frenchy muffed it—a horrendous three-base error. Then the next hitter lined one over Frenchy's head—but after a desperate run, he caught the ball in his gloved hand, and held on to it when he crashed into the fence. The crowd gave him a great hand as he headed for the clubhouse. Frenchy explained, "That muff fooled 'em. I gave 'em the old decoy—and they fell for it." For once, even Stengel was speechless.

Congressional Reorganization Committee Readying Report

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
(James Marlow is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—A joint committee is expected to come up soon with a host of recommendations for modernizing Congress.

But if any proposals involve significant changes in the operation or structure of Congress, they aren't likely to get anywhere.

The 12-member committee of six senators and six representatives was created by Congress last March and was given $150,000 to finance its studies and hearings. It has held numerous public hearings and is due to go out of business on Jan. 31.

Many of the recommendations made to the committee by congressional students both inside and outside of Congress would require changes which the practical politicians don't seem ready to accept.

ONE OF THE dominant proposals has been to abolish the seniority system of advancement in the Senate and the House. Under the present system, a member can aspire to becoming a committee chairman or at least chairman of a major subcommittee simply by getting re-elected often enough.

Much of the clamor for a change — to rotate chairmanships or provide for election of chairmen in party caucuses—has come from members fairly well down on the seniority list. Most senior members want no change that might keep them from getting to the top or might curb their tenure once they got them. It's these older and well-established members who usually call the shots in Congress.

REPUBLICANS, as well as non-partisan students, have advocated stronger staffing for minority members of committees. If the joint committee should adopt this proposal, Congress might go along with it. It would provide more appointive, highly paid jobs.

Congress also might go along with recommendations to provide additional staffing for individual members. This, too, would provide some more good jobs and could result in more efficient service for constituents.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE on Congressional reorganization was created to see what it could do about complaints that the congressional machinery was too antiquated and needed overhauling.

Not since 1946 has there been a congressional reorganization act. A joint committee that year made almost 40 recommendations, many of which were ignored.

Congress did approve 1946 recommendations raising its pay and making members eligible for pensions.

The 1946 act called for a reduction in the number of standing committees, but the cut was more than offest by the birth of scores of special and subcommittees.

Opponents of any major changes in the congressional machinery have a strong argument going for them. The 1965 session, operating under the 1946 framework, set a record for legislative accomplishment. Its leaders aren't too enthusiastic about tinkering with the machinery.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Long Plans Check On Drug Companies

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic whip Russell Long of Louisiana is aspiring to a favorite gadfly role of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver—exposing "monopolistic profiteering" by drug manufacturers.

PARTICULAR targets will be drug companies charged with making huge profits by gaining exclusive patents on products developed by government-financed research.

Specific cases in Long's files —which will be presented in detail in the course of the public hearings—deal with instances of federally financed inventions that were not reported to government authorities, collusion involving government employees, charging of excessive prices for these products and stock market profits.

Long's avowed aim is the enactment of legislation to put an end to these practices and loopholes.

"I DON'T WANT a company to develop a product as a result of the expenditure of taxpayers' money and then obtain a patent on the process so it can charge as much as it wants," says the son of the late Huey (Kingfish) Long. "My investigations have uncovered instances in which drug prices are 1,000 times the cost of production."

Hardest hit, contends Long, are older people, who spend an estimated $1 billion a year for drugs and medicines. "They generally have the lowest income," he notes, "yet need three and one-half times more medicinals than other age groups."

UNQUESTIONABLY, behind Long's zealous concern about "monopoly" and "profiteering" in drugs are other motivations.

The 47-year-old Louisianan definitely has his eye on the national political arena.

In addition to heading the monopoly subcommittee, Long is slated to become chairman of the powerful finance committee, which has jurisdiction over all revenue legislation. He is a member of the prestigious foreign relations committee, the joint committee on internal revenue taxation — is Democratic whip, the party's No. 2 leader in the chamber.

HE CAN BE EXPECTED to make the most of his contemplated investigation.

Foremost among the cases due to be aired are those involving patented measles and pneumonia vaccines.

Two companies in particular will be probed. One patented a measles vaccine that, it is claimed, was based on work done under a government contract but not reported to the government. The other concern attempted to gain exclusive patent rights on a pneumonia vaccine developed under government - financed research.

The pneumonia vaccine was developed under a $1 million public health contract to a large drug company. Subsequently, two of its microbiologists applied for a patent, which experts of the National Institute of Health described as "an important breakthrough in a new area . . . very useful in preventing atypical pneumonia in military recruits and students at high school and college level."

The company was not granted domestic patents. It is now seeking title to all potentially highly profitable foreign patent rights.

Some government agencies, notably the Atomic Energy Commission, require that all patents stemming from government contracts automatcially revert to the government. But other agencies, foremost among them the Defense Department, National Aeronautics and Space Agency, and the Public Health Service, can waive patent claims.

Long says he wants to eliminate this permissive authority and require by law that all patents resulting from government-financed research "belong to the public and be freely available to all potential users."

Hamilton Air Force Base Has Changed Roles Through Years

Two announcements told last week of the elevated stature of Hamilton Air Force Base in the nation, in fact in western North America. It becomes the headquarters command for all armed forces involved in air defense in 11 western states and two Canadian provinces, with the creation of the Western North American Air Defense Command ranging from Alaska to Mexico.

In addition, it has been selected as the command post for the reactivated Fourth Air Force. Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli will be the commander of the western NORAD region. Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin will be the deputy commander of the region. An air commodore of the Royal Canadian Air Force will be a vice commander of the region.

Hamilton's position as a command base will be assured probably for as long as there is a need for aero-space defense of the North American continent.

IN ADDITION to this added importance, Hamilton already has achieved quite a stature as a command post. It is the headquarters of the 78th Fighter Wing, the 78th Combat Support Group, the Western Air Rescue Center, Western Communications Region, the Sixth Air Force Reserve Region and the 349th Troop Carrier Wing.

The new western NORAD region command will cause some changes in the personnel at Hamilton. Uniforms of the Army, Navy, and Royal Canadian Air Force will be added to those of the Air Force on the base.

Residents of the area will soon become accustomed to seeing the military brass from all services in this country and the Canadian air force coming and going at the base.

WITH THE BASE being the headquarters for a two-nation military command, more and more dignitaries and politicians can be expected to visit the base.

There will be other side effects to the increase in the importance of Hamilton. Probably military officials will be more reluctant than ever to consider the possibility of another county-owned air strip east of the runway at Hamilton. This has been proposed many times as a solution to the county airport problem because it could use the tower facilities at Hamilton.

So if Marin County is to develop a first class airport, it will probably have to look to the open space north of Novato for it and not the open space east of the runway at Hamilton.

AT THE REDEDICATION of Hamilton last spring, there were several men present who had worked to get the base for Marin County. They related how they had worked to get a county bond issue passed to buy land to give to the Army for a bomber base.

They wanted the military establishment in order to gain jobs for the unemployed in the county during the worst days of the depression. They succeeded and the base was started. It no more than became operational when World War II came along. Hamilton took on a role of wartime importance greater than they had hoped.

Did they ever think Hamilton would be the command base for the defense of all western North America, except Alaska?

Keep Your Resolutions Simple: No Caviar, Bridge Buying, Tips

NEW YORK (AP)—Having trouble keeping your annual New Year resolutions?

Maybe you're trying to reform yourself too fast. It can be overdone, you know.

There is no point in making 1,001 vows on things you are going to do in 1966 to make yourself a better person. This only creates laughter in heaven, as the angels know no man can become that perfect.

If you must make positive vows, keep them few and simple, such as, "I hereby resolve to eat regularly in 1966 and try in every way possible to inherit as much money as I can."

A BETTER WAY is to take a negative attitude.

For example, I have pledged myself in 1966 never to—

Buy the Brooklyn Bridge, unless they gift-wrap it.

Beat my wife or the family cat.

Do my daughter's homework problems in algebra.

Grow a beard.

Be the last guy to laugh when the boss tells a joke.

Give stock market tips to strangers.

Take stock market tips from strangers.

LEARN TO PLAY the zither.

Purchase a charming old house in the suburbs and do it over myself.

Eat caviar, except on doctor's orders.

FOLLOW ANY PROGRAM of exercises that requires more than 10 knee bends a month.

Ask anyone at a cocktail party why he is for or against our policy in Viet Nam.

Borrow money from anyone except a known enemy. None of my known friends ever seem to have any cash.

Well, that's one man's program for self-improvement in 1966. It may not improve a fellow's character much, but it will help keep him from wasting his time in nonsensical ways—and that's a big step forward to take in any year.

Innocent Plea In Photos Case

Two men charged with felony conspiracy in an alleged scheme to make pornographic photographs of a 16-year-old girl were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

George Francis Grant, 24, San Francisco, and Bruce Sequoia Birch, 26, of 141 Irwin Street, San Rafael, both pleaded innocent. Preliminary hearing was scheduled Feb. 3.

San Rafael police and sheriff's officers said the pair persuaded a Tamalpais High School student to pose in the nude and for pornographic pictures with Grant last Oct. 30 in a house on Miraflores Avenue in San Rafael.

Home President

Christian J. Matthew, 275 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, has been elected to the board of Mount St. Joseph's Home for Girls, San Francisco, for a two-year period and will be installed Jan. 19.

Penders Brothers Assigned To Ships

Lt. Cmdr. Joseph Penders has been assigned duty aboard the carrier Kearsage, based at Long Beach, from his former post at Corpus Christi, Tex., and his brother Thomas Penders, has been assigned to the carrier Enterprise, now in Viet Nam.

Ensign Penders had been stationed at Whiting, Fla.

The brothers visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Penders at 93 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, during Christmas holidays.

Unification Needs Will Be Discussed

A discussion of unification of the Dixie and San Rafael school districts will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the multipurpose room of Santa Margarita School.

It will be the fourth joint meeting of the two school boards on the needs that would arise should unification be approved by voters June 7.

Encroachment Of Road Reported By Engineer

A civil engineer's survey at Hidden Valley School in Sleepy Hollow indicates that county-maintained Fawn Drive encroaches on school property as much as 10 feet in some places, Supt. Stephen Parodi of San Anselmo School District said yesterday.

Parodi said he will report on the survey, made by Robert Parlett of Richmond, to the school board when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the faculty room of Isabel Cook School.

He said the survey was made for use in determining the locations of classrooms planned for addition to the school by November.

He said the encroachment would not affect construction planned for the school this year, but future expansion of the school might bring buildings too close to the road.

Trustees are also scheduled to hear curriculum reports on the speech therapy, French and instrumental music programs in the district.

Graphoanalysis Group Votes

William Ward of 14 Sunny Oaks Drive, San Rafael, has been elected president of the Northern California Chapter of the International Graphoanalysis Society for 1966.

Ward's wife, Alice, was elected chapter vice president.

The society was organized to develop a scientific system of analyzing handwriting.

Cosmic ray particles coming mysteriously from outside the solar system have millions of times more energy than a physicist can give similar particles on earth.

Epler Will Recommend Allowing Cigarette Sales

College of Marin President Stephen E. Epler will recommend to the Marin Junior College board Thursday night that students be allowed to purchase cigarettes in the new college center.

In a letter to the board, Dr. Epler said he still favors the present policy of no cigarette sales but feels he should bow to student and faculty arguments in favor of the controlled sale of cigarettes in the new building.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. in room G-3 of the college physical education building, will also consider abolishing the two "dead days" when students can choose not to attend class just before final examinations. The academic senate has requested these two days be determined by the individual instructor.

Trustees will also discuss the college's adult education program: What changes should be made? Should it be financed by a special adult education tax? What are the values of the program to the community and to students?

Dixie District To Scan Bids

Trustees of Dixie School District tomorrow will consider bids on an addition to Dixie School in upper Lucas Valley.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the district office. The bids will be opened at 4 p.m. in the office.

Trustees are also to hear a report from the citizens' finance study group on the needs and financial means of the district.

An estimated 2,392,000 persons were added to the nation's resident population in the 12 months before Aug. 1, 1965, reports the U.S. Census Bureau.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, January 4, the fourth day of 1966 with 361 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Mars, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

English mathematician and philosopher, Sir Isaac Newton, discoverer of the Law of Gravity, was born on this day in 1642.

On this day in history:

In 1885, Dr. William Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed the first appendectomy with the patient making a complete recovery.

In 1896, Utah became the 45th state.

In 1948, Burma became an independent country.

In 1965, poet T. S. Elliot died at the age of 76.

A thought for the day — American humorist James Thurber said: "Early to rise and early to bed makes a male healthy wealthy and dead."

The art of pottery-making spread slowly in Stone Age Europe, requiring about 400 years for each 100 miles it traveled.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Memory Of Bidding Often Vital In Determining Play Strategy

Even experts can seldom compute the exact odds while playing a hand.

When today's hand was played during the Team Trials in San Francisco last November, a famous American expert picked the wrong play because he miscalculated the odds.

The situation is worth remembering because it often occurs in play.

Opening lead — ♣ K

West took his top clubs and led a third club for East to ruff.

South over-ruffed and led a heart in the hope of getting three heart tricks.

South could go up with the ace of hearts, ruff a heart and lead a trump.

IF KING FELL

He would get to dummy with the ten of trumps to ruff another heart, and would make the contract if the king of hearts fell on this trick.

South's other plan was to try a finesse with the queen of hearts and then ruff a heart and lead a trump and so forth. If the finesse lost, however, South would be down two instead of just one.

South's problem was to pick the right play without seeing all of the cards.

DIFFICULT CHOICE

Either play works when West has three hearts headed by the king. The finesse is better when West has four hearts to the king, and going up with the ace is better when East has three hearts to the king.

When you know nothing about the unseen hands, and when it is just a question of making the contract or going down one, the finesse is correct. If losing the finesse will cost you an additional trick (as in this case), the finesse is wrong.

In this case West's two vulnerable bids make him a heavy favorite to hold the king of hearts. This makes the finesse correct despite the risk of going down two instead of just one.

OTHER ODDS

If West had never bid, the odds would favor East to hold the king of hearts after West shows up with six clubs to the ace-king. In this case going up with the ace would be correct even if there is no risk of going down an additional trick.

It isn't enough to be a mathematician in such situations. You must also be a bridge player, using the bidding to help you locate key cards.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ Q J 6 5 4 3 2
♥ 3
♦ A 10 5
♣ 9 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four spades.

You are a point or two shy of the 26 points usually needed for game, but your excellent distribution should see you through.

Glenwood

Owner Transferred
He must move East immediately, so this attractive Glenwood home is wide open to offers! 3 BRs., 2 baths, deluxe kitchen, expensive carpeting. We thought $28,500 a fair price but we would like to see some money on this one. We believe this is the lowest priced home in Glenwood.

New 4 Bedroom
An extra fine setting with privacy, view, extremely large fenced in rear yard. All hardwood floors, beautiful kitchen, family room, living room with fireplace, large dining room, full double garage, lots of storage. Nice entry porch. Extra driveway into rear yard. First time offered—be the first to see this in '66.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Friday, the 21st day of January 1966, at the hour of 11:00 o'clock a.m., in the lobby inside the Lincoln Avenue entrance to the Title Insurance and Trust Company, being the building located at the Northeast corner of Lincoln Avenue and Mission Street, in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY, a corporation, as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and described as follows, to-wit: LOT 534, as shown upon that certain map entitled, "Map of Loma Verde No. 3A in the County of Marin, California, being a re-subdivision of Loma Verde No. 3, recorded September 19, 1955 in Book 8 of Maps at page 89, Records of Marin County, California", recorded May 2, 1956 in Book 9 of Maps at page 23, Marin County Records.

Said sale will be made, without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in a certain deed of trust executed by ARTHUR D. FEARON AND VERA FEARON, his wife, and GROSVENOR J. FEARON AND MARIANNE FEARON, his wife, as trustor to TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY, a corporation, as trustee, for the benefit and security of CLAUDINE M. JACKSON AND ROBERT N. JACKSON, as Joint Tenants, dated May 11, 1964 and recorded May 11, 1964 in the office of the Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, in Book 1812 of Official Records, page 385.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT BOND NO. 15, SERIES 6082, ASSESSMENT DISTRICT NO. 1961-1, ISSUED FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN MARIN COUNTY, STATE OF CALIFORNIA. Default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1/2/65, Pr. $186.66; 1/2/66, Pr. $186.66; 1/2/65, Int. $72.80; 7/2/65, Int. $67.20; 1/2/66, Int. $67.20; and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 18th day of January, 1966, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center, at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold is more particularly described, to-wit: Lot No. 15, as shown and delineated on that certain map of Sutter Hills Unit 1, which said Map was filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin on the 6th day of November, 1961, in Liber 11 of Maps, at page 2 thereof. The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the principal thereof $373.32, due on account of interest $207.20; due on account of penalties $46.76; Total amount due on said bond $627.28.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $1.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

Delay Boosts Mortalities In Childbirth

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — It's not a baby's weight, but the wait.

So say California researchers who have catalogued a surprisingly high number of deaths and abnormalities among overdue babies.

While birth weight plays a role in the outlook for newborns, there is another factor apparently just as important—the length of time the expectant mother carries the baby.

The researchers, who studied 20,000 pregnancies of various lengths, found double the number of infant deaths occurring in prolonged pregnancies.

The drawn-out gestations—about three weeks beyond normal—also produced more retarded and deformed infants.

Investigators of the University of California School of Public Health also confirmed the doubly high death rate risk of overdue newborns in a more intensive study of 600 mothers.

Dr. Michael A. Zwerdling noted that until recently the potential hazard of prolonged pregnancy has been overshadowed by concern for premature infants.

His report shared the spotlight with one by fellow researchers, Doctors Bea J. Van Den Berg and J. Yerushalmy, given to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting at Berkeley. The research was supported by the National Institute of Health.

The higher fatality rate showed up in fetal deaths and early deaths among newborns and it persisted as a threat among survivors even two years after birth. A tendency of overdue mothers to repeat the performance is subsequent pregnancies was observed.

Dr. Zwerdling said that very large babies from drawn out pregnancies weren't as prone to injury during delivery as might be expected. Instead, the study indicates that babies over nine pounds have the lowest death rates, and the greatest risk in overlong pregnancies is among babies under five and one-half pounds.

Negro Teachers Lose Jobs Through Dixie Integration

By ERWIN KNOLL
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Southern school systems dismissed or demoted at least 452 Negro teachers because of their race this fall, a task force of the National Education Assn. (NEA) has reported.

Most of the Negro teachers—413—were displaced when desegregation resulted in the closing of the all-Negro schools in which they had taught, the report said. The other 39 lost their jobs because they had been involved in civil rights activity.

In addition, 216 Negro teachers in Florida were demoted because they failed the National Teachers Examination. These teachers, the NEA report said, are still employed, but are paid only $2,800 a year.

The task force, financed jointly by the NEA and the U.S. Office of Education, surveyed displacement of Negro teachers in the 17 Southern and border states. Its report stressed that the number of Negro teachers dismissed or demoted is larger than the documented total of 668, but that the actual total will probably never be known.

"The task force found considerable evidence of deep fear on the part of displaced teachers and others it sought to interview," the report stated. "Many Alabama teachers made it clear that they did not wish to talk to anyone about what had happened to them. In North Carolina and other states, teachers expressed similar fears. . . .

"The generalization seems to be justified that most displaced Negro teachers fear to make an issue of the way they have been treated, even when they have access to needed help. Moreover, many displaced teachers expressed hope that they may yet be re-employed, and this tends to make them over-cautious in reporting on past and present treatment."

About 85 per cent of the 668 teachers whose cases have been documented are now employed, the report said, but in some cases they have been assigned to jobs below their qualifications. The other 15 per cent—95 teachers—have found no other work.

Among the 95 unemployed teachers, nearly 80 per cent had five years or more of teaching experience, and all but five had college degrees, the task force reported. The typical unemployed teacher had taught elementary school, was a married woman, had three children and had to work to support her family.

Despite a general teacher shortage, the task force found that as many as 1,900 1965 graduates of predominantly Negro teachers' colleges are not employed in the schools, although they may have other jobs.

The chief reason for the displacement of Negro teachers, the report indicated, was an unwillingness to have them instruct white pupils.

"As a result," the report said, "when Negro teachers in any number transfer out of Negro schools, Negro teachers become surplus and lose their jobs. It matters not whether they are as well qualified as, or even better qualified than, other teachers in the school system who are retained.

"Nor does it matter whether they have more seniority. They were never employed as teachers for the school system—as the law would maintain—but rather as teachers for Negro schools."

Teachers are less likely to be dismissed as a result of desegregation in large cities than in rural areas, the task force reported. Generally, however, it found that "the more extensive the desegregation of students, the greater the chances are that Negro teachers will be adversely affected by demotion, displacement or dismissal." In areas where little or no desegregation has taken place, Negro teachers are in demand for all-Negro schools.

The survey found few school systems with Negro administrators whose responsibilities extend to all schools. Singled out for praise in the report as exceptions were school systems in Chattanooga, Tenn., Fairfax County, Va., Dade County, Fla., and St. Louis, Mo.

In St. Louis, the report said, approximately half the principals and at least five members of the central office administrative staffs are Negroes. The assistant superintendent in charge of personnel said he would hire 200 teachers, white or Negro, if they could be found."

The NEA task force proposed programs of training and placement assistance for Negro teachers who have lost their jobs, as well as legal support for efforts to block further dismissals.

William G. Carr, NEA executive secretary, said the report has been sent to the Office of Education, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner, and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, with a request for federal assistance in establishing retraining projects to help train the displaced teachers for new jobs.

Civil Service Workers May Re-Enter Politics

By MILTON JAQUES
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Major efforts are under way to upset the 26-year-old Hatch Act which keeps 2.5 million federal employees out of partisan political campaigns.

A key decision on the Hatch Act is expected early next year from the U. S. District Court in Baltimore, Md., where federal employees and the Montgomery County, Md., Democratic organization are challenging the political restrictions set by the Civil Service Commission. The commission administers the Hatch Act.

Another assault is occuring in Congress. There the effort is being made through a proposed "study" of the act and its political restrictions.

The White House is also in a position to move in the same direction. President Lyndon B. Johnson has forged new links with the Civil Service Commission through his close relationship with the chairman, John W. Macy Jr. Macy has performed a number of new tasks under the Johnson administration not normally assigned to the commission chairman.

On the record, Johnson is known as a strong advocate of the career civil service. This record was based on his activities as a federal employee and legislator for most of his adult life.

But as a chief executive who keeps a tight check on the departments in the executive branch, he also wants support for his administration. He could get this if federal employees were allowed more political freedom in their jobs.

For federal employees, the protective umbrella of the Hatch Act is a mixed blessing. It protects them from unwanted political activities and shields their pocketbooks from demands for contributions to party warchests.

But it also restricts the politically-ambitious employee who would like to run for office or actively engage in campaigns.

The main objective of the act, enacted in 1939, is to insure that federal employees perform the government's business, and not that of a political party or leader.

The act also protects the public from being solicited for political contributions in public buildings by an army of federal employees.

In Baltimore, Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, after hearing arguments in the Montgomery County case, promised a ruling within several weeks. However, the case is likely to be carried to the Supreme Court.

The case stems from an order from the civil service commission liberalizing the Hatch Act in areas with heavy concentrations of federal employees. Montgomery County, just outside the District of Columbia, has some 35,000 U.S. employees in a population of 440,000.

The commission has allowed federal employees to participate in local elections as nonpartisans. In Montgomery County a non-partisan organization made up of federal employees represents a third force. To the county Democratic organization, this new force represents "discrimination." The organization says federal workers can, in fact, engage in politics but not as Democrats or Republicans.

In Congress, a movement to liberalize the Hatch Act's antipolitical provisions won a first-step victory when the Senate this year passed a bill establishing a 12-member commission to "study" the law.

The House hasn't acted yet, but the Senate bill is pending in the House Administration Committee. The study won't be as innocuous as it sounds, some observers say, because the easing of the Hatch Act is its main objective.

Within the executive department, the easing of Hatch Act rules has been a point of dispute.

One side argues that increased party activities carried on through executive department offices will weaken the civil service and the merit system. Former Postmaster General J. Edward Day, now a member of the National Civil Service League, has warned against increased political pressures on career employees for contributions, promotions, summer jobs, and for support of the national administration.

The opposing view is that the employee generally owes his job to the party in power, and should be willing to contribute to show his interest in good government.

The Civil Service Commission is required by Congress to report annually on Hatch Act violations and complaints. The complaints far outweigh the findings of violations.

The decline of the Republican party in its role of opposition may make it easier for the administration if it wants to put more federal employees into political assignments, some sources at the capitol feel.

Father's Advice Used In Court

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Guy Goodwin was prosecuting a criminal trial in federal court here and on cross-examination fired questions at a witness faster than the witness could answer.

Presiding Judge Wesley E. Brown finally broke in. "My father used to say, 'The hardest thing to do is to hear with your mouth open.' "

Goodwin chuckled, bowed, and replied:

"I recognize the wisdom of your father."

Policeman Total Up; Hours May Be Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Police Department has reached a high of 27,052 members.

But Police Commissioner Vincent L. Broderick, citing shorter hours, longer vacations and sick leaves, said: "I doubt that in terms of man hours we have many more men on the streets now than we did in 1932, when the strength of the force was about 13,000."

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Rheumatic Fever 'Licks Joints, Bites The Heart' Of Its Victims

VAN DELLEN

Rheumatic fever was described by Dr. Ernest C. Laseque as a disease that "licks the joints and bites the heart." The scar from the bite may remain, but the "licks" never hurt anything. However, not all victims are bitten because more than one-third recover completely.

The remainder acquire some permanent scarring of one or more of the heart valves, but in the majority the injury is so slight that little or no handicap ensues. Nevertheless, the condition is responsible for at least one-third of all adult heart disease. Many of these injuries can be corrected later via heart surgery.

GROUP A streptococci are responsible for the lick and bite. Most rheumatic fever attacks are preceded by this type of infection, usually in the nose and throat. Symptoms seldom last more than five days, but the youngster destined for the disease has more in store for him.

The next 10 to 15 days represent the lull before the storm. The system has conquered the strep infection by sending protective antibodies into battle. It is here that the rheumatic fever victim differs from others; he reacts to these antibodies or other by-products of the strep infection with swelling and inflammation of connective tissues of the heart, joints, brain, and other organs.

The ailment makes its debut in many ways. Symptoms are slight in some, consisting of weight loss, poor appetite, repeated nosebleeds, fever, and aching in and about the arms, legs and abdomen. These manifestations may occur singly or in combination. In others, the disease is ushered in with high fever and severe inflammation of one or more joints.

Brain involvement (chorea or St. Vitus' dance) induces uncontrolable twitching in the muscles of the face, arms, and legs. Cardiac changes are recognized by listening to the heart and doing an electrocardiogram.

ASPIRIN or a corticosteriod is the treatment used most frequently. The antibiotics are of no value, except to prevent or treat the strep infection that triggers the disease.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

CHILD'S ASTHMA

H. D. writes: I stay up nights worrying about my 6 year old, who coughs a lot. Now the doctor says he has bronchial asthma. What can cause this?

REPLY

Allergy. Breathing difficulties occur in bronchial asthma because the bronchi are swollen and interfere with the passage of air. This leads to a typical wheeze during an attack. Our leaflet on bronchial asthma, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope, explains the condition and various measures that are recommended.

A NATURAL PROCESS

Mrs. A. writes: Do successive pregnancies place a gradually increasing strain on a woman's health?

REPLY

Not in those who are in good health.

SHORTSIGHTED

R. W. writes: Can nearsightedness be cured surgically?

REPLY

No. The basic cause of myopia is an eyeball that is too long, but the difficulty can be remedied by wearing glasses.

MONONUCLEOSIS

E. R. writes: How is infectious mononucleosis diagnosed?

REPLY

Through blood studies, combined with symptoms. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this condition.

Today's Health Hint — Keep your blankets clean.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Gift Exchanges A Courtesy Rule

The days after Christmas are "trading days." Those who got the wrong size, wrong color, or identical toys take them back to the store. As a rule the store will exchange the goods or credit you for the returned item as a matter of courtesy.

Stores want to keep your good will. The law does not require them to take goods back. The gift buyer or recipient cannot demand a refund or an exchange without cause.

GIFT RETURNS

The customer should not abuse his good will. He can't wait too long to exchange the goods nor demand a full refund for the item if, after Christmas, the store has marked down the price.

Unfair? No, the deal works both ways. If you had bought something that was marked down and several days later the price had gone up, the store could not demand that you pay the higher price.

Nor again is there a legal duty for the store to let you cancel the agreement. The store is bound to carry out its promise. It couldn't cancel your order unless you agree.

Deal with reputable stores. Enforcement of your rights against stores which are not concerned with customer relations can be costly and time consuming.

If the goods have defects, you can claim an adjustment. The law will enforce the warranties stated to you or shown in written statements made about the product.

The law will also automatically attach some warranties, such as that the product is fit for its intended use.

In recent years the courts have more often held that warranties on a product "follow" the product. Though the store and the buyer make the contract, the warranty often protects a third person, say someone who received the items as a gift.

On the other hand, the seller has rights that "follow" his product also. He can follow it with a "seller's lien" to enforce payment. Where an installment payment agreement is used, the seller often keeps title until the goods are fully paid for. If the buyer does not pay on time, the seller can usually repossess the item.

Planes Ordered

NEW YORK (AP) — More than $3 billion worth of airliners have been ordered by U.S. airlines for delivery in 1966, the Air Transport Assn. says. The amount is three times that of 1965 and includes 240 jets.

Figureheads that adorned sailing ships in the 19th century evolved from the ancient art of decorating bows to lure friendly spirits aboard, says the National Geographic Society.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Executive Meddling Hurts Top Programs

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —One of the secrets of success is not to tamper with success, network television programmers are learning this season.

At all three networks, they have learned the hard way, as a number of series which had shown previous ratings strength now have become extremely wobbly because of high echelon "doctoring" by people who have to justify their jobs by doing something—anything.

At ABC-TV, for instance, "Ben Casey" seems on its last legs, thanks in considerable measure to the somebodies who, in the last few years, haven't been able to resist altering what was once the network's biggest hit.

Several seasons back, for example, "Casey" was moved from its Monday slot to Wednesdays, where it was scheduled opposite "The Beverly Hillbillies," which promptly murdered it in the statistics.

ABC-TV seemed to have learned a lesson because it put "Casey" back on Mondays, but this season—in keeping with the briefly hot trend of "continuing" stories (or soap operas)—the network's medical hero has had the added burden each week of running subplots that dilute the already thin main plots.

ABC-TV pulled a couple of other boners as well. "Peyton Place," very successful in the ratings last season, was expanded for this semester from two to three episodes a week, and the show has fallen off sharply in popularity.

Likewise, somebody at the network decided that Robert Lansing should be replaced as the lead of "12 O'Clock High" because of his alleged lack of appeal to youngsters. He was replaced, as it turned out, by a fellow older than Lansing, Paul Burke, who is a good actor but is not as well suited for the role as Lansing was.

NBC-TV's "Dr. Kildare" admittedly wasn't breaking any records as a ratings-getter when it was on for an hour each week last season— but now that it has been split into two half-hours weekly it has just about sealed its fate in the numbers game.

At CBS-TV, "Rawhide" was trotting along year after year, not setting any world records either in the ratings, but comfortable and very easy to take. Then somebody at the network decided to dump star Eric Fleming and toss in a couple of new regulars. The show has gotten slaughtered in the ratings ever since the changes.

There should be several network jobs opening up soon. High up.

Stabbing Ruled Self Defense

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A coroner's jury has ruled that the stabbing death of playwright Ray Allen was justifiable homicide in self defense.

The jury handed down the decision yesterday after Allen's divorced wife, comedienne Fay Dewitt Allen, 29, testified she did not remember stabbing Allen after she said he struck her Dec. 30.

Mrs. Allen was booked on suspicion of murder shortly after Allen was stabbed to death with a letter opener, police said, but later was released pending the outcome of the inquest.

Sewer Pact Talked

Alto Sanitary District directors last night discussed a proposed new contract with the City of Mill Valley for treatment of Alto sewage in the city's treatment plant, and agreed to meet with City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer when a date is agreed upon, Carl O. Heynen Jr., director, reported.

Schlesinger Joins Study Institute

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Former presidential adviser and Pulitzer Prize-winning historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. has joined the staff of the Institute for Advanced Study on a temporary basis.

Schlesinger will remain on the staff for at least one term, a spokesman said.

TV COMMERCIALS HEEDS ADVICE OF NO LITTER

Granny Goose no longer litters the highway when he holds up a stage on television, because of H. E. Silverfoote of Mill Valley.

The character who says he is Granny Goose stops a stagecoach on a TV commercial, tears off the top of a bag of potato chips with his strong white teeth, and lets the strip of torn paper drift earthward.

This offended Silverfoote, who lives at 63 Roque Moraes Drive, Mill Valley, and is a landscape specialist employed by the California Division of Highways.

He didn't mind the character's calling himself Granny Goose, or holding up a stagecoach, but he was irked about that litter — so irked, in fact, that he wrote the potato chip company (on Division of Highways stationery, no doubt) to complain.

Now, the TV camer's eye follows the ripped-off top of the bag of chips at is floats downward to land in a basket lettered "Every Litter Bit Hurts."

Anyhow, the trash receptacle is no more out of place beside that stage coach than is a bag of potato chips. And the Division of Highways is so proud of Silverfoote that it put out a press release about his accomplishment.

Bids Set Tomorrow On Highway Projects

Bids will be opened tomorrow on a pair of state highway projects involving roads in Marin.

One contract to be awarded will be to correct land slippage on Shoreline Highway about four miles west of its intersection with Highway 101. The state has budgeted $21,000 for the job.

The other is a three-county project of installation of "wrong way" signs at entrances to highways in Marin, Napa and Sonoma counties, in an effort to prevent wrong way head-on auto accidents on divided highways.

The projects were noted in a year-end report of the State Division of Highways, which reviewed the past year's work in the county and mentioned projects to be done.

The largest jobs scheduled for this year are resurfacing on on Highway 101.

Some $275,000 has been set aside for paving parts of the highway between Richardson Bay Bridge and Corte Madera Creek, and another $175,000 will be used for the highway between .7 of a mile north of Atherton Avenue to .9 of a mile south of Petaluma overhead, north of Novato.

Mentioning the recently opened rerouting of traffic under the San Rafael viaduct, the new San Rafael on and off ramps to Highway 101, the report mentioned that the job was actually a part of a project to widen the highway to six lanes over Puerto Suello Hill.

Plans have been completed, the report added, for widening Highway 101 from four to eight lanes between Terra Linda and Marinwood, but money is not yet available for the job.

Plans are under way on landscaping Highway 101 between Miller Creek Road and Highway 37, with $10,000 to be spent soon on tree planting at the Highway 37 interchange.

But studies have been stopped on a proposed parking lot on the west side of Highway 101 at Vista Point because the project might conflict with plans to add a second deck to the Golden Gate Bridge, the report went on.

Design studies are under way on the extension of the Highway 101 freeway north of Highway 37 through Novato, and plans are progressing on replacing the signs along Highway 101 from the Golden Gate Bridge to Mendocino County, although no financing is available now for these projects.

On Highway 1, the replacement of Stemple Creek Bridge is being contemplated in a few years, the report mentioned.

Two major projects are being delayed pending planning work by Marin County. One is the extension of Highway 101 freeway north of Atherton Avenue to Petaluma Creek, at the Sonoma County line. The county master plan will make recommendations on a route.

The other is for a new route for a wider Highway 1 from the Golden Gate Bridge to a point about three miles south of Olema, pending a decision on the West Marin general plan.

Ex-Space Staffer Jailed For Dope

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three men, including a former consultant on the Mariner 4 Mars probe, have been sentenced to prison on narcotics charges.

The trio, Michael A. DesCristo, 25, of Brooklyn, N.Y., Allen H. Rice, 27, of Hollywood, and Larry S. Toroker, 24, also of Hollywood, were sentenced to terms ranging from five to 20 years.

Rice, a former National Aeronautics and Space Administration employee, was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment for each of 11 counts of concealment and sale of drugs.

Toroker was sentenced to 20 years for each of nine counts.

DesCristo was sentenced to five years in state prison.

Deadly Weapon Charge Dropped

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon was dismissed against Mrs. Patricia Mangini, 45, by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipay Court yesterday on recommendation of the district attorney's office.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said the victim, John P. Mangini, 50, husband of the accused, insisted that a Dec. 4 knife injury he sustained was accidental.

The injury occurred at the family home, 724 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Plea Set Today In Battery Case

A 23-year-old San Rafael man, Russell E. Fabian, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of malicious mischief, resisting arrest and battery on a police officer.

Judge Peter Allen Smith then continued the case until this afternoon for plea entry. Fabian, of 407 Mission Avenue, is accused of maliciously damaging property owned by Harley James Richards Jr., and scuffling with San Rafael Officer Terrance Lucchesi when the latter questioned him about allegedly breaking the window of a car outside Hoagy's Bar, 711 Fourth Street, Saturday night.

Fabian was returned to county jail and his bail reduced by Judge Smith from $2,750 to $500.

COUNCIL UPHOLDS NEW SLOPE RULE

San Rafael Property Owner Loses Appeal For Six-Lot Gracie Tract Subdivision

The San Rafael City Council held firm last night in the first test case of the city's new slope policy ordinance, governing lot sizes in hillside areas.

Councilmen unanimously denied an appeal by Harry Diner from planning commission turndown of a six-lot subdivision in Gracie Tract on the north side of Irwin Street, near Hazel Court. The planning commission recommended the subdivision be denied because it failed to conform to the slope policy.

Councilman Charles W. Aby said the slope policy "will apply to all subdivisions from now on." The ordinance was enacted "because of the way properties were developed previously," he said.

Diner said that under the slope policy he could develop only three lots and this would not be feasible economically.

"You happend to be one of the unfortunate individuals caught in the squeeze," Aby said. "But there is no responsibility on the part of the city council to protect investment and speculation. The application of the slope policy to your property is right."

Diner pointed out that a tentative map with six lots had been approved in September, 1964, prior to the slope policy. "These lots were created not after, but before the slope ordinance," he said.

Councilmen noted that the six-lot map had expired in one year and therefore no longer existed.

On another planning matter, the council overruled a planning commission recommendation by granting United Ambulance Co. a permit to operate at 1314 Lincoln Avenue.

Thomas Baker of the ambulance firm said the company has to move from quarters on Fourth Street because its lease has expired.

Marion Hoge, owner of property adjacent to 1314 Lincoln Avenue, said the ambulance company office would be "in the middle of the block surrounded by homes and apartments." Besides, she said, Lincoln Avenue "is too congested for ambulances."

Baker said two ambulances would operate from the San Rafael office, but red lights and sirens are not used on 92 per cent of the calls.

Councilmen unanimously granted the use permit indefinitely. The planning commission had recommended denial by a 4-2 vote last month.

In other planning matters, the San Rafael City Council:

1. Passed to print an ordinance rezoning four parcels in Northgate Shopping Center Unit One, on the north side of Las Gallinas Avenue, from general commercial to administrative-professional, as requested by D. M. Christensen. The vote was 4-1 with Councilman Harry Barbier dissenting. The fire commission recommended against the rezoning because it would change the fire zone from one to two, a less restrictive zone.

2. Unanimously passed to print an ordinance rezoning 38 acres of Kerner-Bellam properties on the east side of Kerner Boulevard from planned commercial to light industrial to multiple residential and special residential requiring 2,000 square feet of land area per dwelling unit.

3. Unanimously adopted an ordinance zoning two lots between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, previously unclassified, as general commercial, as requested by Draper Companies.

4. Unanimously adopted an amendment to the zoning ordinance setting density in apartment areas, ranging from 1,000 square feet of land per dwelling unit to 3,000 square feet, setting lot coverage and setback requirements, and creating a new zoning district known as "B-D."

Archaeologist Wins Institute's Medal

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Dr. Carl William Blegen, excavator of Troy and the Palace of Nestor at Pylos has won the Archaeological Institute of America's first gold medal for distinguished archaeological achievement.

Dr. Blegen, now residing in Athens, Greece, is professor emeritus of classical archaeology at the University of Cincinnati.

Motel Resident Alleged Burglar

Clifford John Klavis, 21, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglary of a Bermuda Palms Motel room in San Rafael.

Further proceedings were continued until this afternoon. Klavis, who also lives at the motel at 729 Francisco Boulevard, was arrested Friday night by San Rafael police after allegedly breaking into a room occupied by Alexander Keller.

Officers said the motel owner, Irving Litchfield, said he saw the entry and that eight books of trading stamps and a transistor radio valued at $44 were taken. Klavis was held in county jail in lieu of $1,100 bail.

Date Cancelled; Wrist Is Treated

Carol Ann Strong, 18, of 124 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at 3:20 p.m. Saturday for a cut wrist and cut elbow, and released. San Rafael police, called in on the case, said the girl had been depressed because a date for New Year's Eve had been cancelled.

The hospital reported the girl was receiving treatment at the Marin Mental Health Clinic.

Four Young Marinites Tell Of Travel In U.S.

Four Marin County youths have returned home after they said they hitch-hiked 10,000 miles across the United States in seven weeks on under a total of $150.

They are Gary Scozzafava, 1424 West Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, Jim Alumbaugh, 267 Orris Terrace, Terra Linda, David Timmer, 363 Hickory Lane, Terra Linda and Steve Bobbio, 632 Wakerobin Lane, San Rafael, all aged 18.

Scozzafava said he himself had only 30 cents when he set off but all four were given money and food along the trip which, they said, took them to 26 states and Mexico. They also worked for a time in New York as stock boys and in Miami as laborers for a few days.

"People were very friendly to us all the way along, particularly along the north route and in New Orleans," said Timmer.

The four said they graduated from Terra Linda High School in June and decided to set out to see more of America on Nov. 5, returning on Christmas Eve.

They hitched rides across country on trucks, buses and once travelled some miles in a car they later found out had been stolen, said Alumbaugh. Another time they said they were caught in a flash flood in Arizona.

Scozzafava said, "We thought that if we didn't see America when we were young, we would not get around to seeing it at all."

Board Will Request Librarian Pay Hike

Sausalito city councilmen will hear a request from the public library board that the head librarian's salary be raised from $650 to $700 per month at an 8 o'clock meeting today.

The council will also hear the fourth draft of a proposed community antenna ordinance.

School Fund On Agenda

The Fairfax School District Board will make another review tonight of a proposal for a federally financed, special education program aimed at aiding "educationally handicapped" students in the district.

The proposal, which outlines a program to be supported by a $20,400 allocation resulting from the Education Act of 1965, designates the entire Fairfax district as its "target area."

"We think we have a high enough proportion of low income families throughout the district to make special classes available to students at all our schools," reported Supt. Homer Sisk.

The board hopes to start the new courses by the beginning of the second semester in February, according to Sisk.

The trustees will again seek a consensus over suggestions for a name for a new school to be built on White's Hill.

Holy Innocents Church Plans Burning Of Trees

A roaring bonfire of dry Christmas trees will culminate a day of celebration Thursday as Corte Madera's Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish commemorates the Feast of the Epiphany.

The holiday, otherwise known as the Twelfth Night, will be marked with festivities at the church beginning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 6:30 a.m.

A candlelight procession and an enactment of the Magi Pageant will take place at the church at 7:30 p.m.

The Christmas tree burning will begin at about 8:15 p.m. Trees for the fire may be taken to the church any time before Thursday evening, it was announced.

Christian Science

James Watt, Christian Science lecturer, will speak on "Christian Science: What It Teaches and What It Does" Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael. Watt's talk will be made on request of the First Church of Christ Scientist, San Rafael.

New Spring Styles—Restless, Romantic

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The new spring styles are like teen-agers — stubborn audacious, restless, romantic, colorful, expensive, and still very young.

More than 200 fashion reporters will judge this for themselves at a 10-day preview of new designs beginning tomorrow. The American Designer Series, arranged by Eleanor Lambert, starts off the showings followed on Sunday, by the New York Couture Group's semiannual press week.

CONSIDER HOW stubborn the styles are. Didn't the experts predict — even plead for — a hasty death for short skirts, shapeless shifts, bared bosoms, plastered-on pants, boots, bonnets, and party pajamas?

Yet defiantly, perversely, this spring skirts will be even shorter, shifts shiftier, boots kickier, bonnets more babyish, pants tighter, and party pajamas funnier than they ever were.

AUDACIOUS IS the word for those short, jagged, and severely straight-haired cuts imported from England via Vidal Sassoon. The word also applies to designer Jacques Tiffeau's skinny manikins in paneless spectacles and suits with thigh-high hemlines, or in hip-slung Bikini evening gowns with barely there bodices. It goes, too, for Rudi Gernreich's chiffon see-through T-shirts and Bill Blass' nude-hued petticoats under black lace dresses, and Anne Klein's slithery leather bell bottom pants, and Anne Fogarty's wide-legged gingham party pants.

Date time and evening clothes are the restless ones. Designer John Moore looked back to the '30s for inspiration for his costumes which are spirals of ruffles or swirls of flounces. Almost every designer has borrowed from the flapper '20s, creating long-waisted, short evening dresses with flirty skirts.

ANTHONY BLOTTA'S swish chiffons are in shades of a more distant past in the long-skirted granny dress. Gathered at the midriff, ruffles at the sleeve and possibly the hem it is as romantic as a Louisa May Alcott. Also in the romantic mood are Ceil Chapman's draped crepes, George Stavropolous' floaty chiffons, and Count Sarmi's fluttery, birdlike floral pastels.

Sweet as 16 are those little navy dresses with meringue white collars and cuffs; Samuel Winston dresses with rock candy-like twinkling bodices; and nearly everybody's bon-bon coats and dresses all wrapped up in satin ribbons and bows. Hannah Troy is clever with the demure little girl dress.

Most of the styles to be previewed are expensive.

MANDARIN'S MANTLE

For after-dark radiance, the deep splendor of jewel tone satin sculptured into a strict little coat in gleaming celanese acetate satin, worsted and nylon. The deft details, so Far-Eastern in feeling, include the high stand-up collar, vertical pockets and a row of self-braid buttons.

MOBILE NONCHALANCE

Leisure-hours ensemble of pure wool knit by Hampton East. Air of mobile nonchalance is accented by a sleeveless top in matching checked wool knit with its own hint of bell shaping and neat, drawstring-detailed neckline. A great look for after-ski, at-home or early spring's casual occasions.

Susan Jeanne Duff Marries In Old St. Mary's Church

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Duff of Kent Woodlands. The ceremony was performed at 4 p.m.

Preceding the bride to the altar in gowns of green satin with willow satin sleeves were her sister, Mrs. Victor N. Carter II as matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Camille Timberlake, Marilee Hearn, Joan Dinkelspiel, Mrs. Richard Duff Jr., and Heidi Johnson.

Dennis Duff was best man.

Ushering guests to their seats were Richard Duff Jr., Timothy and Michael Duff, Ronald E. Riech and Victor N. Carter II.

The bride was graduated from the Sarah Dix Hamlin School and Le Fleuron.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. Ernest Osgood and Charles Hunt Smith, was graduated from Eaglebrook School in Deerfield, Mass., and Paul Smith College in Lake Placid, N.Y.

Following a wedding trip in New England, the couple will reside in London, England.

Paula Daly To Be Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson Daly of Kent Woodlands announced the engagement of their daughter, Paula, to Jeffrey Robert Skov of San Francisco at a Christmas family dinner party.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Jeffrey Nash Daly of Kent Woodlands, was graduated from Redwood High School and the University of California, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She is also a member of the Spinsters of San Francisco. The late Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Nash of Alameda and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Daly of San Francisco are her grandparents.

The future benedict, son of Mrs. Richard Tingley of San Anselmo and Robert Skov of San Francisco, was graduated from Redwood High School and Stanford University. He is a newsman with KSFO Radio in San Francisco. Mrs. Ronald Sanchez of San Anselmo and John Skov of Bogalusa, La., are his sister and brother. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Menefee and the late Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Skov of San Francisco.

The wedding will be held on April 2 at St. John's Church in Ross.

MRS. ROGER HILLMAN

Jaycettes President Enjoys Sewing Best

The new president of the Novato Jaycettes, Mrs. Roger K. Hillman, has lived in Marin County only four years, but she has resided in the Bay Area since the age of four, attending elementary school and high school in Richmond.

Betty Hillman attended Santa Ana Junior College two years prior to her marriage to Mr. Hillman, salesman for a pharmaceutical firm. They have four children, Deborah, 6, Mark, 5, Denise, 3, and Cheryl, 16 months of age.

The young Mrs. Hillman said her family keeps her quite busy but she enjoys sewing—for herself and her children—and also knitting and reading when she can find the time.

Needlework Guild Sets Installations

Mrs. Ralph Michener will be installed president of the Novato Branch of the Needlework Guild of America at a meeting to be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Preston Perry in Novato. Plans for 1966 will also be discussed.

Other officers to be installed are Mesdames Richard Koch, secretary; Edgar Rovelstad, treasurer and William Rupert, publicity.

COUNCIL UPHOLDS NEW SLOPE RULE

San Rafael Property Owner Loses Appeal For Six-Lot Gracie Tract Subdivision

The San Rafael City Council held firm last night in the first test case of the city's new slope policy ordinance, governing lot sizes in hillside areas.

Councilmen unanimously denied an appeal by Harry Diner from planning commission turndown of a six-lot subdivision in Gracie Tract on the north side of Irwin Street, near Hazel Court. The planning commission recommended the subdivision be denied because it failed to conform to the slope policy.

Councilman Charles W. Aby said the slope policy "will apply to all subdivisions from now on." The ordinance was enacted "because of the way properties were developed previously," he said.

Diner said that under the slope policy he could develop only three lots and this would not be feasible economically.

"You happend to be one of the unfortunate individuals caught in the squeeze," Aby said. "But there is no responsibility on the part of the city council to protect investment and speculation. The application of the slope policy to your property is right."

Diner pointed out that a tentative map with six lots had been approved in September, 1964, prior to the slope policy. "These lots were created not after, but before the slope ordinance," he said.

Councilmen noted that the six-lot map had expired in one year and therefore no longer existed.

On another planning matter, the council overruled a planning commission recommendation by granting United Ambulance Co. a permit to operate at 1314 Lincoln Avenue.

Thomas Baker of the ambulance firm said the company has to move from quarters on Fourth Street because its lease has expired.

Marion Hoge, owner of property adjacent to 1314 Lincoln Avenue, said the ambulance company office would be "in the middle of the block surrounded by homes and apartments." Besides, she said, Lincoln Avenue "is too congested for ambulances."

Baker said two ambulances would operate from the San Rafael office, but red lights and sirens are not used on 92 per cent of the calls.

Councilmen unanimously granted the use permit indefinitely. The planning commission had recommended denial by a 4-2 vote last month.

In other planning matters, the San Rafael City Council:

1. Passed to print an ordinance rezoning four parcels in Northgate Shopping Center Unit One, on the north side of Las Gallinas Avenue, from general commercial to administrative-professional, as requested by D. M. Christensen. The vote was 4-1 with Councilman Harry Barbier dissenting. The fire commission recommended against the rezoning because it would change the fire zone from one to two, a less restrictive zone.

2. Unanimously passed to print an ordinance rezoning 38 acres of Kerner-Bellam properties on the east side of Kerner Boulevard from planned commercial to light industrial to multiple residential and special residential requiring 2,000 square feet of land area per dwelling unit.

3. Unanimously adopted an ordinance zoning two lots between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, previously unclassified, as general commercial, as requested by Draper Companies.

4. Unanimously adopted an amendment to the zoning ordinance setting density in apartment areas, ranging from 1,000 square feet of land per dwelling unit to 3,000 square feet, setting lot coverage and setback requirements, and creating a new zoning district known as "B-D."

Archaeologist Wins Institute's Medal

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Dr. Carl William Blegen, excavator of Troy and the Palace of Nestor at Pylos has won the Archaeological Institute of America's first gold medal for distinguished archaeological achievement.

Dr. Blegen, now residing in Athens, Greece, is professor emeritus of classical archaeology at the University of Cincinnati.

Motel Resident Alleged Burglar

Clifford John Klavis, 21, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglary of a Bermuda Palms Motel room in San Rafael.

Further proceedings were continued until this afternoon. Klavis, who also lives at the motel at 729 Francisco Boulevard, was arrested Friday night by San Rafael police after allegedly breaking into a room occupied by Alexander Keller.

Officers said the motel owner, Irving Litchfield, said he saw the entry and that eight books of trading stamps and a transistor radio valued at $44 were taken. Klavis was held in county jail in lieu of $1,100 bail.

Date Cancelled; Wrist Is Treated

Carol Ann Strong, 18, of 124 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at 3:20 p.m. Saturday for a cut wrist and cut elbow, and released. San Rafael police, called in on the case, said the girl had been depressed because a date for New Year's Eve had been cancelled.

The hospital reported the girl was receiving treatment at the Marin Mental Health Clinic.

Four Young Marinites Tell Of Travel In U.S.

Four Marin County youths have returned home after they said they hitch-hiked 10,000 miles across the United States in seven weeks on under a total of $150.

They are Gary Scozzafava, 1424 West Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, Jim Alumbaugh, 267 Orris Terrace, Terra Linda, David Timmer, 363 Hickory Lane, Terra Linda and Steve Bobbio, 632 Wakerobin Lane, San Rafael, all aged 18.

Scozzafava said he himself had only 30 cents when he set off but all four were given money and food along the trip which, they said, took them to 26 states and Mexico. They also worked for a time in New York as stock boys and in Miami as laborers for a few days.

"People were very friendly to us all the way along, particularly along the north route and in New Orleans," said Timmer.

The four said they graduated from Terra Linda High School in June and decided to set out to see more of America on Nov. 5, returning on Christmas Eve.

They hitched rides across country on trucks, buses and once travelled some miles in a car they later found out had been stolen, said Alumbaugh. Another time they said they were caught in a flash flood in Arizona.

Scozzafava said, "We thought that if we didn't see America when we were young, we would not get around to seeing it at all."

Added Alumbaugh," sort of following in the trek of Steinbeck's 'Travels of Charlie.' "

Board Will Request Librarian Pay Hike

Sausalito city councilmen will hear a request from the public library board that the head librarian's salary be raised from $650 to $700 per month at an 8 o'clock meeting today.

The council will also hear the fourth draft of a proposed community antenna ordinance.

School Fund On Agenda

The Fairfax School District Board will make another review tonight of a proposal for a federally financed, special education program aimed at aiding "educationally handicapped" students in the district.

The proposal, which outlines a program to be supported by a $20,400 allocation resulting from the Education Act of 1965, designates the entire Fairfax district as its "target area."

"We think we have a high enough proportion of low income families throughout the district to make special classes available to students at all our schools," reported Supt. Homer Sisk.

The board hopes to start the new courses by the beginning of the second semester in February, according to Sisk.

The trustees will again seek a consensus over suggestions for a name for a new school to be built on White's Hill.

Holy Innocents Church Plans Burning Of Trees

A roaring bonfire of dry Christmas trees will culminate a day of celebration Thursday as Corte Madera's Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish commemorates the Feast of the Epiphany.

The holiday, otherwise known as the Twelfth Night, will be marked with festivities at the church beginning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 6:30 a.m.

A candlelight procession and an enactment of the Magi Pageant will take place at the church at 7:30 p.m.

The Christmas tree burning will begin at about 8:15 p.m. Trees for the fire may be taken to the church any time before Thursday evening, it was announced.

Christian Science

James Watt, Christian Science lecturer, will speak on "Christian Science: What It Teaches and What It Does" Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael. Watt's talk will be made on request of the First Church of Christ Scientist, San Rafael.

History Proves Men Are Silly Over Hairdos, Too

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

Women do not dress their hair to please men.

Women will do the most ludicrous — even lethal — things for fashionable hair.

Men have been as silly as women over hairstyles.

Most coiffures of today have their historic counterparts.

These are a few of the conclusions forced upon Richard Corson after the personable young actor and monologist spent three years traveling through Europe and the United States gathering material for a book "Fashions in Hair."

He had planned it as a slight volume to help theatrical producers get authenticity into their historical hairdos, a sort of companion piece to his "Stage Makeup," which is considered a definitive text on the subject. But he got so fascinated by his research he ended up with a 701-page book and 3,000 illustrations.

THE 18TH CENTURY was the wildest for women, says the Illinois-born actor. "The precursor of the modern beehive developed then, and they were teasing hair, although they didn't call it that."

The enormous and preposterous headdresses, built into towering structures solidified by the use of pomatum and powder, sometimes went three months without being washed.

"There is a horrible prescription for what they called 'opening the head.' When the mass of hair was broken open, little vermin ran out." Corson says.

Of course, he points out, there was that news story in 1962 which told about the Ohio schoolgirl who didn't comb her teased, spray-plastered bouffant hair for several weeks and then found a thriving nest of cockroaches.

ALL SORTS OF EVENTS and spectacles of the day were reproduced on top of the hair in the 18th Century — naval engagements, gardens of the royal palace, meadows and sheep.

Marie Antoinette had to dismantle her hairdo to get into a carriage, and then reassemble it again when she arrived at her destination.

One obliging soul invented a hairdo that collapsed when a spring was pressed and came up again when the lady had dismounted from the carriage and was ready to make an entrance.

None of the other absurdities went over with the men. Obviously, Corson says, women were dressing their hair to vie with each other.

THEY TOOK TREMENDOUS risks, too. "All through history women have been discouraged by their own hair color and have gone through terrible things dyeing it. In the 16th Century the Venetian women sat by the hour in solariums with their hair stretched out over great hats to bleach it. So much hot sun sometimes made them very ill," Corson says.

"In the 17th Century they used concoctions that made their hair fall out. Some contained lye. Directions for the use of another said 'Put hair in solution until it smokes.'

"In the 18th Century they enameled their faces with lead makeup and a lot died from it."

But lest men point a finger, Corson ticks off a few examples of masculine vanity:

Marble busts had detachable wigs so they could always be in style.

A German burgermeister was proud of his long beard that he had to loop over his arm as he walked. He tripped over the 8-foot object of pride one day and broke his neck. The beard is still in a museum.

So many 17th Century men were wearing lovelocks—a lock hanging to waist and tied with bow at the end—the clergy got terribly disturbed and railed from the pulpit.

When there weren't enough hairdressers to go around, hair had to be done the day before a big event. British soldiers slept face down so as not to disturb their freshly set hairdos in the 18th Century.

SO MANY OF TODAY'S fashionable coiffures go back to antiquity, says Corson; even the Beatles'. He cites third century B.C. Etruscan boys' locks for proof.

Classes Set For Mothers-To-Be

A new series of education for childbirth classes will begin on Thursday. The afternoon class will be from 1:30 to 3 p.m. and the evening class will be from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gunhild H. Brown and Mrs. James V. Farley, Jr., registered physical therapists, will instruct. Classes are conducted at Mrs. Brown's office at 711 D Annex, San Rafael.

The nine week course includes a group of exercises to help the expectant mother be more comfortable during pregnancy, exercises for relaxation, posture training and breathing techniques. Emphasis is given to the understanding of the processes of labor and delivery. Two of the classes are arranged for fathers to attend.

Doctor's written permission is required for enrollment.

Church Merger Is Subject Set By Mill Valleyans

The proposed union of the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Bretheren Church will be the topic of the program at the Jan. 11 meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Mill Valley Methodist Church.

The Rev. E. Clark Robb, minister of the Sea Clift Community Church in Daly City, will conduct the program, which will include a film strip about the Evangelical United Brethren Church and special music by its members.

The Rev. Robb presents a weekly national radio broadcast on Sunday evenings entitled "Songs of Sea Clift."

The business meeting will begin at 11 a.m.; luncheon will be served at noon, and the program will follow.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Lowell Napper, Andrew Watt, A. G. Hughes, Roy Brock and Stanley Gallagher.

Dowdell-Bradley Vows Exchanged In San Diego

LeRoi Dowdell of Greenbrae and Mrs. Worthen Bradley of San Francisco exchanged marriage vows at a ceremony Dec. 30 in San Diego, with Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas Eugene Bourke the only attendants. Mrs. Bourke is Mr. Dowdell's sister.

The new Mrs. Dowdell is the widow of the late Worthen Bradley and she is the mother of Frederick W. Bradley of Lucas Valley, Clay Pope Bradley and Lt. Stephen Bradley, both of San Francisco. She is the daughter of Mrs. Samuel E. Pope of San Francisco and the late Mr. Pope.

The bridegroom is a retired colonel in the U. S. Army reserve and is with Shell Oil Co. in San Francisco. A widower, he is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Dowdell and the brother of A. V. Rinearson of San Antonio, Tex. and Mrs. Bourke.

The couple will live in Marin after they return from a stay at Hotel Del Coronado near San Diego.

TO MARRY on Jan. 26 in the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church are Janet Eileen Scott of San Anselmo and James Stephen Killarney of Mill Valley. (Arnold photo)

Janet Scott Will Be Bride Of James Stephen Killarney

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Benton Scott of San Anselmo are announcing the engagement and forthcoming wedding of their daughter, Janet Eileen, to James Stephen Killarney of Mill Valley.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Thomas Benton Scott of San Anselmo, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, and attended College of Marin and the University of California. Mrs. Ethel Weaver of Oakland is her grandmother.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wade Hall of Mill Valley, was graduated from Tamalpais High School, College of Marin and the School of Music in Paris, France. He is the brother of Jennifer and Michael Hall of San Anselmo.

The wedding will be an event of Jan. 26 in the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

January is a popular time for wedding and betrothal announcements. Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed by the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley, Corte Madera and Tiburon.

Wedding forms must be returned to the I-J promptly and information will be printed immediately after the wedding takes place.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs more than 30 days after the wedding takes place.

Engagement forms may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be obtained in the I-J office after it is printed.

Color pictures or snapshots are not suitable for publication.

DR. MEAD'S BELIEF:

Child Must Learn To Cope With Unexpected In Life

Margaret Mead today stated that if "today's children . . . are to survive, they must learn to live in a world whose keynote is confrontation with the unfamiliar."

The noted anthropologist said, "Our children have to learn to be responsible to vast social changes: to the changes in industry that automation brings, to changes in habits of leisure and recreation, changes in the balance of whites and Negroes."

Writing in Parents' Magazine, Dr. Mead stated that we must impart self-discipline, self-confidence and self-respect to our children. She said that in trying to do this "we have realized that many of our school practices were poor. The highly competitive system in which grades were the whole measure of a child's worth obscured many of our society's true values. Unfortunately, in trying to correct this tendency we overlooked our main goal—the pursuit of individual excellence—and we underplayed academic grades only to substitute competitive judgments about which child was 'better adjusted to the group' than others."

According to Dr. Mead, what "children really need is to develop their own special skills to the utmost. Inventiveness is now needed to handle the new machines and the new social order."

Carolyn Lea Buggey Weds Francis Elkins

Trinity Methodist Church in Chico was the setting on Dec. 19 for the wedding of Carolyn Lea Buggey of Mill Valley and Francis C. Elkins of Merced.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Buggey of Mill Valley.

The bride was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin. Mrs. D. R. Elkins of Mt. Shasta is her sister.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Elkins of Oroville, was graduated from Oroville High School and Chico State College. He is a teacher at Merced High School. Delbert Elkins of Mt. Shasta is his brother.

Following a wedding trip to Monterey, the couple will reside in Merced.

Engagement Of Betty Wolf To Robert G. Sellers Told

Betty is the daughter of Mrs. Wyman Cox of San Rafael and the late Donald E. Wolf of Lewiston, Ida. Her sister is Mrs. Andre Bottini of Novato.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Sellers of Santa Venetia. He is the brother of Mrs. P. Gerald Miller of San Rafael.

The bride-elect graduated from Terra Linda High School and the Bay City Dental College. She is employed by a Novato dentist.

Robert is a graduate of San Rafael High School. He works aboard the Salmon Queen fishing boat in Sausalito.

A June wedding is planned.

Meeting Men More Difficult For Girls In The Big City

By ELLEN BESWICK

NEW YORK (UPI)—What's a poor girl to do?

By the thousands, young ladies come to the big cities with two goals: to find an interesting job and a husband.

And by the thousands they find that meeting men is difficult in big, strange and aloof cities.

The statistics show the task is becoming more difficult. Charles Abrams, an expert on urban problems, who recently published a study of urban renewal program, "The City is the Frontier," says the percentage of young people in the populations of cities is declining because cities do not provide adequate meeting and mating grounds for females.

Between 1950 and 1960, New York City's population dropped one per cent, but the percentage decrease among the 20-to-30 age group was about 21 per cent. In Chicago, the percentage of young people fell 24 per cent. While Los Angeles was growing by 400,000 in the decade, it lost nearly 10,000 people in the 20-to-30 age group.

Smaller cities did not fare much better. Portland, Ore. lost 30 per cent of its young people the same decade and Oklahoma City 15 per cent.

IN A LARGE APARTMENT house, Abrams notes, few meet their neighbors. Work offers some opportunities for meeting men, but in many instances firms frown on inter-office socializing. Trips to resorts are expensive and have a time limit.

As a result, opportunities to meet members of the other sex are being manufactured. An advertisement in a New York paper reads:

"Town House Gallery . . . relaxed yet stimulating evenings for single adults. Cool elegance, music, refreshments — in the East 50's Wed. and Fri. at 8 age 22-38; Sat. at 9 age 24-46; Sun. at 8:30 age 31-55. Why Not?"

WHY NOT. Indeed? For the single city-dweller the alternatives are few and hardly more inviting.

If the young lady is politically minded, she might choose a party sponsored by a political group. A New York "reform democratic" club advertises one. The $1.75 "contribution" includes the first drink.

Abrams, in fact, suggests that "New York City's Mayor-elect John Lindsay owes a large measure of his recent victory to the young persons' need for a meeting place. He provided a valid cause and a goal."

THE SINGLE GIRL may even be drawn to a "social-cultural" meeting which promises "social action programs" along with "unprejudiced discussion meetings, informal gatherings or outings." Or she may choose the limited field offered by the "Y" or church in the city. In desperation, she may be driven to a bar with all its attendant dangers.

"I tried once going into a nice cocktail lounge after work," reports one young woman. "But the few men I met either were alcoholics or regarded me as something less than a lady."

Other young women interviewed by UPI told of trouble meeting men. All had moved to the city after high school or college searching for a wider variety in jobs and social life. One, an attractive 24-year-old who took an apartment with three other girls, said: "We were desperate. Often we'd go out with men we couldn't stand hoping to meet someone more desirable through him."

Another was planning to join a hospital aid group to meet people. She said if that didn't work she would try a ski weekend at an upstate resort, although the last time she tried it the weekend proved hectic and expensive with poor results.

BUT NONE OF the girls interviewed planned to leave the city. One said: "Back home there was no problem in meeting people. You knew the availables, there weren't many and they weren't very attractive. Here there is tremendous potential; you can always think, 'well, tomorrow. . '."

Abrams, the urban planner, says it is the job of city planners and administrators to provide for that tomorrow.

He thinks apartment buildings and housing projects should be designed with emphasis on the social aspects of life. They should contain community rooms available to all. He wants an increase in the number of neighborhood parks in cities with programs of community sings and dances. Many parks, he notes, are no longer safe after dark.

"The trouble," he says, "is that no one in authority gives much thought to these simple human needs. The commissioner of commerce is not commissioned to encourage commerce between the sexes. The highway commissioner thinks of cement . . . the park commissioner of fences around his pollinating flowerbeds. Urban renewal administrators have not yet thought of revitalizing the human spirit."

Cans Will Have Some New Pizazz

For years now, canned vegetables have been standing on shelves while their frozen neighbors piling into shopping carts by the armload.

But now the canned variety is trying to make a comeback. The old-fashioned cans will soon contain some new pizazz—in the form of butter.

Will buttered vegetables in an old can be as happy and successful as they seem to be in a modern plastic bag? Business Week reports that one company thinks so; it's bringing out a line of canned corn, peas, and lima beans in butter.

The canned vegetables are much cheaper, so if they taste as good, the frozen ones will have some new old competition.

ANDREA MARGARET FISH of San Rafael is engaged to marry Robert Wade Troutman of San Rafael. The wedding will be an August event.

Andrea Fish To Be Bride Of Robert Troutman In August

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Fish of San Rafael are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Andrea, to Robert Wade Troutman of San Rafael.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Marcia Fish of San Rafael, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is attending the University of California. She is a past worthy advisor of Tamalpais Assembly Order of Rainbow for Girls and a past grand officer of the State of California.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Troutman Jr. of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School, College of Marin, and San Francisco State College. He is a past master councilor of the Marin Chapter of DeMolay. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kilpatrick of San Rafael. Patricia and William Troutman of San Rafael are his sister and brother. He is employed with Bank of America in San Francisco.

An August wedding is planned.

Also Eye Appeal

Evidence of foundation garments' close alliance with outer apparel has been the appearance of the Courreges look and even Mondrian styling, to mention a couple of examples, in underpinnings. But don't forget that function goes along with fashion in girdles and bras. Choose them for what they'll do for your figure as well as for their eye appeal.

Using Modern Technology Improves Customer Service

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—This the way you'd shop if Adolph Novak had his way:

Let's say you're looking for shoes. You walk in the store, sit down, tell the salesman what style, size and color you want. (Or discuss it with him if you need advice.)

He goes to a nearby electronic panel, pushes some buttons and returns to chat with you, or perhaps wait on another customer.

In moments your shoes have arrived at a receiving area and the salesman brings them to you. You pick the ones you want. The others are taken to a rejection area from where they are conveyed back to the stockroom.

"YOU SEE," exclaims Novak, member of a well-known merchandising architectural firm, the salesman hasn't left the floor. He's not worn out from rushing back and forth to the stockroom. He has saved your time and given prompter service and has served more customers than in the way it's done now."

Using modern technology to improve customer service has been a special enthusiasm of Novak's for years.

"Basically, in store design tremendous strides have been made in buildings, interiors, parking, color to make a pleasant atmosphere for people to shop," he says. "But we have not taken advantage of the new concepts of automation to give increased service."

IN THE STORES TODAY, he points out, all selling fixtures are limited to a height salesmen can reach, which is about seven feet. Ceilings are 10 to 15 feet high, which means a great waste of space.

Then there's that walking back and forth to the storeroom, leaving the shopper to herself—and heaven knows what heretical thoughts she might entertain, such as going to a rival store if she has to wait much longer.

"The principles have been developed to bring merchandise to the point of pickup," says Novak, and in some industries are already in use.

"IF THEY WERE applied to retail stores, the need for seven-foot-high fixtures and even for aisle space would be eliminated."

"It will take the collaboration of good engineers and architects, and stores willing to try it," says Novak. "But the end results will be fantastic. It will not cut down on sales help, but it will mean the sales staff would be used more efficiently for the customers' benefit."

Underground Lines Sought In San Rafael

The San Rafael City Council is going to consider an ordinance requiring underground utility lines in new subdivisions.

Councilman Fred Jensen said last night "everyone but San Rafael has one," and urged an underground utility ordinance.

"From now on unless its streamlined (partial underground) or underground, I'll vote no," Jensen said.

Councilman Louis H. Baar said ordinances are being passed elsewhere, but the "poor guy who owns the property is getting stuck" for the cost.

"PG&E is sticking it into the public," he charged.

The council agreed to discuss the proposed ordinance at its Jan. 17 meeting.

Councilmen balked at a proposal to have the city put up half the money required to complete Nova Albion Way past Terra Linda High School, to be repaid by Draper Companies later.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said the San Rafael City Schools have $15,000 toward half the cost. Draper Companies has agreed to deed the right of way to the city and to give the city a trust deed to guarantee repayment if the city will put up the money.

Baar suggested that Andersen study the possibility of forming an assessment district to finance the job.

The council also took a dim view of spending any major amount for correction of a landslide at 61 Graceland Drive, 28 Tampa Drive, and Boyd Park.

Andersen said a slide on city property would not be damaging because it would be in the park area.

Councilmen received a report from Harding Associates, San Rafael soil engineers, that the landslide area is 90 feet wide by 120 feet long. Correction of the condition would require excavation and recompaction of 4,000 cubic yards of material, and subdrainage would require 200 tons of crushed rock or gravel and 150 linear feet of six-inch metal pipe, the report said.

The council authorized Andersen to talk with the two property owners involved, Charles W. Pierce and John M. Brusati, about possible city participation in the joint repair effort.

Councilmen emphasized that the city shouldn't "get stuck with the project," but would participate if the property owners did.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Received a letter from the Dominican Convent agreeing to participate with the city on a 50-50 basis in paying for a drainage correction project at Magnolia and Palma avenues, estimated to cost $18,500.
2. Accepted a donation of furniture for the temporary city recreation center at Second and Brooks streets from the Marin Senior Coordinating Council.
3. Continued until Jan. 17 discussion of an application by Tele-Vue Systems of Marin for an encroachment permit for cable antenna service, mainly in the Sun Valley area.
4. Unanimously passed a resolution requesting the State Board of Equalization to give city staff members access to its records so the council can get a breakdown of sales tax figures to compare the downtown and Northgate Shopping Center sales taxes.
5. Requested the staff to get a spot on the State Highway Commission agenda, possibly next month, so council members can appear to request action on the second phase of the Highway 101 project in San Rafael, which includes construction of north and south off-ramps and widening of the shoulders.
6. Granted a six-month leave of absence to Frederick Bishop, a public works department employee, who has been hospitalized for a month.
7. Approved the Bret Harte phase of a long-term street-lighting improvement program whereby lights are being increased from 2,500 to 7,500 lumen.
8. Set for Jan. 17 hearing on an appeal by Norman P. Higby, 58 San Marino Drive, from the planning commission's renewal of a permit to Fox and Carskadon for a real estate office at Peacock Gap.

Indians Reverse Coed's Ouster

RED CLIFF, Wis. (AP) — The Red Cliff Indians have invited back the two Peace Corps workers they cast off this remote reservation in a war over antipoverty programs.

The 5-2 vote by the Tribal Council last night brought little peace however, to the month-long feud over the Volunteers in Service to America — VISTA — program.

The council was asked in a petition to expel from the ruling body two Indian elders who had opposed VISTA. The elders were unidentified.

The two VISTA coeds, Judy Rothman, 20, University City, Mo., and Jill Hunt, 22, Kewanee, Ill., were barred in December in a dispute over the value and nature of their work.

Sausalito Warned Against Tides

Sausalito City Mgr. Charles A. Brown cautioned Sausalito residents living near water level that tides will be extra high tomorrow through Saturday. This fact is of little consequence, he said, unless there is a storm, which could cause flooding of low-lying homes.

Brown said tides are expected to be 6.5 to 6.8 feet above mean. High water, normally between four and one-half to five feet above mean tide, reached 6.4 feet last month when part of the Marin heliport land was flooded, he said.

High tides will occur between 5 and 7 a.m., Brown said. Police will alert people and see that sand bags are placed, should this prove necessary.

Scientist's Award

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Dr. John Papaconstantinou, 35, a University of Connecticut biochemist, won this year's $1,000 award from the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science for his paper on how different organs are formed from one tissue, a process known as cell differentiation.

College Invited To Perform At Festival

College of Marin's drama department has been invited to perform its latest production, "Servant of Two Masters," at the annual West Coast Drama Conference Feb. 10 and 11 at the University of Oregon.

The play's director, James Dunn, will also moderate panel discussion on the theater. He said it is the first time a junior college has been asked to perform at the conference.

"It is an expression of the growing interest in theater at community colleges," he said.

Dunn said the cast of 10, a stage manager and two drama department instructors will make the trip. The conference is for west coast school, college, university and community theater directors.

Artists' Works In Magazines

Articles in current magazines feature works of two Sausalito artists and a weaver from Tiburon.

A collection of knitted afghans, designed by Mrs. Sonya Pimentel of Sausalito, a weaver, is shown in the January issue of Woman's Day.

The November-December issue of Craft Horizons features an article about the weaving and one-man show of Dominic di Mare, Tiburon weaver, in Museum of Contemporary Crafts, New York City. In the same issue of that magazine is an article about works of Mrs. June Schwarcz, a Sausalito enamelist, who also has a one-artist show at the same New York gallery. The article deals with Mrs. Schwarcz's process of electroforming.

Murder Suspect Couple Booked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Mary Ada Schooley, 40, and bartender George Lyons Jr., 41, surrendered to police yesterday and were booked on suspicion of murdering Mrs. Schooley's husband, William, 42.

Mrs. Schooley and Lyons had been sought since last Friday. They gave no indication of where they had been.

Detectives gave no details of the case. Schooley's body was found Dec. 26 on a ledge halfway down Devil's Slide on the San Mateo County coastline. He had been shot in the head.

RHUBARB DIRECTOR — Laurie Tusup, former musical comedy star in Australia and New Zealand, will again direct the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club's "Rhubarb Review," announced today to open April 15. The club will hold its first rhubarb planning meeting at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Community Church, Ash Street and Marin Avenue.

Klansman Due In Jail On Probation Issue

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, a Ku Klux Klansman linked with the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, begins serving a one-year federal prison term today for violating his probation.

Wilkins, permitted by a federal judge to spend the Christmas holidays with his family in suburban Fairfield, was to be turned over to the U.S. Marshal's office.

White Population Declines In Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Kenya's white population has dropped by one-third in the last five years. There now are 41,000 whites in Kenya's total population of 9,365,000.

During the same five-year period, the Asian population increased from 173,000 to 186,000. The Arab population is 37,000.

Storm Drain Safety Bars Plea Sounded

Frank Battat, president of the Loch Lomond Home Owners Assn., urged the San Rafael City Council last night to place bars across large storm drain openings as a safety measure.

Battat said that recently an 18-month-old child "got out of the house and the mother caught the child halfway down a drain opening."

He described the drains as "an attractive nuisance," and said that "a bar across the opening would prevent a child from going down."

The council referred Battat's request to Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen later noted that he had received complaints about a family that has a swimming pool but no fence around their yard. Andersen suggested that the city have a rule that pools be permitted only in fenced yards. A pool in an open yard is "an attractive nuisance," Andersen said.

Three Marinites Set On Federal Jury Unit

Three Marin residents have been chosen to serve on the 1966 federal grand jury for the Northern District of California, which was sworn in yesterday in San Francisco.

They are Gloria D. Collins, 14 Eureka Street, Marin City; Marie M. Nizenkoff, 173 San Marino Drive, San Rafael, and William W. Wood, 153 Birch Avenue, Corte Madera.

Open House Is Scheduled At Art School

Open house will be 5 to 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Casa de Arte studio at 474 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, to exhibit the remodeled second floor, to be used for art classes. Teachers of classes to start soon will meet prospective students.

The schedule now begins with a class on drawing 7 to 10 p.m. on Mondays, taught by Dale Rogers. On Tuesdays Helen Conser will give instruction in oil painting from 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

Wednesday, 7 to 10 p.m., Jim Patten will direct a life drawing class, and Albina Marie Meredith will teach water color methods in a class starting at 10:30 a.m. Thursdays.

There is a portrtait class from 7 to 10 p.m. Fridays, and Homer Sterios will conduct a children's class starting at 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

Dominican College Plans American Music Festival

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

A major event in the musical life of Marin County will be its first "American Music Festival" in February, featuring 17th through 20 century works.

Sponsored by the music department of Dominican College, San Rafael, the festival will consist of three programs, on Feb. 7, 17 and 28 at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall.

On Feb. 7, folk singer Charles Lampkin will sing slave songs, negro spirituals and shouts, with commentary.

On Feb. 17, Dr. W. Thomas Marrocco, professor of music at University of California at Los Angeles and an authority on American music, will lecture on "Music in America: A Re-Appraisal," and concert pianist Sister Mary Dominic, O.P., will play an unpublished sonata by Christian I. Latrobe, recently discovered in the American Moravian archives, and works by Louis Gottschalk.

The final program on Feb. 28 will be presented by a festival chorus and 25 members of the Oakland Symphony under the direction, respectively, of Wilbur F. Russell and Robert Hughes. Singers will be members of the Dominican College and San Francisco Theological Seminary choruses and Marin Pro Musica with soprano Gwen Curatilo as soloist.

Among works to be performed are the west coast premiere of California composer Lou Harrison's "Strict Songs" for baritones and archestra, and early California mission mass, white spirituals, music of England, American Moravian arias, and choral anthems.

During the festival there will be exhibits on American music and art, primitive through contemporary.

"The purposes behind the festival are many," said Sister Mary Dominic, O. P. Since so many of us have come to believe that we have practically no musical heritage, it seems timely to expose to new lights various aspects of our musical and, indeed, our cultural heritage.

"The attitude or early Americans toward music in general has been largely misunderstood because of misinformation, careless scholarship and general indifference. The festival will open some new vistas regarding music and the early settlers in New England and will bring to light some music of solidily American musical warp.

"The American 'tunesmith'—the heretofore forgotten, neglected little music-loving baker, justice of the peace, doctor, lawyer, tobacco vender, groceryman, school teacher — will be given a chance to display his music offerings. These consist largely of folk hymns, sometimes known as southern folk hymns, though originating largely in New England, and part of the great area of white spirituals.

"Today we are discovering that there were literally hundreds upon hundreds of these self-taught musicians."

Tickets for the festival are on sale at the festival ticket office at the college.

'Guys, Dolls' Auditions Set In Novato

Auditions for singing and acting parts in the Novato Community Club's production of "Guys and Dolls" will be held from 2 to 5 p.m., Sunday in the Novato Community House, according to Ted Lane, producer.

Casting will be done jointly by Scott Wright, director; Donald Leaf, assistant director, Marie Bliss, choral director, and Maybelle Pinson, choreographer.

Any dancers who were unable to attend auditions for dancing in December can be auditioned at 7:30 p.m. next Monday at 1 Regent Court, the choral director said.

Yacht Club Request

Sausalito Planning Commission will hold a hearing at its meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall on a request from Sausalito Yacht Club for a conditional use permit to construct a dock for storage of small sailboats on leased property between the club and the ferry slip at the foot of El Portal.
